

THAT RAILROAD TO THE GULF

Articles of Incorporation Are Formally Placed on File.

LINE TO RUN SOUTH FROM NEBRASKA

Bryan's Brother Denies that the Boy Orator Contemplates Changing His Residence from Nebraska to Texas—Lincoln News.

LINCOLN, March 26.—(Special.)—Articles of incorporation of the proposed Nebraska & Gulf railroad were recorded in the secretary of state's office this morning. The company is capitalized for $100,000 and the principal incorporators are named in the articles as: J. S. Freeman, R. A. Batty, J. D. Mines, J. B. Koefie, C. W. Stewart, C. J. Rundell, J. B. Seesma, H. S. Duncan and C. H. Hutson. This company proposes to construct a railroad from a point near the town of Running Water, in Knox county, Nebraska, south through the states of Kansas, Oklahoma, Indian territory and Texas to Galveston or some other gulf port town. The building of a north and south railroad of this kind has been agitated in Nebraska for several years and twice Mr. Rundell has asked the state legislature to appoint a railroad commission, with himself as chairman, to take the matter in hand and report on the status in the project. The plan of operation is a unique one, and those who are interested in the company look very hopefully towards the ultimate success of the scheme. The promoters of the enterprise will ask each county, precinct or township along the road to contribute the right-of-way and to vote bonds for an amount sufficient to cover the expenses of construction in that particular locality. In this way it is hoped to construct the line with very little expense further than that which will be borne by each county or precinct through which the road passes. It is asserted that Polk, Hamilton and Adams counties have agreed to submit the question of voting bonds for the road to the people at the next election.

Bryan to Stay in Nebraska.

The announcement in The Bee that there was good ground for the belief that W. J. Bryan is quietly making arrangements to move to Texas, in the event of his defeat for president, has occasioned considerable comment in this city. It is a well-known fact that Bryan is not as popular in Lincoln as in other communities and it would not surprise many citizens if he should forsake Nebraska for good, at least so far as his residence is concerned. However, those who are intimate with Bryan assert that he has no thought of leaving the city, and his brother, Charles W. Bryan, today took occasion to deny the report.

"It is true that Mr. Bryan's children are now in Texas, but they will return with their parents the latter part of April," said Charles W. Bryan today. "Mr. Bryan has no intention of leaving Nebraska."

Upon his return to Lincoln after his northwestern tour Mr. Bryan will take a rest of two weeks, preparatory to making another swing around the circuit before the national convention in Kansas City. It is not known whether he will put in his time in the east or in some other section of the country, but it is asserted by those who are intimate with Bryan that he will make a short visit to several prominent New York democrats.

Bryan's Dates.

Following is a complete list of Bryan's dates, as so far arranged: Sacramento, Cal., March 28; Albany and Salem, Ore., March 29; Pendleton, Ore., and Walla Walla, Wash., March 30; North Yakima, Wash., March 31; Seattle, Wash., April 2; Tacoma, Wash., April 3; Portland, Ore., April 4; Roseburg, Ore., April 5; Fresno, Cal., April 6; San Diego, Cal., April 9; Los Angeles, Cal., April 10; Phoenix, Ariz., April 12; Albuquerque, N. M., April 13. Bryan will deliver an address in Austin, Tex., before returning to Nebraska. Friends of W. J. Bryan in this city are striving to shield him from the responsibility of the authorship of the platform adopted by the recent democratic convention. Reports have been sent out by democratic newspapers announcing that the platform was written by William H. Thompson of Grand Island and not by W. J. Bryan, but it is nevertheless well known in this city and by all who attended the democratic convention that the platform as adopted was the work of Bryan, and that Thompson had no connection with it whatever, further than that he was consulted on several of the planks. Thompson spent the evening before the convention in Bryan's room at the Lincoln hotel and until the following day no attempt was made to conceal the fact that the duty of writing the platform had been assigned to the latter.

Summer School.

An announcement for the University of Nebraska summer school session of 1900 has just been issued. This summer session offers work in eight distinct departments, namely: Botany, chemistry, English language and literature, German, Latin and philosophy, romance languages and American history. In nearly every case the head of the department will have charge of the work. This session is conducted primarily for the teachers, principals and superintendents of Nebraska and the west who desire to pursue certain studies under the guidance of specialists and extend their present knowledge in various branches by means of the facilities which the university affords. Credit is given for all the work done in the summer school. There are various university lectures open to those in attendance and the Lancaster county institute at the same time, affording an elementary training school. It is expected that several hundred teachers of the Transmississippi valley will take advantage of this summer session of the state university. Last year's students were registered for the work from several of the middle and western states.

Prof. Richards of the mechanical engineering department of the State university has been gathering some interesting statistics concerning the students who have taken the two years' course in mechanics. The object of the investigation is to determine just how far the course has been a benefit to those who have completed the whole course, or even a part of it. The STATISTICS OBTAINED SHOW THAT 75 PER CENT OF THE MEN ARE NOW FOLLOWING PROFESSIONS STUDIED IN THE UNIVERSITY, AND THAT THEIR SALARIES RANGE FROM $13.12 PER MONTH TO $10,000 PER YEAR.

The balance of the graduates of this department assert that, although their work is of another kind, the time spent in that course has been of great benefit to them.

Cement from Nebraska Rocks.

A series of very interesting experiments is being carried on by Dr. W. H. H. Moore of the department of geology of the university, the object being to ascertain whether a commercial cement can be manufactured from Nebraska rocks. The experiments include the making of cement from the lime rocks that are found in the southwestern part of the state and the comparison of the results with those of the cement made from commercial use. Flattering results have been obtained by the investigations in the laboratory. A cement has been made from native rock that compares favorably with any cement now on the market. The question remains to be solved whether this product can be manufactured profitably in large quantities. A careful estimate of the total enrollment of students of the State university up to the present time indicates that the number is at least 2,655, with a prospect of passing considerably beyond 2,100 for the year. After carefully considering the question of continuing the sugar beet experiments the authorities of the State university have decided that since the sugar beet industry in this state is no longer in the experimental stage it is no longer necessary to carry on the sugar beet experiments in which the experiment station has been engaged for the past ten years. This action was taken by the university authorities because of other more important matters that are awaiting the consideration of the experiment station attaches.

State House Notes.

The Elmwood Creamery company of Elmwood, capitalized for $2,000, filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state today. The incorporators are C. D. Clapp, W. S. Waters, Charles Rivett, Louis M. Roettger and L. F. Langhans.

The Farmers' School of Magnetic Healing, located at Beatrice, also filed articles of incorporation. The stock of the concern is $500 and the incorporators are Henry H. Klime, Emma L. Klime and Alice B. Pawkes.

The Bankers' Investment company of York incorporated with a capital stock of $25,000. The incorporators are N. V. Harlan, Joseph Boyer and F. J. Clark.

Citizens of Arapahoe, a village in Furnas county, have filed a protest with the secretary of the State Board of Transportation against the reported attempt to erase the name of that town from the state map. It is likely that the rate cases set for hearing before the State Board of Transportation on March 29 will be continued one day, as the railroads interested have a case in the federal court in Omaha that will require the attention of their attorneys.

BEARD THE LION IN ITS DEN

Norfolk Business Men Have a Talk with Secretaries of Transportation Board.

NORFOLK, Neb., March 26.—To the Editor of The Bee: It is related that the Norfolk Business Men's association has become exceedingly weary of the dilly-dally methods pursued by the reform secretaries of the reform State Board of Transportation, and a few of them entered the Norfolk city hall and bearded the lion in his den. They would go to Lincoln and compel them to give them lower freight rates or know the reason why. They accordingly went to Lincoln and stationed themselves at the several exits from the capitol building near the midday hour, March 25, or midday, March 26, of the great men who are secretaries to the State Board of Transportation to themselves forth from their sanctum sanctorum, where they meditate in solitude and silence. They were met at the south exit by Charles H. Johnson, secretary of the Norfolk board of trade, and a few of them were reduced to a state of confusion by his long speech, saying that he had long sought an opportunity to meet them on their native heath, that he had promised if they were invited to come to Norfolk to make a grandstand play and manufacture campaign thunder for the fusion forces, but that the Norfolk board of trade had decided that they would be granted relief from the unjust discriminations in railroad rates under which they were groaning. He was told that that was neither the time nor place to demand a reduction of rates; he would wait until the election was over and then, if the Norfolk vote had been properly delivered, his case would be given consideration. "Talk not to me of time or place," said Johnson. "Now is the time and this is the place; none other will satisfy. Behold, convulsions have been had and election draws nigh on space and we have not yet received that which we have long sought." Becoming weary of his importunities the overworked secretaries turned and fled to the west exit, where they were met by Chester A. Fuller, secretary of the aforesaid association, who said: "Most of our members are patiently waiting for some action to be taken by your honorable body, some are exceedingly anxious and a few of us have determined to wait no longer. I therefore demand of you a reduction of freight rates for Norfolk."

"Oh, you Norfolk fellows make us tired," said one of the secretaries.

"We'll cause you to be re-tired," said Fuller. "All the exits from the capitol are securely guarded and escape is impossible. I, therefore, a second time demand of you a reduction of freight rates for Norfolk or there'll be blood on the moon."

Fuller was informed that his demands were vain; that the secretaries had always refused and should always refuse when accented in so boisterous a manner; that they would not give the rates demanded, neither could they be given without the consent of the Union Pacific and Fremont, Elkhorn & Missouri Valley, and the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railways—these three agreeing. In order to escape further colloquy with Fuller the secretaries then passed on to the east exit, where they were met by Charles D. Jenkins, who said: "I have heard your cavilling with Johnson and Fuller; from them you have escaped, but from me never. My name is Jenkins; what I refuse that I perform. I hold in my vest pocket the names of every merchant in this county; I propose to give relief from these unjust discriminations and you do it at your peril."

Finding themselves thus beleaguered at every turn the poor secretaries turned and fled back into their den and telephoned for the police to clear the capitol building of suspicious characters. 1900.

STURTEVANT, Neb., March 26.—(Special.)—Bloodhounds were used Saturday at Sturtevant, Neb., in an attempt to trace the parties who blew up the safe and robbed it of $4,000 Friday morning at an early hour. The hounds were a failure. They traced down a party, but the hunters who submitted to search for an animal which was being sought for, but as there was no evidence to be found on them they were not arrested. FIGGS HAVE A REVELATION

Long-Distance Communication from Heaven Costs Religious Leaders $60

CASE AGAINST JOHN WOODS IS DROPPED

Large Crowd in Papillion Court Room Meets with Disappointment for Which Figgs Claims Heaven is Responsible.

PAPILLION, Neb., March 26.—(Special Telegram.)—Members of the Figgs family from Gretna had a special revelation from heaven this morning for which they paid exactly $60—the amount of the costs in their case against John H. Woods, which was to have been tried here this morning.

Woods was charged with complicity in the Figgs tar and feather case of Wednesday night. He was arraigned last Saturday at Papillion and released on his own recognizance to appear this morning. He would have had no trouble in establishing an alibi, as he had several witnesses who could testify to having seen him in Fremont on Wednesday evening at 10 o'clock. The Figgs drove to this place from Gretna in a wagon this morning. A large crowd had gathered in the court room in anticipation of a sensational trial and they were much disappointed at the announcement of Figgs that he would not prosecute.

"While driving over here," explained the religious leader, "my wife became full of the Holy Ghost and had a special revelation from heaven. It told her that we should not continue this case against Woods and that is the reason I refuse to prosecute."

The court dismissed the case and $60 costs were charged up to the prosecution. Woods has decided that he will do nothing against the Figgs for bringing charges and the whole matter will be dropped.

FRANKLIN SHOOTING AFFRAY

Jerry Perrigo Fires Two Shots into Charles Hanson and Makes Good His Escape.

FRANKLIN, Neb., March 26.—(Special Telegram.)—Charles Hanson was shot here tonight about 8 o'clock on the main street in front of the bank building by Jerry Perrigo. One ball went through his side and another through his hand. Four shots were fired. Hanson did not have a gun. Perrigo is a single man about 25 years old and lives at Long Island, Kan. Perrigo is 30 years old, has a wife, who lives at Woodruff, Kan. Both men were working for the Burlington & Missouri railroad on the extra gang at this place. It seems the trouble is of an old standing, they only having a few words tonight. Dr. Byrly dressed the wounds and reports they are only flesh wounds and will not prove serious. Perrigo escaped, going west.

No Plague in San Francisco.

Mayor Moore received a telegram Monday night from San Francisco, California, in regard to the fact that some eastern papers were still referring to a sporadic case of bubonic plague in that city. The mayor says the Board of Health reported such a case on March 22, twenty days previous, but since then Chinatown has been thoroughly inspected and disinfected and no other cases have appeared. This district is now visited as freely as usual. On account of the vigilance and efficiency of the city health department there is no future danger. Mayor Phelan asks that publicity be given to this statement as an act of justice to San Francisco.

Accused for Disturbing Survey Station.

DODDRA, Neb., March 26.—(Special.)—D. S. Watson was arrested Saturday on complaint of County Surveyor Grove for interfering with his surveys across land in dispute among the settlers of Raymond township west of here. Watson, an eighth grad job in the government survey, had already caused much ill feeling and suits in court. Watson was the spokesman for a concentrated effort on the part of a large number of aggrieved farmers through whose land the county surveyor was making road surveys in compliance with orders from the Board of Supervisors. He will have his hearing next Thursday.

Body Found in River.

HARTINGTON, Neb., March 26.—(Special Telegram.)—A dead body was found in the Missouri river at St. Helena Saturday. Coroner Reiffert held an inquest Sunday. The coroner immediately went to investigate, but the results of the inquest are not known.

Motion for New Trial Overruled.

FREMONT, Neb., March 26.—(Special.)—Judge Hollenbeck this morning overruled the motion for a new trial in the case of Anna Rasmussen against B. Hacker, who was found by the jury to be the father of defendant's illegitimate child, and made a decree compelling him to give bonds to pay the costs and the sum of $800 and half the costs in thirty days, and the balance in quarterly installments of $20 each. The defendant is out on bail and will probably take an appeal to the supreme court.
