

FEUD IN PETER COOPER CLUB

Anti-Fusion Faction Narrowly Escapes Summary Expulsion.

PRINCIPLE WITHOUT PROFIT IS BELOW PAR

Members Who Refuse to Stray from the Original Faith Receive Rough Treatment at the Hands of Their Fellows.

One of the most bitter internecine wars ever waged within any political organization in Omaha was fought between contending factions of the Peter Cooper club at a regular meeting held Tuesday night.

Acrimonious debate and sensational personalities occupied the time for several hours. The representatives of fusion sought to force the expulsion of the middle-of-the-rovers without delay, and the believers in populism in its simon-pure, unadulterated state, realizing that they were outnumbered, would not yield and summarily threw out, pleaded for time. They asked that the final vote on their expulsion be deferred for one week, until they should have opportunity to line up their forces and be equally as well prepared for a show of strength as their opponents.

Others Plead for Time. E. F. Morearty, treasurer; L. V. Guye, secretary; M. Maguire, J. C. Tierney, N. H. Church and others insisted that the Peter Cooper club was organized as a populist institution and labored earnestly for a postponement of action in the matter, clinging to the hope that within a week's time enough strength could be mustered to sustain them in their allegiance to the middle-of-the-road idea and continue the club as a populist organization, disinclined to countenance fusion.

After several hours of bitter debate and fierce wrangling sheer exhaustion on the part of the fusion wing of the club caused it to weaken in determination to force the issue and submit to a postponement of final action. John Tierney's motion to lay the question over for one week was passed by a vote of 16 to 8.

Prior to the formal opening of the meeting a strained relation on the part of the members was plainly apparent and the subsequent wading of knives sharpened to the keenest edge was anticipated. President John O. Yelzer knew that something was going to happen when he called the meeting to order and jocularly stated that insurance had been taken out on the furniture and windows of the club rooms for protection from any ruin which might be wrought. At the request of Victor Wilson the constitution and by-laws were read and the reading of that section of the by-laws providing for the expulsion of members for any disloyal political action at the discretion of a majority of members present at any meeting was eagerly listened to.

Immediately after the reading of the by-laws the gavel was thrown down by Mr. Wilson. He said: "It is very evident that the feelings and relations which have hitherto been sustained so successfully are severely strained as a result of the actions of the last few days. We are now compelled to take a new line of action in this club. We of the two factions have very little more friendly feeling for each other politically than have the members of the republican and democratic parties. It is idle for us to discuss the merits of the question. We are all partisan to an intense degree. But it is manifest that we can no longer dwell in unity."

Populists in Name Only. "That we are members of a populist club is evident from the name, but not from the actions of certain of its members during the past few days. It is evident to everyone of us, however, that we can no longer work harmoniously together, that a feeling of unity is entirely foreign to the present conditions. In pursuance with that provision of the by-laws providing for the expulsion of members, I move that all members of this club who are present this evening who opposed the regularly elected delegates seated in the state convention from Douglas county and who took part in the 'rump' convention in Lincoln, be dropped from the rolls of the Peter Cooper club."

This motion was seconded by Elmer Thomas, who, together with John Tierney, E. F. Morearty and Mr. Wilson demonstrated in recognition from the chair. Wilson was again given the floor as the mover of the motion and reviewed the actions of the past few days, calling attention to the split in the party at the Douglas county convention held last Saturday when the so-called bolters held a "rump" convention and sent a delegation to the state convention at Lincoln. This delegation, he stated, upon being turned down by the credentials committee of the state convention held a "rump" state convention and elected delegates to attend the middle-of-the-road national convention to be held in Cincinnati. By so doing he declared them bolters of the Sioux Falls national convention and of Bryan and Caldwell, who were endorsed as the candidates respectively for president and vice president.

"In 1900," he said, "there will be but two parties—the republican and the democratic-populist-silver republican. They who are not for us are against us. This Cincinnati convention, by placing another ticket in the field, ostensibly a middle-of-the-road populist ticket, will be assisting our common political enemy."

Defense of Anti-Fusionists. E. F. Morearty acted as the spokesman of the members whose expulsion was attempted. He said: "When this club was organized it required a great deal of effort on the part of several parties within my sight and within hearing of my voice tonight. Mr. McGuire and others of the faithful early members went through the slush and snow many times to seek the support and influence of the later members for the welfare of the club. And now they ask that I be expelled. And not only me, but Mr. McGuire, Mr. Guye and twenty-five or thirty others whom I can name who have ever known faithfully by the club. They seek to dictate that we vote for Bryan and fusion. You can't advocate anything but populist doctrine in this club. Did the convention yesterday endorse the Chicago platform? Did it endorse Bryan and fusion? So doing endorsed the Chicago platform. Nebraska will be represented at the Cincinnati convention by the delegation we selected and I will be among those in attendance. If Mr. Bryan secures the nomination of that convention I am for him. I am for the nominee, whether it be Bryan or some one else. It has been said here tonight that Bryan expounded the doctrines of populism at the convention in Lincoln yesterday. Understand me, gentlemen, the doctrines of the populist party were expounded long before Mr. Bryan came on the stage of action."

"We have asked Mr. Bryan in the past to stand on our platform. But he has always refused, stating that he couldn't get the votes of the southern democrats if it were known that he was a populist. Why does he say that he is a populist here and down south repudiate the populists and assent to the Chicago platform? We are populists in Nebraska. We are the banner populist state in the union. This is the banner populist club in the United States."

John C. Tierney was next accorded a hearing and pursued argument along the same lines as Mr. Morearty. He said: "I would like to have you closely read the constitution and by-laws of this club and see if you can exonerate therefrom any statement that this club is supposed to support. It has now come to a repetition of Jonah and the whale. Fusion is the Jonah and the democratic party is the whale."

Louis V. Guye dispassionately insisted that final action on expulsion should be deferred until a week had passed in order to give both sides an equal showing, and at length the motion that such a postponement be taken was carried. The entire question will likely be threshed over at Tuesday night and a stormy time is in prospect.

NEW BANKING LAW POPULAR Many Small State Banks Expect to Purchase Bonds and Reorganize.

State Bank Examiner C. F. McGrew of Lincoln is at the Iler Grand. Discussing the operation of the new national banking law, he said: "So far as I have been able to learn, none of the banks of the state propose increasing their capital stocks beyond $25,000. But many whose capital stock is that amount or less will be converted into national banks. Under the new law a bank with a capital stock of $25,000 can purchase bonds to that amount. They can issue circulation to the extent of the bonds purchased, that is, $25,000, and the capital stock can be put up in the form of state bonds in Nebraska that will reorganize as national banks under the new law. I have already had ten or twelve applications. The law fills a long and sore need there has long been among bankers for authority to organize banks with $25,000 capital."

STREET PARADE EACH DAY Managers of Ak-Sar-Ben Add One More Feature to the Fall-Festival Program.

The managers of Ak-Sar-Ben met in the Omaha club rooms Tuesday night to discuss the street parade. But little actual headway was made. They decided to adhere to the original idea of a grand Ak-Sar-Ben parade on the night of September 27, and of a ball the following night, but as to the program for the remainder of the week merely an outline has been determined upon. The idea of giving a small parade of some burlesque character each day during the week met with approval. The suggestion to arrange for the holding of conventions in the city during the six days of festivity was also well received. The street parade will be eliminated.

Several handsome designs for posters have been submitted and others are expected within the next ten days. The posters will be ready for distribution by June 1.

LOCAL BREVITIES. August Larson has been granted a permit to erect a $1,200 dwelling on lot 4, block 8, Bemis Park.

They stole the screen from the rear window of the United States restaurant, 150 Dodge street, and stole a gold Masonic ring, one away and 12 pounds of butter and one pocket dictionary.

Police Sergeant Michael Whalen has been in low spirits for several days because the custody of a police judge, who was taken from his sister in the Emerald hill case, had not been returned to him.

The records of State Deputy Labor Commissioner Kent show that sixty-one fire escapes from the year from March 1, 1899, to March 1, 1900, fifteen additional permits have been issued for the erection of fire escapes, of which four have been completed but not approved, because they do not comply with the state law. The city authorities have refused to accept them.

Charles Galin, a negro police writer, attempted to shoot Elmer Wood, white man, at Twelfth and Douglas streets, Tuesday afternoon, but the cartridge in his revolver failed to explode. The assault was witnessed by Sergeant Hudson and Patrolman Bennett, who ran up to Galin, seized him and disarmed him. John Wood, another negro, and Ben Whitten, white, also participated in the quarrel that narrowly missed proving a tragedy. The four men were arrested and lodged in the city jail.

Plans for the new annex of the government building were received by the state yesterday. The plans contemplate the extension of the building to within forty-four feet of the Seventeenth street curb line, a driveway of about twelve feet and a grass plot of the same width intervening between the outer and inner twenty-foot sidewalk. The addition amounts to an extension of the present northern and eastern wings, and the extension of the one-story work room of the Postoffice department. The amount appropriated for the addition is $60,000.

BODY OF ADAMS AT HOME

Railroad Man Killed in Cincinnati Will Be Buried in Omaha.

HIS MOTHER TAKES CHARGE OF CORPSE

Decaned Well Known in Omaha, Where He Received His Railroad Training—Relatives Think There May Be Developments.

Robert Duncan and wife arrived in Omaha Tuesday night in charge of the remains of Charles Adams, the Union Pacific passenger agent who was shot and killed in Cincinnati last Thursday night, presumably by his wife. The deceased was the son of Mrs. Duncan. The remains were taken to the Duncan residence, 2228 Duane street. The interment will be at the Prospect Hill cemetery. The date of the funeral has not yet been determined.

Mr. Duncan and the dead man's mother give no credence to the stories of cruelty charged against Adams and which, it is said by his wife, led to the shooting. Although Mrs. Adams has confessed to the shooting, there is a theory that her story may not have revealed the whole truth and that there has been an effort made to shield others more guilty. The friends of Adams believe there will be further developments. The verdict of the coroner's jury will not be returned until some time today, the investigation being very thorough. Mrs. Adams is still in custody.

According to the dispatches from Cincinnati at the time of the killing, Mrs. Adams declared that her married life had been very unpleasant for several years and that she had submitted to gross abuse from her husband. She said his conduct at last became so unbearable that she was provoked to take the tragic action. The friends, however, are inclined to doubt the stories of the dead man's cruelty and believe that he was not so black as he was painted. His parents testify that as far as known to them the young man possessed a kindly disposition.

The peculiar location of the bullet wound has not yet been adequately explained. Adams was shot three times from the rear, one bullet entering his head near the ear and the others his back.

Adams was 36 years old and was born and reared in Omaha. Early in life he entered railroad employment with the Union Pacific and prospered. He was highly regarded in Omaha by a large circle of friends. Last October he was offered a passenger agency for the Union Pacific with headquarters in Cincinnati, which he accepted. He was in Cincinnati over the place he held here at that time. His wife was Miss Jessie Turman of Omaha. Two children were born to them.

TAKEN BY WRONG MR. BOYD Iowa Farmer Loses $50 Because There is Another Man of His Name and Initials.

An old man, gray and weary-eyed, called at the police station and to the desk sergeant told a story that is as strange as the narrative he told in years. It had to do with the loss of his worldly goods. He had always been a hard-working man—frugal, temperate, honest, ambitious only to save enough to keep him from want in his declining years, and now $50, the last of his savings, were gone. A draft for that amount, sent to him by a bank in Iowa, had been taken from the postoffice by a man whose name and initials were the same as his.

He had found the man; the man had confessed taking the money, but had added: "I've spent it, and now what are you going to do about it?"

With great patience the desk sergeant listened to the story, which was new only in detail and the old man said that he could do nothing for him. He had two years ago J. C. Boyd sold his farm in Adams county, Iowa, put the money in the Prescott (Ia.) State Savings bank and came to Omaha to live. From time to time he drew upon the deposit until only $50 remained. Then there came a day when he wanted to make a final payment on a little home out on South Sixth street, so he sent for the remainder of his nest egg. It came, but not to his hands.

It so happens that there is in Omaha another J. C. Boyd, less scrupulous than the Iowa farmer, and it was to him that the postoffice clerk gave the letter containing the draft.

Tuesday the county attorney filed a complaint against J. C. Boyd II, charging him with larceny. But there is small satisfaction in this for the Iowa farmer.

MINERS BUSY AT DEADWOOD Large Sums Being Spent in Developing Immense Deposits of Low Grade Ore.

H. H. Muggley of Chicago was in the city yesterday. He is interested in mining property at Deadwood, S. D., and is expecting to reap a large fortune in golden nuggets in the near future. "Immense deposits of ore are being found at and in the vicinity of Deadwood," said he. "Those who suppose the Black Hills mines are non-productive are deluded. The fact is that the hills have only been lightly scratched as yet. The output of ore this year will be 50 per cent in excess of last year, and more capital is now going into mining in the hills than ever before. The yield is mostly gold, but it is a low grade ore that will not average more than $12 per ton. But as ore can be extracted by the cyanide process at $1.50 per ton, there is a big profit in mining it. The larger bodies of ore that have been discovered are within a few miles of Deadwood. Of course it is not a poor man's mining country like Dawson and Cape Nome, as considerable capital is required in prosecuting the development work. K. H. Patrick, who has been making his own extensive coal mines at Newcastle, Wyo., are spending $100,000 in developments at American City, about fifteen miles from Deadwood."

FINAL MEETING OF COLNCL After Referring All Matters Before it to the New Council It Adjourns Sine Die.

The old city council held its final meeting Tuesday night, which was called for the purpose of disposing of certain papers in the hands of the committees and the approval of the journal.

All matters in the hands of committees or before the council were placed on file to be presented to the new council. The clerk reported that the oath of office of W. J. Broatch, Harry C. Miller, John J. O'Connor and James H. Peedy, the city commissioners recently appointed by the governor, had been filed with him, and this matter was also referred to the new council for action. The council then adjourned sine die.

Of this amount he owed $120 to the Old Fellows' lodge of Barnard, $1,000 to the Harvill bank; $600 to wholesale houses, of which he had bought goods, and $300 to the Barnard bank. E. F. Charged with Violating Mail Laws. Before Commissioner Anderson Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Isabella Peedy, the wife of the late Peedy, was charged with violating mail laws in the sum of $60 for her appearance this afternoon for preliminary examination on a charge of mailing an obscene letter. The evidence against Mrs. Peedy is the result of a search in a fraternal society of which she is a member. Mrs. Wisenberg was chosen as a delegate from that society and because she refused to resign and used language not permitted by the government to pass through its mails. The letter contained insulations of Mrs. Foley, which caused investigation leading to her arrest.

SOUTH OMAHA NEWS.

During the early part of January The Bee printed in its South Omaha department figures showing the nationality of voters registered at the November election. Quite a number of subscribers of the paper clipped the item, but now that the information is published a great many desire that the statement be republished.

At the November election 3,588 voters registered in the four wards of the city and these votes are divided among the following nationalities which called upon her in the three precincts: Americans, 2,306; Irish, 38; Canadians, 31; Bohemians, 247; Swedes, 109; negroes, 96; Austrians, 84; Canadians, 73; Danes, 66; English and Welsh, 51; Russians, 28; Scotch, 25; Norwegians, 23; Polish, 19; Swiss, 15; French, Hollanders, Belgians, Italians, Australians and Asiatics, 14; total, 3,588.

There are 1,145 American voters in the First ward, 517 in the Second ward, 441 in the Third ward and 193 in the Fourth ward. Of Irish voters ninety-four reside in the First ward, ninety in the Second, 135 in the Third and sixty-five in the Fourth. The Germans come next with ninety-three in the First ward, eighty in the Second ward, 102 in the Third ward and forty-three in the Fourth. Twenty Bohemians are registered in the First ward, 214 in the Second ward, eight in the Third and five in the Fourth. The majority of the Swedes are located in the First ward, fifty-three living there, while forty-six are in the Second, three in the Third and seven in the Fourth. Most of the colored voters are residents of the Second ward, as forty-one are registered in the three precincts. Twenty-seven are in the First ward, twenty-eight in the Third and none in the Fourth ward. The other nationalities are scattered about equally between the four wards.

After the fall registration in 1894 The Bee had a canvass of the registration books made, with these results: Americans, 703; Germans, 477; Irish, 451; Bohemians, 324; Scandinavians and Danes, 285; Scotch and English, 116; Austrians, 80; Canadians, 72; Polish, French, Swiss and Italian, 36; Belgians, 21; total, 2,536.

An increase in the registered vote of 1,222 is shown by comparing the total registration of 1896 with that of 1899.

By comparing nationalities, an increase of 1,513 Americans is shown, while the German vote has decreased and the registration of Irish voters decreased sixty-seven in 1899, as compared with 1896, and the Bohemian vote 77.

Those who are experienced in the ways of the political world assert that very few changes have been made since the registration last fall, so that the figures of nationalities given are to be relied upon at this time. There is a constant movement of packing house men who are not married between Chicago, Kansas City and South Omaha, but the change in nationalities is not considered to be of much importance.

Changes in Democratic Ticket. After a hard struggle on the part of the democratic leaders to secure a vote-getter to retire from the ticket, and the democratic city central committee has placed the name of Peter Elasser on for city treasurer in the place of Mr. Beck. Many of the Germans of the city called upon Mr. Beck and informed him during the Bryan campaign that they would support him if he would resign. Considerable pressure was brought to bear and Mr. Beck finally consented. Brennan, as the head of the ticket, is well pleased with the change, as he has an idea that Elasser is a campaigner and a vote-getter.

Mr. Elasser is a campaigner and a vote-getter. He is out trying to put the deal through. He wants to see the central committee name Ensor in place of Brennan. Ensor is a man who is not to be trifled with. He will accept or not, but judging from the fact that Hughes is pushing the deal it is inferred that the movement favors Ensor. Brennan is reported to be standing fast to the nomination and will not withdraw. He thinks he can be elected, and with this idea in view has published a platform, promising all kinds of things to the people.

I had frequently been urged to try CUTICURA REMEDY, but I had no faith in them. My wife finally prevailed upon me to try them. Presto! What a change! I am now cured, and it is a permanent cure. I feel like kicking some doctor or myself for suffering three years when I could have used CUTICURA REMEDY.

La Grippe — An International Scourge

Every European and American city is appalled by the great swelling of its death rate by La Grippe's ravages. From the usual 1 per thousand in London, La Grippe has run it up to 42 per thousand. One-third of the entire population of Rome is down with this dread disease, one-fifth of all France, and one-fourth of the population of the United States. In this country are badly crippled because of the great prevalence of this influenza among their employees and the N. Y. Journal states that over 300 of its force are absent on La Grippe's account.

The air teems with myriads of terrible virulent La Grippe germs. "Take care!" that chilly, then feverish, terrible—sore lungs—hard cough—tall headache—pain across chest or sore, "pounded feeling all over" warns you of La Grippe's insidious approach.

Dr. Kay's Lung Balm
