No Wonder the Omahas Lost Yesterday's Two Games.

THE BLUES ANNIHILATE THEM.

The First Game a Wretched Exhibition, in Which Menges' Men Make Seven Unearned Runs in One Inning.

The Omahas Twice Beaten.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 23.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—Two games for one admission drew 6,000 people to Exposition park this afternoon. The Omahas were beaten in both games by the Blues, who have the record of having won twenty-four out of the last twenty-six games played. The visitors lost the first game because they could neither bat nor field. In the two games they made six hits and fourteen errors. Four of the hits were made by McGarr. The batteries in the first game were Clarke and Nagle and McGarr and Gunson. The latter caught miserably and his wretched work was mainly responsible for the overwhelming defeat. He muffed three strikes, threw wildly and had four passed balls. In the fifth inning the visitors went to pieces, the home team scoring seven unearned runs on two singles and errors by Nagle, McGarr, Tebeau, Clarke and Crooks. The Blues gave up at the end of the eighth. Score of the first game:

BEAR HUNTERS RETURN.

They Tell How Judge Dundy Bought Down a Bear.

Elmer Frank and Henry Sharp, who have returned from the bear destroying expedition, were seen last evening. In reply to a question as to how near the bear came to Judge Dundy, on that memorable occasion, Mr. Frank answered: "We went into a deeply wooded gulch to get a drink of water—Mr. Manger of Fremont, Mr. Sharp and myself. While there we heard a growling in the brush, and looking up, saw a big black bear. We blazed away at him but did not hit him. He followed us through the woods. We followed the sound and came upon Judge Dundy with a smoking rifle in his hand. Mrs. Frank and Mrs. Howe, her sister, were in the brush with him. The bear came to the edge of the brush and then he saw Judge Dundy. He was terrified, and in jumping from the saddle Mrs. Frank's foot became fastened in the brush. The bear then pitched him on the brute with a skillful and fortunate shot. But for the judge's last shot a catastrophe might have occurred. The horses were in the brush and were in a panic, which at one time seemed imminent, was averted. If this had occurred, the death of Mrs. Frank and Mrs. Howe was a possibility."

She Cut Her Dainty Wrist.

A damed of doubtful reputation, who lives in one of the cottages on Capitol avenue, and Twelfth street, and who goes by the name of Nellie Black, was severely cut on the wrist last night. Nellie had been imbibing freely during the day, and towards evening became very hilarious. She took a man to her room, and having some discussion with him showed her fist through the window pane, in a moment of rage or spite. She was severely cut by the broken glass on her right wrist, and the inmates of the house becoming alarmed called the police. The man was carried to the police station and her wounds dressed. She has several severe cuts on the wrist, one of which barely escaped an artery. Her fingers are also badly cut.

Milwaukee Wins Two Games.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 23.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—Sam Morton's miscellaneous assortment of ball players were defeated with ridiculous ease to-day in two games. He had but seven regular men playing, picking up two amateurs to fill out his nine. Considering their demoralized condition, the team put up a fair game, but the contest was to interest anyone interested. Sprague aroused the ire of players, spectators and umpire by his indifferent and sulky playing, which was a disgrace to the profession. The game was absolutely featureless. Johnnie's Gun is Gone.

Johnnie Lunsford, a lad of fifteen years, went to Cut-Off lake this afternoon on a gunning expedition. He had with him a relic of the revolution in the way of an old musket, which had been bored out, and badly substituted shot gun. John inserted about ten fingers of powder, a couple of ounces of shot and half of a morning paper, for ammunition. When he pulled the trigger all except the hammer and part of the stock disappeared. John lost part of his right ear, a portion of his right cheek and one thumb. He was conveyed to a drug store on the corner of Sixteenth and Webster streets, where his wounds were dressed. From thence he was taken to his home at No. 908 South Sixteenth street.

Robbed While at Prayer.

James Cotter reported at the police station last night that while he was attending divine service at the Wesleyan church, church some one, unknown, stole his coat, hat, and a watch, was attached a pistol. The thief occurred about 9 o'clock. The rig was seen on Seward street during the night driven by a man following in a heavy coat. He was arrested, and the goods, being the second highest bidder, it was something of a credit to Fremont business men that he was one of the three parties out of the whole number who could make the required cash guarantee deposit of $25.00 in order to get the rig.

Des Moines, Sept. 23.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—To-day's game between Sioux City and Des Moines was a poor one, and the victory of the latter by a majority of one run carries little glory. The Press Gang Will Play.

The newspaper reporters of Omaha are very anxious to engage some other profession in a game of base ball, and issued a challenge to all comers to engage with them for the benefit of the yellow fever sufferers of the south. This invitation was particularly addressed to the ticket and passenger agents of the various roads operating in Omaha.

These latter gentlemen promptly responded with the following acceptance: "The ticket and passenger agents of Omaha hereby accept the challenge of the Press club, to play them a game of base ball at the Athletic ball park on Saturday afternoon, September 29, 1888. The proceeds of which will go to the yellow fever sufferers." This was signed by twenty-five gentlemen representing ten lines which do business in Omaha. The knights of the coupon and those of the receipt will therefore engage in deadly combat on Saturday next. It was suggested by a well known politician yesterday that soldiers' balls be used instead of the usual leather balls, as there would, in this case, be fewer players injured.

WORSHIPPING A MURDERER

Up to the Hour the Hangman Ended His Existence.

COAST PAPERS CONDEMN IT.

Clever Swindlers Get Rid of Counterfeit Bills on San Francisco Beer-Jerkers—Pacific Sporting Matters.

Following a Criminal.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23.—[Correspondence of THE BEE.]—The occurrence which furnished more material for the coast newspapers than anything else recently, was the hanging last Friday of Alex Goldenson, the murderer of little Annie Kelly. For days the San Francisco papers were full of the incidents of the murderer's jail life, and when he was finally launched into eternity the sickening details were portrayed in all their awfulness, thickly sprinkled with illustrations of the event. Nearly all the great dailies commented editorially on the hanging, deprecating the public demand which necessitated the printing of the extended notices he received. One of them says: "It is not to the credit of the city that a person of this character should for two years have made himself a kind of hero. He said nothing and did nothing worthy to inspire respect or sympathy, and yet he has had crowds of visitors to feed his abnormal vanity. The more he has written, and the more everything he has said, have been printed and read with avidity. How many people opened their morning paper and turned to the Goldenson column and that is not like to conjecture. The man who made a human form of crime, and who was convicted of a crime could thus be magnified into a kind of popular hero suggests the propriety of a change in the laws governing the treatment of criminals condemned to death. It is not healthful that the public should glorify in the day on the spectacle of this condemned man's execution. Would it not be better that the sentence of death should remove the condemned from the public eye? Goldenson, in his cell alone and silent, would not have attracted the thoughtless public. But Goldenson in a public, with his name, profane, his shocking irreverence and his sham sentimentality, continued to excite the kind of curiosity which was sweet to him."

A Rally at Cambridge.

CAMBRIDGE, Neb., Sept. 23.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—The largest and most enthusiastic political meeting ever held in this section of the state convened here yesterday afternoon and night. The speaker was the Hon. George H. Brunner, who declared the vote carried and Reynolds entitled to a seat in the convention. The delegates from Fremont and Lincoln counties protested vigorously against this outrageous and unwarranted decision of the chair, and finally withdrew from the hall to meet the chair and there they placed in nomination W. D. Wildman, and passed ringing resolutions denouncing the action of the railroad in interfering with the election. The speaker, Charles W. Meeker, who several years ago was removed from the office of clerk of the district court of Saline county for official malfeasance, was elected clerk of the county, was nominated by the other faction. Wildman will probably carry the full republican vote of Lincoln and Hayes counties at the election in November. The republican papers in these two counties will support him with the exception of the Culbertson, which is controlled by political boss Bill Brown. In Chase county Meeker will not come near carrying the vote of his party, as there is a great deal of dissatisfaction and objection to his election. The Imperial Republican, the leading republican paper of Chase county, came out a few weeks before the convention and declared in the event of a republican nomination would do everything in its power to defeat him in the election. This is the situation in the sixty-seventh representative district, and it is hard to foretell what result will be. It is generally conceded, however, that Mr. Wildman, or Mr. Thompson, the democratic nominee, will be elected.

Nebraska City Prospering.

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., Sept. 23.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—The question of a street railway for Nebraska City is at last settled, and the line is assured. A company composed entirely of local capitalists has been organized during the past week, with a present capital stock of $25,000, which may be increased at any time. The line is to be put in with the street paving and completed before the end of the month. The company starts from a paying basis in the beginning, citizens having pledged themselves to purchase trip tickets to the amount of $250 annually for a number of years. The line will be built and equipped with the latest improvements, and be made as perfect as horse power can be made. The street cars will be of the best construction, and one that has developed within the past two weeks. Supervising Engineer.

Superintendent Hoore, of the Chicago Packing and Provision Co., has been appointed supervising engineer of the reconstruction of their large packing house here. Mr. Hoore says it is the company's intention to make this their most important plant, and will be the largest establishment in the state when completed. It will be ready for operation before cold weather sets in. There is considerable "kidding" and protesting by our citizens and the traveling public on account of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy's outrageous charges for passage over their new bridge—50 cents each, the rates formerly charged on the transfer boat, and double what is charged for passage on other bridges. The rates were announced as a case of highway robbery, and an effort will be made to secure a reduction in the present toll.

Happenings at Fremont.

FREMONT, Neb., Sept. 23.—[Special to THE BEE.]—On Tuesday evening of this week occurred the wedding of Charles H. Brunner and Miss Lizie Knoll, at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Knoll. The affair was a quiet one, only family relatives being present. Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple took the Union Pacific train for a sojourn in Colorado, lasting for a month. Mr. Brunner is a druggist and one of the prominent young business men of the city. The bride is a young lady of excellent talents.
