

THE DAILY BEE.

Tuesday Morning, May 6.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The sewer pipes have been put in as far up as Tenth street and the trench is being filled up. The street car tracks have both been laid upon the north side of Farnam street and the cars are now running upon the new tracks. The paving and the putting in of gas and water pipes occasioned thereby, makes this a harvest time for plumbers. A new hard wood plank sidewalk (belonging to McCool, Brady & Co's building, corner of Tenth and Farnam streets) was laid yesterday by the Barber asphalt company. It will be paved as soon as it can be placed in readiness. Five alterations of the paces were before Judge Benson yesterday. One was discharged, three were fined $5 and costs each and the case against the fifth was continued. Considerable complaint is heard in regard to the condition of Jefferson square. Many say it is a cow pasture, as the gates are broken down and cattle roam through it at will. The building boom has already struck South Thirtieth street. The Mahoney Bros. are moving their old buildings to make room for a large block on the corner of Leavenworth street. In response to the protest of Mr. Kountze and others, the council appointed a committee of five from their body, consisting of Councilmen Hornberger, Kaufmann, Baker, Delone and O'Keefe. To this committee was added Mayor Boyd, Clinton Briggs, Frank Murphy and Herman Kuntze, for the purpose of consulting with Mr. Sidney Dillon and the local management of the Union Pacific railroad. The result of the conference was as follows: COUNCIL CHAMBER, September 6, 1881. MR. PRESIDENT:—Your committee to whom was referred the communication of property owners in regard to bridging Eleventh street over the U. P. railway tracks, beg leave to report that they waited upon Mr. Sidney Dillon, and had a conversation with him and Mr. T. L. Kimball. After discussing matters fully it was decided that Mr. Blickensderfer and Mr. Rosewater, city engineers, should consult together and make plans and estimate of cost. Your committee would therefore recommend that the city engineer be instructed to confer with the engineer of the U. P. railway as soon as practicable. Your committee would further report that Mr. Dillon expressed a desire to have a suitable structure erected over said tracks, at the same time stating that while the U. P. railway company was willing to pay a large proportion of the expense, he would expect the city of Omaha to pay the balance. James E. Boyd, Chas. Kaufmann, W. J. Baker, Henry Hornberger, Fred Delone, R. O'Keefe, Special Committee. Report adopted. J. J. L. O. JEWETT, City Clerk. The change of grade having been secured and the understanding and promise that a viaduct should span Eleventh street at the crossing of the railroad tracks, and action deferred because of defective legislation in regard thereto—after plans had been prepared and estimates of cost secured as the subjoined letter of City Engineer Rosewater will show: OFFICE OF CITY ENGINEER, OMAHA, Neb., May 9.—SIR:—In response to your inquiry concerning the action of the city council upon the viaduct proposed on Eleventh street I would say that I was directed to confer with Mr. Blickensderfer, city engineer of the Union Pacific railroad company, and Mr. Kimball, and as a result secured propositions upon two different plans of iron bridges ranging from $63,000 to $85,000 inclusive of necessary piers and abutments. The company officials intimated that they would bear one-half of the expense of such a structure but had never made any definite formal proposition. The city authorities in view of this and the want of authority to issue bonds, have taken no further action in the premises. Very Respectfully, ANDREW ROSEWATER, City Engineer. Now air—after three year's delay in the construction of this promised improvement and the consequent damage and inconvenience resulting from a street rendered impassable because of the change of grade—secured by flattery and bribery, it is proposed to erect a viaduct over the street. First, the change to Tenth street would necessitate a structure 284 feet greater in length than if placed on Eleventh street, thus entailing an additional cost of $25,000. Again the right of way on Eleventh street, with the exception of one lot, was and is granted, whereas, if it is placed on Tenth street it is nearly well known that the damages claimed will exceed $100,000. Another important matter is the fact that Tenth street has but recently been paved at a great cost to the property abutting on that street. That portion of the street thus paved and to be obliterated by the proposed viaduct, cost in the neighborhood of $40,000. Who is going to reimburse these people for this paving improvement which goes for nothing besides rendering their property valueless the moment the structure becomes a reality? Should the structure, which is to be 40 feet wide, be placed on Tenth street, the south end will rest on Mason street. At a distance of 100 feet north from the south end of the said viaduct, the roadway from the west curb line to the present railing of the Union Pacific ground is but 30 feet in width. Thus it will be seen that the 40 foot viaduct would exceed the 30 foot roadway by several feet. Again, should this improvement be placed on Tenth street it will necessitate the abandonment of the street car line on that thoroughfare; or at least of that portion of it occupied by the viaduct. Taking into consideration the change of grade on Eleventh street and the promise to remedy the defect by giving us the viaduct, the additional cost of $25,000 for the proposed Tenth street viaduct over that of the 11th street structure, and the fact that $100,000 in damages will be claimed and widely maintained in the courts, are a few of many reasons why Eleventh street should receive the improvement. There are individuals peculiarly interested, who are making every possible effort to secure this improvement on Tenth street, little caring what it may, in the end, cost the city, or the hardships entailed upon persons who have improved property and must suffer. The parties referred to were active in promoting the change of grade on Eleventh street, and having secured it and thereby ruined the street, desert us and use their best every influence to secure the viaduct for Eleventh street. One important reason, among several already mentioned, why the improvement should go on Eleventh street is the better facilities offered at its south approach for passengers and traffic and from the depots, in that the structure terminates at the alley first north of Mason street, said alley could be used as a direct avenue to Tenth street and the depots and in-as-much as the owners of property abutting on this alley propose donating twenty feet each side thereof for street purposes in case of the Eleventh street location, it would certainly make a much more desirable terminus than the one contemplated on Tenth street. TAX PAYER. LOST—Heavy gold locket marked E. S., between 10th and Davenport and O. S. house, Saturday evening. Return to 1610 Davenport. Reward given. ATTEMPTED MURDER. An Omaha Typo Shot at by a Discharged Printer. The Salt Lake Tribune, of May 1, gives the following account of the attempted assassination of Mr. Eph Sylvester, a well known Omaha printer. Eph was retained in the printing offices of this city, was foreman of the Republican for a number of years, and is at present foreman of The Tribune: The usual quietude that pervades The Tribune composing room was broken last night by the report of a pistol shot that resounded throughout the entire building. O. E. Trojan was the individual firing the shot and E. Sylvester the party for whom the deadly missile was intended. Trojan, who recently started in the advertising agency business in this city, is by trade a type setter, and was up to a short time ago employed as a compositor in The Tribune composing room. He was never very well liked by the men in the office and his many agreeable traits of character secured for him the detestation of those who were employed around him. He was frequently abusive to the foreman, Mr. Sylvester, and his conduct becoming so very offensive, the foreman was compelled to discharge him about six or seven weeks ago. He brooded over his discharge, and has ever since harbored up ill-feelings against the man who was compelled to dismiss him from the service of The Tribune company. On several occasions since he has met Mr. Sylvester on the streets and applied to him the most abusive and insulting epithets, and not long since told a compositor in the office that he intended blowing that foreman full of holes the first opportunity he got. Last night about half-past ten o'clock he came into the composing room while the men were at work and began using the vilest epithets imaginable to the foreman. The foreman, who was standing by the imposing stone, and about eight or ten feet away from Trojan, started to advance towards him. Trojan lifted up his revolver, which he held in his hand, and swinging it around, said: "You God—son—, if you advance another step I'll kill you." Sylvester's foot slipped, and he fell, the distance between the parties being only about four feet. He did not wait to see whether the ball took effect, but walked deliberately out of the door, went down stairs, walked as far as the opera house, crossed the street and made his way westward. Fortunately the ball did not strike Sylvester, and to the exact spot where the ball penetrated the building could not be ascertained by lamplight. The police were at once telephoned for, and Officers Mahlon, Pickett, Sharp and Hilton answered the summons immediately. They got a description of the man, but searched in vain for him. While they were hunting him, he returned to the door of the composing room, and with the wickedness and malice that evidently pervaded his heart, again applied to the man he had so cowardly attacked, the abusive epithets he had used before the shooting. He flourished his pistol, but did not shoot, and going down stairs made his way to one of the saloons opposite the office. Maurice McGrath having heard of the shooting, went in search of Trojan, and found him in the saloon. Trojan left the saloon followed by McGrath, and as Trojan reached the U. P. ticket office corner, his left arm was seized by Col. Nelson, and his right hand, which was the trigger of a revolver in his pocket, was seized by McGrath. The latter demanded that the pistol be given up, but Trojan refused to yield until night-watcher. Burt came along and arrested him. Burt, together with night-watcher Heath, delivered the prisoner into the hands of officers Pratt and Sharp, who escorted him to the City Hall, where he was searched, prior to being placed in the jail overnight. One of the officers asked the prisoner how many shots he had fired, and he replied, "I didn't fire any." "Was it one or two?" queried the officer, to which the prisoner refused to respond. The pistol was then brought in by McGrath. It is a Bush bull-dog, 44 calibre, and a vicious looking weapon. The officer in examining the revolver said "I see one barrel is empty" and Trojan spoke up and said, "Well, I admit I fired one shot at him, but that's all right." The officer then said: "You say you fired one shot at him?" But the prisoner having seen Sylvester after the shot was fired, and knowing that the ball had not taken effect, said, "No, I didn't, but I'm sorry I didn't kill him." This conversation was carried on while the prisoner was being searched. Trojan is a man about forty years of age, is Scandinavian by birth, is married, and is a member of the Masonic fraternity and the Order of Odd Fellowship. He was perfectly sober when he committed the rash act, and his diabolical intent to willfully and deliberately take the life of a fellow-being, can only be accounted for as the result of the pretensions of a base and malignant heart desiring revenge. The penalty of assault with intent to murder, is imprisonment in the penitentiary for not more than ten years and not less than one year. Hooks. All members of P. H. and L. Co. No. 1, (active and honorary) are hereby requested to be present at the "regular and annual" meeting, to be held at their hall to-morrow (Tuesday) evening, May 6th, at 8 o'clock sharp. Per order of the president, D. S. MINNELL, E. G. RYLEY, Secretary. AUCTION SALE. The furniture in house, 1606 Farnam street will be sold May 7 at 10 o'clock a. m. W. B. GRINO, Auctioneer.

THE PROPOSED VIADUCT.

Reasons why it Should be Placed Upon Eleventh Rather than Tenth Street.

OMAHA, May 5th, 1884

To the Editor of THE BEE:— In August, 1881, the Union Pacific Railroad and the Union Elevator companies made application to the council for a change of grade on Eleventh street, between Leavenworth street and the alley next on the south. The reason assigned for the change being to enable them to construct an elevator on said Eleventh street. The change demanded being such as to increase the incline of 10 feet in 152 feet to 25 feet in 152 feet. Against this change, a protest by Herman Kountze and 200 other property holders affected by such change, was handed in to the council, setting forth the fact that the change would render the street so abrupt at that point as to make it impassible for traffic, and therefore injure property in that vicinity. In order to meet and offset this and other objections raised at that time, it was proposed by the Union Pacific railroad company, and I believe expressly stipulated, that if such change would be made in the grade, that the company would contribute liberally to the construction of a viaduct at this point, spanning the railroad tracks. In response to the protest of Mr. Kountze and others, the council appointed a committee of five from their body, consisting of Councilmen Hornberger, Kaufmann, Baker, Delone and O'Keefe. To this committee was added Mayor Boyd, Clinton Briggs, Frank Murphy and Herman Kuntze, for the purpose of consulting with Mr. Sidney Dillon and the local management of the Union Pacific railroad. BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Superintendent James Re-Employed by That Body.

That School Site on Douglas and Thirtieth.

Can the Board Sell—The Legal Collection of Liquor Licenses—Central Time Adopted.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education was held last evening. The roll called found members Long, Hall, Conroyer, Livesey, Points and Copeland present. The minutes of the previous regular and subsequent special meetings were read and approved.

COMMUNICATIONS. From City Treasurer Buck: Giving the financial condition of the school district on May 1st. This report is as follows: DEBITS. Balance from last report $16,347.33 Tax collected in March 1,878.73 Fines and Licenses in April 1,408.00 CREDITS. Warrants paid in April 9,574.09 Transferred to sinking fund 733.04 Balance on hand 9,278.54 Balance in sinking fund 13,367.02 From A. N. Henshaw, asking permission to use a room in the high school for July and August in which to hold school. Granted. From J. B. Brunner, asking permission to use the high school from the 11th to the 22nd day of August for the purpose of holding the Douglas county teachers' association. Granted. From Rev. J. A. Peterson: Asking permission to use the Jackson street school house in which to hold gospel meetings. Referred. From J. Rudowaky: Asking for an increase of pay as janitor of the Leavenworth street school, as a compensation for providing his own house as the one provided by the board is untenable. Granted. REPORTS OF COMMITTEES. Finance: Recommending the payment of $7,387.37 to the school teachers for last month, $738 to the janitors, $70 to Hugh Malon and Gus Eckland for labor, $83.33 to Matt Hoover for repairs. Adopted. Public property and improvements: Giving the opinion of Judge Lake as to the authority of the board to sell the site for a school building on the southwest corner of Douglas and Thirtieth streets. The opinion states the board could sell it for its market value under the restrictions of the statute, and that a change of site of three or four blocks would be a material one and the board could be enjoined from so doing at the suit of one interested. Referred. Mr. Hall, chairman of the special committee to secure attorneys to prosecute the cases against the wholesale liquor dealers now pending in the supreme court, reported verbally that by and with the advice of the other members he had entered into a contract with Messrs. Estabrook and Simons by which these attorneys are to be paid $200 in case the decision should be adverse to the board but if favorable to receive $1,000. Mr. Gibbon stated he was not in favor of expending much money in the case. It seemed to him that if the wholesale liquor dealers could be compelled to pay the $1,000 license, the dealers in Louisville, Ky., and other places outside the state who sell here could also be compelled, and for that reason it does not seem feasible. The report was received to be disposed of at some future time. It was then carried that the further consideration of the report be postponed until May 13. RESOLUTIONS. By Copeland, that the schools open and close by central meridian time. Adopted. On motion Miss Poppleton was allowed the use of the board of education rooms to examine applicants for Vassar College. The examining board for Princeton College was also allowed the rooms. The board then proceeded to the election, by ballot, of a school superintendent. The vote resulted unanimously in favor of Mr. James. A motion was then made by Hall that Mr. James be employed for one year at a salary of $3,000. The vote stood: Ayes, Copeland, Hall, and Livesey; 3; Nays, Conroyer, Gibbon, Parker, Points and Long, 5. A motion was then made that the president and secretary be instructed to contract with Mr. James for three years at a salary not less than $3,000 per year, and that his salary be fixed at $3,000 for the first year. The vote resulted: Ayes, Conroyer, Gibbon, Parker and Long, 5; Nays, Copeland, Hall and Livesey, 3. The board then adjourned to May 13th.

PERSONALS.

Mrs. George Parr is visiting her parents at Nebraska City. George Helmrod and wife returned to this city yesterday, accompanied by their little baby which was born to Mrs. Helmrod while in Germany. Capt. Marsh has returned from a three months visit to California. He is much improved in health by the trip. Mrs. J. J. Riley and her two daughters, Misses Jennie and Minnie, of Schuyler, are in the city, and will remain during the present week, the guests of Mrs. C. B. Havens, who is a daughter of Mrs. Riley. Mr. Charles Hoos, bookkeeper for Linsinger & Metcalf Co., dealers in agricultural implements, resigned his position last week in order to accept a responsible post with the Peru City Plow company, of Peru, Ill. Mr. Hoos is a young man of great promise and during his short residence in the Gate city he made hosts of friends who heartily regret his departure. An Interesting Advertisement. The advertisement of fortune of Samuel Hecksher senior in Hamburg in the number of our gazette of this day is very interesting. This house has acquired so good a reputation by the prompt and discreet payment of the amounts gained here and in the environs, that we beg all our readers to take notice of his insertion of this day.

THE SHOVELERS STRIKE.

The Shovelers at the Union St Yards Demand $1.75 Per Day.

Yesterday the shovelers hired by James Kuntze to grade the grounds for the Union Stock Yards company south of this city, went upon a strike. They are about 160 in number and they demand $1.75 per day instead of $1.50, the wages which they have been receiving. The demand was promptly refused by Mr. Kuntze and the men threw down their shovels and refused to work. Contractor Boyd's men worked until noon. They are about 35 in number and this forenoon they were notified by the strikers that they must quit work at noon. They were only receiving $1.50 per day but were satisfied and willing to work, but Mr. Boyd thought as he had no way to protect them, they had better quit at noon, which they did. No work was done in the yards yesterday p. m. and the contractors say they cannot afford to pay any more than $1.50 per day. It now remains to be seen how the matter will terminate.

A DASTARDLY TRIK.

An Attempt Made to Poison a Family by Administering the Drug to a Cow.

About two weeks ago a cow belonging to John McCreary was taken suddenly and seriously ill. She had been milked just prior to her showing signs of sickness and some of the milk was fed to her calf as usual. In about one hour's time the calf was dead. A physician was called and from the nature of the cow's sickness, stated that she had been poisoned with strychnine. Fortunately none of the family had partaken of the poison fluid. On Saturday last, a large pet Newfoundland dog, the property of "Little Jim" Oughton was poisoned in the neighborhood and died. A doctor gave as his opinion that the dog had been poisoned with strychnine, administered on liver. The dog was quite valuable and was highly prized by its owner. Certain parties are suspected of being guilty of this dastardly business and in case proof enough can be found against them they will be arrested and prosecuted to the full extent of the law. It is not so much the value of the animals which have died but the villainy of the man in thus placing human life in jeopardy. Would not be without Redding's Russia Salve, is the verdict of all who use it. Price 27 cents. CUTTING OFF THEIR HEADS. The Union Pacific Company Reducing Their Force of Workmen. As they were obliged to submit to the demands of their men last week, the Union Pacific company is now taking another method of reducing its expenses. Nearly one half of the section hands have been discharged within the past two days. The discharging process is at work in the shops and the probability is that they will be pretty thoroughly weeded out. Several brakemen, among whom are some who refused to go over the river the day of the strike, have been discharged and it is rumored that many more are upon the list of those who must go.
