

SILVER THEIR SHIBBOLETH

Memphis Convention Delivers Itself on the Question of Finance.

DEMONTIZATION CAUSED ALL OUR ILLS

After the Reading of the Platform the Time was Occupied in Speechmaking by Leading Lights of the Free Coinage Movement.

MEMPHIS, June 13.—The possible disruption of the old parties—the democratic party in the south, the republican party in the west—must have been uppermost in the mind of any thoughtful observer of the past two days proceedings of the great silver convention, which has been in session at the Auditorium. Both sides of this proposition were discussed today in impassioned speeches and strong argumentative appeals to the 1,500 delegates and visitors who attended the big mass meeting. The first warning of the approaching storm was heard last night in the bold utterances of Congressman J. C. Sibley of Pennsylvania in favor of a silver party, an aggressive campaign for the renomination of the white man without regard to previous party ties. Today all dispute was thrown off. The men who favor a silver party, with one purpose and one idea, under the leadership of Sibley, Tillman, of South Carolina, Butler of North Carolina, Stewart of Nevada, and Adams of Colorado, told of their plans without regard to party lines. They decided between party and nation. On the other hand those who favor the settlement of the silver question within party lines argued conservatively against the free silver, but bearing in mind that there were other questions of importance to the political future of the country which should cause the voter to think well before casting off the party affiliations of years and giving his undivided suffrage to the cause of silver. The conservative element claimed, should and would be settled within party lines. The conservative element prevailed in the committee on resolutions and the declarations which were adopted by the convention, did not go beyond a strong presentation of the free silver view at this gathering. The convention adjourned with a schism in the ranks. The advocates of the Sibley "idea" and the capture of the democratic convention, and falling in with the independent policy, which should have been fighting the issue strictly within party lines.

FIGHTING THE SIBLEY BOOM.

There was considerable dissatisfaction this morning among the republican congressmen who are in attendance upon the convention at the radical utterances of Mr. Sibley last night, his appeal for independent political action in 1896 and his demand of party ties. The attempt to swing the gathering into a third party boom, presumably the independent policy, was not relished by such men as Senator Harris, Governor Clark of Arkansas, Mr. Vardaman, candidate for governor of Mississippi, Colonel Gallatin, of Missouri, and newspaper men in the south, and they were not slow in expressing their disapproval. There was some talk of a bolt of the conservatives, but it was so obvious that the third party men were so hopelessly in the minority that they were powerless and that sentiment had no many opponents. The Governor Evans of South Carolina is another opponent of the "Sibley idea." He said to the Associated Press correspondent: "I believe the proper policy to pursue is to capture the democratic convention. If the free silver men capture the democratic convention the gold bugs will secede and join the republican party. They can accomplish this, as was illustrated by the recent action of the Illinois democratic convention."

"If it became necessary, governor, would you give up your democratic for free silver?" "I would give up anything and go anywhere for free silver if it became necessary. The free silver movement is a great advance to the populist party, for that is a stretch into the nostrils of the people, they will not go into the republican party, and the democratic party is a little better than the republican party. Practically the same views are held by Senator Tillman. His position is for free silver, first through the instrumentality of the democratic party, if that party succeeds; if not, by independent political action."

At 10:15 Rev. Dr. Brooks of Memphis opened the convention with prayer, after which the arrival of delegates from Missouri and Arkansas was announced. Chairman Turpie then announced that the committee on resolutions had received a report and introduced Senator William Stewart, who addressed the convention.

ALLEN FURNISHED THE FUN. When Senator Stewart had finished his speech, loud cries were heard from the gallery. Money, one of the silver leaders of Mississippi. He advanced to the front of the stage and prefaced his remarks by saying: "I am here a silver man from head to foot, and I am a democrat all over." Mr. Money was suffering from a sore throat and spoke but a few minutes, deprecating any attempt to settle the silver question outside the democratic party.

Private John Allen of Mississippi was then called on by the audience to speak. He began: "I, like the poor, am always with you." He advanced no new argument, but caught the crowd, throwing a verbal bouquet at Senator Stewart. The speaker then declared that the west was the friend of the south. The speaker elicited rounds of applause when he said the fight should not be taken from the democratic party. He claimed that the gold men were threatening the people with the disruption of the democratic party, and he invited the republicans to come into the democratic party and fill up the ranks made vacant by the deserters who went to the republican party.

"It is a foregone conclusion, fellow citizens," said the speaker, "that those gold men will go into the republican party. They say this silver movement is run by politicians, but when I look over the leaders of the gold bugs I find men who were in politics when I was an infant. These people keep me constantly perturbed. I can hardly sleep at night for worrying about my gold. I am afraid it will go abroad. I tell you, my friends, you cannot keep too close a watch on your gold. It is liable to leave our country at any minute. President Cleveland has received a good deal of praise for his backbone. Let us disabuse his mind of the belief that there is any corner in backbone. The gold men are people have a little and they are going to show it." The private kept the audience laughing for about fifteen minutes, and at the conclusion of his remarks the convention took a recess until 2:30.

Immediately after the convention was called to order for the afternoon session Senator J. K. Jones of Arkansas presented a resolution, the committee on resolutions, which read as follows: RESOLUTIONS COMMITTEE REPORTS. Silver and gold have been constituted the money of the world, were the money of the fathers of the republic, the money of history and of the constitution. The universal experience of mankind has demonstrated that the joint use of both silver and gold coin is necessary to the most stable standard of value; that the full amount of both metals is necessary as a medium of exchange. The demonetization of either of these historic money metals means an appreciation of the value of money, a fall in the prices of commodities, a diminution of the proceeds of legitimate business, a continuing increase in the burden of debts, a withdrawal of money from the channels of trade, a depression of the world if no longer yields a safe and sure return, and its idle accumulation in the banks and in the strong boxes of civilized countries.

There is no health or soundness in a financial system under which a hoarded dollar is productive of increase to its possessor, while the laborer, the farmer, the artisan, the merchant, and the manufacturer, are constantly diminishing returns and under which fortunes are made by the accretions of idle capital, or destroyed by the fluctuations in the price of commodities and a perpetual devaluation of the margin of profits in almost every branch of the industry. Such a system is a premium upon sloth and a penalty upon industry. The financial system is that which the criminal legislation of 1873 has imposed upon this country. The bimetallic standard of silver and gold has behind it the experience of ages and the approval of the wisest and the enlightened and deliberate judgment of the mankind. The gold standard is a departure from the established policy of the civilized world, with nothing to commend it but twenty-two years of depression and disaster to the people and an extraordinary accumulation of wealth in the hands of the few.

There are some facts bearing upon this question, recognized and admitted by all men of sense, whether advocates of bimetallicism or of the single gold standard. Among these facts are the following: The year that

PRISON FACTORY CLOSES

Western Manufacturing Company Forced to the Wall by Its Creditors.

ONE EFFECT OF THE MOSHER FAILURE

Low of Worthless Paper and Complications of the Contract with the State Too Great for the Concern—May Not Resume.

LINCOLN, June 13.—(Special.)—The Western Manufacturing company, in business as a prison contractor in this city since 1834, today suspended under a pressure of general creditors. The company claims that its assets, if properly disposed of, will meet all liabilities, and values its manufacturing plant alone at $25,000. Chattel mortgages on the machinery and fixtures, in favor of H. J. Walsh and the Nebraska National bank of Omaha for $10,000 each, were filed today; also a chattel mortgage to the Nebraska National covering a lot of mowers in the warehouse for $3,000, and one to C. E. Hedges, covering forty-two mowers; also a bill of sale to H. J. Walsh of $2,500 worth of farm implements in storage.

The officers of the company for many years were H. J. Walsh, who was president, and M. D. Welch, who has been its secretary and general manager. Mr. Walsh sold out his stock and retired from the company in 1833, since which time Mr. Welch has had almost exclusive management of the business, has succeeded in reducing the liabilities of the company to a minimum, and has been expected with any kind of revival of times or business to have continued business and met all demands.

RESULT OF MOSHER'S WORK.

The company was incorporated in 1838 with a capital stock of $100,000, and succeeded Mosher, who had carried on the business of manufacturing agricultural implements at the penitentiary for some years previously, with E. Hurlbut, Jr., as manager. The credit of the company was seriously impaired at the time of the National bank failure, by the discovery of several hundred thousand dollars of its worthless stock, and the fact that the stock, since the failure it has been constantly harassed by litigation instituted by holders of its paper and general creditors, although it has reduced its indebtedness to a very small amount, it has not yet been able to pay its obligations.

The cancelling by the state of the Mosher contract assigned to Dorgan for working the prisoners was another very disturbing element, and has led creditors to believe that it would interfere with the continuation of the company, and they were refusing renewals or extensions and demanding immediate payment, which under the stress of the present time the company could not make. It is believed that no effort will be made to resuscitate the business, but that the company will retire from the field permanently.

LINCOLN CITY NOTES.

The latest development in the Call embroilment was the removal yesterday afternoon of W. Morton, secretary and treasurer of the concern. This was done by a majority vote of the stockholders, at a meeting of the Call Publishing company, and the removal was not without some discussion. J. H. Douglas, who had filled the vacant position, was elected to succeed him. As Mr. Morton was already treasurer ex-officio as president of the company, Mr. Douglas was presumably chosen to relieve him of some of his honorary titles.

Miss Etta Wilson, 16 years old, residing with her mother at 1520 T street, this city, has been missing for ten days. She was last seen Monday. On that day she packed some of her effects and fled without her mother's knowledge or consent. She was first supposed to have been in the hands of a young man named Havelock, with whom she has been keeping company. Later the young man was found to have been in the hands of a young man named Havelock, and although the police have been requested to trace the girl, it is now thought that she has gone to her father, who has resided at Hot County since his separation from Mrs. Wilson.

The cases brought by Miss Easterley and Miss Donohue against Hotelkeeper Dennis Dalry of Walnut street, were called for this morning in the district court. The verdict was that the damages sustained by Miss Easterley were $100, and by Miss Donohue $50. The cases were argued by H. H. Hurlbut, head of the firm of Hurlbut & Co., left yesterday for a trip to Germany. The case was argued by his brother, who lives in Michigan. Mr. Hurlbut accompanied him to Grand Rapids, where she will visit during the summer.

Miss Terrell, wife of J. H. Terrell, of Grand Rapids, was severely shaken up in a collision near Sixteenth and K streets this afternoon. She came down town on her bicycle. She was riding on the sidewalk, and was struck by a rapid pace, and attempted to turn round a carriage, when they collided. She was shaken up somewhat, and was taken to Dr. Clark's office, where her injuries were attended to.

NOTES FROM THE STATE HOUSE.

Governor Holcomb Asked to Inquire Into a Sappy County Episode. LINCOLN, June 13.—(Special.)—Governor Holcomb has received the following letter from F. L. Walsh, acting British consul at Chicago: "I have the honor to inform you that I have been asked to inquire into the case of Mrs. Dawson, who, according to her statement, left Chicago in August, 1894, and was seen in Wash., D. C., by the party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Dawson, their two children, and her brother-in-law, Mr. H. H. Hurlbut. In South Omaha, they were attacked by a band of men known as the 'McCarthy' gang, who would have taken them to the city, had it not been for the timely assistance of some of the police officers. It is believed that they were rough handling they received that they have suffered from the effects of the attack, having their horse and all their goods stolen. Mrs. Dawson further states that the man, who was the first speaker at the meeting, and his gang were arrested by the police, and were held in the city until they were released. I shall esteem it a great favor if your excellency will give me some information in this case. I have the honor to be, sir, your excellency's most obedient servant, F. L. WALSH, Acting British Consul at Chicago."

At the office of Governor Holcomb Private Secretary Marat said that the governor had set on foot an inquiry into the case of Mrs. Dawson, and would make a full report to the British consul.

Penitentiary Physician H. C. Demaree has written to Governor Holcomb, stating that Charles Dodson is confined in the prison hospital with tuberculosis of the lungs, and in the judgment of the physician will not recover. He adds that Dodson's sentence expires July 18, 1895, and suggests that he receive executive clemency. In accordance with this communication Governor Holcomb today pardoned the afflicted convict. Dodson was convicted in Richardson county, Nebraska, for assault with intent to kill and sentenced to the penitentiary for two years, received at the penitentiary June 20, 1892.

In reply to the statement by ex-Warden Demaree that the month's estimate for supplies for the penitentiary had been prepared by the Board of Public Lands and Buildings and Warden Lehigh was twice the amount ever required before, the following reply was made: "The estimate of the last one sent in by Contractor Dorgan. Warden Lehigh also directs attention to the fact that even had the estimate been correct, the supplies for two months, the state would not have been a sufferer in the least."

The case of Charles Parkleser, plaintiff against William Mack and Mary Mack, defendants, has come up to the supreme court on petition in error from the district court in Douglas county. On the 16th of June, 1894, Parkleser received judgment in the district court for $1,255.12.

For the purpose of perfecting her appeal in the case of the county against the Adler & Sons' Clothing company, appellee, against Maria Hellman and others, appellees, the appellant has filed a certified transcript of the proceedings had in the district court of Douglas county before Judge Duffie.

Lancaster County Pioneers Enjoy a Meeting at Platteville.

LINCOLN, June 13.—(Special Telegram.)—The old settlers' picnic at Platteville did not attract a large crowd this morning, but in the afternoon street cars running in that direction were crowded to overflowing, chiefly women and children. By 3 o'clock the park was crowded and the services, though simple, were apparently highly enjoyed. Speeches were made, reminiscences recalled and a genuine pioneer picnic had on the grounds.

Session Closed Last Night with Installation of New Officers. Grand master, Henry H. Wilson of Lincoln; deputy grand master, Charles J. Phelps; grand senior warden, James P. Dineen; grand junior warden, Frank Young of Broken Bow; grand secretary, W. R. Bowen; grand treasurer, Christian Hartman. Work in the past year has been very successful. Wednesday evening when fifty candidates were the object of attention, was completed last evening.

Most of yesterday was devoted to the consideration of the reports of committees. An important feature was the report of the committee on codification of laws, appointed at the last session. It was recognized as an able and thoroughly meritorious report. The aim of the committee being mainly to simplify the law as before worded by eliminating all unnecessary verbiage and condensing paragraphs so that the work done that no discussion preceded the unanimous adoption of the report, and copies of the new code will be ready for distribution. It is thought, in thirty days.

A decision by the grand master within the year that all appointive officers of a subordinate lodge must be appointed by the master good favor with the committee on appointments and as great a favor with the grand lodge. Heretofore it has been the custom that one of such officers be appointed by a superior officer other than the master. In the course of the afternoon fraternal responsive greetings were received by telegraph from the grand lodges of South Dakota, Vermont, Wisconsin, Oregon and other states.
