The attendance was better than that of yesterday and even approached the proportions of a fairly good day. This was in spite of the fact that to the average visitor the conditions were not so favorable as those which prevailed the day before.

ous allusions, he eulogized the spirit and motive of the Workmen's organization and tendered an eloquent greeting to the Workmen of Iowa to their Nebraska brethren.

The first address was delivered by Rev. J. G. Tate, past supreme master workman, who received an enthusiastic welcome. His remarks were abbreviated in deference to the chilly discomfort of his audience.

On the conclusion of the exercises in the Auditorium the workmen congregated in the Plaza in front of the Government building to witness the contest between the drill teams of the order. Some twenty teams were entered, but only about half of them participated in the drill.

CHICAGO'S GRATITUDE

People of the Windy City Rejoice Under Adverse Circumstances.

OPENING OF THE GREAT PEACE JUBILEE

Weather is Unpropitious, but the Immense Auditorium is Packed.

ADDRESS BY ARCHBISHOP IRELAND

President Receives an Enthusiastic Welcome, but Declines to Talk.

FIVE OVERFLOW MEETINGS ARE HELD

Public Schools Devote the Day to Exercises Suitable to the Occasion—Addresses by Prominent Educators.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Five thousand people packed within the walls of the Auditorium witnessed the formal launching of the Peace Jubilee. A heavy drizzle that at times changed into rain and then back into drizzle was falling, the streets were filled with puddles of water and the cold wind blowing off Lake Michigan made walking unpleasant.

Notwithstanding these obstacles, the opening of the jubilee proper was a distinct and brilliant success. It was announced that the ceremonies would commence at 10:20 a. m., and fully an hour prior to that time the street in front of the Auditorium was packed with a eager crowd.

After the doors had been thrown open by General Miles, a long wait for the speakers. Finally they were seen coming down the main aisle and the crowd broke into a cheer. Owing to a misunderstanding, in which the president had no part, it was ten minutes past 11 o'clock when Mr. McKinley entered the hall.

On his ride from the residence of Mr. McKinley, the president was escorted by the Chicago Hussars and mounted police. The president's appearance was a signal for an outburst of enthusiasm and cheering that lasted for several minutes. With the president were governor Odell of Illinois, Lafayette McWilliams, whose name the president has borne since his arrival in the city, and Harper of the Chicago university and Thomas Bryan of Chicago. The women of the party were Mrs. McWilliams, Miss McWilliams and Miss Duncan, who were in the box adjoining that of the president.

In the first box at the left the stage was General Miles and in the boxes next were the members of the diplomatic corps. Secretary Gage was also in the second tier, almost opposite to that of the box of the president.

Exercises Open. The exercises opened with a short address by Chairman Charles Trux of the Jubilee committee, at the conclusion of which he introduced the presiding officer, George R. Peck. Mr. Peck's address, which was greeted with great applause, was as follows: Fellow citizens: This is a momentous day for America. It is a day of profound significance. It is a day of joy and gladness. It is a day of peace and harmony. It is a day of love and brotherhood. It is a day of hope and faith. It is a day of courage and valor. It is a day of sacrifice and heroism.
