Stage realism continues to play an important part in the prevailing drama, and the fact induced the author of "Our Country Cousin" to introduce a railroad scene of wonderful effectiveness in the third act. The scenery, however, is not the only element depended upon, inasmuch as Frank Jones (better known as St. Perkins) is surrounded by other scenes of a rural nature and characters utilized in the presentation of a story fraught with intense dramatic interest and containing just the sort of comedy that keeps an audience in convulsions of delight from the rise until the fall of the curtain. "Our Country Cousin" comes to the Fifth Street theater on three nights, commencing Thursday, with matinee Saturday.

During the engagement of the Abbott & Tillison Comedy company in "Noble" in Chicago two weeks ago, Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Short of this city, went to Chicago and spent several days with their son, Frank Lee Short, who is playing the eccentric part of Jefferson Tompkins, the art enthusiast, in that excellent organization. Mr. and Mrs. Short attended two performances and are enthusiastic in their praise of the excellence of the entertainment.

All Right When Regular. The first announcement of the decision of Judge Ambrose with relation to selling property for special taxes created considerable commotion in the city hall, as it was understood that it absolutely barred the sale of property for special taxes under any circumstances. It was freely predicted that it meant the bankruptcy of the city, unless it was reversed, but when the alarmists understood that it did not apply to special improvements where the proceedings were regular and in full compliance with the law the uneasiness abated, and it is stated that that put a different phase on the situation.

The case hinged only on an irregularity in the proceedings of the council in causing the work to be done, and the court held that this irregularity was sufficient to release the property from any claim against it for the work performed.

In District Court. Judge Scott yesterday changed his order sending Claude Clark, an incorrigible boy, to the reform school on the promise of the lead's father that he would be sent to live on a farm with his grand father in Michigan.

Judge Ferguson has passed upon the questions in the Lee-Clark-Andersen Hardware company light, granting the injunction as prayed for. The application was made by the Lee-Clark-Andersen faction, the purpose being to restrain the Clark faction from interfering with the management of the business.

MADE A FREE TRADE SPEECH. Governor Walte Urges Himself to the Wool Growers at Deary.

DENVER, Feb. 6.—Governor Valde delivered a free trade speech before the wool growers' convention this morning. He declared all tariff laws to be vicious, but if the country cannot exist without a law of this kind he thought all articles should be taxed alike. He declared the only feature of the Wilson bill worthy of serious consideration to be the income clause, which he feared would be killed before the bill became a law.

At the conclusion of the governor's remarks resolutions were adopted denouncing the theory of free trade and all representation made for it that its passage will benefit the masses as a unique and unjust, as under such a law over 1,000,000 wool growers of this country will be ruined, while only 2,000 woolen manufacturers can be benefited. They further represent that free wool will not cheapen clothing, but will deprive American laborers of an opportunity to earn their daily bread; declare for free coinage of silver and ask for the retirement of all members of congress opposed to the protection of this industry.

Death of James P. Timmins. A great many acquaintances and friends will regret to learn that James P. Timmins, for six years the proprietor of the restaurant at the northern terminus of the cable road, is dead. He was one of those genial, cordial men whom to know is to like, and of the thousands of people who have stopped in at the little restaurant at the corner of Lane and Twentieth streets, it is safe to say that no one ever found reason for other than kindly feelings toward the proprietor. Mr. Timmins was 50 years of age at the time of his death. He was a native of Ireland and came to this country when 14 years old, or more than twenty years he was in business in Philadelphia, where he enjoyed the acquaintance of many of the prominent citizens. Six years ago he came to Omaha. Mr. Timmins was survived by his wife, Mrs. Edward, James and Joseph, and a daughter, Mamie, who resides in Philadelphia. He will be missed from the place which his genial and cordial manner made so dear, and all who knew him will sincerely wish that he may rest in peace.

UNION VETERAN LEGION

Tenders a Reception to General Clark, the National Commander.

HE INSTALLS OFFICERS OF THE CAMP

Delivered an Address Discussing Pensions and Objects of the Order—Musical and Literary Program Carried Out—Dancing Followed.

Camp No. 121, Union Veteran Legion of its officers last night at the hall of the Order of the World. In connection with the installation ceremonies was a reception tendered to General William A. Clark, national commander of the veteran legion.

Pleasant features of the evening exercises were a number of vocal and instrumental selections, recitations, etc. After music and prayer the ceremony of installing the new officers into their respective positions was conducted by General Clark. The ceremony is simple and impressive, though in this case it was considerably curtailed by the time to be taken up by other parts of the program.

The officers installed were: Colonel and encampment commander, E. L. Davis; lieutenant colonel, P. Marlin; major, T. L. Hull; surgeon, E. A. Shaw; chaplain, T. H. Leslie; officer of the day, I. S. Lutzer; officer of the guard, L. A. Finney; adjutant, G. D. Cornell; quartermaster, R. Phoenix; sergeant major, W. J. Jones; quartermaster sergeant, W. H. Gardner; color sergeant, J. Lindsey; sentinel, W. H. Collins.

Miss Nettie M. Haverly and Mr. R. F. Allen, played a piano duet from "I Traveled and an orchestral quartet rendered a pleasing manner a number of vocal airs. The vocal solo, "The Two Grenadiers," by Mr. J. McEwing was admirably rendered and generally applauded. The vocal solo, "The Carnival," by Mr. Fred S. Abel, was one of the best selections of the evening, and won a hearty encore. Mrs. Elita Matheson's recitation, "The Blue and the Gray," brought down the house and she was compelled to respond with another selection, "The Seeding Mother and Her Boy," which she rendered perfectly.

Messrs. Heaton and Vickers concluded the musical part of the program. General Clark made a short address in which he explained the nature of the order and its objects. He stated that its membership was limited to soldiers of the union army who enlisted prior to July 1, 1862, for two years or more and who were not drafted into the service or received any bounty. Its objects were similar to other organizations of the kind, to encourage love of country, relief of distress among old soldiers and those dependent upon them, and to assist each other in all the affairs of life and for the relief of the aged. It aimed to shut the door on those whose service was insufficient to entitle them to consideration as veterans, but not to make distinction as between the private and the officer. He praised those who did not wait to be enlisted until the incentive of a bounty was offered or the draft compelled them to go to the front. He testified upon the question and declared his belief that the soldier had never received his just dues and the ever did it would be through such organizations as this. Aside from necessary considerations there was a common feeling, born of a common experience, which made such organizations a pleasure to their members. After urging the members to continue to teach to both present and example the lesson of love of country he closed with a fitting tribute to the late George W. Child.

The formal exercises of the evening closed with an exhibition of fancy dancing by the little girl and boy of R. Phoenix.

After lunch the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

In addition to a very large number of the Omaha veterans and their friends there were present sixty or seventy members of the order from Council Bluffs.

CHARGED WITH MURDER. Mrs. Carr of Denver Accused of Killing Her Husband.

DENVER, Feb. 6.—Mrs. Carr, wife of Harry L. Carr, the attorney who was murdered at his home Sunday night by supposed burglars, was arrested this afternoon, charged with complicity in the crime. Bessie Sherwood, Jim Tracey, a gambler, and Ted Dolson, intimate friends of Mrs. Carr, were also taken into custody.

The charges upon which the arrests were made is that these people conspired in a conspiracy to make away with Carr for the purpose of securing possession of his life insurance, which is said to amount to $20,000. Mrs. Carr is said to maintain her husband was killed by a burglar, and she is one of the most prominent lawyers of the city, but his life, as well as that of his last wife, has been a very rapid and checkered one.

The dead man came here from Baltimore several years ago, where he left a wife and two children. He had been in Denver here. His second wife committed suicide in this city a year and a half ago on account of domestic troubles. Six months later he married Mrs. Carr, who had recently arrived from Buffalo, N. Y., in a market street baggage, and becoming infatuated with her, he married her. Since her marriage it is well known that Mrs. Carr has been leading a dual life, making the rooms of her friend, Miss Sherwood, a rendezvous where she met Tracey and Dolson.

BOSTON, Feb. 6.—A meeting was held here today to promote the establishment of international binnetalism, and a representative committee was selected to push forward the work. President Ingalls of Boston university was elected chairman. The promoters of the movement are opposed to Binnetalism is the needs of commerce will soon compel the international use of silver, as well as of gold. The committee includes merchants, legislators, railroad and states; professors, lawyers, railroad presidents and trustees of large concerns. In order to further their project public discussions will be arranged and a great quantity of circulars will be distributed broadcast.
