

A SPEAKERSHIP PERSIMMON

All Sorts of Candidates Beginning to Reach for It.

A MERRY SCRAMBLE PROMISED.

Church Howe Preparing to Revenge Himself on Omaha by Giving Her Charter a Black Eye—Capital City Politics.

All For Speaker.

LINCOLN, Neb. Dec. 21.—[Correspondence of The Bee.]—The political situation is sadly and woefully mixed. All railroads lead to Lincoln in these days, and each train brings aspiring and perspiring politicians to the Capital City. It would appear to a wholly disinterested spectator that the crimson path to glory and undying fame is the road sought by each legislator. The phantom of "speakership" of the lower house is the spook that haunts all statesmen in their melancholy journey to the grave.

Each day witnesses the work of the old incubator of Time, and the machine gets in its work with a charm that lulls ambition to sleep.

Watson of Ohio, who has letters of marque issued by Marquette, is heaving his way in the Wilderness of Doubt, and his friends claim that he will knock the coveted persimmon.

John A. Doniphan, who has proven himself an honest man, has taken two rooms at the Capital hotel, and will develop considerable strength. The railroads will fight him and the strikers have already drawn their knives.

J. L. Caldwell, he of judiciary committee fame, is playing a quiet bluff and to intimate friends confidentially imports the information that he is a candidate for speakership. His father-in-law is also a candidate for chaplain, and it is said that youthful "Jeems" is only playing his bluff, and will not let it be known that he may give his father-in-law a doubtful boost.

J. C. McBride is yet in the field, and tells me that he will continue in the field until the speaker is chosen.

Church Howe has taken rooms, and says that he will seek to get Omaha's charter a black eye. Since Howe's unmerciful disaster in 1886, he has carried a long blade for Omaha. His imagined strength in the senate, however, will not be noticeable if he attempts alone to punish his enemies for his defeat when he foolishly ran for congress two years ago.

The beautiful and bounding Vandemark, who made a public exhibition of himself two years ago, is in the city. He wants a government position of some kind, and will try to get the endorsement of the legislature. The Wahoo renege will hardly catch on.

Tom Majors, who has been coming to Lincoln and has finally succeeded in making himself believe that he may have some strength as a candidate for speaker. Those who will remember Tom's defeat in 1886, will laugh at Tom's presumption in running for speaker this year. The Peru statesman has had "Doc" McGraw and "Kate" Elliott out through the senate part of the state working up a boom. But the boom has failed to materialize.

Colonel O. A. Corbin of Johnson has been here a couple of times. He has already prepared a half dozen bills which will be presented to the lower house with a flow of eloquence that will turn quickly in their quiet grave. One of his bills is to equalize the wealth of the nation. The colonel has a realistic genius and evolves strange, weird things.

Berry of Pawnee county, who will be in the lower house, has a dozen bills already prepared.

A. E. Cady, of St. Paul, is yet in the fight for the speakership, and is coming in with considerable strength. Cady is clean and capable.

Coming events cast their shadows before. The prevailing impression is that the coming legislature is composed of a vast multitude, but the vocal element is liable to preponderate. The contest for the speakership will fairly test the metal of the members of the house.

Bankers and Railroad Men Confer.

New York, Dec. 21.—An important meeting of railroad presidents and bankers was held yesterday, and adjourned till to-day. The bankers represent the leading financial institutions of this country and Europe. A plan was formed intended to protect railroad securities here and abroad, which contemplates notifying railroad officials in all cases where the management is unsatisfactory, the officials responsible for such administration to be required to resign. The action grows out of the general rate wars.

The presidents of the western roads agree that there should be no more secret cuts, and extra commissions will not be paid by any road. The announcement was also made that the agreement for a maintenance of rates after January 1, 1889, growing out of the plan drawn up by Presidents Cable of the Rock Island and Strong of the Atchison, had been signed by all the necessary parties. Presidents Strong and Cable, and the directors of the Union Pacific, Cable of the Rock Island, Huchitt of the Northwest, and Vice President Cady of the St. Paul, were among those present.

The Alaskan Outrages.

RUTLAND, N. H., Dec. 21.—[Special Telegram to The Bee.]—Dr. H. McIntyre, for nineteen years superintendent of the Alaska seal fisheries, replies to the charges of immorality. He says the bestowal of one's wife upon a stranger was an ancient custom of the entire people inhabiting the borders of Behring sea. The practice is not wholly extinct. A better sentiment is, however, growing up among them. "We challenge the world to produce an example of greater improvement—mental, moral or material—than we are able to show on the Seal Islands."

Washington, Dec. 21.—H. A. Glidden, agent of the treasury department at Seal Islands from 1880 to 1885, was before the investigating committee to-day and said he did not think that there was any truth in the printed charges of outrages, etc.

Villard's Electric Light Scheme.

New York, Dec. 21.—[Special Telegram to The Bee.]—Forty millions of dollars is now said to be the sum which Henry Villard's backers will put into the scheme for forming an electric light syndicate. Until he went to Europe Edison was a director in the Edison company, and it is believed he will enter the directory again after the next election. Since his return from Germany Villard appears to have unlimited capital at his command. Within a few months he has gone into the market and bought up about all the floating stock of the Edison company. But this is only a stepping-stone to a gigantic combination of electric systems which will result in the formation of a big stock company to control all business of electric lighting in the United States.

Youthful but Smooth Swindlers.

THE BEE.—[Special Telegram to The Bee.]—Trouble exists among the employees of the Western Union telegraph office here, and the company has been obliged to discharge some of them in order to protect itself. The company has lost in defaultations many thousands of dollars. The last combination discovered involves largely the messenger boys. They are paid 25 cents for each message. To the astonishment of the officials many of the boys were making $20 a week salary. Investigation showed that the boys had made false entries. A number of receiving clerks and bookkeepers are mixed up in other frauds and sensational disclosures are expected.

General Brooke has issued a new set of rules governing requisitions for subsistence stores.

ANOTHER LONDON MURDER.

Jack the Ripper Believed to Have Tried a New Method.

LONDON, Dec. 21.—The body of a woman whose name is unknown was found yesterday morning in the suburbs of London. An empty bottle lay alongside the body, and the impression first formed was that the woman had committed suicide. At the coroner's inquest to-day, however, physicians who examined the body testified that there were no signs of poisoning, and declared their belief that the woman had been murdered by strangulation. There was a trace on the woman's neck which showed that a small cord had been tied tightly around it. The woman was an elderly woman, believed her murderer to be identical with the Whitechapel murderer, whom, they think, has adopted a new method of disposing of his victims.

Nebraska and Iowa Penitents.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—[Special Telegram to The Bee.]—Penitents granted Nebraska to-day. Increases—James F. Knight, Lincoln; John J. McAdams, Kearney; John P. Sanders, Tecumseh; Benjamin S. Pindar, Sterling; Dennis Decker, Emmet; Noble Sanford, Red Cloud.

Penitents for Iowa: Original invalid—Daniel Waterbury, Ayco; John M. Thomas, Kosauqua; Sylvester Warner, Des Moines. Increase—Lawrence Yeers, Guthrie Center; John Byrd, Muscatine; Joseph Bradford, Fairfield; Richard H. Morgan, Nowmark; Napoleon Dorsey, Anamosa; Harry Hausenberger, Morning Sun; Charles Childers, Red Oak; Adam Schmitt, Nichol Station. Release and increase—Theodore D. Weed, Mason City; Reissner—John H. Shammo, Sole. Captain Reissner, etc.—Samantha, mother of Courtland Wells, Toledo.

Hunting the Whitechapel Flead.

YONKERS, Dec. 21.—[Special Telegram to The Bee.]—Inspector Andrews, of Scotland Yard, arrived here yesterday from Toronto and left last night for New York to look for the Whitechapel murderer. It is said there were twenty-three detectives, two clerks and one inspector employed on the Whitechapel murder cases, and that the police were without a lot of evidence upon which to arrest anybody.

How many men have you working in America?

"Half a dozen," he replied. Then, hesitating, he continued: "American detective agencies have a goodly number of men. He salaries and the payment of expenses, but we can do that ourselves."

Whipped by the White Caps.

WARREN, Ind., Dec. 21.—[Special Telegram to The Bee.]—There is much excitement in the vicinity of Clayville, a small place a few miles east of North Manchester, over the appearance of a band of White Caps. Joseph Culler, who lives near Clayville, was mobbed while on his way home by a crowd of masked men, who, without saying a word, took Culler, bound, gagged and tied him to a tree, and gave him a fearful beating. The White Caps gave him to understand that he must make a radical change in his manner of living and then rode away. Culler was obliged to be a work leaver, and much feeling has been worked up against him.

Farmer's Gunning Arrested.

NORWALK, Conn., Dec. 21.—[Special Telegram to The Bee.]—Thomas B. Gunning, the young man who married Senator Stanford's niece, and astonished the farmers of the vicinity by lavish expenditures, is now under arrest. He left the town a month ago. His wife alleged that he took with him considerable money belonging to her, and she instituted divorce proceedings immediately after being deserted, and also instituted proceedings for the recovery of the money. He returned last night and was immediately arrested.

Freight Car Burglars Captured.

CHICAGO, Dec. 21.—Freight car burglaries have been of frequent occurrence in the Louisville, New Albany and Chicago switching yards during the past few weeks, and after much trouble the police have located the headquarters of the gang, which has been doing all the work. In the basement of a lodging house on Clark street the officers found a wagon load of plunder, which had been stored there by the gang. The police this morning made a descent upon the place and captured a fine lot of men, who are supposed to be concerned in the robbery.

Affairs at Snakin.

SAVING, Dec. 21.—The British force passed a quiet night. A few of the enemies have been seen in the distance. The men-of-war have been recalled from Handoub.

London, Dec. 21.—The bad quality of bayonets and sabres used by the troops at Snakin is much commented upon. Fully under arrest. He left the town a month ago. His wife alleged that he took with him considerable money belonging to her, and she instituted divorce proceedings immediately after being deserted, and also instituted proceedings for the recovery of the money. He returned last night and was immediately arrested.

Congressman Laird's Condition.

G. C. Calkins, the confidential friend of Congressman Laird, is in the city. He is in receipt of a letter from John Barsby, who is a member of the legislature, growing out of the plan drawn up by Presidents Cable of the Rock Island and Strong of the Atchison, had been signed by all the necessary parties. Presidents Strong and Cable, and the directors of the Union Pacific, Cable of the Rock Island, Huchitt of the Northwest, and Vice President Cady of the St. Paul, were among those present.

The Power of Good.

PARIS, Dec. 21.—A chemist's assistant named Pastra Beausser was arrested to-day charged with the poisoning of sixteen persons in Havre. The supposed motive for the crime was to obtain the business himself.

Another Cabinet Guess.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 21.—[Special from Indianapolis says:] John W. Wainwright will be a member of the new cabinet. He has not been formally notified of his appointment, but knows that a portfolio will be tendered to him.

The G. A. R. Encampment.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Dec. 21.—The national council of administration of the Grand Army to-day decided to hold the encampment next week at Milwaukee, the opening day being August 27.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable. Sick headache, indigestion, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, a faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels. Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. It requires careful attention. Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet efficiently. It tones the stomach, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, banishes headache, and refreshes the mind. Headache, indigestion, heartburn, loss of appetite, a faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels. Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. It requires careful attention. Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet efficiently. It tones the stomach, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, banishes headache, and refreshes the mind. Headache, indigestion, heartburn, loss of appetite, a faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels. Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. It requires careful attention. Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet efficiently. It tones the stomach, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, banishes headache, and refreshes the mind.

Head's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1.50 per bottle. Prepared only by C. E. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass. 100 Doses One Dollar

FROM THE SHAWKETE STATE.

The Diggle Poisoning Case Nearly Ready for the Jury.

SUPREME COURT DECISIONS.

A Man's Skull Crashed in a Yee-Fo-For All Fight at Des Moines—Satanists Pay Their Fines.

Mrs. Diggle's Trial.

MASON CITY, Ia., Dec. 21.—[Special Telegram to The Bee.]—The defense in the Diggle murder trial closed their testimony at 3 o'clock to-day. Quite a sensation occurred this afternoon when the defense put Stone on the stand. His testimony was that on the morning of George Diggle's death he overheard the deceased soliloquize as follows: "If I can get that morphine, or get her to get it, I will pass out of this world without any trouble, and I don't care what becomes of her." Mr. Stone's reputation for honesty is good, and although the attorneys for the state poured in a red-hot cross-examination, they failed to accomplish their purpose. The defendant was on the stand from 10 until after 2 o'clock. She testified that she was in the habit of using morphine occasionally, that she purchased 20 cents worth on May 24; that she placed it in the pocket of her wrapper; that she had the wrapper in her bed room; that her husband was searching her room for a dress for the little girl; that he did not get the wrapper in her bed room; that which was in the dining room, for him. He asked me to drink the beer which he had poured out. County Attorney Humphrey questioned the accuracy of her testimony, and was followed by Attorney Naisal. It will be given to the jury about noon to-morrow. It is generally believed that Mrs. Diggle is a genuine, or that the accused will be given an acquittal.

Prisoners' Humanity.

FORT DONK, Ia., Dec. 21.—[Special Telegram to The Bee.]—News of a remarkable case, and one disclosing a disgusting degree of human depravity, comes to this city from Coaville, a small mining village seven miles south of here. Thursday evening three miners—Steve Packett, William McCarthy and John Tooley, who had been working together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance into the room they forcibly expelled Mr. Smith, retaining Mrs. Smith, who was compelled to occupy one bed with the three men during the night, and to sleep in a room which was together in the mine, furnished by Fred Smith, an offensive German, living a few miles from Coaville, where he and his wife resided alone. After securing entrance