A coal shed in the rear of A. C. Keller's home, at the corner of Thirty-third street and Avenue B, caught fire Sunday afternoon as the result of some of the children playing with matches. The damage amounted to about $40 and was covered by insurance.

The gold medals to be given the lucky contestants in the mile and half mile races at the Ganymede meet this week are on exhibition in the window of Shepard & Co.'s jewelry store in the Grand Hotel. Each is of solid gold, with diamond setting, and is valued at $50.

The "Knights of the Grip" department of the Des Moines Register speaks in glowing terms of the excursion over the Rock Island to Council Bluffs on Sunday, the 12th. Fairmount park and a high tide of water were the varied attractions, are lauded in enthusiastic terms, and the general tenor of the article, written by "One Who Was There," indicates that he will be there again if he ever has the chance.

Considerable comment was caused by the queer actions of one of the city policemen last Sunday morning. The saloons had been left open for the exclusive benefit of the excursionists, but he took himself for an excursionist and wandered in. When he saw that he was not wanted, he took to the frame of mind and announced in a loud tone of voice to the excursionists who were coming in on the train that they had not got to Omaha, the saloons were all open here, for he had tried 'em.

Julia May Appoints a Receiver for the Nonpareil Printing Company.

WILLIAM ARND NOW HAS CHARGE OF IT

Colonel Steadman Installed as Editor - Fertilizer for a Receiver Alleged the Old Management Was Running Deeper and Deeper Into Debt.

William Arnd was appointed receiver of the Nonpareil Printing and Publishing company yesterday afternoon by Judge Macy.

As stated in yesterday's Bee, the institution has been in a bad shape financially for some time past, and foreclosure suits have piled up.

The blow fell when, according to Harlan's attention in the office of the clerk of the district court asking for the appointment of a receiver, and making E. F. Test, R. E. Ingraham, J. J. Steadman, Mrs. J. J. Steadman and the Nonpareil Printing and Publishing company co-defendants. The petition alleged that the present management was running the paper into debt deeper and deeper, and was depreciating the value of Mr. Harlan's $2,200 mortgage, which covered all the chattels, including the printing apparatus, good will, and the franchise in the Northwestern Associated press.

Judge Macy heard the arguments in the court this morning, and appointed William Arnd receiver, E. E. Har and J. J. Steadman putting up a bond of $10,000 for the proper discharge of his duties. Mr. Arnd took charge at once, and the management stepped down and out. The places occupied by General Test and Prof. Brooks in the editorial sanctum will be filled by Colonel J. J. Steadman, formerly with the Nonpareil, and J. H. Purcell, until recently with the Daily Reporter. R. E. Ingraham stepped out of the business management, and the will take place in the place of Mr. Arnd, who has been in the office since he was appointed receiver. Mr. Arnd states that there will be no further changes.

12 1/2c children's cloaks, (Estey patent).

The above list contains only a few of the many bargains offered during sale.

ANTI-POPULIST TALKS.

The announcement in The Bee that the populists of Pottawattamie county were intending to put up a county ticket this fall, in spite of the fusion with the democrats on congressional ticket, aroused considerable interest in local political circles.

A well known populist, in conversation with a Bee reporter, unhesitatingly said:

"I am not in favor of putting up a county ticket. If we do, we will have a ticket that will look as though populism had died out in Pottawattamie county. Such men as Kinch, Gillette, and others will be in the ticket, and the rest of us will be in the party originally as a matter of principle, and for us to do down now, just when everything is looking over the horizon, would be to think that we should vote for democrats for county officers, and we would have a ticket that would be particularly honest. We, populists, are growing in Pottawattamie county. We can see that from the fact that we have our candidates for congress supported by the democratic party. And now we want to go ahead and show the public that it is growing, by polling as many votes as we can in the county elections."

MIDSUMMER BENEFIT.

For the benefit of those in need of footwear, I would say take advantage of Dunlop's wreckage sale. This is what you can get:

180 pairs John Kelley's ladies' fine $5.00 shoes, $2.25.

120 pairs Selz Schwab's perfects, an excellent shoe, for $3.00, worth $4.00.

120 pairs men's hand sewed fine calf shoes, worth $4.00, for $2.50.

300 pairs men's fine Russian calf tan shoes, all our regular $5.00 and $6.00 tan shoes, all the latest shades of tan, for $2.50.

60 pairs ladies' lace patent tip and counter, $1.25.

72 pairs misses' button shoes, patent tip, $1.25.

72 pairs youth's shoes, sizes 8 to 12, $1.25.

72 pairs boys' shoes, sizes 12 to 5, lace, $1.25.

12 dozen children's and infants' shoes, at 20c to 50c.

This wreckage occurred on the I. C. R. on July 21, and was purchased from the R. R. company by Mr. Duncan for one-half the actual value, 525 Main street.

Girls or women furnished situations of all kinds, 625 Broadway.

Ganymede Wheel Club Race Meet Friday and Saturday.

May Have Thieves.

William L. White and Charles A. Pitzer are the names given by two men who were arrested yesterday forenoon by the police.

They are supposed to be implicated in the theft of the wheels belonging to George Pullman and Arthur Brown. There were three in the group, and they were trying to sell some of the wheels to a man who had been stolen. One of them got away, but the other two are being held for further developments.

It is believed that the man who was seen following the stolen wheels was the man who was seen following the stolen wheels.

LAST DAYS OF THE PULLMAN STRIKE

CAUSE OF ALL THE TROUBLE

President Debs of the A. R. U. Before the Strike Commission.

HIS STORY OF THE BOYCOTT AND STRIKE

Testimony of the President of the A. R. U. Before Cleveland's Arbitrating and Investigating Committee - Pithy Condition of the Pullman Employees.

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—By far the largest audience which has yet been in attendance upon the strike commission's sessions was present today, attracted by the appearance as a witness of President E. V. Debs of the American Railway union. The court room was packed, and the benches to the doorways when President Debs took the witness chair.

"Now tell us, in your own way, Mr. Debs," said Commissioner Wright, "what you know of the Pullman strike and its results."

Leaning forward in his seat, the tall leader of the union began in a low, clear voice, a recital which gradually became more earnest and forcible as he proceeded, until it developed into almost an oration. He told of having received word that a strike in Pullman was imminent and of his coming to Chicago to investigate.

"I found," he said, "that the men were working for the Pullman company at wages which they could not live on. I found that salaries had been cut time and again, until skilled mechanics were working their lives away for wages not sufficient for a day's support. But the trouble became more serious, and I found that the Pullman company was making its money by the sweat and blood of the men who were working for it."

"In fact I found the workmen of Pullman in a piteous condition, and determined I would do what I could to help them. I was elected president of the American Railway union as president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, and the conditions of these men, the strike followed, ordered by the men themselves. Then came the boycott, ordered by duly elected delegates to our convention, and then followed the railroad strikes, ordered by the various local unions. But the Pullman strike was a strike of Debs, and he was the one who was suffering. Debs then told of his authority in itself, and of the fact that he was a man of differing but little from that of the other American Railway union officials who had preceded him on the witness stand.

"All TURNED ON PULLMAN. "Would the railroad strikes have occurred if there had been no Pullman trouble?" asked the witness.

"No, the Pullman strike was the prime cause. We desired to stop Pullman's cars and shut off his income, thus forcing him to give up his strike."

"But the railroad men had grievances of their own. The General Managers association had been organized with the avowed intention of giving assistance to railroads in labor troubles. The evident aim was to drive organized labor from existence. No sooner had this association been formed than a systematic reduction of railroad wages all over the country began. The cuts were made on one road at a time, and it is one department at a time, but the systematic regularity with which they appeared was sufficiently significant. The men were ready to strike, and felt that they were being treated as slaves. It was not until I had written and spoken against it, believing and knowing that a strike could not be won by violence. It was not until I had written and spoken against it, believing and knowing that a strike could not be won by violence. It was not until I had written and spoken against it, believing and knowing that a strike could not be won by violence."

"How about the 'Buy a gun' telegram?" asked Mr. Keenan.

"That was sent by a private secretary to a friend in Butte, and was merely a playful expression. It was sent as such and was understood."

HAD THE RAILROADS BEATEN. Mr. Debs then said that within five days of the strike was declared the union had the railroads beaten.

"They were paralyzed," he said, "but just at that time injunctions were served broad-cast, and shortly after the officials of the A. R. U. were arrested for contempt of court. That beat us. It was not the railroads that beat us, but the power of the United States courts that beat us. About that time a thing occurred which I desire to mention. General Miles came to Chicago, called on the General Managers association and the next day was quoted in an interview as saying he had broken the backbone of the strike. Now, I consider that the call of General Miles was vulgarly out of place. He had no more right to consult with the General Managers association than he had to consult with the men of our union. It might say, too, that it seems strange that all of our letters and telegrams were made public property while not a line of the railroad's correspondence was published. If it had been, I think we could prove that the general managers at one of their secret meetings declared they would strike if the A. R. U. went out of existence."

In reply to a question Debs said that the union had taken every possible means to prevent rioting and disorder.

"We object to the presence of the federal troops, but not to the state troops and police. If I remember rightly no serious outbreak occurred until the federal troops arrived, as their presence inflamed the men."

The witness then told of the trouble with the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. "The Brotherhood have outlived their usefulness," he said, "and for that reason I left the men's organization. They are fearfully backwardly managed, and will not do a thing to clear the hall. Not succeeding in this, it is asserted the opposition forcibly ejected Sovereign, while his followers took precipitous flight. Sovereign denies the forcible ejection story."

Offer to the Manufacturers. PITTSBURGH, Aug. 20.—The window glass workers have made a proposition to the manufacturers which makes allowance for the reduction in the tariff and will prevent many disputes in the factories. Instead of a 10 per cent duty on window glass, the tariff is to be reduced to 5 per cent. The manufacturers will look into the proposition.

California Strikers Get Long Sentences. LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 20.—Judge Ross in the United States court today sentenced five men to the county jail for violating the omnibus injunction during the late strike. Four men got eight months each, and one an excellent remedy for diarrhea.

RANDOLPH, Mass., March 13, 1894.—I have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and found it excellent for diarrhea. I have recommended it to my friends and know of two cases of diarrhea having been cured with one small bottle.—Joseph H. Foster. For sale by druggists.

Fatal Runaway Accident. REDDUB, Ill., Aug. 20.—While Mrs. Conrad Young and her nephew were returning home from church last evening a thrashing engine passed them, causing the horse attached to their carriage to run away. Mrs. Young was thrown heavily to the ground, falling on her head. Her skull was crushed and she died instantly. The boy was also thrown out, striking on the side of his head. The fall rendered him unconscious, and he cannot live.

Breakthrough at Georgetown. GEORGETOWN, Ky., Aug. 20.—The Breakthrough special from Lexington brought over 500 people here to hear Breckinridge speak this afternoon at the home of his most formidable opponent, W. C. Overton. During Breckinridge's recent reflections on Richard M. Johnson's character, when vice president and member of congress, there is bitter feeling here against the speaker. Many survivors who were neighbors of Johnson's relatives, Trouble is expected tonight.
