MISOR MENTIONS

Grand, Council Bluffs. E. F. Clark, prop. Mayne Real Estate agency, 523 Broadway.

Albert Rachwitz has been indicted by the grand jury on the charge of burglary of Union Pacific freight cars.

Tent No. 32, Knights of the Macabees, will give their first entertainment and hop Monday evening, April 15, at Grand Army of the Republic hall.

An entertainment will be given next Thursday evening under the auspices of Unity guild at Hughes' hall, under the auspices of Mrs. Fane. An attractive program of music and tableaux has been prepared.

Mrs. S. C. Good, 115 Stutsman street, entertained several city friends last Tuesday evening in honor of her daughter, Mrs. K. H. Thorsberg's, birthday. The guests invited were: Mesdames Aten, Oberholtzer, Royer, Spier, Fredericks, Davis, McClure and Mrs. McElhorne.

Bob Scott was arrested yesterday morning on the charge of being a fugitive from justice. A letter was received from a government secret agent advising that Scott had fled to the north to pick him up if they found him. The nature of the charge to be preferred against him is not known at this end of the line.

The fire department was called yesterday afternoon to the corner of Nineteenth avenue and Thirtieth street, where a house occupied by a man named Brown, who lives there, was burned to the ground. The damage is estimated at about $500. The origin is unknown.

J. M. McInyre was arrested yesterday on a charge of larceny, preferred by R. C. Harris. He bought a wagon of Harris, but failed to pay for it, whereupon Harris replevined it. He brought the wagon to the city and George Perkinson for a wagon which he might call his own. It is valued at $20, which makes the crime, if proved, grand larceny.

A newspaper carrier named Dudley met with a bad accident yesterday while collecting along his route. He was driving his horse and cart past the corner of Twenty-first street and Twenty-first street when the horse started to run away. The cart was overturned and in striking the ground the boy received severe internal injuries, which will keep him confined at home for some time.

Those who have heard P. T. Pierson, who will conduct the union evangelistic meetings here, assure that his address is 2121 W. 12th street for the people of Council Bluffs; that he will attract the most thoughtful and intelligent class in the city, and at the same time will present the truth in so plain a manner that no one can fail to understand and appreciate. The meetings will commence April 28.

Preparations are being made for a formal opening of the Young Men's Christian association rooms on some evening during the latter part of this week. The gymnasium and bath room, the reading room, the billiard room, the work of flunk up the parlor, game room and reading room is nearly completed, and the patrons of the association will enjoy seeing what the secretary, Charles J. and his band of assistants have had in setting the organization upon its feet again. There will be a program of musical selections.

J. H. Howard, who was arrested several weeks ago on the charge of stealing a diamond ring, but was discharged for lack of evidence, was brought to the city yesterday as a fugitive from justice. He went to Omaha after leaving Council Bluffs, and after spending some time in the jails there went to Des Moines, where he was charged with committing burglary. He will be taken there for a preliminary hearing tomorrow.

Two desirable cottages for rent. Plenty of room for farm loans. Fire insurance. Money loaned for local business. Special bargains in real estate, Lougee & Towle, 225 Pearl street.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS

J. H. Shimp will play at the Church of the Good Shepherd in Omaha this evening.

John J. Anderson has bought a drug store in Greenwood, Neb., and leaves Monday for that place to conduct business there. His case needed more thought on the part of the court, and he was sent back to jail for a while before having his sentence pronounced.

Lewis C. Williams of Villisca had been in the penitentiary for fourteen months for forging a man's name to an application for liquor at that place, and Edgington might be preferred to work. He got a sentence of $300 and four months in jail, but the sentence was suspended during good behavior.

Charles Macrae of Chariton had run up against the state law, had paid a fine of $100 and served six months in jail for trying to defraud the use of his name in his business. After this experience he had succeeded in keeping his peace with the state authorities by paying a monthly fine, and then the government authorities got after him. His case needed more thought on the part of the court, and he was sent back to jail for a while before having his sentence pronounced.

NEWS FROM COUNCIL BLUFFS

Testimony for the Government in the Edgington Case Concluded.

MOTION TO DISMISS WAS OVERRULED

Defense Put on a Number of People to Prove the Good Character of the Defendant—Number of Bootleggers Brought Up for Sentence.

Another day was occupied in the taking of evidence in the pension case of the United States against A. A. Edgington. The morning session was filled up with an effort on the part of the government to establish the identity of the signature of Maurice F. Edgington. A deed executed by him to W. B. Cuppy was introduced, and several witnesses were called in to swear to the signature. The testimony was all stricken out.

The government introduced the instructions of the department to Examiner Brown, but the defense objected to their admission on the ground that the statements contained in them might prejudice them. The court, however, admitted them, with the understanding that they were to be taken only as showing the jury whether Brown had acted on the instructions or with undue zeal. If the instructions contained statements that showed the government considered the representations made by the defendants were false the examiner would be justified in using all the power he had to get to the bottom of the thing, but these instructions must not be taken by the jury as evidence that Mrs. Edgington's pension claim was fraudulent.

The district attorney also laid the affidavit of J. H. Howard on the table, and then rested his case, at 11:15 a. m.

Attorney Shea made a motion asking the court to take the case from the jury and to grant a verdict of acquittal on the ground that the section of the statutes under which the indictment had been brought had been repealed by the passage of another section; that the government had failed to show that Mrs. Edgington's claim was fraudulent, or that the defendant had any intention of defrauding the government by his affidavit. This motion was overruled by the court.

AMOS WRIGHT TAKES AN INNING. Amos Wright was the first witness put upon the stand by the defense. He lived at 2121 W. 12th street, and occupies the office of justice of the peace. One night, between midnight and morning, he was called out of bed by a woman named Cuppy, to a man whom he had never seen before. He did not remember the name of the room, but in the afternoon heard him called "Doc" Edgington.

In the afternoon A. P. Cramer, Sheriff Hazen, B. Diederich, W. W. Gardner, John Patterson and L. N. Rogers were called to the stand and each one swore to the defendant's good reputation at his home in Avoca. Rogers stated that he had talked with Edgington concerning his case, and that he knew his father, and that the elder Edgington had told him years ago that he was in the war, that he wore soldiers' clothes, and that he was at the battle of Vicksburg. This information he gave the son in the course of a conversation in which Edgington had asked him for information concerning his father. The testimony was considered of some importance to the defendant's side of the case, inasmuch as Rogers said at first that the conversation took place in the fall of 1894, and that he had reasonably supposed to have acted upon his information in making out his affidavit. The cross-examination, however, had a distinct effect in making the truth in so plain a manner that no one can fail to understand and appreciate. The meetings will commence April 28.

Preparations are being made for a formal opening of the Young Men's Christian association rooms on some evening during the latter part of this week. The gymnasium and bath room, the reading room, the billiard room, the work of flunk up the parlor, game room and reading room is nearly completed, and the patrons of the association will enjoy seeing what the secretary, Charles J. and his band of assistants have had in setting the organization upon its feet again.
