ARE WARNED TO KEEP AWAY

Milk Dealers Take Up Arms Against Ordinance Regulating Their Business.

AN INTOLERABLE INTERFERENCE

Formally Declare that Any One Acting Under Its Authority Will Not Be Allowed on Their Premises—Charge Against the Health Board.

At a meeting of the Milk Dealers association last evening the following statement was formally adopted: The Milk Dealers association, always conscious of the rights of its individual members, has never opposed a fair and discriminating milk ordinance for the city of Omaha if enforced by intelligent, competent, faithful men, and more than this it has been ready at all times to relinquish for the time being any right it might have in the ordinance if assured through public officials that what we offered for sale was pure, healthy, wholesome milk, in every way right. Our recent resolution was in keeping with this idea, viz: That the essence of any milk ordinance—through inspection—might be obtained, and was voted to be sent to the health officer before the recent mortifying exhibition was made in the health office by which it was converted into a political machine, a majority of whose members bought and sold each other, the consideration being "confirmation" on one side and votes to dismiss from the service of the city the only man connected with the health department having any practical knowledge of dairy inspection, Mr. Holmes, and substituting as the result of this confirmation sale a person whose only service to the city will be to prevent a gorge or overflow in the treasury. With such men given to such methods, we can see no possibility of benefit to the purchaser or the honest dealer, therefore, no ordinance or proposition coming from them directly or through the city council for them, will be considered by this association. When we have a health board so constituted that politics of any sort is impossible in it, things may be different.

WHAT THEY OBJECT TO. The question of feed is not the only one to which we object. The ordinance assumes proprietary rights on the part of the city where none exist, and denies or ignores these rights in the person of owners or dealers who alone any property rights can exist. Besides assuming to dictate what we shall or shall not feed, it requires that milk be furnished for inspection and analysis, naming the method of analysis, and that it will be just as outrageous. In this country a person may sell or not as he elects, just as a person may buy or not as he elects. The ordinance further assumes that the city can have a monopoly in producing or selling milk—that it can require any person desiring to engage in this business as well as those already engaged to purchase this right, and in default can fine or prohibit their doing business in this city. Admit that the city can go into general business—can both produce and sell milk, it can have only individual rights. It can have no monopoly. It cannot prevent any individual from competing side by side with the city for the same business; cannot prohibit anyone, cannot sell the right to anyone for the simple reason that the city has no business rights to sell any more than a private individual has. The right to produce and sell any commodity essential to human subsistence inheres in every person and cannot be prohibited by any city or by the state. Milk dealers, like other citizens, are answerable to general laws and any special act, whether city or state, bearing only on them, is class legislation and is of necessity void, and we are confident that the present ordinance or any other restricting personal liberty or the rights of property in any person to produce and sell wherever he can any necessary commodity will be so held and declared when brought before the proper court. Therefore, having this object in view, we do:

Resolved, That believing that the city ordinance known as the milk ordinance is illegal and void, members of this association will pay no attention to any official acting by its authority, and we warn them one and all to keep away from our premises and belongings.

LOUIS LITTLEFIELD, President.
F. C. FOX, Secretary.
