

FELL DEAD IN THE DOOR.

Sudden Summons of a Kansas City Laborer at Lincoln. A NEW GAS COMPANY FORMED. The Omaha & South Omaha Street Railway Company Files Articles of Incorporation.

[FROM THE BEE'S LINCOLN BUREAU.] Early yesterday morning a sudden death occurred at the depot saloon on Seventh street, Martin O'Brien, a laboring man, dying instantly.

Impurities of the blood often cause great annoyance at this season. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, and cures all such affections.

When to Wear Jewels. Clara Lanza la Jewelry News: Since the sale of the crown jewels of France, many of which are now in the hands of American beauty, conversation has leaned in the direction of precious stones.

Articles of Incorporation. Of the Nebraska Coal, Oil, Power and Illuminating company have been filed with the secretary of state. The principal place of business of the company is at Lincoln and the object is to construct and maintain gas works in the city, the handling of steam, gas and compressed air for motive power, and electricity.

The Omaha and South Omaha Street Railway company has also filed its articles with the principal place of business at Omaha. The road can be operated with steam, horse or electric power or as a cable line.

The following notarial commissions were issued yesterday from the governor's office: A. Hazlett, Beatrice; B. Stephens, Arapahoe; Addison E. Sheldon, Cody, Cherry county; Albert Dufoury, Omaha; Frank H. Moore, Shelton, Buffalo county; George J. Sternsdorff, Omaha; James S. Drake, Gilead, Thayer county; Frank M. Northrup, Wayne; Alexander Sellman, Mount, Keya Paha county; David Mackintosh, Wilsonville, Furnas county.

One hundred tons of steel rails have been purchased in New York and are en route for Lincoln and the new cable railway.

A member of the rapid transit company says that in thirty days they will have cars running on a portion of their lines.

A large number of men are working toward West Lincoln now, grading the road. The suspension of Policeman Hobson meets with general approval. The city would not make as good an officer.

The first thing we do, let's kill all the lawyers." This is rather a blood-thirsty proposition, which we modify by offering to cure this worthy of people. Most of them suffer from common with nearly all others of sedentary habits, from the injurious effects of dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness, loss of appetite, and other ailments caused by a weak stomach.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets eradicate all these disorders in promptly removing the cause thereof, and induce a rare degree of comfort and health.

A Bear Makes a Raid Upon An Apiary. Los Angeles Express: The Hutchinson brothers have a large apiary up at Victor Pajunga. It is an isolated place, far from real estate booms and the haunts of men. But it is a good place for bees, and there, as a rule, they toil unmolested except by their owners, the Hutchinson boys.

A BULL AND A BEAR FIGHT. A Terrific Battle Between Two Powerful Brutes. A SCENE IN THE ROCKIES. The Deadly Work of the Bull's Horn and the Bear's Teeth and Claws. Spectators on the Earth and in the Air.

New York Sun: "I belonged to the engineer corps that surveyed the route for the Northern Pacific railroad," said Amos R. N. Smith, now of Jersey City, "and one day, while seeking a little recreation, I was a witness of a scene in wild western life which I have no doubt there are plenty of people would travel far to see if it could only be reproduced, but which I wouldn't be a spectator of again for a good many round gold dollars."

"I left our camp at Young Men's Buttes one day in July to try my luck at trout fishing in the headwaters of Big Heart river, a small stream five miles from camp. The weather had been hot and dry for some time, and when I got over to the river I found the headwaters were not much better than dry land, all the moisture I could find being in the puddles here and there in the bed. The only water likely to be found in that quarter with fish in it was the Big Cannon Ball river, and that was twenty miles away, so I concluded that the best thing for me to do would be to march right back to camp. There was a heavy thicket along the north bank of the stream, some distance above where I came out on the dry bed, and a few cottonwood trees standing maybe 100 yards back from the bank, and I turned to retrace my steps. I saw a small herd of wild cattle standing off to the right. Among them was a young bull, and a more splendid specimen of an animal I never saw. He and the rest of the herd were eying me with suspicious curiosity. I didn't like the appearance of the bull, for he had a way of lowering his head, throwing dirt with his fore feet, and uttering an ominous sort of growl, which seemed threatening. I turned and walked away, moving toward the cottonwood trees. I looked back over my shoulder and saw the bull coming along after me. I increased my speed, and he followed until I was running my fastest, and the bull was doing his best behind me. I can't say exactly how it was done, but I wasn't many seconds before I found myself in one of these cottonwood trees, and of reach of the bull, who was immediately under the tree, pawing dirt and acting very hot. I shall always believe that I was hoisted into that tree by the bull, although I find no evidence to show for it.

"The bull pawed and grumbled in under the tree for a few minutes, and then turned and walked toward the thicket, on the creek side of which there was a water hole. The other cattle went quietly to grazing where I had first seen them.

"I suppose the bull started toward the thicket to get a drink at the water-hole, but he never got the drink. I saw him push his way into the thicket, and the next instant I could see that he got into trouble of some kind, and that trouble proved to be a grizzly bear. A fierce struggle followed in the thicket. The tops of the bushes swayed to and fro, and I could hear the heavy crash of drift-wood as the bear and bull fought. A cloud of dust rolled up from the spot. It was not distant over 100 yards from the tree in which I had taken refuge. Scarcely two minutes elapsed before the bear burst through the bushes. His head was covered with blood and great flakes of flesh hung from his fore shoulders. But instead of showing any signs of defeat he seemed to glow with defiant pride. Instinct had simply prompted him in his retreat to seek an open space. He was lithe and wiry, yet wonderfully massive about the shoulders, carrying the rarest qualities of strength and symmetry. For a moment he stood glaring at the bushes he had retreated from, his nostrils distended and his whole form fixed and rigid. But scarcely two minutes had elapsed all this, when the bear, a huge, repulsive looking brute, broke through the opening. He was the most formidable specimen of his kind I had ever seen, and my sympathies were at once for the bear. In spite of his beligerent attitude toward me a few minutes before, I had my serious doubts about the final result of the combat that began at once.

"That combat was a case of brute force that no words of mine are adequate to describe. When the bear made his appearance out of the thicket, the charge did not wait for his contestant's charge, but rushing forward he met the bear. He rushed madly upon the bear. The latter seemed to appreciate the abilities of the bull, and summoned all the wariness of his nature to his aid. He was until the bull was within arms reach of his head, but being unable to accomplish it, while the bear put forth every muscle to press the bull's body to the ground. The blood poured from the bear's nostrils in great streams, but the bear had as yet received no apparent injury.

"Presently both animals paused in their desperate struggle, as each was again rapidly expanding and contracting. The bear did not relax the hold he had obtained on his contestant. As yet during the fight neither animal had uttered a sound except their low and labored breathing. The bear's position of struggle had probably been a ten minutes' duration when suddenly the bull made one desperate lunge, broke the motionless and terrible embrace, hurled the bear from his head and backed away probably ten paces. The bear lifted his huge form on his haunches and stood ready for the next assault. The herd of cattle had by this time gathered in from the plain, and surrounded the combatants, moaning and bellowing and pawing the ground, but maintaining a terrified neutrality. From my position in the tree I watched the exciting scene with breathless interest.

"The bull did not remain at rest a moment after backing away for a new charge, but, rendered furious by his wounds, he gathered up his strength with an unearthly cry, rushed with impetuous force and ferocity upon the bear. The latter attempted to use the tactics that had served him so well at the first onslaught, but the grizzly rose to his feet, and with a roar that made my blood run cold, closed with his terrible enemy, and for a long time the two fought, their cries and the cries of the surrounding cattle being frightful to the ears of the spectators. The light was going on so fast that the scene appeared as if it were a dream.

Mexican War Veteran. The wonderful efficacy of Swift's Specific as a remedy and cure for rheumatism and all blood diseases, has never had a more conspicuous illustration than this case affords. The candid, uncolored and emphatic testimony given by the venerable gentleman must be accepted as convincing and conclusive.

The writer is a prominent citizen of Mississippi. The gentleman whom Mr. Martin cures, and whom he is indebted for the advice to which he owes his final relief from years of suffering, is Mr. King, for many years the popular night clerk of the Lawrence House, at Jackson.

JACKSON, Miss., April 29, 1867. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC COMPANY, Atlanta, Ga. Gentlemen - I have been an invalid pensioner for forty years, having contracted pulmonary and other diseases in the Mexican War, but not till the last of March, 1857, did I feel any symptoms of rheumatism. On that day I was suddenly attacked with that disease in both hips and ankles. For twenty days I walked on crutches. The pain was so violent as to shift from joint to joint. For weeks I would be totally disabled, either on one side of my body or the other. The pain never left me a moment for eleven years and seven months - that is from March 1, 1857, when I was first attacked, to October 1, 1867, when I was cured. During those eleven years of my life I had tried innumerable prescriptions from various physicians, and tried everything suggested by friends, but I never received the least benefit from any medicine taken internally or externally. I was not aware of your Specific until the first of September, 1867, when I was informed of it by a friend. I immediately procured a bottle of it, and used it as directed. I had not used it more than a few days when I felt a great relief. I had not used it more than a few days when I felt a great relief. I had not used it more than a few days when I felt a great relief.
