

SEVENTEENTH YEAR.

LOOKING DEATH IN THE FACE.

Most Serious Battle Fighting Phil Was Ever Engaged In.

ONE CHANCE IN A THOUSAND.

He Passed a Desperate Saturday Night When Any Breath Might Prove His Last—Dropsical Symptoms the Worst.

General Sheridan's Condition.

WASHINGTON BUREAU THE OMAHA BEE, 513 FOURTEENTH STREET, WASHINGTON, D. C., May 27.

The doctors say that General Sheridan is a moderate—docile, obedient, scrupulous as they tell him, courteous, confident and uncomplaining. A few days ago he was different. He has become used to the sensations about his heart and refuses to believe that the attacks were serious. He insisted upon having the newspapers and his mail and wanted to see everybody who called, although the doctors told him that anything which quickened his pulse must be avoided.

He told him he might not live. It was Mrs. Sheridan who told him of the peril in which he lies. The other night (Friday), when he had the second serious attack, the physicians had a consultation and decided that it was not a proper, prudent course for Mrs. Sheridan to remain in the house where she was, and in the presence of Surgeon General Moore, Dr. O'Reilly told her that another such attack as the general had just recovered from would in all probability prove fatal.

When she told him, how she said it, and the reply he made none but the two knew, but both of them have alluded to it in conversation with the doctors. She, however, thanked the doctors for their frankness, and said that she wished to be kept informed of any changes that might take place in the general's condition. It was only an instant that she flinched and since then she has been as much herself as ever. She is now spending most of her time at the sick man's bedside, and only retiring for rest when the physicians have commanded it.

When she told him, how she said it, and the reply he made none but the two knew, but both of them have alluded to it in conversation with the doctors. She, however, thanked the doctors for their frankness, and said that she wished to be kept informed of any changes that might take place in the general's condition. It was only an instant that she flinched and since then she has been as much herself as ever. She is now spending most of her time at the sick man's bedside, and only retiring for rest when the physicians have commanded it.

When she told him, how she said it, and the reply he made none but the two knew, but both of them have alluded to it in conversation with the doctors. She, however, thanked the doctors for their frankness, and said that she wished to be kept informed of any changes that might take place in the general's condition. It was only an instant that she flinched and since then she has been as much herself as ever. She is now spending most of her time at the sick man's bedside, and only retiring for rest when the physicians have commanded it.

When she told him, how she said it, and the reply he made none but the two knew, but both of them have alluded to it in conversation with the doctors. She, however, thanked the doctors for their frankness, and said that she wished to be kept informed of any changes that might take place in the general's condition. It was only an instant that she flinched and since then she has been as much herself as ever. She is now spending most of her time at the sick man's bedside, and only retiring for rest when the physicians have commanded it.

When she told him, how she said it, and the reply he made none but the two knew, but both of them have alluded to it in conversation with the doctors. She, however, thanked the doctors for their frankness, and said that she wished to be kept informed of any changes that might take place in the general's condition. It was only an instant that she flinched and since then she has been as much herself as ever. She is now spending most of her time at the sick man's bedside, and only retiring for rest when the physicians have commanded it.

When she told him, how she said it, and the reply he made none but the two knew, but both of them have alluded to it in conversation with the doctors. She, however, thanked the doctors for their frankness, and said that she wished to be kept informed of any changes that might take place in the general's condition. It was only an instant that she flinched and since then she has been as much herself as ever. She is now spending most of her time at the sick man's bedside, and only retiring for rest when the physicians have commanded it.

When she told him, how she said it, and the reply he made none but the two knew, but both of them have alluded to it in conversation with the doctors. She, however, thanked the doctors for their frankness, and said that she wished to be kept informed of any changes that might take place in the general's condition. It was only an instant that she flinched and since then she has been as much herself as ever. She is now spending most of her time at the sick man's bedside, and only retiring for rest when the physicians have commanded it.

When she told him, how she said it, and the reply he made none but the two knew, but both of them have alluded to it in conversation with the doctors. She, however, thanked the doctors for their frankness, and said that she wished to be kept informed of any changes that might take place in the general's condition. It was only an instant that she flinched and since then she has been as much herself as ever. She is now spending most of her time at the sick man's bedside, and only retiring for rest when the physicians have commanded it.

When she told him, how she said it, and the reply he made none but the two knew, but both of them have alluded to it in conversation with the doctors. She, however, thanked the doctors for their frankness, and said that she wished to be kept informed of any changes that might take place in the general's condition. It was only an instant that she flinched and since then she has been as much herself as ever. She is now spending most of her time at the sick man's bedside, and only retiring for rest when the physicians have commanded it.

When she told him, how she said it, and the reply he made none but the two knew, but both of them have alluded to it in conversation with the doctors. She, however, thanked the doctors for their frankness, and said that she wished to be kept informed of any changes that might take place in the general's condition. It was only an instant that she flinched and since then she has been as much herself as ever. She is now spending most of her time at the sick man's bedside, and only retiring for rest when the physicians have commanded it.

When she told him, how she said it, and the reply he made none but the two knew, but both of them have alluded to it in conversation with the doctors. She, however, thanked the doctors for their frankness, and said that she wished to be kept informed of any changes that might take place in the general's condition. It was only an instant that she flinched and since then she has been as much herself as ever. She is now spending most of her time at the sick man's bedside, and only retiring for rest when the physicians have commanded it.

When she told him, how she said it, and the reply he made none but the two knew, but both of them have alluded to it in conversation with the doctors. She, however, thanked the doctors for their frankness, and said that she wished to be kept informed of any changes that might take place in the general's condition. It was only an instant that she flinched and since then she has been as much herself as ever. She is now spending most of her time at the sick man's bedside, and only retiring for rest when the physicians have commanded it.

When she told him, how she said it, and the reply he made none but the two knew, but both of them have alluded to it in conversation with the doctors. She, however, thanked the doctors for their frankness, and said that she wished to be kept informed of any changes that might take place in the general's condition. It was only an instant that she flinched and since then she has been as much herself as ever. She is now spending most of her time at the sick man's bedside, and only retiring for rest when the physicians have commanded it.

HEAVEN'S WINDOWS OPENED.

The Vicinity of Chadron Visited By a Water Spout.

RESEMBLED A HUGE CART WHEEL.

Bridges Swept away, Cattle Drowned and Five Miles of Track Inundated—Pine Ridge Indians Peaceful—State News.

Fell Like a Flood.

CHADRON, Neb., May 27.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—There was a water spout broke in northwestern Dawson county last night at 6 o'clock doing considerable damage. Five miles of track is submerged on the Fremont, Elkhorn & Missouri Valley railroad, and a number of bridges washed out. There has been no train from the north or west for twenty-four hours and it is hard to say when there will be one. It has rained hard since 4 o'clock last night without stopping and the country is flooded. Farmers all along the line have been obliged to abandon their houses and a number have been washed away. White river raised sixteen feet in forty minutes. The water came down almost in a solid wall. It is impossible to cross White river as all the highway bridges are washed out and it is feared great damage has been done further north, as the water came from the northwest. One man, a farmer named Captain A. J. Sweet, lost sixteen head of cattle and five head of horses, the water coming in like a solid wall. Mr. Sweet came across the river in a boat and reported that the water had done to other farms both in loss of live stock and crops. The rivers are still rising and it is raining hard. No loss of life has as yet been reported, but it is feared that after a full report can be obtained, there will be.

The cloud was plainly visible from here and it had the appearance of a rolling mass of black cloud revolving like a cart wheel or, entirely different from a cyclone cloud. A man by the name of Anderson was in the extreme end of the spout and he reports the water coming in a solid wall ten feet deep, carrying everything possible before it. This particular section is noted for water spouts, this being the third one. The last one was three years ago and carried the railroad cars and stock down the river. The water was then building the Fremont, Elkhorn & Missouri Valley road.

Lightning's Funny Freak. MEAD, Neb., May 27.—[Special to THE BEE.]—During the rain storm here this afternoon the elements indulged in a peculiar freak. The meat market of Anderson & Carlson was struck by lightning, coming in at the front of the building and going out through a back window. The lightning passed into the barn in the rear of the lot, quite a distance away, which it riddled completely, killing the horses and about a million belonging to Lars Anderson. Quite a number of persons were in the meat market when the lightning struck it and all were badly shocked.

Heavy Rain at Johnston. JOHNSTON, Neb., May 27.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—It has rained very hard here in the last two or three days, the ground is thoroughly soaked and old settlers say it is wetter than they have ever seen it before. Several families living in sod houses have thrown them up and have sought drier and safer shelter. It is still raining, with no prospect of its stopping soon.

The Storm at Tilden. TILDEN, Neb., May 27.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—The heaviest rain for fifteen years has swollen the Elkhorn and flooded the country like a cloud burst. Roads and bridges are badly damaged. A mile of railroad track and bridge is washed out between here and Battle Creek. The passenger east bound for Oskaloosa and the Alton branch have been stopped. It is still raining with a strong northeast wind.

Killed by Lightning. COLUMBUS, Neb., May 27.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—Lightning struck a barn belonging to Charley Hote, in the east end part of the city, during the severe storm last evening, burning the barn and killing a cow. The inmates of the house adjoining were prostrated by the shock.

Items From Ogalala. OGALALA, Neb., May 26.—[Correspondence to THE BEE.]—The sheriff to-day took possession of the furniture store of L. Worthington on several injunctions placed in his hands by creditors. The State Loan and Trust company of this place have also commenced proceedings on a foreclosure of a chattel mortgage of $1,469. Several Omaha jobbers a few days ago ran attachments on the stock of goods formerly owned by N. H. Wood & Co., and by them sold to the Keith County bank. In three cases tried yesterday in which the right to the possession of property was in issue, the jury rendered a verdict in favor of the bank and the court rendered judgment for a return of the property and for costs against the attaching creditors.

The prospect for an abundant crop of all kinds were never better in any country. J. N. Flinger, a prominent attorney of Council Bluffs, is now in town, he has been past few days looking after his landed interests in this country. A. M. Heffernan from Toronto, Canada, is opening up a large general store and it will be open for business in a few days. J. Lamey of Springfield, Mo., is here arranging to open up a first class dry goods store.

Eastern men with capital are coming in on every train looking for business openings and investments in land. Real estate dealers are happy and every one is feeling cheerful.

The News at David City. DAVID CITY, Neb., May 26.—[Correspondence to THE BEE.]—The city council of David City, at their meeting on the 24th inst., changed the boundary line of the First ward so as to take in the half block upon which was situated the new hotel property of the David City Improvement association, which heretofore was in the Second ward. The First ward being under the control of a majority for licensing saloons, and the Second ward having a decided majority against it, made it impossible to establish a saloon on the premises. Hence the move on the part of the city fathers, whose vote stood 4 to 2.

The Central Nebraska National bank of David City is now doing business on a paid up capital of $100,000. This bank began business in the fall of 1887 on a capital of $50,000, and found it necessary to increase their capital to double the original amount. They are fast increasing business. They have one of the best arranged and equipped offices for banking in the state, and the institution has the confidence and good will of the people generally. Martin Gould, formerly of Omaha, and a man of long experience and acknowledged ability in banking, is its cashier, and William M. Banting, one of the oldest settlers of that vicinity, its president.

District Court at Ord. ORD, Neb., May 25.—[Correspondence to THE BEE.]—District court convened here last Tuesday, the 23d inst. Judge B. F. Tiffany and numerous other lawyers arrived in Ord Monday night and Tuesday morning work was commenced on the remains of a long docket left over from the March term, this being only an adjourned term. On Tuesday the case of the State vs. Henry G. Wolfe, charged with the crime of adultery, was called. The state examined twenty-two witnesses and the defense examined eighteen. The case was closely contested and the evidence conflicting. County Attorney Clements and Senator Robbins, both of Ord, represented the state, and ex-Senator Paul, of St. Paul, and Judge Westover and E. M. Coffin, of Ord, represented the defense. The jury returned a verdict of guilty and the defendant discharged.

A Scheme of the Squaw Men. CHADRON, Neb., May 27.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—There has been serious apprehensions of an Indian outbreak among settlers along and near Pine Ridge agency. The reason of this is a supposed resolution passed at the pow wow recently reported by THE BEE that the effect should be that the Indians should give up the land and fight. To give more weight to this, numerous squaw men have made it their business to circulate these reports, with a view of scaring settlers and helping their cause. A few settlers, numberable in thirty to-day moved in Oelrichs, a small town in southern Dakota, and then sent men to Pine Ridge to ascertain the truth of this and they returned with the assurance that the resolution was not adopted. A concerted scheme by interested squaw men.

Loup City Republicans. LOUP CITY, Neb., May 27.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—A large number of leading republicans met at the court house Thursday evening and organized a republican club with F. Bacon president, W. R. Nemer secretary, and adopted the constitution of the Republican State League.

Awarded Damages. NELSON, Neb., May 25.—[Correspondence to THE BEE.]—In the case of Margaret Crimm for damages for loss of timber from fire started by an engine of the Fremont, Elkhorn & Missouri Valley railroad, the jury returned a verdict for $2,750.50 for the plaintiff. The company offered $3,500 to settle. The verdict is satisfactory to the public.

His Son in the Case. CHARGES MADE BY AN UNDER-SHERIFF AGAINST MONTANA GOVERNOR. HELENA, Mont., May 27.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—Under-Sheriff Thomas Farrell, of Jackson county, Wyoming, who was recently in Montana with a requisition for Charley Brown, charged by the Wyoming authorities with larceny, makes a statement which contains some severe strictures upon Governor Leslie, of Montana. The statement is being his official influence and knowledge to prevent the capture of that notorious prisoner wanted by the authorities of Wyoming. Farrell also asserts that the governor sought to shield Brown because of the fact that his son was acting as attorney in the requisition case. Farrell claims that for some reason the governor seemed disinclined to honor his requisition papers, and kept him waiting in Helena for more than a month. The requisitions were sent for by the sheriff before the governor would honor the papers. When finally honored Farrell started for his man, who was at Great Falls. Arriving at Sun River Crossing, where Brown's headquarters were, he was met by a man by the name of Brown, who he claims he was to receive $100; otherwise not a cent would be paid. He then made the requisition papers were not issued by the governor. At Sun River Farrell says he discovered that the man was really the son of the governor. He had anything to do with the defense of the management of Brown's case, on account of the fact that he was the son of the governor. He then made the requisition papers were not issued by the governor. At Sun River Farrell says he discovered that the man was really the son of the governor. He had anything to do with the defense of the management of Brown's case, on account of the fact that he was the son of the governor.

A DISCIPLE OF MONARCHY.

General de Charette Addresses the Corporation of Armors.

THE WRATH OF THE ROYALISTS.

Boulanger and Republicanism Both Denounced and the Saviour of France Declared to Be a King.

Vive le Roi.

PARIS, May 27.—[New York Herald Cable Special to THE BEE.]—The smoldering wrath with which the old-fashioned royalists regard the policy of the monarchist deputies who have been courting with Boulanger lately, found vent to-day in a stirring speech delivered at the Arc St. Etienne by General de Charette, speaking to the corporation of armors, who are about to present a rifle to the young Duc d'Orleans, the zouave hero. Said the gentleman: "I will not make a speech. I will be content with a familiar talk, going straight to the point and telling you what I, a soldier, take to be the truth about our affairs. All ideals seem in confusion at present; all ideas of morality, right and justice. We have waited long but now or never is the time to act. In his three manifestos or declarations the Comte de Paris has shown us with all the dignity of his royal word, the dangers of the situation, the means of escaping them and the marvelous programme of monarchy. I will not impeach the republic; it will do so itself. The republic is nothing but a party cut to pieces, incapable of ever reuniting. The anguished country sees itself surrounded by moral disorder and national peril. It demands a savior. How strange is the sight we witness. We see politicians arising under pretense of public concentration yet excluding an important faction of the republican party. These take their stand on a programme which cannot but be the starting point of social disorganization and civil war.

"On the other side we find the individual at the head of another portion of the republican party striving to force himself on the nation as the representative of authority. Nothing justifies his claim—least of all some of his recent acts. He poses as the enemy of the parliamentary system yet he solicits the suffrages of France to get access to the very parliament which he accuses of incapacity and impotence. He takes his stand on the revision already demanded by the royalists. What constitution does he offer? All is mystery. He is the logical, unconscious outcome of the revolutionary spirit. He is a negation. Yesterday he was a soldier who had won his spurs. What is he now and what will he become to-morrow? But let the republicans fight their own quarrels. As for monarchy it holds its own against all enemies, aye, and despite even friends as imprudent as your humble servant, because it rests on honesty, liberty, authority. Because the scandals of yesterday bid me fear the scandals of to-morrow because it will give us the right to educate our children as we please; because I wish a strong defender for our social and political liberties; because I wish fruitful allies for our country and because to realize all these good objects I desire authority. Monarchy right is the result of accord between king and people. We must confirm the ancient fact which sealed the union. The monarchy has lost none of its rights. It has only lost possession of them. This possession must be recovered by an act which will be a legal, not a created right. It is the distinction between ourselves and the plebeian party. I am not in favor of the theory of the abyss, nor do I approve of choosing the greater evil for good may come. I do not believe France is lost. Far from it, I hold she has never been nearer her political and moral resurrection, for never yet has she so felt the need of honesty and authority and say of her what men will she is still Catholic. And now I will end where perhaps I should begin. You my friends are of that noble Corporation of Armors which at all times has virtually formed a part of the national army. May it not soon arm the knights of old and now furnish weapons to our soldiers for the defense of the fatherland? These are noble titles indeed. You have been faithful to your traditions. I am one of those who have deprived ourselves of sleep to help the execution of the magnificent work of art designed for the dauphin of France. I have the high honor of knowing the young prince. Sad indeed is the lot of a child of France that he must be compelled to learn the trade of arms in a foreign land, but the child of France must before all else be a soldier. You are to offer him this splendid weapon. I claim the honor of presenting you to the king. That will be my reward after this glorious day, and now let us use as boldly wise our banners. Let us pass from words to deeds. Let us use all means in our power to affirm the monarchy. Let us be disciplined and obey our chiefs. Once again I tell you if I did not firmly believe monarchy could alone save France I would not speak as I do. None of us would hesitate to sacrifice his life to give blessing to this country the great blessing of peace, honesty, liberty and authority and when the hour strikes shall march in the front ranks. You will understand that I, who have had the honor of fighting for the pope and France, cannot separate the two causes. First, then, let me drink the healths of Leo XIII, king and pontiff, of M. le Comte de Paris, and of the dauphin, Next, friends, let me drink your healths, or, better still, let us all drink together to France."

SOME YACHT TALK. The London Field Discourses on the New York Club's Course. [Copyright 1888 by James Gordon Bennett.] LONDON, May 27.—[New York Herald Cable Special to THE BEE.]—The Field today contains a long editorial on the New York yacht club course, which says: "It is an attribute of human nature for man to love his offspring, but this phenomenal infatuation of the New York yacht club for a crude piece of Arno's work which goes by the name of a new deed of gift, exceeds phobogenic instincts. Seriously, we do not see how any club with proper sense or self respect could accept the extraordinary proposal. The committee may be right or wrong in their contention that the new conditions are fair and sportsmanlike, and they no doubt are sincere in asking a foreign club to adopt them in case of winning the cup, but how could a club which has condemned these conditions in the most uncompromising manner, covenant to adopt them after winning the cup under rules which it declares to contain a long editorial on the New York yacht club course, which says: "It is an attribute of human nature for man to love his offspring, but this phenomenal infatuation of the New York yacht club for a crude piece of Arno's work which goes by the name of a new deed of gift, exceeds phobogenic instincts. Seriously, we do not see how any club with proper sense or self respect could accept the extraordinary proposal. The committee may be right or wrong in their contention that the new conditions are fair and sportsmanlike, and they no doubt are sincere in asking a foreign club to adopt them in case of winning the cup, but how could a club which has condemned these conditions in the most uncompromising manner, covenant to adopt them after winning the cup under rules which it declares to contain a long editorial on the New York yacht club course, which says: "It is an attribute of human nature for man to love his offspring, but this phenomenal infatuation of the New York yacht club for a crude piece of Arno's work which goes by the name of a new deed of gift, exceeds phobogenic instincts. Seriously, we do not see how any club with proper sense or self respect could accept the extraordinary proposal. The committee may be right or wrong in their contention that the new conditions are fair and sportsmanlike, and they no doubt are sincere in asking a foreign club to adopt them in case of winning the cup, but how could a club which has condemned these conditions in the most uncompromising manner, covenant to adopt them after winning the cup under rules which it declares to contain a long editorial on the New York yacht club course, which says: "It is an attribute of human nature for man to love his offspring, but this phenomenal infatuation of the New York yacht club for a crude piece of Arno's work which goes by the name of a new deed of gift, exceeds phobogenic instincts. Seriously, we do not see how any club with proper sense or self respect could accept the extraordinary proposal. The committee may be right or wrong in their contention that the new conditions are fair and sportsmanlike, and they no doubt are sincere in asking a foreign club to adopt them in case of winning the cup, but how could a club which has condemned these conditions in the most uncompromising manner, covenant to adopt them after winning the cup under rules which it declares to contain a long editorial on the New York yacht club course, which says: "It is an attribute of human nature for man to love his offspring, but this phenomenal infatuation of the New York yacht club for a crude piece of Arno's work which goes by the name of a new deed of gift, exceeds phobogenic instincts. Seriously, we do not see how any club with proper sense or self respect could accept the extraordinary proposal. The committee may be right or wrong in their contention that the new conditions are fair and sportsmanlike, and they no doubt are sincere in asking a foreign club to adopt them in case of winning the cup, but how could a club which has condemned these conditions in the most uncompromising manner, covenant to adopt them after winning the cup under rules which it declares to contain a long editorial on the New York yacht club course, which says: "It is an attribute of human nature for man to love his offspring, but this phenomenal infatuation of the New York yacht club for a crude piece of Arno's work which goes by the name of a new deed of gift, exceeds phobogenic instincts. Seriously, we do not see how any club with proper sense or self respect could accept the extraordinary proposal. The committee may be right or wrong in their contention that the new conditions are fair and sportsmanlike, and they no doubt are sincere in asking a foreign club to adopt them in case of winning the cup, but how could a club which has condemned these conditions in the most uncompromising manner, covenant to adopt them after winning the cup under rules which it declares to contain a long editorial on the New York yacht club course, which says: "It is an attribute of human nature for man to love his offspring, but this phenomenal infatuation of the New York yacht club for a crude piece of Arno's work which goes by the name of a new deed of gift, exceeds phobogenic instincts. Seriously, we do not see how any club with proper sense or self respect could accept the extraordinary proposal. The committee may be right or wrong in their contention that the new conditions are fair and sportsmanlike, and they no doubt are sincere in asking a foreign club to adopt them in case of winning the cup, but how could a club which has condemned these conditions in the most uncompromising manner, covenant to adopt them after winning the cup under rules which it declares to contain a long editorial on the New York yacht club course, which says: "It is an attribute of human nature for man to love his offspring, but this phenomenal infatuation of the New York yacht club for a crude piece of Arno's work which goes by the name of a new deed of gift, exceeds phobogenic instincts. Seriously, we do not see how any club with proper sense or self respect could accept the extraordinary proposal. The committee may be right or wrong in their contention that the new conditions are fair and sportsmanlike, and they no doubt are sincere in asking a foreign club to adopt them in case of winning the cup, but how could a club which has condemned these conditions in the most uncompromising manner, covenant to adopt them after winning the cup under rules which it declares to contain a long editorial on the New York yacht club course, which says: "It is an attribute of human nature for man to love his offspring, but this phenomenal infatuation of the New York yacht club for a crude piece of Arno's work which goes by the name of a new deed of gift, exceeds phobogenic instincts. Seriously, we do not see how any club with proper sense or self respect could accept the extraordinary proposal. The committee may be right or wrong in their contention that the new conditions are fair and sportsmanlike, and they no doubt are sincere in asking a foreign club to adopt them in case of winning the cup, but how could a club which has condemned these conditions in the most uncompromising manner, covenant to adopt them after winning the cup under rules which it declares to contain a long editorial on the New York yacht club course, which says: "It is an attribute of human nature for man to love his offspring, but this phenomenal infatuation of the New York yacht club for a crude piece of Arno's work which goes by the name of a new deed of gift, exceeds phobogenic instincts. Seriously, we do not see how any club with proper sense or self respect could accept the extraordinary proposal. The committee may be right or wrong in their contention that the new conditions are fair and sportsmanlike, and they no doubt are sincere in asking a foreign club to adopt them in case of winning the cup, but how could a club which has condemned these conditions in the most uncompromising manner, covenant to adopt them after winning the cup under rules which it declares to contain a long editorial on the New York yacht club course, which says: "It is an attribute of human nature for man to love his offspring, but this phenomenal infatuation of the New York yacht club for a crude piece of Arno's work which goes by the name of a new deed of gift, exceeds phobogenic instincts. Seriously, we do not see how any club with proper sense or self respect could accept the extraordinary proposal. The committee may be right or wrong in their contention that the new conditions are fair and sportsmanlike, and they no doubt are sincere in asking a foreign club to adopt them in case of winning the cup, but how could a club which has condemned these conditions in the most uncompromising manner, covenant to adopt them after winning the cup under rules which it declares to contain a long editorial on the New York yacht club course, which says: "It is an attribute of human nature for man to love his offspring, but this phenomenal infatuation of the New York yacht club for a crude piece of Arno's work which goes by the name of a new deed of gift, exceeds phobogenic instincts. Seriously, we do not see how any club with proper sense or self respect could accept the extraordinary proposal. The committee may be right or wrong in their contention that the new conditions are fair and sportsmanlike, and they no doubt are sincere in asking a foreign club to adopt them in case of winning the cup, but how could a club which has condemned these conditions in the most uncompromising manner, covenant to adopt them after winning the cup under rules which it declares to contain a long editorial on the New York yacht club course, which says: "It is an attribute of human nature for man to love his offspring, but this phenomenal infatuation of the New York yacht club for a crude piece of Arno's work which goes by the name of a new deed of gift, exceeds phobogenic instincts. Seriously, we do not see how any club with proper sense or self respect could accept the extraordinary proposal. The committee may be right or wrong in their contention that the new conditions are fair and sportsmanlike, and they no doubt are sincere in asking a foreign club to adopt them in case of winning the cup, but how could a club which has condemned these conditions in the most uncompromising manner, covenant to adopt them after winning the cup under rules which it declares to contain a long editorial on the New York yacht club course, which says: "It is an attribute of human nature for man to love his offspring, but this phenomenal infatuation of the New York yacht club for a crude piece of Arno's work which goes by the name of a new deed of gift, exceeds phobogenic instincts. Seriously, we do not see how any club with proper sense or self respect could accept the extraordinary proposal. The committee may be right or wrong in their contention that the new conditions are fair and sportsmanlike, and they no doubt are sincere in asking a foreign club to adopt them in case of winning the cup, but how could a club which has condemned these conditions in the most uncompromising manner, covenant to adopt them after winning the cup under rules which it declares to contain a long editorial on the New York yacht club course, which says: "It is an attribute of human nature for man to love his offspring, but this phenomenal infatuation of the New York yacht club for a crude piece of Arno's work which goes by the name of a new deed of gift, exceeds phobogenic instincts. Seriously, we do not see how any club with proper sense or self respect could accept the extraordinary proposal. The committee may be right or wrong in their contention that the new conditions are fair and sportsmanlike, and they no doubt are sincere in asking a foreign club to adopt them in case of winning the cup, but how could a club which has condemned these conditions in the most uncompromising manner, covenant to adopt them after winning the cup under rules which it declares to contain a long editorial on the New York yacht club course, which says: "It is an attribute of human nature for man to love his offspring, but this phenomenal infatuation of the New York yacht club for a crude piece of Arno's work which goes by the name of a new deed of gift, exceeds phobogenic instincts. Seriously, we do not see how any club with proper sense or self respect could accept the extraordinary proposal. The committee may be right or wrong in their contention that the new conditions are fair and sportsmanlike, and they no doubt are sincere in asking a foreign club to adopt them in case of winning the cup, but how could a club which has condemned these conditions in the most uncompromising manner, covenant to adopt them after winning the cup under rules which it declares to contain a long editorial on the New York yacht club course, which says: "It is an attribute of human nature for man to love his offspring, but this phenomenal infatuation of the New York yacht club for a crude piece of Arno's work which goes by the name of a new deed of gift, exceeds phobogenic instincts. Seriously, we do not see how any club with proper sense or self respect could accept the extraordinary proposal. The committee may be right or wrong in their contention that the new conditions are fair and sportsmanlike, and they no doubt are sincere in asking a foreign club to adopt them in case of winning the cup, but how could a club which has condemned these conditions in the most uncompromising manner, covenant to adopt them after winning the cup under rules which it declares to contain a long editorial on the New York yacht club course, which says: "It is an attribute of human nature for man to love his offspring, but this phenomenal infatuation of the New York yacht club for a crude piece of Arno's work which goes by the name of a new deed of gift, exceeds phobogenic instincts. Seriously, we do not see how any club with proper sense or self respect could accept the extraordinary proposal. The committee may be right or wrong in their contention that the new conditions are fair and sportsmanlike, and they no doubt are sincere in asking a foreign club to adopt them in case of winning the cup, but how could a club which has condemned these conditions in the most uncompromising manner, covenant to adopt them after winning the cup under rules which it declares to contain a long editorial on the New York yacht club course, which says: "It is an attribute of human nature for man to love his offspring, but this phenomenal infatuation of the New York yacht club for a crude piece of Arno's work which goes by the name of a new deed of gift, exceeds phobogenic instincts. Seriously, we do not see how any club with proper sense or self respect could accept the extraordinary proposal. The committee may be right or wrong in their contention that the new conditions are fair and sportsmanlike, and they no doubt are sincere in asking a foreign club to adopt them in case of winning the cup, but how could a club which has condemned these conditions in the most uncompromising manner, covenant to adopt them after winning the cup under rules which it declares to contain a long editorial on the New York yacht club course, which says: "It is an attribute of human nature for man to love his offspring, but this phenomenal infatuation of the New York yacht club for a crude piece of Arno's work which goes by the name of a new deed of gift, exceeds phobogenic instincts. Seriously, we do not see how any club with proper sense or self respect could accept the extraordinary proposal. The committee may be right or wrong in their contention that the new conditions are fair and sportsmanlike, and they no doubt are sincere in asking a foreign club to adopt them in case of winning the cup, but how could a club which has condemned these conditions in the most uncompromising manner, covenant to adopt them after winning the cup under rules which it declares to contain a long editorial on the New York yacht club course, which says: "It is an attribute of human nature for man to love his offspring, but this phenomenal infatuation of the New York yacht club for a crude piece of Arno's work which goes by the name of a new deed of gift, exceeds phobogenic instincts. Seriously, we do not see how any club with proper sense or self respect could accept the extraordinary proposal. The committee may be right or wrong in their contention that the new conditions are fair and sportsmanlike, and they no doubt are sincere in asking a foreign club to adopt them in case of winning the cup, but how could a club which has condemned these conditions in the most uncompromising manner, covenant to adopt them after winning the cup under rules which it declares to contain a long editorial on the New York yacht club course, which says: "It is an attribute of human nature for man to love his offspring, but this phenomenal infatuation of the New York yacht club for a crude piece of Arno's work which goes by the name of a new deed of gift, exceeds phobogenic instincts. Seriously, we do not see how any club with proper sense or self respect could accept the extraordinary proposal. The committee may be right or wrong in their contention that the new conditions are fair and sportsmanlike, and they no doubt are sincere in asking a foreign club to adopt them in case of winning the cup, but how could a club which has condemned these conditions in the most uncompromising manner, covenant to adopt them after winning the cup under rules which it declares to contain a long editorial on the New York yacht club course, which says: "It is an attribute of human nature for man to love his offspring, but this phenomenal infatuation of the New York yacht club for a crude piece of Arno's work which goes by the name of a new deed of gift, exceeds phobogenic instincts. Seriously, we do not see how any club with proper sense or self respect could accept the extraordinary proposal. The committee may be right or wrong in their contention that the new conditions are fair and sportsmanlike, and they no doubt are sincere in asking a foreign club to adopt them in case of winning the cup, but how could a club which has condemned these conditions in the most uncompromising manner, covenant to adopt them after winning the cup under rules which it declares to contain a long editorial on the New York yacht club course, which says: "It is an attribute of human nature for man to love his offspring, but this phenomenal infatuation of the New York yacht club for a crude piece of Arno's work which goes by the name of a new deed of gift, exceeds phobogenic instincts. Seriously, we do not see how any club with proper sense or self respect could accept the extraordinary proposal. The committee may be right or wrong in their contention that the new conditions are fair and sportsmanlike, and they no doubt are sincere in asking a foreign club to adopt them in case of winning the cup, but how could a club which has condemned these conditions in the most uncompromising manner, covenant to adopt them after winning the cup under rules which it declares to contain a long editorial on the New York yacht club course, which says: "It is an attribute of human nature for man to love his offspring, but this phenomenal infatuation of the New York yacht club for a crude piece of Arno's work which goes by the name of a new deed of gift, exceeds phobogenic instincts. Seriously, we do not see how any club with proper sense or self respect could accept the extraordinary proposal. The committee may be right or wrong in their contention that the new conditions are fair and sportsmanlike, and they no doubt are sincere in asking a foreign club to adopt them in case of winning the cup, but how could a club which has condemned these conditions in the most uncompromising manner, covenant to adopt them after winning the cup under rules which it declares to contain a long editorial on the New York yacht club course, which says: "It is an attribute of human nature for man to love his offspring, but this phenomenal infatuation of the New York yacht club for a crude piece of Arno's work which goes by the name of a new deed of gift, exceeds phobogenic instincts. Seriously, we do not see how any club with proper sense or self respect could accept the extraordinary proposal. The committee may be right or wrong in their contention that the new conditions are fair and sportsmanlike, and they no doubt are sincere in asking a foreign club to adopt them in case of winning the cup, but how could a club which has condemned these conditions in the most uncompromising manner, covenant to adopt them after winning the cup under rules which it declares to contain a long editorial on the New York yacht club course, which says: "It is an attribute of human nature for man to love his offspring, but this phenomenal infatuation of the New York yacht club for a crude piece of Arno's work which goes by the name of a new deed of gift, exceeds phobogenic instincts. Seriously, we do not see how any club with proper sense or self respect could accept the extraordinary proposal. The committee may be right or wrong in their contention that the new conditions are fair and sportsmanlike, and they no doubt are sincere in asking a foreign club to adopt them in case of winning the cup, but how could a club which has condemned these conditions in the most uncompromising manner, covenant to adopt them after winning the cup under rules which it declares to contain a long editorial on the New York yacht club course, which says: "It is an attribute of human nature for man to love his offspring, but this phenomenal infatuation of the New York yacht club for a crude piece of Arno's work which goes by the name of a new deed of gift, exceeds phobogenic instincts. Seriously, we do not see how any club with proper sense or self respect could accept the extraordinary proposal. The committee may be right or wrong in their contention that the new conditions are fair and sportsmanlike, and they no doubt are sincere in asking a foreign club to adopt them in case of winning the cup, but how could a club which has condemned these conditions in the most uncompromising manner, covenant to adopt them after winning the cup under rules which it declares to contain a long editorial on the New York yacht club course, which says: "It is an attribute of human nature for man to love his offspring, but this phenomenal infatuation of the New York yacht club for a crude piece of Arno's work which goes by the name of a new deed of gift, exceeds phobogenic instincts. Seriously, we do not see how any club with proper sense or self respect could accept the extraordinary proposal. The committee may be right or wrong in their contention that the new conditions are fair and sportsmanlike, and they no doubt are sincere in asking a foreign club to adopt them in case of winning the cup, but how could a club which has condemned these conditions in the most uncompromising manner, covenant to adopt them after winning the cup under rules which it declares to contain a long editorial on the New York yacht club course, which says: "It is an attribute of human nature for man to love his offspring, but this phenomenal infatuation of the New York yacht club for a crude piece of Arno's work which goes by the name of a new deed of gift, exceeds phobogenic instincts. Seriously, we do not see how any club with proper sense or self respect could accept the extraordinary proposal. The committee may be right or wrong in their contention that the new conditions are fair and sportsmanlike, and they no doubt are sincere in asking a foreign club to adopt them in case of winning the cup, but how could a club which has condemned these conditions in the most uncompromising manner, covenant to adopt them after winning the cup under rules which it declares to contain a long editorial on the New York yacht club course, which says: "It is an attribute of human nature for man to love his offspring, but this phenomenal infatuation of the New York yacht club for a crude piece of Arno's work which goes by the name of a new deed of gift, exceeds phobogenic instincts. Seriously, we do not see how any club with proper sense or self respect could accept the extraordinary proposal. The committee may be right or wrong in their contention that the new conditions are fair and sportsmanlike, and they no doubt are sincere in asking a foreign club to adopt them in case of winning the cup, but how could a club which has condemned these conditions in the most uncompromising manner, covenant to adopt them after winning the cup under rules which it declares to contain a long editorial on the New York yacht club course, which says: "It is an attribute of human nature for man to love his offspring, but this phenomenal infatuation of the New York yacht club for a crude piece of Arno's work which goes by the name of a new deed of gift, exceeds phobogenic instincts. Seriously, we do not see how any club with proper sense or self respect could accept the extraordinary proposal. The committee may be right or wrong in their contention that the new conditions are fair and sportsman