Total Admissions Yesterday 19,517

The great week of the exposition, which will be made memorable by the most notable celebration that has occurred within the memory of the present generation, opened yesterday under conditions that were suggestive of the great measure of success that has been so confidently anticipated.

The program of the afternoon offered more than ordinary attraction. It began with the magnificent overture "1812," by Tchaikovsky, and included the movements from Mendelssohn's Scotch symphony, the Vespers from "Lohengrin" and the ever acceptable trombone solo by Mr. Innes.

The chorus performed its part in the mixed numbers with fair success. Its renditions were well-balanced and enjoyable, but its volume was scarcely equal to the competition of the band. This was especially noticeable in the "Hallelujah chorus," in which the conductor was compelled to suppress his brasses in order to permit the chorus to be heard.

The number of strangers on the grounds yesterday was far in excess of that on any previous Sunday. Omaha people very largely waited for the important celebrations of the succeeding days and with the exception of those who came to hear the concert very few of them took advantage of the reduced admission. But there were thousands of visitors, who have come early and apparently with the intention of taking in the whole Jubilee.

Everything Gets a Crowd.

While the sacred concert in the afternoon was enjoyed by the vast throngs, it could possibly crowd into the Auditorium this day no perceptible effect on the crowd outside.

Today the formal celebration of the Jubilee will begin. It is Mayor's day and the exercises which mark the occasion will be in the hands of the mayors of the west, many of whom have accepted the invitation of the management to be present.

Among the Fruit Exhibits.

There was not any great amount of rest in the Horticulture building yesterday, as all of the exhibitors were putting their fruit in order and getting ready to present a neat and attractive appearance during the Jubilee week.

Preparing to Move Troops.

CAMP MEADE, Md., Oct. 9.—The 9th Chief Surgeon Girard is getting ready for the movement south of the Second corps. He will begin tomorrow vaccinating the troops to guard against an outbreak of smallpox.

Signal Work Will Be a Feature.

Exhibitions Will Be Given Every Day.

Members of the United States signal corps have discovered that instead of life as the exposition being all play there is considerable work connected with it.

WAR DEPARTMENT HAS TAKEN HOLD OF THE MATTER and has found places that fit all of the men.

Beginning yesterday and continuing until the close of the exposition, Major Ward will see that the signal corps gives its daily exhibitions. There will be the flag signaling or wigwagging each morning, heliograph work at 2 o'clock each afternoon and balloon ascensions two hours later, with flashlight signaling at 8 o'clock each evening.

SACRED CONCERT MUCH ENJOYED.

Mr. Innes and Mr. Kelly Score Fresh Musical Triumphs.

The sacred concert which was given by Innes and his band and the Exposition chorus in the Auditorium yesterday afternoon was even more successful than that of the preceding Sunday. Not only the seating capacity, but every inch of possible standing room in the big structure was occupied.

TRIBUTE TO THE DOCTORS

All Acquit Themselves Well in the War with Spain.

EVERYTHING DONE WELL IN THE NAVY

Ships Fully Fitted Out with Medical Supplies Before the War Broke Out—Surgeons Make a Good Record.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Probably no better illustration can be found of the foresight exhibited by the navy in preparing the medical corps during the struggle.

Surgeon General Van Reypen begins with a modest tribute to the good judgment and foresight of his predecessor, General Tryon, who in putting in order and equipping the several naval hospitals at the outbreak of the war, was the first of many of the navy's foresighters who submitted for publication.

There has not been an instance during the war, says the surgeon general, "of any vessel having to wait for her medical stores."

The report gives a history of the valuable services rendered by the Solace in caring for the sick and wounded. The steamer had been supplied in abundance for the sick and wounded by generous and patriotic individuals and societies from every part of the United States.

Tribute to Woman.

Says the surgeon general: "In this war woman has done her perfect work and the medical department of the navy is indebted to her for the money contributed and supplies furnished for the aid of the sick and wounded of the navy.

PRESIDENT REACHES CANTON

Mr. McKinley and His Wife Arrive to Attend the Funeral of Saxton.

CANTON, O., Oct. 9.—The home coming of President and Mrs. McKinley to attend the funeral of George Saxton was attended with a most touching and pathetic scene at the station. Many people were at the depot when the train arrived and extended the party a silent but sympathetic and reverent welcome.

The president and party went direct to the Barber home, which is the old Saxton home, and was the Canton home of the McKinley family.

The funeral will be held from the Barber home at 10 o'clock tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The special train which will carry the presidential party to Omaha, where they will be the guests of honor of the Transmississippi Exposition, leaves at 9 a. m. tomorrow.

The arrangements for the trip have been made by the Pennsylvania railroad and today the company issued a handsome itinerary bearing the president's coat of arms and including a large map showing the route of the party going and coming.

TROUBLE STILL BREWS AT LEECH LAKE

More Troops Are Dispatched from St. Paul for the Scene of the Uprising—Some Indians Are Friendly.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 9.—A Pioneer Press special from Ferris, Minn., a small town north of Leech Lake, says:

A report reached here late this evening of the killing of a white man near Bear Island during the day.

The government is particularly anxious about the danger to dams at the headwaters of the Mississippi, and a heavy guard has been stationed at the headwaters.

ENGLISH SENTIMENT IS QUITE WARLIKE

Condition of Affairs in Paris Is So Menacing that President Faure Does Not Attend the Sunday Races.

(Copyright, 1898, by Press Publishing Co.) LONDON, Oct. 9.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram.)—The gravest view is taken of the Anglo-French relations over the Fashoda incident.

The report is prevalent tonight that Salisbury dispatched instructions Friday to the British ambassador equivalent to an ultimatum and probably the dispute will come to a head within the next forty-eight hours.

Whether there is to be war or not depends on the French government. Salisbury has taken a position from which he cannot recede. He has explicitly refused to compromise.

Public sentiment here fully backs up this attitude. The English people are out of patience with France, whose enmity has found expression in a hundred exasperating ways within the last few years.
