Green's Farmers' Excursions.

Become more popular every trip. On the arrival of the excursion of April 4 at Gothenburg, Neb., the party was met by A. H. Haffner, president, and General Manager Kennan of the Gothenburg Water Power company, together with the Commercial club of that city, and was taken in carriages and driven to all points of interest, stopping at the mouth of the canal, where a large steam dredge boat was being placed to widen and deepen the canal so as to increase the power many times its present capacity. The next stop was at the artificial lake of 120 acres; then to the power house, where all the machinery was running and a splendid dinner was being cooked by electricity, and where the entire party was fed for the first time in their lives with food cooked by electricity. The party consisted of bankers, merchants and business men of Iowa and Nebraska, and every one of them had something good to say of Gothenburg.

TOUGH ON THE MAJORS

They Put Up a Nice Scheme but the Laugh is on Them.

Since the passage of the Omaha charter by the legislature both Major Balcombe and Major Furray, the inseparable members of the Board of Public Works, have been in a very peculiar mood, and because of the fact that somebody sidetracked the charter amendment which legislated them out of office next July. The whole amendment was not sidetracked, however, but the figures 1887 now appear where the date 1893 appeared when the charter was passed by the senate.

The house amended the provision in that way that instead of three members of the board being appointed the 1st of July of this year but one will be appointed, and he will be the successor to Chairman Birkhauser. In addition to the sidetracking of the foxes, the foxes have had their duties increased, and one of them will be commissioner and the other street commissioner at a salary of $2,000 each, instead of $1,000, as they annually pull out of the treasury now.

All of these things have caused both of the majors to feel pretty good, and they have been quietly laughing in their sleeves at those who were certain of legislating them out of office. Instead of going to the public service they will continue, and they have been very pleasantly contemplating the extra $1,000 a year they were to receive. But there has something developed that will make them feel rather as if they have given themselves the worst of it, and while they will continue in office and be compelled to do their entire time to the public service they will not draw the contemplated $2,000 per year, but will have to content themselves with the same compensation they now receive—$1,000 per year. There is a provision in the constitution of this great state that the compensation of any public officer shall not be increased or diminished during the term of his office. That settles the two majors as far as increased pay is concerned, and the only way for them to capture the coveted extra $1,000 is to resign and take the chances of including Mayor Dennis to reappoint them. Major Furray's term expires in July 1894 and Major Balcombe's in 1895, and the increased salary as provided in the charter will not be in effect until they have stepped down and out.

City Attorney Connell said that he regarded the provision in the constitution as being so plain that it was impossible for the majors will be compelled to wear along with the $1,000 per year or resign and have themselves reappointed. The attorney thinks they overreached the best bit.

FOR WATERING POLICES.

John R. Hamilton is Wanted by His Former Partners.

About 5 o'clock last afternoon John R. Webster of the firm of Webster & Howard, appeared before the city prosecutor and caused a complaint to be filed against his former partner, John R. Hamilton, for embezzlement and defrauding the firm.

The special case cited in the complaint is that Hamilton deliberately changed a fire insurance policy for $2,000 into a policy for $200, and collected the difference in premiums, amounting to some $20, which he appropriated to his own use.

An officer called twice at the Farnam street residence of Mr. Hamilton last night, but the curtains were down, the doors locked and all the windows were closed. The insurance collector had "tumbled" and had taken a trip to Lake Manawa for his health.

Hamilton was in business difficulties some time ago and several charges of a similar nature were made against him. The matter was settled at the time, however, and no legal action was taken.

PUSH, UNCLE SAM ENTERPRISE

These Are the Heroes Which Will Make Omaha Great City.

ROUSING MASS MEETING OF CITIZENS

They Endorse the Principles of the Omaha Commercial Club and Pledge Their Enthusiastic Co-operation in Its Work.

The Commercial club of Omaha experienced a most successful evening. A mass meeting had been called for 8 o'clock. At that hour probably not more than twenty-five persons were present. The speakers who had been invited to address the meeting had failed to appear and the leaders of the movement felt a little blue. Things took a turn, however, about fifty others soon came in, a number of stirring speeches were made, which showed that the city is full of patriotic organization, and when the meeting closed the utmost enthusiasm prevailed. The meeting turned out to be a success to a remarkable degree.

The
