

AN AFRICAN IN THE FENCE.

Oklahoma's Opening Supposed to Be a Cattle Scheme.

WHY IS SPRINGER INTERESTED?

Feeling On the Admission of Territories—Henderson's Cabinet Talk—Star Vacancies in the Army—The Militia.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Every day now witnesses the arrival of a fresh batch of distinguished statesmen and politicians, making their pilgrimage to the big, fenced house on Delaware avenue.

Senator Farwell did state, however, that they had not come to offer any suggestions with respect to the newspaper, and that they were not to be taken as representing the press. He admitted that their mission had reference to local Chicago and Illinois politics, and that they were not to be taken as representing the press.

Congressman William M. Springer, chairman of the committee on territories, is in a much better frame of mind towards Dakota, than he has been at any time before, or in the important committee, over which he presides.

Representative Henderson of Iowa is a fellow-townsmen of Senator Allison, one of his most intimate friends, and a personal representative and spokesman at the Chicago convention.

Senator Allison arrived this evening, but declined to say anything about his visit at the hotel. He is a close friend of the late Major Pauline, and it is believed that he had been in the city for some time.

The Star says: The staff vacancies in the army which are awaiting the president's action continue to be a subject of speculation in army circles.

Major Bowen's chances. The staff vacancies in the army which are awaiting the president's action continue to be a subject of speculation in army circles.

THE OMAHA DIVIDEND. Holders of Preferred Stock Much Interested in the Coming Meeting.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—There is much speculation in railway circles as to what action the Omaha company will take in approaching meeting in reference to its preferred stock.

Swindled by a Bogus Lord. CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 28.—Two weeks ago an English-looking and very suave man registered at the Weddell as Lord Vane Tempest.

New Iowa Postmasters. WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—The following Iowa postmasters have been appointed: Edward L. Caldwell, Alexandria.

She Wanted to Be an Artist. ST. LOUIS, Nov. 28.—Laura Heller, daughter of a farmer near Springfield, Mo., was arrested at her home here yesterday.

The Money Island Loss. NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The loss by the destruction of property on Money Island by the storm will not be covered by $200,000.

HARRISON'S VISITORS.

Distinguished Politicians Make a Flying Trip to Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 28.—Every day now witnesses the arrival of a fresh batch of distinguished statesmen and politicians, making their pilgrimage to the big, fenced house on Delaware avenue.

Senator Farwell did state, however, that they had not come to offer any suggestions with respect to the newspaper, and that they were not to be taken as representing the press.

Congressman William M. Springer, chairman of the committee on territories, is in a much better frame of mind towards Dakota, than he has been at any time before.

Representative Henderson of Iowa is a fellow-townsmen of Senator Allison, one of his most intimate friends, and a personal representative and spokesman at the Chicago convention.

Senator Allison arrived this evening, but declined to say anything about his visit at the hotel. He is a close friend of the late Major Pauline, and it is believed that he had been in the city for some time.

The Star says: The staff vacancies in the army which are awaiting the president's action continue to be a subject of speculation in army circles.

Major Bowen's chances. The staff vacancies in the army which are awaiting the president's action continue to be a subject of speculation in army circles.

THE OMAHA DIVIDEND. Holders of Preferred Stock Much Interested in the Coming Meeting.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—There is much speculation in railway circles as to what action the Omaha company will take in approaching meeting in reference to its preferred stock.

Swindled by a Bogus Lord. CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 28.—Two weeks ago an English-looking and very suave man registered at the Weddell as Lord Vane Tempest.

New Iowa Postmasters. WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—The following Iowa postmasters have been appointed: Edward L. Caldwell, Alexandria.

She Wanted to Be an Artist. ST. LOUIS, Nov. 28.—Laura Heller, daughter of a farmer near Springfield, Mo., was arrested at her home here yesterday.

The Money Island Loss. NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The loss by the destruction of property on Money Island by the storm will not be covered by $200,000.

THE BIG RAILROAD TRUST.

It is Only One of Many Schemes Now Under Consideration.

THE MANAGERS ARE DESPERATE. And Say That Decisive Steps Must Be Taken at Once to Save Their Property From Total Ruin.

Objects of the Clearing House. CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—The plan which has been made public of forming a huge railroad combination in the territory west of Chicago and St. Louis, with a clearing house, for competitive business and to control rates, after all its only one of the plans that was considered at the New York conference, and is not the one that was finally adopted.

When asked if there was any movement on foot to petition congress for a repeal of the interstate law, he said that no such movement was being made.

The projectors of the new scheme for the interstate law, he said, had not yet agreed upon one point, and that was that the subordinate officers of railroads must be deprived of the rate-making power, and that any assumption of such power would be punished by dismissal.

When asked if there was any movement on foot to petition congress for a repeal of the interstate law, he said that no such movement was being made.

The projectors of the new scheme for the interstate law, he said, had not yet agreed upon one point, and that was that the subordinate officers of railroads must be deprived of the rate-making power, and that any assumption of such power would be punished by dismissal.

When asked if there was any movement on foot to petition congress for a repeal of the interstate law, he said that no such movement was being made.

The projectors of the new scheme for the interstate law, he said, had not yet agreed upon one point, and that was that the subordinate officers of railroads must be deprived of the rate-making power, and that any assumption of such power would be punished by dismissal.

When asked if there was any movement on foot to petition congress for a repeal of the interstate law, he said that no such movement was being made.

The projectors of the new scheme for the interstate law, he said, had not yet agreed upon one point, and that was that the subordinate officers of railroads must be deprived of the rate-making power, and that any assumption of such power would be punished by dismissal.

When asked if there was any movement on foot to petition congress for a repeal of the interstate law, he said that no such movement was being made.

The projectors of the new scheme for the interstate law, he said, had not yet agreed upon one point, and that was that the subordinate officers of railroads must be deprived of the rate-making power, and that any assumption of such power would be punished by dismissal.

When asked if there was any movement on foot to petition congress for a repeal of the interstate law, he said that no such movement was being made.

The projectors of the new scheme for the interstate law, he said, had not yet agreed upon one point, and that was that the subordinate officers of railroads must be deprived of the rate-making power, and that any assumption of such power would be punished by dismissal.

When asked if there was any movement on foot to petition congress for a repeal of the interstate law, he said that no such movement was being made.

The projectors of the new scheme for the interstate law, he said, had not yet agreed upon one point, and that was that the subordinate officers of railroads must be deprived of the rate-making power, and that any assumption of such power would be punished by dismissal.

When asked if there was any movement on foot to petition congress for a repeal of the interstate law, he said that no such movement was being made.

The projectors of the new scheme for the interstate law, he said, had not yet agreed upon one point, and that was that the subordinate officers of railroads must be deprived of the rate-making power, and that any assumption of such power would be punished by dismissal.

When asked if there was any movement on foot to petition congress for a repeal of the interstate law, he said that no such movement was being made.

The projectors of the new scheme for the interstate law, he said, had not yet agreed upon one point, and that was that the subordinate officers of railroads must be deprived of the rate-making power, and that any assumption of such power would be punished by dismissal.

When asked if there was any movement on foot to petition congress for a repeal of the interstate law, he said that no such movement was being made.

The projectors of the new scheme for the interstate law, he said, had not yet agreed upon one point, and that was that the subordinate officers of railroads must be deprived of the rate-making power, and that any assumption of such power would be punished by dismissal.

When asked if there was any movement on foot to petition congress for a repeal of the interstate law, he said that no such movement was being made.

GRAND ARMY TALK.

The Commander-in-Chief Strongly Defends the Order.

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—At the banquet given him by Chicago posts last night Major Warner, the new commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, spoke briefly, and referred to the reported defection of Indiana and that of General Palmer in Illinois.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

THE CHICAGO DYNAMITERS.

Second Day's Proceedings of the Hronek Trial.

EVIDENCE FOR THE STATE ALL IN. The Defendant Takes the Stand and Makes a Sweeping Denial of All the Charges Made Against Him.

Hronek's Trial. CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—The criminal court room was crowded this morning when Hronek's trial was resumed. The first witness was one of Inspector Bonfield's Bohemian detectives.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

He said that the platform of the Grand Army is broad enough for every good citizen to stand upon, and that he would stand upon it in defense of our comrades in the exercise of their franchise, whether they agree on questions involving these principles or not.

A PANIC IN A SCHOOL.

Several Children Hurt in a Mad Rush From Imaginary Danger.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 28.—A panic occurred at the Blair school to-day, and nothing but the great presence of mind of the corps of teachers prevented a great loss of life.

The steam heating apparatus got out of order, and the rattling in the coils, coupled with the escaping steam, alarmed the children, who, fearing an explosion, started for the door.

Miss Krobs, the teacher in charge, got to the door first and prevented a stampede. Several children had been trampled, however, when the noise in the steam pipes was repeated with increased violence.

Miss Krobs could reach the door the second time the terror-stricken children had gained the hall. The faithful teacher was borne of her feet and trampled upon.

She had to be removed in an ambulance. Annie Dodge, severe internal injuries and cranial laceration, was also injured.

She had to be removed in an ambulance. Annie Dodge, severe internal injuries and cranial laceration, was also injured.

She had to be removed in an ambulance. Annie Dodge, severe internal injuries and cranial laceration, was also injured.

She had to be removed in an ambulance. Annie Dodge, severe internal injuries and cranial laceration, was also injured.

She had to be removed in an ambulance. Annie Dodge, severe internal injuries and cranial laceration, was also injured.

She had to be removed in an ambulance. Annie Dodge, severe internal injuries and cranial laceration, was also injured.

She had to be removed in an ambulance. Annie Dodge, severe internal injuries and cranial laceration, was also injured.

She had to be removed in an ambulance. Annie Dodge, severe internal injuries and cranial laceration, was also injured.

She had to be removed in an ambulance. Annie Dodge, severe internal injuries and cranial laceration, was also injured.

She had to be removed in an ambulance. Annie Dodge, severe internal injuries and cranial laceration, was also injured.

She had to be removed in an ambulance. Annie Dodge, severe internal injuries and cranial laceration, was also injured.

She had to be removed in an ambulance. Annie Dodge, severe internal injuries and cranial laceration, was also injured.

She had to be removed in an ambulance. Annie Dodge, severe internal injuries and cranial laceration, was also injured.

She had to be removed in an ambulance. Annie Dodge, severe internal injuries and cranial laceration, was also injured.

She had to be removed in an ambulance. Annie Dodge, severe internal injuries and cranial laceration, was also injured.

She had to be removed in an ambulance. Annie Dodge, severe internal injuries and cranial laceration, was also injured.

She had to be removed in an ambulance. Annie Dodge, severe internal injuries and cranial laceration, was also injured.

She had to be removed in an ambulance. Annie Dodge, severe internal injuries and cranial laceration, was also injured.

She had to be removed in an ambulance. Annie Dodge, severe internal injuries and cranial laceration, was also injured.

LONDON'S LATEST SENSATION.

The Upper Circles of Society Receive a Terrible Shock.

A FUTURE EARL IN HOT WATER. Captain Walpole Sued by a Pretty German Governess For Breach of Promise and Libel—Some Racy Developments.

A Sensational Suit. [Copyright 1888, by the Associated Press.] LONDON, Nov. 28.—[New York Herald Cable-Special to THE BEE.]—London society received another distressing shock to-day by the announcement that the heir of Sir Robert Walpole, the celebrated prime minister of Great Britain, had been sued for breach of promise.

The plaintiff, Miss Valery Wiedemann, brought suit against Captain Robert Horace Walpole for breach of promise and for libel, claiming $10,000 damages.

Walpole for breach of promise and for libel, claiming $10,000 damages. Not many months ago Captain Walpole and Miss Corbin, an American lady, were quietly married in Paris, and from subsequent events it is presumed that the affair was conducted privately owing to Miss Wiedemann, who avowed her intention of making trouble for the groom.

Walpole for breach of promise and for libel, claiming $10,000 damages. Not many months ago Captain Walpole and Miss Corbin, an American lady, were quietly married in Paris, and from subsequent events it is presumed that the affair was conducted privately owing to Miss Wiedemann, who avowed her intention of making trouble for the groom.

Walpole for breach of promise and for libel, claiming $10,000 damages. Not many months ago Captain Walpole and Miss Corbin, an American lady, were quietly married in Paris, and from subsequent events it is presumed that the affair was conducted privately owing to Miss Wiedemann, who avowed her intention of making trouble for the groom.

Walpole for breach of promise and for libel, claiming $10,000 damages. Not many months ago Captain Walpole and Miss Corbin, an American lady, were quietly married in Paris, and from subsequent events it is presumed that the affair was conducted privately owing to Miss Wiedemann, who avowed her intention of making trouble for the groom.

Walpole for breach of promise and for libel, claiming $10,000 damages. Not many months ago Captain Walpole and Miss Corbin, an American lady, were quietly married in Paris, and from subsequent events it is presumed that the affair was conducted privately owing to Miss Wiedemann, who avowed her intention of making trouble for the groom.

Walpole for breach of promise and for libel, claiming $10,000 damages. Not many months ago Captain Walpole and Miss Corbin, an American lady, were quietly married in Paris, and from subsequent events it is presumed that the affair was conducted privately owing to Miss Wiedemann, who avowed her intention of making trouble for the groom.

Walpole for breach of promise and for libel, claiming $10,000 damages. Not many months ago Captain Walpole and Miss Corbin, an American lady, were quietly married in Paris, and from subsequent events it is presumed that the affair was conducted privately owing to Miss Wiedemann, who avowed her intention of making trouble for the groom.

Walpole for breach of promise and for libel, claiming $10,000 damages. Not many months ago Captain Walpole and Miss Corbin, an American lady, were quietly married in Paris, and from subsequent events it is presumed that the affair was conducted privately owing to Miss Wiedemann, who avowed her intention of making trouble for the groom.

Walpole for breach of promise and for libel, claiming $10,000 damages. Not many months ago Captain Walpole and Miss Corbin, an American lady, were quietly married in Paris, and from subsequent events it is presumed that the affair was conducted privately owing to Miss Wiedemann, who avowed her intention of making trouble for the groom.

Walpole for breach of promise and for libel, claiming $10,000 damages. Not many months ago Captain Walpole and Miss Corbin, an American lady, were quietly married in Paris, and from subsequent events it is presumed that the affair was conducted privately owing to Miss Wiedemann, who avowed her intention of making trouble for the groom.

Walpole for breach of promise and for libel, claiming $10,000 damages. Not many months ago Captain Walpole and Miss Corbin, an American lady, were quietly married in Paris, and from subsequent events it is presumed that the affair was conducted privately owing to Miss Wiedemann, who avowed her intention of making trouble for the groom.

Walpole for breach of promise and for libel, claiming $10,000 damages. Not many months ago Captain Walpole and Miss Corbin, an American lady, were quietly married in Paris, and from subsequent events it is presumed that the affair was conducted privately owing to Miss Wiedemann, who avowed her intention of making trouble for the groom.

Walpole for breach of promise and for libel, claiming $10,000 damages. Not many months ago Captain Walpole and Miss Corbin, an American lady, were quietly married in Paris, and from subsequent events it is presumed that the affair was conducted privately owing to Miss Wiedemann, who avowed her intention of making trouble for the groom.

Walpole for breach of promise and for libel, claiming $10,000 damages. Not many months ago Captain Walpole and Miss Corbin, an American lady, were quietly married in Paris, and from subsequent events it is presumed that the affair was conducted privately owing to Miss Wiedemann, who avowed her intention of making trouble for the groom.

Walpole for breach of promise and for libel, claiming $10,000 damages. Not many months ago Captain Walpole and Miss Corbin, an American lady, were quietly married in Paris, and from subsequent events it is presumed that the affair was conducted privately owing to Miss Wiedemann, who avowed her intention of making trouble for the groom.

Walpole for breach of promise and for libel, claiming $10,000 damages. Not many months ago Captain Walpole and Miss Corbin, an American lady, were quietly married in Paris, and from subsequent events it is presumed that the affair was conducted privately owing to Miss Wiedemann, who avowed her intention of making trouble for the groom.

Walpole for breach of promise and for libel, claiming $10,000 damages. Not many months ago Captain Walpole and Miss Corbin, an American lady, were quietly married in Paris, and from subsequent events it is presumed that the affair was conducted privately owing to Miss Wiedemann, who avowed her intention of making trouble for the groom.

Walpole for breach of promise and for libel, claiming $10,000 damages. Not many months ago Captain Walpole and Miss Corbin, an American lady, were quietly married in Paris, and from subsequent events it is presumed that the affair was conducted privately owing to Miss Wiedemann, who avowed her intention of making trouble for the groom.

Walpole for breach of promise and for libel, claiming $10,000 damages. Not many months ago Captain Walpole and Miss Corbin, an American lady, were quietly married in Paris, and from subsequent events it is presumed that the affair was conducted privately owing to Miss Wiedemann, who avowed her intention of making trouble for the groom.

Walpole for breach of promise and for libel, claiming $10,000 damages. Not many months ago Captain Walpole and Miss Corbin, an American lady, were quietly married in Paris, and from subsequent events it is presumed that the affair was conducted privately owing to Miss Wiedemann, who avowed her intention of making trouble for the groom.