

THE DAILY BEE. PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION. Daily Morning Edition including Sunday... For Six Months... For One Year...

ADVERTISING. All communications relating to news and editorial matter should be addressed to the Editor of the Bee.

THE BEE PUBLISHING COMPANY, PROPRIETORS. E. ROSEWATER, Editor.

THE DAILY BEE.

Table with 2 columns: Date and Circulation. Rows for April 1st through 15th, showing daily circulation figures.

Average. Sworn to and subscribed in my presence this 14th day of April, A. D. 1888.

Sworn Statement of Circulation. State of Nebraska, County of Douglas, J. S. Tschuck, Secretary of the Bee Publishing Company.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence this 16th day of April, A. D. 1888.

BRENNAN & Co. have been treated fairly by the council and they should accept the tender of the balance due them without making any more bones about it.

CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW will never get the vote of the Massachusetts delegates for president. He has mortally offended that state by referring to the Boston common as the park.

IGNATIUS DONNELLY sprung his Bacon-Shakespeare theory on a London blue-stocking audience. The verdict was that the theory smacked "Chicagoan."

LOUISIANA went democratic. As only three shooting affairs took place in New Orleans on election day, the people of the north have the assurance that it was the quietest election on record in that state.

It is in perfect accord with the eternal fitness of things that the organ of the railroaders and oil-rum mercenaries should now proclaim itself the champion of organized labor in general, and the union bricklayers who refused to go to work for $5.50 for a nine hours' day in particular.

The city clerk has taken another pleure trip to Salt Lake, but he will continue to draw his salary all the same. The business of the city will not suffer, however.

UNCLE SAM'S dynamite cruiser Yorktown is nearly completed, and with its four pneumatic guns for the hurling of dynamite projectiles, the ship will be the most destructive war engine afloat.

WE are still kept in the dark about that Central Labor union. We suspect, however, that it is another name for the federation of bilks and loafers who bleed candidates of all parties in this city during every campaign under pretense that they can deliver to them the labor vote, and who usually get up a trades ticket made up for the highest bidder.

WHEN Mr. Chamberlain got back to London after conferring upon the fishery question with Mr. Bayard to his own satisfaction, he was toasted and feasted by his admirers as the only man who could bring the Americans around. Now that the senate has refused to ratify the treaty Mr. Chamberlain's social engagements have been abruptly cut short.

FROM $40,000,000 to $45,000,000 were invested by foreign capitalists in this country during the first four months of last year. From comparisons of the movements of gold and merchandise in international exchange so far the indications show that foreigners are investing just as freely in American securities this year.

In spite of the magnificent facilities of the Brooklyn bridge New York has found that it is too small to accommodate the increasing travel and traffic. To remedy this defect a plan is on foot to enlarge the terminal approaches so as to prevent crowding and consequent delay at those points.

Apologists For Trusts. It is remarkable that any one should urge as an objection to proposed legislation against trusts and similar combinations that it might interfere with legitimate business and have the effect to cripple industrial activity in the country.

There is not a single economic principle, necessary to the activity and growth of business, that the trust is not at war with. It aims to destroy competition, the life of trade; it proposes to put a restriction on production, which for the universal welfare should be free from all constraint or control.

The anti-trust legislation that has been proposed in congress may not be in all respects judicious. The statesmanship of the gentlemen responsible for it is doubtless crude.

Whatever influence induced the president to think twice before appointing Minister Phelps chief justice of the supreme court was well directed.

But objections to Mr. Phelps of more consequence are that he has been a corporation attorney in the pay of Jay Gould, and that all his predilections and interests have made him friendly to capital and corporate power.

But the simple transfer of citizenship would make Mr. Phelps more completely an Englishman than he has ever been an American. Still another objection to him is his advanced age, though the president is said not to regard this as of any importance.

Mr. Cleveland has doubtless been warned that he would make a grave political blunder in appointing Mr. Phelps chief justice. It would almost certainly lose him tens of thousands of Irish votes just where he will most need them.

Very likely this is the great objection to Mr. Phelps that has caused the president to take a second thought regarding his appointment, and if so it will probably prove fatal to the minister's ambition to occupy the highest judicial position under the government.

The country will be gratified if an arrangement shall be effected between the two parties in congress for putting a reasonable limit on the tariff debate. There is obviously no necessity for prolonging the discussion six weeks or two months.

The increased anxiety of the past week regarding the health of Emperor Frederick, which there is every reason to believe is rapidly failing, recalls a prediction made some time ago by one of the experts that the month of April would find the emperor passing through another great crisis of his malady.

The prediction was founded on the probable course of the malady under ordinary circumstances, and since then he has had extraordinary cares, sorrows and excitements to endure.

Count Herbert Bismarck is from all accounts a man of parts. Stranger things have happened in history than that he should succeed his father as German chancellor, and if Prince Alexander of Battenberg and Princess Victoria should yet marry—as they probably will eventually—the Bismarck feud that began when the present emperor married Victoria of England might go on extending into the marital inclinations of another generation or two of royalty.

The election of Boulanger to the French chamber of deputies, by a majority that removed all doubt as to his popularity, and the possibilities that may follow, have supplied a text for world-wide discussion.

The gathering in of Pacific islands under British and German sovereignty still goes industriously on. The three over which the Caroline has just raised the British flag might have been passed by as "unconquered trifles" not many years ago.

The gathering in of Pacific islands under British and German sovereignty still goes industriously on. The three over which the Caroline has just raised the British flag might have been passed by as "unconquered trifles" not many years ago.

The gathering in of Pacific islands under British and German sovereignty still goes industriously on. The three over which the Caroline has just raised the British flag might have been passed by as "unconquered trifles" not many years ago.

The gathering in of Pacific islands under British and German sovereignty still goes industriously on. The three over which the Caroline has just raised the British flag might have been passed by as "unconquered trifles" not many years ago.

The gathering in of Pacific islands under British and German sovereignty still goes industriously on. The three over which the Caroline has just raised the British flag might have been passed by as "unconquered trifles" not many years ago.

The gathering in of Pacific islands under British and German sovereignty still goes industriously on. The three over which the Caroline has just raised the British flag might have been passed by as "unconquered trifles" not many years ago.

The gathering in of Pacific islands under British and German sovereignty still goes industriously on. The three over which the Caroline has just raised the British flag might have been passed by as "unconquered trifles" not many years ago.

probably will eventually—the Bismarck feud that began when the present emperor married Victoria of England might go on extending into the marital inclinations of another generation or two of royalty.

The election of Boulanger to the French chamber of deputies, by a majority that removed all doubt as to his popularity, and the possibilities that may follow, have supplied a text for world-wide discussion.

The gathering in of Pacific islands under British and German sovereignty still goes industriously on. The three over which the Caroline has just raised the British flag might have been passed by as "unconquered trifles" not many years ago.

The gathering in of Pacific islands under British and German sovereignty still goes industriously on. The three over which the Caroline has just raised the British flag might have been passed by as "unconquered trifles" not many years ago.

The gathering in of Pacific islands under British and German sovereignty still goes industriously on. The three over which the Caroline has just raised the British flag might have been passed by as "unconquered trifles" not many years ago.

The gathering in of Pacific islands under British and German sovereignty still goes industriously on. The three over which the Caroline has just raised the British flag might have been passed by as "unconquered trifles" not many years ago.

The gathering in of Pacific islands under British and German sovereignty still goes industriously on. The three over which the Caroline has just raised the British flag might have been passed by as "unconquered trifles" not many years ago.

The gathering in of Pacific islands under British and German sovereignty still goes industriously on. The three over which the Caroline has just raised the British flag might have been passed by as "unconquered trifles" not many years ago.

The gathering in of Pacific islands under British and German sovereignty still goes industriously on. The three over which the Caroline has just raised the British flag might have been passed by as "unconquered trifles" not many years ago.

probably will eventually—the Bismarck feud that began when the present emperor married Victoria of England might go on extending into the marital inclinations of another generation or two of royalty.

The election of Boulanger to the French chamber of deputies, by a majority that removed all doubt as to his popularity, and the possibilities that may follow, have supplied a text for world-wide discussion.

The gathering in of Pacific islands under British and German sovereignty still goes industriously on. The three over which the Caroline has just raised the British flag might have been passed by as "unconquered trifles" not many years ago.

The gathering in of Pacific islands under British and German sovereignty still goes industriously on. The three over which the Caroline has just raised the British flag might have been passed by as "unconquered trifles" not many years ago.

The gathering in of Pacific islands under British and German sovereignty still goes industriously on. The three over which the Caroline has just raised the British flag might have been passed by as "unconquered trifles" not many years ago.

The gathering in of Pacific islands under British and German sovereignty still goes industriously on. The three over which the Caroline has just raised the British flag might have been passed by as "unconquered trifles" not many years ago.

The gathering in of Pacific islands under British and German sovereignty still goes industriously on. The three over which the Caroline has just raised the British flag might have been passed by as "unconquered trifles" not many years ago.

The gathering in of Pacific islands under British and German sovereignty still goes industriously on. The three over which the Caroline has just raised the British flag might have been passed by as "unconquered trifles" not many years ago.

The gathering in of Pacific islands under British and German sovereignty still goes industriously on. The three over which the Caroline has just raised the British flag might have been passed by as "unconquered trifles" not many years ago.

part of the way, and a twenty-two inch conductor near the Detroit terminals. The cost of laying the pipe will be about $2,000,000.

The following are some of the new mills of Texas: Lums works at Fort Worth, two clothing factories at Galveston, flour-mills at Greenville and St. Jo, and canning factories at Jacksonville and Lockview.

The Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners has 350 unions, 45,000 members and $1,350,000 in its treasuries. Secretary McGuire, of Philadelphia, spoke in Pittsburg last week to 1,000 men. He is on his way to Denver, Col., and will make speeches along the route.

The mineral development in Great Britain during 1887 was 179,949,795 tons. Over 500,000 people were employed, nearly 5,800 of whom were women, and of the latter 100 were under sixteen years of age. Nearly 1,000 persons were killed during the year while at work.

It is claimed that the Dominion of Canada awarded the contract to build a bridge over the Fraser river, on the Canada Pacific, to Contractor Onderdonk at $1,500,000, who sublet the work to a firm of Philadelphia for $400,000, which in turn let the job to another contractor for $100,000, who let it for $75,000, at which figure the bridge was built.

President Cleveland's favorite beverage is said to be cherry brandy, but the article he lades out to republican officeholders is labeled "grand bounce."

For president in 1888, Mr. Barnes of New York; for vice president, Mr. Potter of Texas. This is our own hundred and fiftieth and last ticket. We now turn the matter over to the Chicago convention.

Not content with making a record as a member of the next months is going to witness the most spirited political campaign that has taken place in the state during many years. Party spirit is unusually high, already. The democrats, being in power, feel stout, are aggressive, and strongly disposed to press a straight party issue; the republicans are animated to an unusual degree with an inspiration of the history and achievements of their party, and are showing a disposition to come up with uncommon alacrity to the contest.

Don't wear your hat on the side of your head. Don't sleep at night with your feet out of bed. Don't smoke bad cigars, for they make you feel ill. Or don't smoke at all, which is much better still. Don't jump with a parachute from a balloon. Don't dress in the springtime as if it was June. Don't get on fast horses or go in for stocks. Or you'll certainly run with a crash on the ground. Don't be too anxious to make a great name. Don't pay fifty cents to see a "ball" game. Don't tread on a loose brick after it rains. Or all your trousers you'll have muddy stains. Don't order clothes if you haven't the cash. Don't be guilty of doing a thing that is rash.

their articles of incorporation with the city clerk Thursday. A York minister had a boy arrested and fined $1 for coming on a street car, and all the rest of the boys went down to the river and swore all Sunday afternoon.

Fargo is yet getting snow drifts. Sioux Falls gets the Norwegian Lutheran college. The Harney Peak company has commenced to develop its tin mines. Rapid City's new business directory gives that town 5,000 inhabitants.

Complaint is offered that there is at present a dearth of servant girls at Deadwood. Prof. Blake assures the Hills people that their tin lodes are the most valuable of either their metals or their minerals.

Iowa Items. Des Moines will vote $40,000 more school bonds. A five-year-old son of F. Lehman was drowned in the Floyd near Sioux City Thursday evening.

Wearied of the long journey, north Des Moines citizens have held a mass meeting and demanded rapid transit of the street railways. Miss Thirza F. Hull, of Boone county, has been appointed a notary public, the first lady to be honored by any public office in that section.

California. Riverside voted no license and is now sorry of it. It is thought that the Missouri Pacific railroad will soon extend to San Diego. The Santa Barbara rose fair is now in full blast with a large attendance of visitors.

A FRIGHTFUL SKIN DISEASE. Suffering Intense, Head nearly raw. Body covered with Sores. Cured by the CUTICURA Remedies. Messrs. STEVENS & BRUSH, Monroe, N. C.

MONROE, N. C., Oct. 20, 1887. The POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO., Gentlemen: My wife, S. Stephenson of this county brought her son to town to-day to let me see him, and to show me what CUTICURA REMEDIES had done for him. This is the case referred to in our paper of the 10th inst. I had looked at the case now, and would suppose that he had never been anything but a healthy child, and that he never had any skin disease, but that he had been afflicted with eczema for a long time, and I am pleased to say that I believe the CUTICURA has cured him. His eczema was intense, his head being nearly raw, his ears being sore except the glands, and his body covered with sores. His condition was frightful to behold. The sores have now all disappeared, and he is in the best of health, cheerful in disposition, and is working every day. My neighbors are witnesses to this remarkable cure, and the following ones are requested to call or write me, or any of my neighbors.

Wm. Wm. STEPHENSON. Wm. Wm. STEPHENSON, N. C. Sold everywhere. Price, CUTICURA, 50c; SOAP, 25c; PREPARATION, 50c. Prepared by the POTTER DRUG & CHEMICAL CO., Boston, Mass. Sent for "How to Cure Skin Diseases," 64 pages, 20 illustrations, and 100 testimonials. P.M. Pills, black-heads, red rough, chapped and cracked skin, itching, and all other skin diseases. P.M. Pills, black-heads, red rough, chapped and cracked skin, itching, and all other skin diseases. P.M. Pills, black-heads, red rough, chapped and cracked skin, itching, and all other skin diseases.