Considerable Criticism of Government for its Inactivity in the Quarrel, But It Has Not Altered Its Views of Neutrality.

BERLIN, Sept. 23.—An outbreak of war in the Transvaal is regarded here as a question of a few days, or at the most, weeks. The whole press devotes considerable space to the matter. Neither the attitude of the people nor the press has changed materially. Without exception they disapprove of such a war and blame Great Britain for badgering the Transvaal beyond endurance.

The liberal press also blames the Transvaal for its illegal stand in first sanctioning Great Britain's attempt at interference in its internal affairs and then, rejecting such attempts and making thereof a cause belli. Thus argues the Vossische Zeitung, Cologne Gazette, Tagblatt and others. The whole conservative, jingo, anti-Semitic, Agrarian and center press side with the Boers. The Kreuz Zeitung says:

"No important things may develop in this certain England is preparing another act of brutal coercion."

The National Zeitung doubts whether it is still possible to adjust things in South Africa except by force of arms.

The Vossische Zeitung says: "War is a foregone conclusion. England is only delaying hostilities in order to gain time to prepare a sufficiently large army of invasion. It will not be ready until the middle of October. The Boers just now are stronger in a military sense."

The Deutsche Tages Zeitung says: "Germany must not only be the strongest interest in maintaining the independence of the Boer states, which form a natural wall of protection against the British possessions. The people must demand that the government protect these important interests. The only way to avoid the annihilation of the German colonies is to get Germany, Holland and Belgium to jointly direct emigration there, especially to the Boer states."

The Leipzig Neueste Nachrichten asserts that if the Transvaal loses the German South African territory can no longer be held, Great Britain then being enabled to isolate it economically until it becomes worthless and will drift into English hands, adding: "The Boers defend the advance of German civilization against Anglo-Saxon domination and fight as our advance guard."

Dangerous Game for Germans. The Deutsche Zeitung severely blames the government for its inactivity in the quarrel, saying: "This is a dangerous game for German interests."

In spite of these criticisms, many of which are more bitter, the government has not altered its views or attitude. This is evident from the inspired utterances of the government press.

The Hamburg correspondent again points out that Germany can only look on in the struggle, adding: "Germany in this respect is situated precisely like France, whose sympathies are with the Boers."

A foreign official said to the correspondent here of the Associated Press: "Of course it is in no sense to our interest to have England and the Transvaal go to war. No doubt the Boer nation will finally succumb and finally will be wiped out of existence. But the best that this will do for us is to diminish our prestige in South Africa and injure our not inconsiderable material interests there, for our trade with the Boer states is increasing and is only next to that of England. Other interests will also be jeopardized or injured by such a struggle. Still there is no occasion and no political or moral right for us to interfere. So long as our undoubted rights are respected by the belligerents we shall not interfere."

The informant of the correspondent refused to say a distinct formal understanding with Great Britain or whether the agreement of a year ago on the subject of South Africa included German neutrality in the event of war with the Transvaal.

Experts are beginning to speculate on the probable outcome of the war and the losses on both sides. The Kreuz Zeitung says: "The British plan is an invasion on three sides simultaneously, from Rhodesia, Natal and the Orange Free State. The best and most effective part of the British army will probably be the volunteers raised in South Africa. There are 7,000 mounted men already in Rhodesia who with other volunteers will be the real corps of the expedition."

In the Frankfurt Zeitung General von Boguslawsky, a military writer of note, predicts that the British will sustain enormous losses in the Transvaal "owing mainly to the inferiority of their officers and their inability to understand or apply modern tactics."

DREYFUSARDS WANT A VICTIM

French War Minister Offends Them—Gallifet Threatens He Will Not Go Alone.

PARIS, Sept. 23.—The proclamation of the minister of war, General de Gallifet, to the army, declaring the Dreyfus incident closed, has excited keen opposition among the Dreyfusards, radicals and socialists. It is rumored that an attempt will be made to oust the war minister from the cabinet. It is said he issued the proclamation without consulting his fellow ministers.

Some of the papers criticizing him are in close touch with several of the ministers, and General de Gallifet is credited with saying: "They want to get rid of me. I am quite prepared to go, but I don't mean to go alone. Either all of them disappear with me, or I stop where I am."

LONDON, Sept. 23.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram.)—All preparations have now been made at Aldershot for the quick despatch to South Africa of a complete army corps of 40,000 men.

The cavalry depots at home have requisitioned for 15,000 horses, which are being collected at Chatham for shipment. The requirements for the troop and cavalry are 11,836 horses and the remainder are set aside for casualties.

British agents are scouring the continent buying horses to take the place of those killed in the Transvaal. The London Omnibus company and the principal carrying companies have been asked by the war office to sell their surplus horses and have to some extent complied.

Recruiting is being energetically carried on in all the great manufacturing and agricultural centers and the war fever is stimulated to supply recruits, chiefly in London, where the increase this week is 35 per cent. The war press is pursuing a policy calculated to make all settlement impossible that does not involve not merely the submission but the humiliation of the Transvaal.

The Times, traditionally the truculent to the weak, leads the way, plainly declaring that defeat means annexation for the republic. The Orange Free State's refusal to preserve neutrality—though it is the first time England has ever had on a continent of its attitude—causes it to be instantly linked by the Times with the Transvaal for annexation by the Free State burghers follow their president's counsel. The Times avers: "Their country will not be safe for long."

All the other ministers passively follow the Times' lead. Some, like the Daily Mail, the Standard, the Globe and the St. James' Gazette, even better its example. But the most important press auxiliary Mr. Chamberlain has secured is the Roseberrie Daily News, which is according him steady and semi-independent support and putting the anti-Boer case in temperate and plausible shape.

FILIPINOS BREAK PROMISE

Do Not Make Good Their Offer of Surrender of American Prisoners—Send No Officer to Meet Ots.

MANILA, Sept. 23.—No information has been received from the naval expedition at Subig bay.

The Filipinos have not made good their offer to surrender the American prisoners and they have not sent an officer to meet Major General Ots, as promised. Nothing further has been heard from the rebel officers who conferred with General MacArthur recently and returned to their own lines.

Chief Signal Officer Thompson has gone on two expeditions of inspection of the cable service of all the southern islands.

Destroy Insurgent Position at Olanguapo After Bombardment by Concord and Charleston.

MANILA, Sept. 24.—10:15 a. m.—The United States cruiser Charleston, the monitor Monterey, the gunboat Concord and the supply ship Zafta this morning attacked Olanguapo on Subig bay.

Reports Attack on Train.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—General Ots has cabled the following account of the insurgent attack on the railway train near Angeles.

"MANILA, Sept. 23.—Adjutant General, Washington: Insurgents succeeded in derailing a section of a train yesterday a short distance from Angeles. They then made an attack on the railway guards, with the result that Captain Perry, quartermaster, was slightly wounded in the arm; Private Charles Ziemans, hospital corps, killed; Private Sam Steele, Seventeenth Infantry, severely wounded; Civilian Charles S. Price, slightly wounded, demolishing civilian killed. The insurgents were driven off, leaving six dead in their tracks and troops were immediately sent in pursuit. OTS."

TWO TRAINS IN COLLISION

Number of People Seriously Injured—Engineer Forgets About Passenger Train.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 23.—Two trains on the Allegheny Valley railroad collided head-on at Parker, Pa., last evening, totally wrecking both engines, demolishing eight freight cars, and seriously wounding two passenger coaches and injuring nearly a score of people. The names of those worst injured are as follows:

Charles Bayne of Templeton, engineer of the freight train.
M. H. Sloan, fireman.
F. P. Turner, engineer passenger train.
Lloyd Martin, Pittsburg.
L. W. Burless, conductor passenger train, Elmorton.

Alice Price, Parker, Pa.
Miss Vandereole, Pittsburg, Pa.
H. G. Jordan, West Monterey, Pa.
None of the injured will die.

The wreck was one of the most destructive that has occurred on this railroad for some time. That a number of people were not killed or fatally injured seems almost miraculous. The officials of the company explain the cause of the collision by saying that the engineer on the freight forgot that the passenger train had the right of way.

VIOLENT HAND-TO-HAND FIGHT RESULTS

DUBLIN, Sept. 23.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram.)—William O'Brien's United Irish League is setting the heather aflame in Ireland as in the land league days. Everywhere it has started up it comes into conflict with the landlords and consequently with the government.

The immediate result of each fresh disturbance is several more branches of the league springing into existence, for Irishmen love a fight organization.

Thursday an extraordinary conflict took place at Mullingar, the capital of the county of Westmeath. It was decided to fly the Irish flag over the court house in the future while the Westmeath county council was sitting there. Lord Greville, chairman of the county council, agreed with this nationalist proposal, but his son and heir, Captain Falk Greville, the very member for Bradford, who is high sheriff of Westmeath this year, claimed to control the court house in that capacity and prohibited the hoisting of the Irish flag as a diabolical symbol on Thursday.

At the next meeting of the council Lord Greville appeared at the court house gates, accompanied by the nationalist council, one of them bearing a flagstaff with the Irish flag unfurled. The police assembled in strong force and refused entrance to the flag bearer, but a crowd collected and rushed the gates.

A violent hand-to-hand conflict took place in the court house for possession. Many persons were injured by policemen's clubs. The police ultimately got possession of the tattered national emblem, but the crowd made a desperate charge and carried the police force before them down the stairs like an avalanche, wrested the flag from them and flew it from a window to the accompanying enthusiastic cheers of the populace outside.

Lord Greville is now to be prosecuted in the instructions of his son, Captain Greville, but the fight against the police has had the effect of uniting the nationalist parties in Mullingar once more.

WALES' HOME LIFE IS AWRY

Prince and Princess Are All But Estranged and Leading Separate Existences.

(Copyright, 1899, by Press Publishing Co.)

LONDON, Sept. 23.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram.)—The domestic felicity of the prince and princess of Wales is now at its lowest possible ebb. The princess is growing almost eccentric, self-absorbed and pious, while the prince's determination to get the best he can out of life, according to his conception, is less and less disguised.

The prince has been having a highly enjoyable visit to Sir Archibald Edmonstone's Scotch seat, Dunrobin castle. The party was almost wholly a family one, including Sir Edmonstone's fascinating sister, Mrs. George Keppel. The weather was cold and misty, but the prince drove out in the woods every day in a pony phaeton with Mrs. Keppel and upset his other engagement by staying a day longer than he originally arranged. There were no junkies or big entertainments during his stay and little intrusion of outsiders to bore him.

Meantime the princess of Wales' return from Copenhagen is the subject of anxious speculation. The queen expected her to be accompanied by the prince, but she has just sent back the Princess Victoria to England without any indication of her own plans.

WELLINGTON OUT IN PRINT

Tenders His Resignation as Chairman to Govern Lord Lowndes in an Open Letter.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 23.—Senator Wellington has forwarded to Governor Lowndes his reply to the letter in which the governor requested the senator to resign the chairmanship of the republican state central committee. The letter is as follows:

"Hon. Lloyd Lowndes, Baltimore, Md.—Sir: Your letter of the 21st instant reached me yesterday. After your action it is impossible for me to serve as chairman of the republican state central committee, and I have intended in a legal way, with due notice, to convene the committee for the purpose of tendering my resignation. I understand, however, that yourself and the other candidates on the state ticket have taken time by the forelock and in a manner entirely unprecedented and illegal, have called together the committee for Monday, the 25th instant. While this is unwarranted and unlawful, I shall make no objection to it and hope no one will. Should there be present a quorum at the meeting I will tender my resignation on Monday next."

"I write more in sorrow than in anger, but, above all, there is present with me for you, mingled with some pity for your weakness, immeasurable and unutterable contempt for your want of frankness and truth. It will be unnecessary for me to say or do more, for at the polls in November, the people of the state will administer to you such a rebuke as will be sufficient punishment for all that has transpired, very truly,
"GEORGE L. WELLINGTON."

Governor Lowndes said, when asked if he had any comment to make on Senator Wellington's letter: "I have not received any communication. As far as I am concerned the incident is closed. The committee, which will meet in Baltimore on Monday, represents the republican party of the state, and in its judgment it should retain Mr. Wellington as chairman then I shall decline the nomination for the governorship."

RHODES CHARGES BRIBERY

Says Capetown Legislators Accepted Money for Electioneering Purposes.

(Copyright, 1899, by Press Publishing Co.)

LONDON, Sept. 23.—A special dispatch from Capetown says there was an extraordinary meeting of the legislative council during the debate on the registration of voters bill. Cecil Rhodes, who hitherto has deprecated the advisability of hostilities, repeated the statement that several members had "accepted money for electioneering purposes from the Transvaal government, with the understanding that they would resign."

This statement created a great impression. Later, speaking on the same bill, Mr. Rhodes pointedly indicated that some of the members were practically guilty of treason: "In all the great manufacturing and agricultural centers and the war fever is stimulated to supply recruits, chiefly in London, where the increase this week is 35 per cent. The war press is pursuing a policy calculated to make all settlement impossible that does not involve not merely the submission but the humiliation of the Transvaal."

The cabinet ministers have left town. Their action yesterday evokes nothing noteworthy in the way of comment. The expectation that their meeting would be followed by a border meeting has so far been unfulfilled, though the news from Johannesburg tells of unrest that is not assuring.

In spite of the Portuguese minister's denials it is not possible to believe Great Britain will lease Delagoa bay.

The most notable among the officers who sailed today was Major General French. A number of staff officers, special service officers and war correspondents accompanied him.

NO CAUSE FOR WAR.

CAPETOWN, Sept. 23.—The Onsland, the Afrikaner Bund organ, commenting on the British cabinet meeting, heads its articles, "More Demands, More Troops, More Dummies." It says: "The British troops on the border are likely to make one and hopes the Afrikaners' protest will be heeded before it is too late."

At a meeting of forty-eight progressive members of the assembly yesterday evening resolutions were passed deprecating encouraging the Transvaal and pledging the imperial government the strongest support.

JOHANNESBURG, Sept. 22.—(Delayed in Transmission.) The feeling of uneasiness here is not abating. There is more rowdiness and street barricading is proceeding.

BOMBAY, Sept. 23.—The second battalion of the Gordon Highlanders and other detachments of troops sailed today on three transports for Natal.

MINISTRY PLAYS WITH FIRE

Waiting Game in South Africa Likely to Exhaust the Patience of Its Supporters.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—The sands are running out, but all too slowly for the jingo party.

The Morning Post, editorially, warns the government that it runs a two-fold risk in its renewed patience. First, of wearying the patience of the loyalists in South Africa; second, of its supporters at home, who are not too enthusiastic over its previous dealings with imperial questions.

The Daily Chronicle bluntly tells the government that "if proceedings are undignified," adding: "The fact remains that President Kruger has been given another period of grace, thanks, primarily, to the fact that we are not yet prepared for war, but also to Salisbury's moderating influence on Mr. Chamberlain's impetuosity. It may be taken for granted that the Transvaal has at least until October 5 to decide, as no doubt it will be allowed a week to consider Great Britain's new proposals, which cannot be presented until the next cabinet meeting. By this time the attitude of the Orange Free State will be known. Whilst the hostility of the Free State will be of future advantage, by opening an easier way to peace, it is a great present danger of taking the British force to the Transvaal and Orange Free State as a fact to prevent the British advance from a fatal border and assume the offensive against British advance territory from along the unprotected Orange river border. President Kruger's hope is thus to get a snatch victory as in 1881 and secure easy terms of peace."

An interesting note in connection with the attitude of the Afrikaners is that Secretary of State Roitz is Premier Schreiner's brother-in-law.
