QUARRELED OVER DIAMONDS

Lincoln Pawnbroker and a Merchant Have an Interesting Time.

VERY PECULIAR TRANSACTION AIRD

Valuables Said to Have Been Secured by the Man of Chateaux in a Manner Not in Accord With Honest Methods.

LINCOLN, Sept. 20.—(Special.)—A pawnbroker named Adler is under arrest for a rather peculiar transaction over some diamonds. It appears that Adler, who is running a thriving chattel loan and pawnbrokerage business, was in need of money, and in order to raise it went to Philip Manger and offered to sell him a lot of diamonds which had been pledged as security for a loan of $200. He got the money and the diamonds were given over to the meat man, who is a prominent citizen. This morning the pawnbroker sent for Mr. Manger to come over with the diamonds, as he was ready to settle. Manger complied with his request, and when he arrived Adler, it is claimed, got them into his hands, and placing them in his safe, informed the meat man that he might go to a locality which is warmer than Nebraska.

In a case tried before Judge Spencer this forenoon, which involved a rather insignificant amount of money, a spirited argument arose between Attorney Holmes for the plaintiff and Pat Barbon. Pat insisted that the attorney belonged to the canine family and the attorney grabbed a convenient weapon and put the witness to sleep. Each will pay $25 for contempt, and the case has been continued until the various wounds are healed.

LINCOLN REPUBLICAN CLUB.

At the meeting of the Young Men's Republican club, held last night in the Lincoln hotel, fifteen new names were added to the roll of membership. The Flambeau club was permanently annexed to the club and will accompany it on the excursion to Waverly September 28. W. D. Robinson was the speaker of the evening and devoted himself to praise of Tom Majors and abuse of the Bee and its editor, with an occasional remark of the populists and their candidate. Half a dozen other speakers followed in the same strain and the meeting adjourned to meet in their new hall on September 31.

AS TO THE GAMBLERS.

It is pretty well known that gambling was going on to a more or less open extent during the week of the fair in the capital city, and as the populists are out of the city a part of the time, a report has been started that an order was given to the police that the houses were not to be disturbed and that some of the members of the council were "seen" on behalf of the fraternity. Mr. Wood indignantly denies the story and intimates that it was set in circulation by two political enemies in the council. He also states that early in the week the chief of police received a letter telling him that gambling was going on, but that the chief gave his men orders to attend to the thieves and thugs in the city and not spend so much time on the saloons and gamblers.

LINCOLN IN BRIEF.

The Union Veteran Republican club held a meeting at the Lincoln hotel this evening and completed arrangements for the reception of Hon. William McKinley. The managers of Lincoln park were defendants in a suit in one of the justice courts yesterday in which it was claimed that the fireworks used at the "Siege of Algiers" had set fire to a barn belonging to George T. Haskel, who lives in the vicinity. After one of the rockets had been dissected in the court room and all the parties concerned had nearly gone to bed a verdict was given for the defendant.

A rather frisky maiden from Falls City paid a visit to the capital city today under the escort of the United States deputy marshal. She accompanied her escort to the office of United States Commissioner Billingsley and deposited $300 as security that she would be here when the United States court opens October 1. On the 15th of this month she wrote a letter to one Lucy Rosebud, calling her everything but a lady.

Cuming County Fair Closed.

WEST POINT, Neb., Sept. 20.—(Special Telegram.)—Today closed the most successful agricultural fair ever held in Cuming county. Two thousand eight hundred paid admissions were registered at the gates Wednesday. Agriculture and floral halls were full to overflowing. Many valuable exhibits were turned away for lack of room. The entire credit of this phenomenal success is due to President Rupp, Secretary Thompson and Treasurer Heller, who have devoted many weeks of hard work to this end. The leading feature of Wednesday's program was the speech of Governor Croome. He was followed by John M. Thurston, Thomas Majors and others. The Pender Glass club rendered appropriate selections. Today the chief attraction was the speech of T. J. Mahoney of Omaha.

Cheyenne County Fair Next Week.

SIDNEY, Neb., Sept. 20.—(Special Telegram.)—The eighth annual fair of the Cheyenne County Agricultural society commences here Wednesday, lasting three days. The Wilber turners gave an excellent entertainment.

FREMONT, Neb., Sept. 20.—(Special Telegram.)—Two fires were set by small boys today at Scott Falls' back barn and Jensen's livery stable, which are close together. The blaze was discovered immediately and put out without damage. The fire department was called out, but the work had been done with buckets when they arrived. Z. T. Wilcox, an old and honored resident of the city, died last night. He had been sick several months. The funeral takes place tomorrow at 1 o'clock. He was a central public position and was a Mason and member of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Colfax County Fair.

SCHUYLER, Neb., Sept. 20.—(Special Telegram.)—The first day of the Colfax county fair compared favorably with former years. The exhibits were complete, and the display of cereals, vegetables and fruits are really surpassed with a few slight bruises, but Bender is a large herd of black cattle from Maxwell farm of Fuller & Gray. The features of today were a trotting race, pony race and a ball game between Schuyler and Columbus. Schuyler winning, 9 to 2. Schuyler and Waterloo play Friday, and Schuyler and North Bend Saturday. Attendance 300.

Went Through a Hinderer.

FALLS CITY, Neb., Sept. 20.—(Special Telegram.)—What will doubtless prove to be a fatality occurred one and one-half miles south of town this afternoon. As Al Minnick was having his big thrasher engine taken across the Nemaha bridge near Hinton's mill the middle span collapsed, letting the engine and two men thereon, George E. Bender and young Fry, drop into the Nemaha. Fry escaped with a few slight bruises, but Bender received several serious injuries, the most painful being internal. The chances for his recovery are considered slim.

Celebrated Trotter Threatened by Fire.

SUED HIS FORMER PARTNERS

Real Estate Men Will Quarrel Over a Fortune in Court.

WILL G. ALBRIGHT'S LATEST "CHOICE"

Claims He Was Swindled Out of Over One Hundred Thousand Dollars by Arthur H. Cooley and Arthur East, His Former Business Associates.

"I thought the boys were honest, and did not discover my error until I found I had been beaten out of a fortune," is the reason W. G. Albright, the well known real estate man, gives for a suit for $109,000 commenced against Arthur H. Cooley and Arthur East, his former partners and business associates. The suit was filed in the district court Thursday evening by Cowin & McHugh, Mr. Albright's attorneys. The petition recites that on the 1st day of January, 1887, the plaintiff, Albright, and A. H. Cooley, entered into copartnership for the transaction of the real estate business, in which Mr. Albright had been engaged for some time. Mr. Albright was to be the active outside man of the firm, while Mr. Cooley was to have general charge of the office and inside business. At that time, and for several years afterwards, during the life of the copartnership, Arthur East was employed as bookkeeper by the firm. Those were the days when Mr. Albright was making more money than he knew what to do with. Real estate speculation was at its highest pitch, and Mr. Albright was a leader in the business. It is asserted that his firm made $50,000 net in one day and cleaned up over $150,000 in a week. Albright was the active head of the business and brought about the deals, leaving his office forces to look after the details and records of the transactions. He alleges that he had every confidence in his partner and book-keeper, and accepted their statements as correct. In his petition he asserts that Cooley and East almost as soon as the copartnership had been effected, entered into a conspiracy to cheat, wrong and defraud him, and at various times during the three years in which they were in business together, Cooley and East took and applied to their own use large sums of money which belonged to the partners, Albright & Cooley.

Mr. Albright, in his petition, asserts that so great was his confidence in both Cooley and East that he did not discover anything of their misappropriation of the firm's money until in April of the present year, and since that time he has been making careful investigation of the records of the firm and has made the discoveries which lead him to commence the present suit. He alleges that Cooley and East, with the money wrongfully taken from the firm, bought large property interests in various parts of the city in East's name. As the result of the investigation of the firm's accounts as kept by Cooley and East, Mr. Albright alleges that he has been defrauded out of fully $100,000, and he asks the court for judgment against the defendants for that amount. He also asks for an accounting of the partnership and asks that East be decreed the trustee of the lands and that the court grant such other relief as may be deemed just and equitable. Property of East and Cooley, valued at about $50,000, has been attached pending the result of the case commenced by Mr. Albright.

Charged with Burglary.

In the criminal section of the district court Henry Bridgewater is on trial charged with burglary, committed some weeks ago, at which time it is alleged that he broke into a flat on South Sixteenth street and stole a quantity of ladies' wearing apparel and some jewelry. While getting out of the premises he struck and mutilated Officer Iler, but was finally arrested by Officer Buras, who came to the rescue.

Probate Matters.

The matters connected with the estate of Frank D. Kent, insane, were called in the probate court yesterday and the application for the appointment of a guardian filed. The estate of William Waybright, deceased, was the issue before Judge Baxter, where I. C. Bachelor, the administrator, was cited to appear and show cause why he should not be removed from his trust. The heirs charge that he has not accounted for all of the proceeds of the estate.

ECKELS ON SOUND MONEY

National Banking System the Best that Could Be Devised.

DANGER OF A FALSE BUT POPULAR IDEA

Comptroller of the Currency Calls Attention to a Great Difficulty in the Way of Satisfactory Monetary Legislation.—Speech at Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 20.—Among the speakers today at the fourth annual convention of the Ohio Bankers association was Comptroller of the Currency James H. Eckels.

After reviewing the history of the national banks and declaring that the system which they were conducted was the best that could be devised and one which would be changed only when circumstances made a change necessary, Comptroller Eckels said that the problem was to show a more elastic currency and still maintain it solely upon bonds deposited to secure the same. The serious difficulty in the way was the idea to which so many people cling, that it was essential to the people's prosperity that there always be a large volume of money regardless of its representation of intrinsic value.

He then said: "Our colonial history is replete with attempts to make the people rich through a great volume of currency which had neither representative nor intrinsic worth. It is a historic financial failure and distress. Later, under the articles of federation, is recorded the same attempt and the same series of failure and financial loss. There was scarcely a state in the union before the war but whose history is riddled by efforts to enrich a people through such currency. If the result of such attempts was to profit of ruin to the people then, why will they not be accompanied by equal ruin now? The laws of political economy do not change with changing ages or changing people and the same causes find fruition in the same effects whether the century be of government colonial or republican."

"There is no sentiment embodied in the laws of money and no matter how great may be the volume of the currency if each and every dollar of that currency is not of value to pass current in the world of business it cannot add to the blessings of the people. To be productive of the people's good it must, whether of gold, silver or paper, in the very order of things, be of unquestioned and unvarying value, and when called into requisition discharge, without the aid of legal tender acts at home or abroad, the obligations of the holders. But with such a currency our people have yet much to learn, and most important is the lesson that no matter how abundant it may be it will not find its way to those who are waiting in credit. It can give no relief to those who have neither the means to pay the obligations, or having it cast suspicion upon their willingness to maintain their financial integrity by making their abiding place the homes of all the financial vagaries which are bred by those who have no property of their own and are unmindful of the property rights of their fellows."

Trouble so serious that it threatened to break up the organization came when the bankers elected officers. John Whitelaw of Cleveland was nominated for president by the committee, whereas Hon. J. Sullivan of this city was considered by his friends as entitled to the honor upon a precedent which was broken at last year's meeting. Mr. Sullivan quieted the storm by withdrawing from the contest. The annual meeting closed tonight with a banquet.
