

LULL IN SOCIAL CIRCLES

Quiet that follows the Summer Still Prevails.

RETURN OF TOURS FROM ABROAD SETS IN Engagements to be Followed by Weddings in the Near Future Are Announced—News and Gossip of the Week.

The same serenity and quiet that has reigned during the summer season still continues. For now that the great Ak-Sar-Ban ball is over, the reaction has had rather a subduing effect on society.

Most of the younger set have departed for their schools in the different parts of the United States, and a great many society people are attending to their business. While we are waiting for the buds to make their formal entrance into society, there seems to be little else to do but occupy the time by enjoying ourselves to the best of our ability, whatever that may be. For instance, those who have wheels are enjoying the fine condition of the roads and lovely moonlight nights, while quite a number of girls are studying French with Miss Gordon at the High school this year, among whom are Misses Sue Colpetzer, Mabel Taylor, Amy Barker, Grace Allan and Mae Hamilton.

A Surprise Party. An enjoyable surprise party was given at the home of Mrs. Lottie E. Brandt, 3223 Maple street, last evening. The occasion was Miss Brandt's fifteenth birthday anniversary. The evening was spent in vocal and instrumental music, after which parlor games were indulged in until a late hour. Refreshments were served and the happy party dispersed. The following were invited: Misses Bessie Flanders, Maggie Griffin, Margaret Humphrey, Marie Konecny, Mary Konecny, Lillian Ann Emma, Nellie Cunningham, Annie Arnold, Emma Ashmun, Edith Wilcox, Masters John Kautzsch, Mrs. J. J. Kautzsch, Mrs. Humphrey, Lewis Hansen, James Smith, Alfred Warner, Harry Donabue, Morris Griffin, John Arnold, William Spencer and Herbert Wilcox.

A Pretty Reception. In honor of Mrs. Anon Graves, wife of Bishop Graves, Mrs. Philip Potter gave a charming reception on Saturday afternoon between the hours of 3 and 6 o'clock. The house was daintily and tastefully decorated with roses. The dining room was red, and in the sitting room yellow roses and ferns. Mrs. Potter was assisted in receiving her guests by Mrs. Anon Graves, Mrs. M. J. Kautzsch, Mrs. Barklow, Mrs. Richard Hall and Mrs. A. C. Powell presided at the chocolate and tea table. Delicious refreshments were served to the sixty or seventy guests present.

Informal Entertainments. Mrs. W. S. Heister has had a few friends delightfully on Wednesday evening. Among those present were: Miss Dickinson, Miss Anderson, Mrs. Pugh, Mr. A. Clark, Mrs. Heister, Mrs. Kautzsch, Mrs. Kinzie and Miss Kinzie.

Mrs. P. M. Conklin gave a reception on Thursday afternoon for her sister-in-law, Mrs. Morse. The guests were: Mrs. Morse, Mrs. Fagan, Neely, Hutchinson, Thompson, Wagner, Zimmer, Cowell, Crosby, Todd, McClannan, Fleming, Hervey, Campbell and McClannan.

The women of the Lowe Avenue Presbyterian church gave a reception on Friday evening for their pastor and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. Fredrickson. The parlors were very beautifully decorated and a dainty repast was served. A large number of congregational members, and an enjoyable time was had by all.

A very enjoyable party was given on Monday evening by Mrs. P. M. Conklin, 3812 Parker street, in honor of her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Morse of South Dakota. Among those present were the Misses McComber, Clark, Mason, Mrs. Ostrom and Mrs. Tonge and Mrs. Owen, Palmer, Owen, Palmer, White, Davidson and Jackson.

The Six Handed Euchre club will re-open their doors on Tuesday morning. Mrs. W. S. Heister is recovering from a serious illness, on Tuesday morning at the residence of Mrs. L. M. Bennett.

An interesting reception was given by the young folks of St. Paul's in the Guild house Thursday evening to quite a large audience. The program consisted of music of all kinds, refreshments, and a social hour. A most delightful party was given by Mr. and Mrs. Bondeson last Saturday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Weber and their family. The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Bondeson, Mrs. S. D. Harklow, Mrs. Bondeson gave a dinner Sunday.

Mrs. Thomas W. Tallaferro gave a beautiful matinee luncheon on Wednesday in honor of Mrs. Frank Ingraham of Cleveland, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Frank Irvine, for the past two weeks. The table was lavishly decorated with American beauties in the center and the walls of the dining room were filled with those queenly flowers. Mrs. Tallaferro's entertainments are especially enjoyable and other guests were: Mrs. Irvine, Mrs. William S. Harklow, Mrs. Frank Richardson, Miss Sison and Mrs. Theodore Ringwalt.

Weddings and Engagements. The wedding of Dr. J. J. McMillen and Miss Emma Free will occur at noon on Wednesday, October 2.

Rumor says that a charming little lady, whose engagement has not yet been announced, although the bride and groom have known it to be a fact for some time, is to be married some time before Christmas to an out of town man.

An engagement is announced of Miss Katherine Werhner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Werhner, formerly of Leavenworth, Kan., now of Omaha, to Mr. Charles L. Pickett, of Detroit, Mich. Miss Werhner has not as yet been set, but it will undoubtedly be an event of the early autumn.

traveling suit. After the ceremony, which was attended only by the immediate friends of the bride and groom, a dainty wedding luncheon was served at the home of Mrs. Westernman, after which the bride couple took the afternoon train for Chicago, their destination. The bride is the charming daughter of Mrs. C. L. Dolan of Omaha, who, with her daughter, has spent the summer in Chicago, guested at the home of Mrs. Westernman, who the groom occupies the responsible position of business manager of a Chicago house. Mr. and Mrs. Estabrook will be at home after October 15, at 5129 Oglesby avenue, Chicago.

On Wednesday afternoon, September 25, at 3:30 o'clock, the marriage of Miss W. W. Knott to Mr. F. A. O'Connell and Miss Angeline S. Jackson of Ulia, N. Y., was solemnized at Grace Episcopal church, Ulia. The church was tastefully decorated with palms, smilax and potted plants. Relations and a few of the most intimate friends of the bride and groom witnessed the ceremony, as performed by Rev. Frederick Huntington, bishop of the diocese of central New York, and Rev. Dr. Charles T. Olmsted, rector of Grace church. The bride was escorted by her brother, Mr. Anson R. Jackson, and was attended by Miss Douglas, maid of honor. The best man was Mr. John Atwater of Minneapolis. The ushers were Lieutenant Sturgis of General Merrill's staff, Chicago; Mr. J. H. Brantley, a resident of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Doolittle of Ulia, N. Y.; Mr. D. E. Moran of New York and Mr. Arthur C. Jackson, brother of the bride, of New York. After the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. B. Jackson, 354 Geneva street. Among the guests were: Mrs. Knott's friends, Judge Corah of St. Paul, Mrs. George C. Squires of St. Paul, Mr. and Mrs. Anson R. Jackson and family of Minneapolis. Mrs. Charles H. Gardner and family of Omaha, who was handsoomely trimmed with banks of roses, cut flowers, potted plants, palms and festoons of smilax. The bride, who is a beautiful young woman, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Doolittle of Ulia, N. Y. She wore a lovely Paris creation of white satin, trimmed with point lace. She wore a crown of white flowers and yellow. Mrs. Jackson drove a becoming gown of black silk trimmed with point lace and diamonds.

Miss Knott is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Doolittle of Ulia, N. Y. She will spend their honeymoon for the next few years they will live in Omaha, as the groom is engaged in business in connection with the Chicago and North Western Pacific railroad. They will ultimately make their home in St. Paul.

Friendly Gossip. Mr. E. A. Cuddey left on Monday for Denver. Mr. S. A. Meehan is visiting friends in Franklin, Pa.

Miss E. J. Wessels is the guest of Miss Carita Curtis. Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Bennett expect to go to Chicago next week.

Miss Ella D. Vall returned this week from her trip to Chicago. Miss Eunice Gray is the guest of her sister, Mrs. C. S. Montgomery. Mr. and Mrs. McWhorter have gone to Chicago for a short visit.

Mr. James Ritchie of Keokuk spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. W. S. Heister. Mr. J. W. Craig has taken the house, 2129 West street, for the present.

Miss Eudice Stebbins left Sunday to resume her studies at Cornell university. Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Bondeson are at home at their residence, 318 Park avenue. Mr. S. S. Thomas of Janesville, Wis., is visiting friends and relatives in the city.

Mr. Gray Montgomery left on Sunday for his home in Chicago. Miss Mary Buck returned Wednesday from a week's visit in Chicago and at Lake Geneva. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wyman returned Friday from a visit of several weeks at Boston, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Potter, accompanied by Mrs. Anon Graves, leave for Minneapolis tomorrow. Bishop and Mrs. Worthington leave for Minneapolis tomorrow, where they will spend about three weeks. Mr. and Mrs. William Gamble have gone to Cripple Creek, Colo., where they will make their home for the winter.

Mr. Elwin Swabe returned to Chicago on Wednesday, after spending several days with his family in town. Mr. Leon Goldsmith has been visiting in Omaha before returning to the University of Michigan. Mr. George Evans has been very ill at his home in Evansville, Ind., for ten weeks, but is now slowly recovering.

Mr. J. J. McMillen returned Wednesday for Philadelphia to resume his studies in medicine at the University of Pennsylvania. Mr. Charles Tatum and family will make their future home in Des Moines, Ia., much to the regret of their many Omaha friends. Mrs. E. C. McShane and daughter will leave for New York on Tuesday, where she will leave Miss Nellie at school at Manhattanville.

Bishop and Mrs. Worthington are at home again after a delightful summer's rest at Richfield Springs, N. Y., and at Lenox, Mass. Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Barklow of Denver, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Harklow, returned home the early part of last week. Miss Florence Burnett, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. P. K. Kieddall, for several weeks, left for her home in Toledo on Sunday.

Mr. Herbert Rogers and Mr. Will Roge, who have been visiting in Omaha for the past week in Denver, where they enjoyed a snow storm. Mrs. W. J. Connell, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. J. J. Connell, returned from a delightful summer spent in the east. Miss Doree is expected to return on Monday from Des Moines, where she has been visiting her home in Chicago. Mrs. Alice Drake left on Monday for Franklin, Pa., where she will visit her sister, Mrs. M. J. Kautzsch, for a few days. Mrs. Clara Palmer, accompanied by her father, Captain H. E. Palmer, returned on Sunday from a delightful trip to Omaha, where she has been making a tour of principal art centers with a party of artists. Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Connell, who will soon be in position to judge for themselves of this versatile artist's latest work, and also congratulate those who rank so high among the professional artists of our country.

LINCOLN'S SOCIAL SIDE. LINCOLN, Sept. 28.—(Special.)—Recent welcome changes in atmospheric conditions have perceptibly brightened up capital city society. It is true that the trolley car moonlight excursion is not a defunct fact, but there are also other things. Thursday and Friday of the coming week will witness the meeting of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, for which ample arrangements are now practically complete. At an assembly place and general headquarters the Congressional chamber has been secured. It is, however, expected that this edifice will serve merely as a starting point for extended ramifications into the very heart of Lincoln's society. On Thursday Mrs. M. D. Welch, chairman of the assignment committee, will be there to attend to the registration of delegates and render their assistance in locating the particular hostess of each. Cordial invitations have been extended to each member of the state and city, and the registration delegates and visitors. Following is the secretary's program: Miss Marie Hoover, secretary; Mrs. J. S. Langworthy, Seward; treasurer; Mrs. J. M. Dawson, Crete; auditor; Mrs. Laura Woodford, Weeping Water; address of welcome, Mrs. A. W. F. H. C. Enns, Philadelphia; William Miller; Fort Dodge; George Cox, St. Louis; W. M. McGintie, Mrs. E. McGintie, Miss Blanch McGintie, Wilber; Robert H. Byers, Holdrege; W. L. Wiley, J. L. A. D. Stedman, London, England; Ernest Barrett, Chicago; S. L. Kelley, Kansas City; H. Deffenhafer, Chicago; J. B. Pritchard, U. S. A.; J. Clark, Woodstock, O.

Yardmaster Robinson of the Burlington expects to leave for Boston, accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Robinson, on Monday. They will visit friends and relatives in different parts of Massachusetts.

atined during their two weeks' visit at the home of H. A. Dool. The guests of Mrs. A. M. Pano. Lieutenant George C. Barnhardt, Sixth cavalry, with station at Fort. Charles H. Wilson until Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Linsinger are entertaining a house party, composed of Mrs. E. H. Comer of Jacksonville, and her grandson, Mr. Thomas L. Harris, Mrs. Collins and daughter Winifred of Knoxville, Ill.

Movements and Whereabouts. Mr. F. A. Nash is in Chicago. Mr. George W. Holdrege has gone to St. Paul. Mr. Charles Kennedy was a Chicago visitor this week. Mr. Charles Keller spent the week at Dealey, S. D.

Mr. James K. Chambers has returned from Gordon, Wis. Major Crowder spent the week at Fort Leavenworth. Dr. and Mrs. R. M. Stone are back from Hot Springs, S. D. Mr. and Mrs. J. N. H. Patrick have returned from the east.

Miss Adeline Nash returns to the Sacred Heart convent, Manhattanville, N. Y. Mrs. Theodore Klingensmith, who has returned from an extended New England visit. Miss LeShaffer will leave this city for Maryville, Kan., October 2, on account of her mother's illness.

Mr. Michael Whalen left yesterday on an extended visit to friends and relatives in England and Ireland. Mrs. Alfred Touzalin, visiting her home at Fremont, has been suddenly ill and is there with her typhoid. Mr. Jay Brown, son of Mr. J. J. Brown, left for New York on Saturday, where he will take a course in law.

Mr. E. G. Ballou and family, who passed the summer in Jersey, will return home the first of the week. Mrs. E. J. Snyder has returned from New York City and has taken the cottage at 2538 Dodge street. Mr. Clifford Smith is expected back from Rockland, Me., where he has spent the summer with his family, next week.

Mr. J. J. Morsman of Chicago, son of Mr. E. M. Morsman, a prominent physician in that city, is slowly recovering. Miss Cora Carson, who has been attending the fair and visiting her numerous friends, left Saturday for her school at James. Mr. D. J. Thayer of Charleston, S. C., who was the guest of Judge and Mrs. Woolworth during fair week, has returned to her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Bledch and Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Colies have moved from Mrs. Ezra Hill's house to Thirty-second and Dodge streets. Mr. and Mrs. Horace Burt, Mrs. Charles Offutt and Miss Lindsay returned from a trip to Portland in Mr. Burt's private car on Thursday.

Mr. M. R. Trauerman has returned from a trip which lasted three months and a half, through England, Germany, France and Switzerland. Mr. G. A. Filley of St. Louis, who spent fair week in Omaha, left yesterday for Iowa. He made quite a circle of friends during his stay here.

Miss Mamie Wilhelmy and Miss Eda Kuhny will return from Nebraska City Monday, where they have been the guests of friends and relatives for a few days. Mr. John J. Thayer of Pasadena, Cal., and his wife, Mrs. Ellen Beall, have gone east. Mrs. Beall will remain to visit her sons in New York City, this winter.

Lieutenant A. G. of the Department of Dakota during the absence of Colonel Sheridan on leave for two months. Mrs. Merrick of Minnesota, who has been visiting her sister, Miss Fuller, returned home Monday. Miss Fuller accompanied her for a visit of a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Campbell and family of Hartington, Neb., who have been visiting in Omaha, left for their home in Hartington, Neb., on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. C. Carson at the 322 North Thirty-fifth street, at the fair. Miss Grace McMillan, one of last year's graduates of the High school, has gone to Lincoln to attend the State university. She will take the entire philosophical course.

Miss Barnard, who has been at Worcester, Mass., all summer, spent a few days last week with Mrs. Arthur Herbert, near Lenox, in New York. Mrs. Herbert is now at the Nebraska university. General Coppinger returned from the east Wednesday morning. While absent he visited New York and Washington. General Coppinger returned from the east Wednesday morning. While absent he visited New York and Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Connell, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. J. J. Connell, returned from a delightful summer spent in the east. Miss Doree is expected to return on Monday from Des Moines, where she has been visiting her home in Chicago. Mrs. Alice Drake left on Monday for Franklin, Pa., where she will visit her sister, Mrs. M. J. Kautzsch, for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Barklow of Denver, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Harklow, returned home the early part of last week. Miss Florence Burnett, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. P. K. Kieddall, for several weeks, left for her home in Toledo on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Linsinger are entertaining a house party, composed of Mrs. E. H. Comer of Jacksonville, and her grandson, Mr. Thomas L. Harris, Mrs. Collins and daughter Winifred of Knoxville, Ill.

Movements and Whereabouts. Mr. F. A. Nash is in Chicago. Mr. George W. Holdrege has gone to St. Paul. Mr. Charles Kennedy was a Chicago visitor this week. Mr. Charles Keller spent the week at Dealey, S. D.

Mr. James K. Chambers has returned from Gordon, Wis. Major Crowder spent the week at Fort Leavenworth. Dr. and Mrs. R. M. Stone are back from Hot Springs, S. D. Mr. and Mrs. J. N. H. Patrick have returned from the east.

Miss Adeline Nash returns to the Sacred Heart convent, Manhattanville, N. Y. Mrs. Theodore Klingensmith, who has returned from an extended New England visit. Miss LeShaffer will leave this city for Maryville, Kan., October 2, on account of her mother's illness.

Mr. Michael Whalen left yesterday on an extended visit to friends and relatives in England and Ireland. Mrs. Alfred Touzalin, visiting her home at Fremont, has been suddenly ill and is there with her typhoid. Mr. Jay Brown, son of Mr. J. J. Brown, left for New York on Saturday, where he will take a course in law.

Mr. E. G. Ballou and family, who passed the summer in Jersey, will return home the first of the week. Mrs. E. J. Snyder has returned from New York City and has taken the cottage at 2538 Dodge street. Mr. Clifford Smith is expected back from Rockland, Me., where he has spent the summer with his family, next week.

Mr. J. J. Morsman of Chicago, son of Mr. E. M. Morsman, a prominent physician in that city, is slowly recovering. Miss Cora Carson, who has been attending the fair and visiting her numerous friends, left Saturday for her school at James. Mr. D. J. Thayer of Charleston, S. C., who was the guest of Judge and Mrs. Woolworth during fair week, has returned to her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Bledch and Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Colies have moved from Mrs. Ezra Hill's house to Thirty-second and Dodge streets. Mr. and Mrs. Horace Burt, Mrs. Charles Offutt and Miss Lindsay returned from a trip to Portland in Mr. Burt's private car on Thursday.

Mr. M. R. Trauerman has returned from a trip which lasted three months and a half, through England, Germany, France and Switzerland. Mr. G. A. Filley of St. Louis, who spent fair week in Omaha, left yesterday for Iowa. He made quite a circle of friends during his stay here.

Miss Mamie Wilhelmy and Miss Eda Kuhny will return from Nebraska City Monday, where they have been the guests of friends and relatives for a few days. Mr. John J. Thayer of Pasadena, Cal., and his wife, Mrs. Ellen Beall, have gone east. Mrs. Beall will remain to visit her sons in New York City, this winter.

Lieutenant A. G. of the Department of Dakota during the absence of Colonel Sheridan on leave for two months. Mrs. Merrick of Minnesota, who has been visiting her sister, Miss Fuller, returned home Monday. Miss Fuller accompanied her for a visit of a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Campbell and family of Hartington, Neb., who have been visiting in Omaha, left for their home in Hartington, Neb., on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. C. Carson at the 322 North Thirty-fifth street, at the fair. Miss Grace McMillan, one of last year's graduates of the High school, has gone to Lincoln to attend the State university. She will take the entire philosophical course.

Miss Barnard, who has been at Worcester, Mass., all summer, spent a few days last week with Mrs. Arthur Herbert, near Lenox, in New York. Mrs. Herbert is now at the Nebraska university. General Coppinger returned from the east Wednesday morning. While absent he visited New York and Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Connell, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. J. J. Connell, returned from a delightful summer spent in the east. Miss Doree is expected to return on Monday from Des Moines, where she has been visiting her home in Chicago. Mrs. Alice Drake left on Monday for Franklin, Pa., where she will visit her sister, Mrs. M. J. Kautzsch, for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Barklow of Denver, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Harklow, returned home the early part of last week. Miss Florence Burnett, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. P. K. Kieddall, for several weeks, left for her home in Toledo on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Connell, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. J. J. Connell, returned from a delightful summer spent in the east. Miss Doree is expected to return on Monday from Des Moines, where she has been visiting her home in Chicago. Mrs. Alice Drake left on Monday for Franklin, Pa., where she will visit her sister, Mrs. M. J. Kautzsch, for a few days.

WAS HIS LAST GREAT WORK

When Beethoven Wrote His Last Symphony.

MANUFACTURED MANY MUSICAL MELODIES Dr. Bietsen Concludes His Discussion of the Great Musical Composer and His Efforts—Introduction of the Ode.

In the following article Dr. Bietsen concludes his discussion of Beethoven's symphony. In this paper the doctor says: The Sonata related in 1854, on the authority of Carl Czerny, that shortly after the first performance of the symphony, Beethoven admitted to a small coterie of his most intimate friends that he perceived that he had arrived in the matter of the last movement of the symphony. He said he would cut it off and replace it with an instrumental movement, for which he already had a subject in his mind. This subject was probably the one which haunted him all through the last of the year 1821, occurring no less than three times in the midst of the work on other parts of the symphony. This subject, on its first appearance, he identified by writing above it "Finale Instrumentale." Subsequently he used it in the quartet in A minor (Op. 132). Notobrook is the date of his first appearance among the sketches as June or July of 1823. Among the sketches of this date is to be found this significant observation: "Freude Schoner" (the first words of Schiller's ode), looks as if he had once abandoned the idea of a choral finale altogether and was now again working on the subject, but not for use in it.

In composing his last symphony, Beethoven worked out the choral part, the melody, simple and ingenious as it now appears, was the result of many experiments and changes. The first sketch of the melody, which he worked out with the second period of the melody, "Freude," in the progress of the last work of 1823, that that even then the melody was given, though not accepted without course. The date of the first of these efforts is fixed by Notobrook as July, 1823; the others are later. The plan of using "Turkish music" given in the program in the sketches. Among those last quoted there is a memorandum suggesting the use of Turkish music in the setting of the lines: "Wieder im Fortschritt, or stilla. Weina sich aus dem Bund."

And again on the studies for the "Allgro alla Marcia," already referred to, he outlines a plan, which afterwards excited, is as follows: "Wieder im Fortschritt, or stilla. Weina sich aus dem Bund." Then the full strength! When the sketches for the choral movement make their appearance in the sketch book they strongly resemble the choral movement of Schiller's ode, concerning the difficulty which Beethoven found in introducing the "Ode."

HIS FIRST PLAN. The indications are that first re-voicing to introduce the voice, his first plan was a melody in the key of G major, and after that like an overture. There is nothing to suggest the reason why the plan was not carried out, except that from the manner in which the object was ultimately accomplished it is evident that he was seeking for the spiritual link which would unite the movement with its predecessors. Schiller's ode in his biography: "When the work of elaborating the fourth movement was reached, a struggle began, but he never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written 'Let us sing the song of the immortal Schiller,' etc. A number of the sketches made by Beethoven during the progress of his work led him back to the domain he had left when he took up with the plan of using Turkish music. He never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written 'Let us sing the song of the immortal Schiller,' etc. A number of the sketches made by Beethoven during the progress of his work led him back to the domain he had left when he took up with the plan of using Turkish music. He never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written 'Let us sing the song of the immortal Schiller,' etc. A number of the sketches made by Beethoven during the progress of his work led him back to the domain he had left when he took up with the plan of using Turkish music. He never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written 'Let us sing the song of the immortal Schiller,' etc. A number of the sketches made by Beethoven during the progress of his work led him back to the domain he had left when he took up with the plan of using Turkish music. He never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written 'Let us sing the song of the immortal Schiller,' etc. A number of the sketches made by Beethoven during the progress of his work led him back to the domain he had left when he took up with the plan of using Turkish music. He never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written 'Let us sing the song of the immortal Schiller,' etc. A number of the sketches made by Beethoven during the progress of his work led him back to the domain he had left when he took up with the plan of using Turkish music. He never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written 'Let us sing the song of the immortal Schiller,' etc. A number of the sketches made by Beethoven during the progress of his work led him back to the domain he had left when he took up with the plan of using Turkish music. He never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written 'Let us sing the song of the immortal Schiller,' etc. A number of the sketches made by Beethoven during the progress of his work led him back to the domain he had left when he took up with the plan of using Turkish music. He never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written 'Let us sing the song of the immortal Schiller,' etc. A number of the sketches made by Beethoven during the progress of his work led him back to the domain he had left when he took up with the plan of using Turkish music. He never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written 'Let us sing the song of the immortal Schiller,' etc. A number of the sketches made by Beethoven during the progress of his work led him back to the domain he had left when he took up with the plan of using Turkish music. He never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written 'Let us sing the song of the immortal Schiller,' etc. A number of the sketches made by Beethoven during the progress of his work led him back to the domain he had left when he took up with the plan of using Turkish music. He never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written 'Let us sing the song of the immortal Schiller,' etc. A number of the sketches made by Beethoven during the progress of his work led him back to the domain he had left when he took up with the plan of using Turkish music. He never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written 'Let us sing the song of the immortal Schiller,' etc. A number of the sketches made by Beethoven during the progress of his work led him back to the domain he had left when he took up with the plan of using Turkish music. He never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written 'Let us sing the song of the immortal Schiller,' etc. A number of the sketches made by Beethoven during the progress of his work led him back to the domain he had left when he took up with the plan of using Turkish music. He never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written 'Let us sing the song of the immortal Schiller,' etc. A number of the sketches made by Beethoven during the progress of his work led him back to the domain he had left when he took up with the plan of using Turkish music. He never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written 'Let us sing the song of the immortal Schiller,' etc. A number of the sketches made by Beethoven during the progress of his work led him back to the domain he had left when he took up with the plan of using Turkish music. He never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written 'Let us sing the song of the immortal Schiller,' etc. A number of the sketches made by Beethoven during the progress of his work led him back to the domain he had left when he took up with the plan of using Turkish music. He never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written 'Let us sing the song of the immortal Schiller,' etc. A number of the sketches made by Beethoven during the progress of his work led him back to the domain he had left when he took up with the plan of using Turkish music. He never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written 'Let us sing the song of the immortal Schiller,' etc. A number of the sketches made by Beethoven during the progress of his work led him back to the domain he had left when he took up with the plan of using Turkish music. He never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written 'Let us sing the song of the immortal Schiller,' etc. A number of the sketches made by Beethoven during the progress of his work led him back to the domain he had left when he took up with the plan of using Turkish music. He never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written 'Let us sing the song of the immortal Schiller,' etc. A number of the sketches made by Beethoven during the progress of his work led him back to the domain he had left when he took up with the plan of using Turkish music. He never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written 'Let us sing the song of the immortal Schiller,' etc. A number of the sketches made by Beethoven during the progress of his work led him back to the domain he had left when he took up with the plan of using Turkish music. He never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written 'Let us sing the song of the immortal Schiller,' etc. A number of the sketches made by Beethoven during the progress of his work led him back to the domain he had left when he took up with the plan of using Turkish music. He never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written 'Let us sing the song of the immortal Schiller,' etc. A number of the sketches made by Beethoven during the progress of his work led him back to the domain he had left when he took up with the plan of using Turkish music. He never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written 'Let us sing the song of the immortal Schiller,' etc. A number of the sketches made by Beethoven during the progress of his work led him back to the domain he had left when he took up with the plan of using Turkish music. He never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written 'Let us sing the song of the immortal Schiller,' etc. A number of the sketches made by Beethoven during the progress of his work led him back to the domain he had left when he took up with the plan of using Turkish music. He never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written 'Let us sing the song of the immortal Schiller,' etc. A number of the sketches made by Beethoven during the progress of his work led him back to the domain he had left when he took up with the plan of using Turkish music. He never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written 'Let us sing the song of the immortal Schiller,' etc. A number of the sketches made by Beethoven during the progress of his work led him back to the domain he had left when he took up with the plan of using Turkish music. He never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written 'Let us sing the song of the immortal Schiller,' etc. A number of the sketches made by Beethoven during the progress of his work led him back to the domain he had left when he took up with the plan of using Turkish music. He never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written 'Let us sing the song of the immortal Schiller,' etc. A number of the sketches made by Beethoven during the progress of his work led him back to the domain he had left when he took up with the plan of using Turkish music. He never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written 'Let us sing the song of the immortal Schiller,' etc. A number of the sketches made by Beethoven during the progress of his work led him back to the domain he had left when he took up with the plan of using Turkish music. He never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written 'Let us sing the song of the immortal Schiller,' etc. A number of the sketches made by Beethoven during the progress of his work led him back to the domain he had left when he took up with the plan of using Turkish music. He never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written 'Let us sing the song of the immortal Schiller,' etc. A number of the sketches made by Beethoven during the progress of his work led him back to the domain he had left when he took up with the plan of using Turkish music. He never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written 'Let us sing the song of the immortal Schiller,' etc. A number of the sketches made by Beethoven during the progress of his work led him back to the domain he had left when he took up with the plan of using Turkish music. He never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written 'Let us sing the song of the immortal Schiller,' etc. A number of the sketches made by Beethoven during the progress of his work led him back to the domain he had left when he took up with the plan of using Turkish music. He never gave up. He was the difficulty lay in finding a fitting mode of introduction for Schiller's ode. One day as I entered the room he called out to me: 'Have it! have it! have it!' and he handed me a sketch which he had written