Domestic soap outlasts cheap soap. Death of J. C. Rose.

A telegram was received yesterday morning at the Young Men's Christian association headquarters announcing the death of J. C. Rose at Des Moines, some time during the morning. Mr. Rose was general secretary of the association in this city until last spring, when the condition of his health rendered his withdrawal from the work absolutely necessary.

The dread disease, consumption, has fastened upon him, and when he departed his friends could not but feel that it was the last time his eyes would ever look upon them again. His wife accompanied him to Des Moines and made a heroic struggle to save his life, but without avail. He kept sinking constantly lower and lower, and when his death was announced was no great surprise. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock and the remains will be interred in Des Moines.

NEWS FROM COUNCIL BLUFFS

Members of the Fire Department Kept Busy with Early Morning Blazes.

CLOSE CALL OF C. R. PRICE AND FAMILY

They Flew in Haste from a Burning Building—All Their Effects Destroyed—Mrs. Jessie Oakley Also Sustains a Severe Loss.

A dwelling house located at 707 Cook avenue and owned by H. J. Adams was burned yesterday morning at 2:10 o'clock.

The fire is thought to have originated from a lamp, which was burning on a table in the parlor. The fire spread rapidly and in a very short time, and it got a good headway in a very short time, and it got a good headway in a very short time, and it got a good headway in a very short time.

C. R. Price, who occupied the house, and his family had some trouble in getting out with their lives, and had to be contented to leave all their property in the flames.

The fire department did not arrive until quite a while after the fire started, and the fact that the man who gave the alarm ran past two alarm boxes and finally turned in the alarm near the Methodist church, fully a mile from the burning place.

Mr. Adams had $1,500 insurance on the house and estimates the loss at about $200 more than that. Mr. Price's insurance on the furniture amounts to $800, which, it is thought, will cover the loss.

Sunday morning at 3:40 o'clock the fire department was called to extinguish a blaze at the residence of Mrs. Jessie Oakley, corner of Twenty-fifth street and Avenue C.

An effort was made to call up the firemen by means of the fire alarm, but the alarm failed to take a nap and the engine house alarm finally had to run to the engine house on lower Broadway.

The fire was extinguished in about ten minutes, and the loss estimated at $1,000 on the furniture and $1,000 on the house, and all its contents were totally destroyed.

ABOUT HIM. He hid her goodly last Saturday night, placed $40 in her hand together with a paper giving her possession of all the furniture, and told her he was going to Virginia to live with his wife.

He left the house immediately, taking with him all his personal effects together with a trunk full of clothing, and has been successful in his flight.

Mrs. Thomas says he has been wanting to get away from home for some time, ever since the death of his little son, which occurred some time ago. In the case, with whom he has fallen in love, she inclines to the belief that the story about his going to Virginia is nothing but a story concocted for the purpose of concealing his intentions from her.

Three Horses Stolen. M. E. Weatherbee, who keeps a livery stable on Broadway near the corner of Seventh street, lost a team of horses and a wine-colored top buggy Sunday afternoon.

A man about 25 years of age, dressed in a gray suit of clothes, called on him and hired the horse and buggy, and went to the School for the Deaf, expecting to take a girl who was working there out riding on the rig.

During the evening, he failed to show up, and Weatherbee telephoned out to the school and learned that no rig of the kind which he had hired was there. He reported the case to Sheriff Hazen, who has offered a reward of $25 for the return of the rig and $50 for the capture of the thief.

The missing horse was a bay, with a barb wire scar across the breast. The other is a bay mixed with roan, with white face and four white feet. The driver had a fresh scar across the right side of his face. No view to the outfit has so far been secured.

Paul Bonquet, whose stable is across the street from the Weatherbee's, lost a riding horse about the same time. A young man called, giving his name as James Eilers, and asked for a horse to ride on.

William Orr, east of the city. He promised to have the animal back by sunset, but evidently the man was not in the city. Eilers, however, for he is still in the city, is the man who is still in the city.

The color of the horse is a faded black, with white level on the head, hind left eye, shod with rubber pads on front feet. The thief is 22 years of age, five feet seven inches in height, wears a light mustache, and has a light complexion.

He wore light trousers, dark coat and vest and suit-colored slouch hat with holes punched in rim.

Ladies' World's fair sociable at Masonic temple, Tuesday evening, August 8. A novel entertainment by the Ellington quartet, given by Mrs. W. C. LeVick. Dancing after the entertainment. Admission 25c.

Robbed White at Church. Thieves got in their work at Crescent Sunday forenoon while the families of Messrs. Detrow, Baeben Dinkle and William Currie were at church. Detrow's door was broken in and two sets of silver spoons were stolen.

At Currie's house the visitors cut open a window and ran off with a small amount of money and jewelry. The window was not locked up and the thieves had full access during their stay.

Two men who are supposed to have done the job were seen to enter Currie's house and to take away a trunk containing a large amount of silverware.

Northwestern ties between Crescent and Loveland Sunday evening, and the police were kept busy with the matter. The Farmers Protective association, which was originally organized for the purpose of running down horse thieves, but which is now being used for the purpose of running down other thieves, is making a thorough search of that part of the country.

Domestic soap is the best.

Ceylon Spiders. Ceylon is the home of the largest species of spider that has yet been made the subject of a paper. It is a street spider, and is found in the most unwholesome districts of that rugged island, and places his trap—not a gossamer snare of airy lightness, but a huge net of yellow silk from five to ten feet in diameter, some of the strands of which are as thick as the fingers.

The supporting gages of this gigantic net, which in all cases is almost strong enough for a hammock, are from five to twenty feet in length (as conditions and circumstances may require), and are made of the finest web, the whole being of the diameter of a lead pencil. As might be imagined, this gigantic spider trap is not set for mosquitoes, flies and pestiferous gnats, but for birds, gaily moths and elegantly painted butterflies, some of the latter having a spread of wing equal to that of a robin or a blue jay.

Some extra fine skeletons of small birds, lizards, snakes, etc., have been found in these webs, with every vestige of flesh picked from them. The spider, which is a very queer silk spinner, is a spider with a body averaging 1/4 inch in width and 1/2 inch in length, and with legs 9 to 12 inches from body to terminal claw.

Potato History. It has been beyond a doubt that at the time of the discovery of America the cultivation of the potato was practiced, with every appearance of ancient usage, in the temperate regions extending from Chile to New Grenada, at altitudes varying from a few feet to several thousand feet above the sea level. The name of the discoverer of the potato is unknown, but Du Candolle sums up the history of its discovery as follows: "The potato is wild in Chile in a form which is still seen in our cultivated plants; it is doubtful whether it originated in Chile, or Peru, or New Grenada, where its cultivation was diffused before the discovery of America and was introduced in the latter half of the sixteenth century into that part of the United States now known as Virginia and North Carolina, and the potato was introduced into Europe between 1580 and 1585, first by the Spaniards and afterward by the English at the time of Raleigh's voyages to Virginia."

AFFAIRS AT SIOUX CITY, IOWA

Mayor Walker Submits an Interesting Message to the City Council.

Expert Accountants Make a Report—Nothing but Cash Goes at the Stock Yards—Caught in the Act—Gossip in General.

Mayor Walker, at the regular council meeting last night, sent in another communication, giving the city duds some eye-openers on certain matters. All the members were present at the meeting of the city council last evening.

On motion of Mr. Schultz, the chairman of the finance committee was instructed to purchase a letter press for the use of city officials. Bulla, as chairman of the committee, asked further time to report on the letter press and also on the damages asked by Pivonka. Granted.

The Union Stock Yards company gave notice to the council that it would suspend further payment of the stock inspector. This position was held by Mose Howard, who has received $50 from the yard company and $50 a month from the city. He is appointed by the mayor.

J. M. Tolson, street commissioner, made a report covering the work he has done during the last three months. A great deal of good work in his line has been accomplished during the past three months. In June the amount was $450.35 and in July it was $445.10. The total expense for three months was $895.45.

Mayor Walker handled in the following communication, which was read, accepted and referred to the finance committee on motion of Mr. Wood:

"TO THE HONORABLE MEMBERS OF THE CITY COUNCIL: Gentlemen—Your attention is most respectfully invited to the consideration of the following bookkeeping matter, suggested to me by an investigation of the facts, records and conditions surrounding and confronting the mayor and council since the completion of the bookkeeping for the year 1892. It is a matter of public interest in all times in duty bound to meet conditions and questions not only arising each day, but to the satisfaction of the public. The Farmers Protective association, which was originally organized for the purpose of running down horse thieves, but which is now being used for the purpose of running down other thieves, is making a thorough search of that part of the country.

"In an earnest endeavor to become acquainted with the present status of such affairs I have from time to time during the brief period which I have had the honor of being the executive head of the city government, investigated the bookkeeping of the city, and I do not believe that the average public official is an exception to this rule.

"The principal discrepancy was during the period that Swift was secretary pro tem, in 1891. This discrepancy was about $6,000. The orders were found, but the stubs are not in existence. The discrepancies on both sides amount to about $17,000. Since 1890 the books were correct to a few cents. "The whole thing in a nutshell," said Mr. Hayes after the meeting, "was a result of the careless bookkeeping, but that no book was kept."

The report of the expert was not as complete as some of the members desired, and the matter was referred to the committee on finance and the board's attorney.

The following bills were allowed:

Dewey's Journal, $16.50
J. B. Watkins, 16.15
J. M. Tobias, 50.40
South Omaha Music company, 15.00
J. S. Smith, 7.10
The Brigham Printing company, 1.75
E. T. Farwell, 38.45
Juniors' salaries, 130.00
The City of Omaha, 35.00
A. A. Monroe, 133.33
W. L. Hayes, expert accountant, $ 92.00
Eggers & Rock, estimate on First Ward, 2,000.00
Eggers & Rock, estimate on Second Ward, 2,000.00
A. C. Rayner, window screen, 50.00
R. A. Forsythe, estimate on repairs at Fourth ward schoolhouse, 100.00

Nothing But Cash Goes. Cask was the cry at the stock yards yesterday morning. Word was received from Chicago that New York exchange drafts would not buy stock and that shippers had simply sat down and were doing nothing. The market opened 15 cents lower than Monday and dropped another quarter by noon on hogs.

Cattle were also about 15 cents off. "Nothing but cash" goes nowadays. New York and Chicago exchange have been refused here and if a man wants to buy he must simply produce the "long green." As a result of this exchange business, the city is doing a little business for the last ten days in transporting money from the east.

When a freight bill was presented to one of the banks here, the cashier tendered the payment. "That's no good to me," said the collector. "I have been given strict orders to accept nothing but cash."

Caught in the Act. Ed Bryant was caught in the act of cutting the gay ropes of the Salvation Army tent Sunday night and locked up. There was a great deal of excitement here, and he was fined $25 and costs. The fellow has no money and will have to work out his fine on the streets.

Magic City Gossip. Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Paul McCauley, a boy.

Miss Maud Thomas is visiting friends in Council Bluffs.

The infant child of Sergeant Carper of Fort Crook died yesterday.

William Greer of Thurston, Neb., is in the city for a bunch of feeders.

Mrs. M. Shepherd of Syracuse, Neb., is visiting her mother, Mrs. Sam Gosney.

Pat Butler placed a tag on a brass new son at his residence yesterday morning.

Mr. R. H. Behm of Chicago at Cudahy's is visiting friends in Omaha and taking in the fair.

F. R. Gosney, discount teller for the Stock Yards National Bank, is spending a portion of his vacation in Blair.

G. W. Sherwood received a telegram last evening announcing that his mother, who lives in Harlan, Ia., was lying at the point of death.

George Hunter, a bookkeeper for the yardmaster of the stock yards company, spent Sunday at
