Work of a Thief.

When C. E. Hanson, living at 829 Eighth avenue, awoke yesterday morning he discovered that his room had been entered by a thief during the night. His coat, vest and trousers were missing, and the thief had also helped himself to his underwear, socks, shoes and hat. From another room the thief secured a bank uniform, coat and vest. In the pocket of the uniform coat was a pass to the exposition made out in the name of W. H. Daniels. The front door had been left open for the convenience of a roomer and it is supposed the thief secured an entrance to the house by this means. The police have no clue to work upon.
