

WEARY OF LIFE'S STRUGGLE.

Ole Olson, a Well-to-Do Bachelor, Takes His Own Life.

SLOWLY STRANGLLED TO DEATH.

The Coroner's Jury Finds That Louis Anderson's Death Was the Result of His Own Carelessness.

Suicided by Hanging.

The Scandinavian quarrel was started by a suicide yesterday morning. Ole Olson, a well-to-do bachelor about thirty-eight years old, was the victim.

Olson owned four small houses, opening on the alley on Sixth street south of Pacific. He also had a money in bank, it is said, and owned a horse, which he used in his business of hauling, and a dog. He had no relatives in this country, and these dumb creatures were his only companions.

THE ANDERSON INQUEST.

The Jury Returns a Verdict Exonerating the Motor Company.

An inquest was held yesterday afternoon over the remains of Louis Anderson, who was mangled beneath a Sherman avenue motor train on Saturday night.

J. P. Smith, a fellow clerk, was the chief witness. He, with Anderson and a young man named Hudson, were together when the store closed, and immediately after began to amuse themselves with a drunken man who lay near by.

When the train was passing a point about ten rods south of Corby, Anderson appeared, running rapidly in the direction of the train. Not until he was within five feet of the car did the gripman see him, and then it was too late to even shout a warning before the runner had bounded to the middle of the track.

The verdict exonerated the company and employees from blame, though the fact of a minority sentiment that the company should be censured for running its trains too rapidly.

The chief reason for meeting at that time is, I presume, based on the fact that there will be the usual long and tedious fight over new rules that must be adopted and the speakership contest.

MANDERSON'S OPINION.

He Thinks the President Will Call an Extra Session of Congress.

As Senator Manderison was leaving for Milwaukee last evening to attend the national G. A. R. convention, he was asked by a reporter a query.

"Yes, I am inclined to think President Harrison will call an extra session of congress to convene about the 1st of November.

"Do you think the fight for the speakership is likely to be a hot one?"

"Well, with such men as McKinley and Reed as candidates the prospects are good for a heated campaign."

"Which, in your opinion, is the favorite?"

"Not so much, though he has a great many warm and influential friends, and some very bitter enemies. A man like him, who takes such positive stands, can't help making enemies as well as friends, and a man without enemies is not of much consequence."

National Guard Changes.

Several changes in the official roster of the Nebraska National Guard are announced from the adjutant general's office at Lincoln.

First Lieutenant F. P. Lundeen, quartermaster First regiment, having been commissioned captain of Company A, First regiment, the colonel commanding said regiment will recommend to the adjutant general, first lieutenant J. Y. ...

Colonel Hotchkiss will recommend to the adjutant general the supplies referred to, namely: Fifty Springfield rifles (30-caliber), complete, equipped with fifty fatigue uniforms, complete, coat, pants and cap.

Thousands of Dollars are spent every year by the people of this state for worthless medicines for the cure of throat and lung diseases, when we know that if they would only invest $1 in SANTA ANITA, the new California discovery for consumption and kindred complaints, they would in this pleasant remedy find relief. ANCIENT CRAFT MASONRY.

The Law of the Grand Lodge on Non-Interference.

OMAHA, August 24.—To the Editor of THE BEE: A disposition having manifested itself on the part of certain members of the illegal so-called southern jurisdiction, Scottish Rite Masonry, to misconstrue the law of this grand lodge on the subject of non-interference, prompts us to herewith give the law for the benefit of those who are not familiar with it.

The following is the report of the committee on jurisprudence adopted by the grand lodge in the year 1884 (see proceedings, page 55):

"That while we recognize as a fundamental principle that the lodge is the basis of all Masonic standing, and that every Mason should belong to a lodge, we have no authority to prescribe to other Masonic lodges which are founded upon High Lodge, any regulations respecting their membership; but we earnestly remind our brethren that their first duty and allegiance is due to the lodge, no matter how many degrees they have received."

"This is good, plain, sensible Masonic law on this subject, and if it had been strictly adhered to the peace and harmony heretofore existing among Ancient Craft Masons of this jurisdiction would not now have been placed in peril. Notwithstanding the true sense of this law on the subject, at the last communication of our grand lodge, held June 30, 1889, the grand master, Scottish Rite Mason of the alleged so-called southern jurisdiction, under command of Albert Pike, in accordance with their secret constitutions, and their methods of control, attempted to introduce into this subject of discord into our harmonious system by including in their address before the grand lodge the following:

"1. That two bodies claiming to be Masonic of the same grade, cannot lawfully exist in the same territory at the same time."

"2. That the first lawfully constituted authority established in a state thereby obtains exclusive jurisdiction in such territory, and that any other body of the same grade or rite entering later within such territory is in itself unlawful."

"That portion of the address was referred to the committee on jurisprudence, consisting of all the past grand masters present, some thirteen in number, who made the following report:

"Whereas, a grand lodge of Free and Accepted Masons is an independent and sovereign body, recognizing and having supreme jurisdiction in its own territory, and that those of Entered Apprentice, Fellowcraft and Master Mason, as illustrated and taught by the ritual and ceremonial work adopted by such grand lodge; therefore be it Resolved, That this grand lodge expressly declines to enter upon any discussion of the history, use or legitimacy of any lodge claiming to confer what is known as the Scottish Rite degrees or to be committed to the recognition of any such body, and that any man of ordinary intelligence might comprehend the report of that committee, and we believe that it is understood, as herein stated, by every loyal Ancient Craft Mason; only those who are influenced by motives wholly at variance with the truth can put any other construction than this on that report, which was adopted by the grand lodge."

PAST MASTER.

THE SIGHT OF A FIVE-DOLLAR BILL CAUSES A PANIC.

A stout young man with a small blonde moustache was walking along Fifteenth street yesterday afternoon, and at 217, J. Finnelly's place, happened to notice a pair of shoes, marked $3, that caught his eye.

He went and bought them, offering the merchant a new $5 bill in payment. The merchant, however, thought the smaller note, and after examining the bill several minutes, returned it, saying he could not be caught for a sucker on anything counterfeit. The young man, who proved to be Mr. William Rabbits, Jr., traveling representative for Spratt's patent, then got out two silver dollars, paid for the shoes and went his way.

Subsequently four policemen surprised and arrested him at the Paxton hotel. They said: "You are loaded with counterfeit money and we want you."

Mr. Rabbits, Jr., to convince them that they were making a mistake, but the officers felt satisfied that they had a "bad man" to catch, and insisted on taking him in. He protested, but went along and they took him to the central station. En route Officer Bloom could not resist handling him roughly and Sergeant Haze was extremely officious. Mr. Rabbits, Jr. was discovered, had on his person at the time about $30 in cash, and was given Saturday a bank at Kansas City. These looked very suspicious to the police, and not a man at headquarters could tell whether they were genuine or counterfeit. Three patrolmen, each with a bill, were dispatched hastily to many bank cashiers and other business men and had them examined. They returned looking sheepish, and were compelled to admit that the money was all right.

Mr. Rabbits carried the officers on their knowledge, treated them to the cigars for handling him as though he were a desperate character, invited them to call and dine at his hotel in the evening, and went his way.

the same time explaining that the institution was in great need of funds, being satisfied at that time that the institution, if properly conducted, was a safe investment. Since the facts above stated transpired new developments, best known to the trade, have come up, and as the books had been placed in the hands of experts, I positively refused to have anything to do with the institution until the experts had finished their work and the exact result was known. I still believe the Western Life company to be a good profitable concern if placed in proper hands. F. B. WOODROW.

A Growing Industry.

The ownership of the Western Newspaper Union is now almost entirely with Mr. George A. Joslyn, who has just become president, general manager and owner of that prosperous institution.
