

SAVING SOULS OF HEATHENS.

Self-Sacrificing Work of the Women's Board of Interior Missions.

ITS TWENTY-SECOND ANNUAL SESSION.

Reports of Officers Showing a Great Deal of Enthusiasm and Prospects of Continued Success.

About 200 delegates assembled in the First Congregational church at 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning in attendance on the twenty-third annual meeting of the Women's Board of Missions of the Interior.

The church had been divided into sections by imaginary lines, each section being set apart for delegates from the thirteen states comprising the territory under the jurisdiction of the Board of the Interior. These states are Illinois, Colorado, Missouri, Kansas, North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Ohio, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan and Nebraska.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Moses Smith of Chicago, and Miss M. D. Wingate of Chicago, the recording secretary of the board, presided over the records.

After devotional exercises the president appointed the committee on credentials as follows: Miss Jessie C. Fitch of Chicago, Mrs. Fields of Illinois, Mrs. F. V. Stevens of Kansas and Mrs. F. O. Adams of Michigan.

The address of welcome was then delivered by Mrs. G. W. Hall of Omaha, president of the State Board of Missions. The speaker welcomed the delegates and visitors to the city, including the new union depot, and extended to them the warmest of welcomes, bidding them enjoy themselves and pledging them a hearty entertainment.

Mrs. G. B. Wilcox of Chicago, one of the secretaries of the Board of the Interior, responded to the address of welcome in a feeling manner, referring briefly to the magnitude and importance of the meeting.

The president, Mrs. Smith, then delivered the opening address.

President Smith's Address. "We live in a time when our lives are worth a thousand-fold more than the lives of women in our mothers' times. We live in a time when the work of Christ is the word laid out for us."

In fluent and concise manner the speaker drew a picture of the immensity of the work laid out for women in spreading the gospel of Christ in foreign lands among the poor and unfortunate who have been living for ages in darkness and ignorance.

After speaking of the importance of the first half of the present century in spreading the gospel, the speaker said that the present decade was the most important of any in the history of the church.

The work of the missionaries in foreign lands was spoken of and the president appealed to the delegates for earnest support of the missionaries in their work. A small amount of money she said, would go far towards pushing the work and now that schools and colleges had been established in the orient, support should be forthcoming which would enable the work to be pushed.

The speaker pleaded especially for money for the establishment of kindergartens in which the small children might be educated and in which they might have the love of Christ inculcated into their hearts and made instruments in the salvation of their people.

The importance of establishing a training school for girls in the territory was also mentioned in graphic style and an appeal made for money for the support of such an institution, which would obviate the necessity of sending the Japanese girls to this country at great expense, for their education.

In closing, the speaker appealed to the delegates to do their best in the coming decade by determining the work to be done during the coming year.

Mrs. John N. of Illinois, one of the secretaries of the board, then reviewed the work of the missions in India, Africa and Micronesia. The speaker spoke of the missionaries in these fields in detail, showing flattering progress at nearly all of the stations at which missionaries of the church were established. The report was very exhaustive in its character.

At the conclusion of Mrs. Nutt's address Mrs. M. P. Wright, a missionary from Turkey, led a devotional exercise of forty minutes' duration.

Following this the meeting settled down to business and the constitution was amended to provide for an assistant secretary.

Report of the Treasurer. Mrs. J. B. Leake of Chicago, the treasurer of the board, then presented her report, prefacing it by the statement that the returns from all the states showed an increase over the previous year. The gross receipts for the year, including contributions from each of the states in the territory of the board, as well as from missionaries in foreign fields, from states outside the territory of the board, sum total $15,243.41; including the balance from last year, the receipts were $5,654.34. The expenditures for the year amounted to $5,109.82, leaving a balance in the treasury of the board amounting to $5,787.93.

The report of the treasurer was referred to a special committee, to be appointed later.

The secretaries of the state branches were then invited to take seats on the platform and the reports of the states were called for. Reports from Michigan, Iowa, Indiana and Ohio were presented, showing an increase in the amount of contributions from each of the hands of the treasurers, a large increase in the number of auxiliary societies organized in each state, together with many interesting details of the work in each state, and suggestions in the way of increasing the effectiveness of the societies.

Money for the Cause. The afternoon session opened with devotional exercises after which President Smith announced that the next half hour would be devoted to a discussion of any subjects which might be presented.

Mrs. Sherman of Chicago brought up the question of pledges, and advocated the system of obtaining individual pledges from members of the churches in support of the objects in which the churches and missionary societies were interested.

During the discussion on this subject the president remarked that no church took collection for woman's work. The collection taken in the churches was for general missionary purposes and no part of it was set apart for the work of educating the women and children of foreign lands.

Following this discussion there was a general discussion of pertinent subjects in which many delegates took part.

At the conclusion of the time set apart for this discussion Miss M. D. Wingate, the recording secretary, read a paper on the home department, showing the general condition of the affairs of the board in the various states. The methods used during the past year in distributing the funds at the disposal of the board were reviewed, and the needs of the board in continuing the work were placed before the meeting, the delegates being urged to bear in mind the importance of raising funds for the work.

At Colby college and spoke earnestly of the progress of the work.

Then came the children.

At the conclusion of Miss Haven's remarks the president announced that the time set apart for the children had arrived. A march was played on the piano and the children of the church to the number of about 100 entered the church from the adjoining room singing a missionary hymn to the old familiar "Dear Brother's Lady."

As the lovely children, most of them girls, marched to the seats assigned to them at the front of the church the old song recalled to the minds of many the stirring times in the '60's when a dark and troublous cloud brooded over the country. One lady in the audience, whose silvered locks were the only indications left by the touch of old Father Time, remarked that she had heard that at the time of the Civil War, a station at Baltimore one night in 1861 when the fate of a nation hung in the balance. Later on the song seemed to mark the country's progress now to be taken up by another generation as a mark in the progress of the cause of the world's redemption, and a pleasing contrast to those dark times when trouble brooded over this fair land.

The children bore the banners of their hands and were guided by their teachers to the seats set apart for them.

Talked to the Little Ones. President Smith welcomed the children in a cordial manner and introduced Miss Anna C. Marchant of Chicago, who proceeded to give the little folks a talk. She rapidly sketched on a large board the ordinary home of the children in Africa and gave a short description of their mode of life.

The next topic was India, and Miss Marchant rapidly sketched a school house in that country, consisting of a thatched roof, supported by four posts, and explained how the children studied their lessons.

Passing from India to China, some of the methods of the natives were illustrated, particularly the little vases in which they burn "joss" sticks to bring rain. Pictures of junks and carts were also shown, and in Japan were shown and explained, and then the scene changed to Micronesia. On this subject the children seemed to be well posted and answered all questions very readily.

President Smith introduced Miss Farmer, a missionary who had been to Micronesia, who spoke to the children for a few moments. The people in that faraway land, she said, did not worship idols as we worship spirits and queer-shaped stones which they found in the woods. As a rule the people were able to read and write and the work of the missionaries was in an advanced stage.

Mrs. E. D. Marden of Turkey was the next speaker and she warned the children that she was going to serve turkey to them both light and dark meat. She described the mud brick houses of the people in that country, which are dirty and dingy, with no opening except a door. Then she told the children of a little girl in Turkey who had been raised in one of these houses and who was one of the brightest pupils in the school. She was very small for her age, and had never had a square meal. She was taken into the schools and fed well, and that she eventually reached a normal size and is now engaged as a teacher in one of the schools.

At the conclusion of Mrs. Marden's remarks Rev. H. P. Beach was introduced and talked about China. He described the dresses of the children, the boys wearing short skirts, and the girls wearing a pair of shoes and a colored shoe string at the end of their braids. The girls wore pants and jackets.

The speaker then told of the little Chinese children, who are possessed of a terrible temper, among other things, and are tremendous liars. He also spoke of the progress of the work of the missionaries in that country and illustrated it by some pertinent stories which interested the children immensely.

The children then sang another song and withdrew.

The president read an invitation from Mr. Luinger to visit the art gallery and the noon hour today was set aside as the time for accepting the invitation.

At the Evening Session. The evening session opened with responsive reading, led by Rev. A. R. Thain of Omaha.

At 7:30 P. M. Beach was then introduced and proceeded to give an interesting lecture on China. He illustrated, by means of a chart, the home of the ordinary Chinese family. The women live in close quarters and are not allowed to go outside during the day time. At night they are allowed to go as far as the outside the door where they converse with their neighbors at the top of their voices. The women usually discuss one another, and their nervous temper usually gets the better of them and cases of jealousy resulting from nervous exhaustion are common. The women reveal one another in a horrible manner and make night hideous with their shrill tones.

The speaker then cited instances where the work carried on by the women had worked great changes in the family lives of the natives and drew touching pictures showing the results of this work and spoke words of cheer to the women, inspiring them to continue their work. This work could not be done by men, as they were denied access to the homes of the people. The women had done great work by getting directly at the home life of the people and bringing strong influences to bear directly on the families.

In closing he appealed to the ladies to continue the good work and predicted great results from their labors.

Mrs. E. D. Morden, a missionary from Turkey, was introduced by the president and delivered an entertaining lecture on that country. She referred to the degraded social condition of the women of Turkey, citing many details in the lives of these women. Her own experiences and those of other missionaries in that country were related, showing how their feelings and sensibilities have been stunted by centuries of cruelty and ill-treatment.

The family domicile contains no furniture, is filthy and smells to heaven. Its single room is the living room for the whole family and all the animals. The illiterate and ignorant of these women was dwelt on at some length, and the speaker spoke of many incidents of actual experience showing the extreme difficulty of carrying on the work of converting them.

Committees Named. At the conclusion of Mrs. Marden's address the following committees were appointed: Nominations, Mrs. O. Adams, Illinois; Mrs. Hill, Iowa; Mrs. Cheshro, Illinois; Mrs. Rice, Iowa; Mrs. Conking, Kansas; Mrs. Thomas, Minnesota; Mrs. Constock, Ohio; Mrs. Johnson, Missouri; Mrs. Brunner, Indiana; Mrs. Bell, Montana; Mrs. West, Iowa; Mrs. Lyman, Illinois; Mrs. Hobbins, Kansas; Mrs. Keane, St. Louis; Place of meeting, Mrs. Kent, Wisconsin; Mrs. Dean, Nebraska; Mrs. Wood, Illinois; Mrs. Lee, Kansas; Mrs. Smith, Illinois.

AN IMPORTANT BILL. The Royal Baking Powder Contemned in the New York Legislature.

Last Monday Mr. Kelly introduced the following bill in the assembly. A careful reading of it will show that it is a very important one.

AN ACT to prevent the use of poisonous and injurious ingredients in baking powder.

WHEREAS, Baking powders manufactured in this state known as the "ROYAL" brand and other brands, are advertised for sale as absolutely pure; and

WHEREAS, Official examination shows them to contain ammonia and other injurious ingredients; therefore, THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1.—Every can or package of baking powder containing ammonia offered for sale in this state shall have a conspicuous label thereon with the words "Contains Ammonia" printed thereon in plain type, not smaller than great primer and any person who shall sell, or have or offer for sale, or put on or package of baking powder without such label thereon, shall be guilty of misdemeanor.

Section 2.—This act shall take effect July 1, 1891.

A Great Orator. Daniel Douglas, of Philadelphia, one of the best known and most eloquent attorneys in the country and a gentleman who has nominated in national conventions some of the most prominent democratic officials in the country, will arrive in this city today.

A reception will be given at the Grand Millard hotel tonight under the auspices of the C. M. B. U.

On Friday evening he will deliver his celebrated lecture in the Grand opera house on "Orators and Oratory."

A Successful Surgical Operation. A surgical operation which is not always successful, and also one of the most important operations known to surgery, is one recently performed by Drs. Impney and Matthews at the Omaha Academy of Medicine and Surgery on Davenport street, between 10th and 11th streets, at the tenth street.

It was what is technically termed laparotomy. On Sunday evening, October 11, Mrs. Edward Maloney of 2718 Parker street, Omaha, entered the hospital, having previously been treated without success for obstruction of the bowels. Friends of the patient would not submit to an operation until it was evident to them that she could not survive but a few hours longer.

On the next morning, October 12, a surgical operation was performed by the above named doctors. First an incision through the abdominal wall was made of about eight inches in length. After freeing the bowels of the numerous adhesions present, the obstructions were removed, the abdominal wound being then closed after the usual method and nine days thereafter, on the 21st inst., the stitches were removed, the patient having entirely recovered from the effects of the operation, and will return to her home in a few days.

Marriage Licenses. The following licenses were issued by Judge Shields yesterday:

Name and Address. Age. N. E. Richard, Omaha, 29; Rose M. Schmidt, Omaha, 19; C. H. Westerman, Minnesota, 30; Rosemary S. Sherwood, Omaha, 32.

Hear Hon. Dan'l Dougherty's lecture at the Grand.

Military Matters. A general court martial has been called to meet at Fort Douglas, Utah, at 10 o'clock on Monday, the 30th of October, for the purpose of trying such persons as may come before the court for trial.

EVERYONE SNEEZING.

Colds remarkably prevalent. With the Grip return, the dangers of Pneumonia.

Have you noticed the unusual number of colds possessed by you and acquaintances this year? There seems to be no particular reason why the Fall of this year should be more trying than usual, but nevertheless, it is a fact that those who know something of the matter, say that this extraordinary prevalence of colds is the forerunner of another visitation of the Grip. Whether it may turn out or not, a thing everyone should do to get rid of a cold is to use a certain amount of precaution to prevent its becoming an account of danger to which a person with a "little cold" is exposed. Pneumonia nobody wishes to face, and it is no exaggeration to state that eighty per cent. of deaths from this cause could have been averted if the colds out of which they grew had been cured.

By far the best method of ridding oneself of a cold is to take a little pure stimulant in water and keep warm after having done so. The greatest care and prompt measures should be taken at the slightest sign of the approach of pneumonia. If you have a tickling in the throat, or a running nose, or pain in the head, a chilly feeling or pains throughout the body, immediately use some pure stimulant to prompt the circulation and avert the catastrophe. It should be particularly borne in mind that a cold, if neglected, is a dangerous disease, and that the value of the stimulant (whichever preferable) must be pure and Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, which can be obtained of your druggist or grocer, meets the requirements. It is standard and reliable, and the most effective of all the stimulants of the leading scientists and physicians of the present day is the stimulant upon having it and do not allow the salesman to sell you a substitute, which he will do if you do not insist upon the name. Insist upon the name, and you will get no other medicinal whiskey which equals Duffy's Pure Malt in its purity and value.

Forty-five highest awards have been received by Duffy & Johnson from different international exhibitions for the superiority of their Pure Malt Whiskey and other goods. Physicians have many competitors, but no rivals. It is not a nostrum. Get the genuine.

The God That Helps to Cure The Cold. The disagreeable taste of the GOD LIVER OIL is dissipated in SCOTT'S EMULSION.

Of Pure Cod Liver Oil with HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA. The patient suffering from CONSUMPTION, BRONCHITIS, COUGH, COLIC, OR ANY OF THE AFFECTIONS OF THE THROAT AND LUNGS, should take the GOD LIVER OIL.

THE SMALLEST PILL IN THE WORLD! TUTT'S TINY LIVER PILLS have all the virtues of the larger ones; equally effective; purely vegetable; and of a size shown in this border.
