

LESSONS FROM EXPOSITION

Rev. Tref's Comments on the Passing of the White City.

TEACHES THE SUPREMACY OF GENIUS

There Has Not Been a Heartbeat Since Moses' Time Without Its Effect in the Exposition's Completeness.

Rev. Tref preached Sunday morning at Kountze Memorial church on "Lessons from the Exposition." He took his text from Paul's epistle to the Hebrews, in which the apostle discusses those most serious questions of the conscience, the inevitable punishment of sin and the soul's immortality.

The exposition with all its beauties and its grandeur is a thing of the past. Its influence will remain for all time, but the thing itself has been folded as a garment and laid aside. It should teach us for one thing the supremacy of genius. It was not the achievement of this state or this nation alone, nor of this year or the past few years. Those who built it laid tribute on every age and every people.

The exposition also shows us that man naturally loves and craves the beautiful. And if he turns from the beautiful and seeks that which is unattractive and degrading then he dishonors his soul's own heritage of glory and power. If he thinks more of material systems than he does of the things of his soul he will go beyond death and find nothing to satisfy him.

"We are to have an election next Tuesday. Now don't become uneasy because I am going to touch on politics. Anything which you call politics and which has an ethical side this I will handle. What is the work required? Too many men have become so the slaves of system that they never look at the man. Suppose the exposition managers had placed a man in charge of the art gallery because he had worked faithfully for them as a chimney sweep, or had assigned to the government exhibit a man who had done good work digging the lagoons and they thought he should be rewarded. Did you hear any talk of that kind? No. They looked for men with gentleness with the work, and the work required. No city or state will ever be great and good until its affairs have been given into the hands of men who have proved themselves honest and then capable."

IS THE GOSPEL OF GOSPELS.

Rev. Wright Characterizes John's Writings of Greatest Importance.

Rev. J. M. Wright of Anderson, Ind., spoke at the Castell Street Presbyterian church Sunday. In the morning he confined his remarks to "Some of the Characteristics of the Writings of John." The chief teaching of John, he said, "is that the work is done and over again he besought men to love their neighbors, their friends and their enemies. The hardest thing for any man in the world to do is to love his enemies; those who have wronged you after you have always done for them only those things that were good; those who have spoken ill of you when you were trying your best to do your duty. In order to love them, to pray for them and treat them kindly John teaches that you must eradicate all hate from your heart and have there only the love of Christ. John uses the word love so often that his writings stir men and women and children to a deeper love for God and the dearer to give themselves wholly to Christ. The two that themes of John are righteousness and love. You cannot maintain the right attitude toward God unless your heart is righteous. In order to do right in this life one must have a heart that is right. You cannot be right in God unless you are a disciple of the Lord Jesus Christ.

ESSENCE OF GENUINE RELIGION.

Rev. Luther Kukus Shows the Value of Christian Conversation.

At Grace Lutheran church Rev. Luther M. Kukus preached an edifying sermon Sunday morning from the text: "Then they that get the word shall speak to one another." Malachi III, 16. In part he said: "It was a time of spiritual decline and these words represent the habitual conduct of the pious remnant. As such it is an example to this most brilliant century, when there is so much foam-covered gossip flooding all conversation. "Christian conversation strengthens the godly against the attacks of the ungodly. To Christ's followers few things are more inspiring and comforting than the sacred fellowship of speech and spirit. The proud speaking of the ungodly drew out the piety of the faithful. How we can talk! How we can debate! The Spirit seems to have preserved this book for our rebuke and imitation, and apostolic disapproval rests on 'foolish talking.' These words have little comfort for gossip-mongering Christians.

REV. E. L. PORTER AND HIS WORK.

Missionary Talks to Audience at Central United Presbyterian.

Rev. E. L. Porter, who has for several years been a missionary in India, stationed at Guljanwa, Punjab, preached to a large audience Sunday morning at Central United Presbyterian church. Rev. Porter is on a furlough from India and will remain in the United States about a year. He leaves Omaha today for St. Louis, where he will appear in some of the most prominent churches of his denomination. He is a native of Pennsylvania and was sent to India by a Pittsburg church. His missionary work consists chiefly in superintending a denominational school in which Christianized natives are engaged as teachers. Nine hundred boys and 400 girls attend this school and it is one of the most important institutions of the kind in the world.

A tinge of romance has entered into the life of Rev. Porter, for when he went to India he was married. Now, upon his first visit to the United States since he sailed away, he brings back with him an accomplished bride. In far-away India, where he went to spread the gospel, he wooed and won a highly educated English woman, a member of an old and illustrious family. Mrs. Porter did not accompany her husband to Omaha. She is with friends in

CASTORIA For Infants and Children. The Kind You Have Always Bought. Bears the Signature of J. C. Watson.

ST. LOUIS. This is her first visit to the United States.

Rev. Porter says Rudyard Kipling, through his works, has made a great impression throughout India. His tales are eagerly sought and the name of Kipling is highly esteemed by the natives as well as the foreigners living there. Mark vi, 34 was the bible text taken by Rev. Porter. The general trend of his sermon related to the religions of India. He pointed out an introductory feature of the compassion of Jesus for lost souls. He entered into interesting details about the work of a missionary in India and told of the progress that is being made. Central church has not yet selected a pastor, but a call will probably be made within the near future. Several well-known ministers are in view. Rev. Porter's sermon was well received and members of the congregation vied with each other in extending to him Omaha hospitality during his brief stay here.

REV. BRODIE TALKS ON MORMONS.

Two Sermons at St. Mary's Avenue Congregational Church.

Rev. A. M. Brodie of Manistee, Mich., recognized as one of the most widely educated ministers in the United States, preached at St. Mary's Avenue Congregational church, morning and evening yesterday. A sermon on the night of Monday was interesting. It was at night that the larger crowd was attracted, owing to the importance of the topic. Rev. Brodie talked on Mormonism and the unseating of Congressman Roberts, an issue now prominent all over the Union. The morning sermon was a plain gospel service. Taking the second verse of the third chapter of John for his text, Rev. Brodie talked at length on the meaning of religion. He pointed out the mistakes made by Nicodemus and set forth that the true gospel is not a set of fixed doctrines, not a broader, more noble and higher life. "Money making, with its hurry and worry, is not the only thing in life, for there is a greater end to attain," the reverend speaker said.

Along this line Rev. Brodie talked in a highly interesting manner. He declared that man is not a tool placed on earth for worldly use alone, but a higher being. When, at the evening service, Rev. Brodie took up the subject of Mormonism and the congressman-elect who is said to be living in polygamy, he produced his remarks in a broad, more noble and higher life. "Money making, with its hurry and worry, is not the only thing in life, for there is a greater end to attain," the reverend speaker said.

DR. ALLEN ON PERSONAL PROFIT.

Interesting Discourse at the First Baptist Church Last Night.

Rev. C. B. Allen, D. D., preached to a crowded house last night at the First Baptist church, formerly Beth-Eden, Park avenue and Leavenworth street. The consolidation of the two churches has manifestly increased the attendance. "The Question of Personal Profit" was the topic. Dr. Allen took his text from Job 25, 3.

"This is one of the liveliest questions of the present time," the speaker said. "Everybody is asking about it; everybody is seeking it. It is the hope of profit that decides every man in his vocation in life. It is the goal toward which all men run with utmost speed. It has come to pass in most places men have become so selfish and avaricious that their only idea of profit is money. How much money there is in it. The question is and if there is no money in it, then there is no profit. But all souls are not so avaricious. There are tens of thousands who will ask, 'What good will come of it?' And that question lifts a man high as heaven above his selfish, grasping brother."

ABOUT CROUP.

Some Reading that Will Prove Interesting to Young Mothers—How to Guard Against the Disease.

During his address Rev. Brodie of his travels in Utah and his study of the Mormons as they appeared to him. In conclusion, he urged the congregation to do their best to guard against the disease. The origin of croup is a common cold. Children who are subject to it take cold very easily and croup is almost sure to follow. The first symptom is hoarseness; this is soon followed by a peculiar cough, which is easily recognized and will never be forgotten by one who has heard it. The time to act is when the child first becomes hoarse. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy freely and all tendency to croup will soon disappear. Even after the croup has been developed it will prevent the attack. There is no danger in giving this remedy for it contains nothing injurious.

REV. YOUNDT AT ST. PAUL'S CHURCH.

Speaks on the Relation of Mortal to the Immortal.

The congregation of St. Paul's Episcopal church was favored yesterday morning by the presence in the city of Rev. Samuel J. Youndt of Galesburg, Ill. The little church was filled to greet its distinguished visitor and special music was prepared by the choir for the occasion. Following the sermon Rev. Youndt presided at the services of holy communion. The speaker talked on the commemoration of All Saints' day and our relation to life after death and the spirits of the departed. He said in part: "The great comfort of truth of life after death is believed by all nations and ever has been. It is the religion of even the savages and the red men. It is the fundamental article of the faith of mankind. But every one of us is imperfect at the time of death in body, spirit and mind, and the transition from mortal to immortal life does not take away our sins and make us whole. We are still to labor for perfection after death as we should before. The spirits of the departed need our prayers just as our friends who are absent. The law of continuity applies to our lives. We must

SPEAKS ON RELIGIOUS EXPANSION.

Rev. Ingram Preaches at Church He Organized Over Twenty Years Ago.

Rev. J. W. Ingram, who founded the First Christian church in this city and built the present edifice, preached to its congregation yesterday morning and evening, among those who heard him being many who had enjoyed his pastorate over twenty years ago. His evening theme was "Religious Expansion and the Growth of the Kingdom of God," and his thought and argument were that the prophecies of the conquest of the world by Christianity are sure to be fulfilled through the co-operation of the civil government, the schools, the churches and other institutions that make for the good of mankind. It is only the pessimist, whose point of view is limited, who imagines and believes that everything is going wrong. The optimist, whose vision reaches farther, sees the growth of the kingdom of God. "Whatever may be the justice of the existing order in the Philippines, God will make the wrath of man to praise Him and the remainder He will restrain. Through His might and power all the islands of the sea will eventually be dotted over with cities, schools and churches. All the blessings of mankind are secured through sacrifice and suffering. This conquest of the world is to be brought about by the co-operation of all the Christianizing influences. An old adage says that competition is the life of trade. It may be the life of one man, but it is the death of another. The speaker believed in co-operation. He believed that the day will come when the states of Nebraska will be united especially, religiously and politically through co-operation, when the trust will no longer be a menace to mankind. He spoke on this subject from the standpoint of Christianity and not from that of the politician. To him there was something grand in the thought of universal co-operation.

Rev. Ingram was for five years pastor of the First Christian church. He left Omaha in 1883, going first to Memphis, thence to Chicago, then to Denver and later to Los Angeles, Cal., which is his present home. He has been repeatedly called to accept again the pastorate of his old church here, but has never accepted. He is now traveling with his invalid wife and expects to return to Los Angeles in a few weeks. After the sermons, morning and evening, there was a joyful reunion, many of the older members of his congregation crowding around him to affectionately recall their acquaintance with him.

The Bitters invariably strengthens weak stomachs and torpid livers, and is one of the blessings of the age.

Fire at Fort Omaha.

The old officers' barracks at Fort Omaha caught fire in some unaccountable manner Sunday night and are now a mass of ruins. The alarm was turned in to the fire department, but the facilities were so poor for fighting fire in that vicinity that the rough pine buildings were almost totally destroyed before aid could be brought to bear. The loss was not great, as the structures were built of undressed timber and were old.

PLAN FOR A NEW HOSPITAL

Jewish People Desire to Rent Small Building and Provide Place to Care for Their Sick.

A meeting of the Jewish people of the city was held Sunday afternoon at Temple Israel on Harney street in the interests of the Omaha Jewish Hospital association. In this gathering was a coalescing of Polish, Hungarian, German and Bohemian Jews and the sects, reformers and orthodox. There was much enthusiasm manifest from the opening of the meeting and the discussion was at all times vigorous and full of interest. D. A. Simon, president of the new association, outlined his ideas for the work. He presented four propositions. The first was that the Jewish people rent one ward in one of the city hospitals, which should be known as the Jewish ward. The second was that the society raise funds and send the sick to the hospitals they might choose. The third was for the renting of a small building to operate a hospital in and the last was to form a nucleus sum of money with which a building should be erected in two years.

The matter was thoroughly discussed, the people all taking part in the argument and finally when the wheat had been threshed from the chaff it was found the majority favored the plan of renting a small building. Mrs. Albert Heller, Mrs. J. L. Brandeis and Mrs. J. Sonnenberg were appointed a committee to find suitable quarters.

The association has something like 250 members and an effort is being made to increase the number to about 500, which will make the hospital self-supporting from the start. Dr. Simon was highly gratified that all the Jews in the city were willing to work in harmony in the matter and the indications are that there is success ahead. During the meeting mention was made of the kindness of Manager W. W. Cole of the Trocadero, who allowed the association the proceeds of one performance, from which $150 was cleared. The next meeting will be at the call of the president, Dr. Simon.
