

OMAHA TAKES AN OUTING

Spends Sunday in the Parks and on the Driveways.

DOESN'T KNOW TOWN IS AGAIN OPEN

Secretly Convinced that Mayor's Closing Order Has Been Revoked. The City's Population Studies Nature in Her Various Moods.

Yesterday was a wide-open Sunday in Omaha, but the fact was not borne home to the people to any great extent, as they were too busy driving and taking car rides to realize that the day was any different from the Sunday preceding. The bright sunshine and the comfortably low temperature—just low enough to give a buoyant turgor to the air and make one conscious of its ozone—lured them out of the city streets and as far into the country as they could get. By 9 o'clock everything in the shape of a livery rig had been engaged and by noon any kind of an old skate of a saddle horse was at a premium. The street car company made a concession to the beautiful weather by putting on all the open cars in its barns. Private equipages were out in force, bicycles that had long lain unused in lumber rooms were brought into the open, and Omaha's quota of automobiles was skimming the asphalt under full heads of steam.

Those who were willing to avail themselves of none of these means of conveyance—an inconsiderable part of the city's population—spent rather a dull day in town, notwithstanding the fact that the sidewalks were open. So many interesting persons had left that it was lonesome on the streets. There were no scenes of rowdiness, and the police report no arrests for drunkenness.

Parks Are Populous. It was the first good party Sunday of the season—or of the century, for that matter—and both Riverview and Hanscom were populous with merry throngs. Not only was the weather favorable, but the parks themselves, perhaps, were never more beautiful than they were yesterday. The grass and foliage had grown so rapidly that the arborer with the lawnmower and the pruning hook had lost control of them, so these public breathing spots stood out in all their virgin freshness, as nature made them. Not was there evidence of the profane presence of picnic parties, all greasy wrapping papers that had contained luncheons, all unsightly scraps of food, had been long since assimilated, and in their place was a green carpet with an ankle-deep nap and a fragrant odor. Dame Nature is an excellent housekeeper.

HOLDREGE IS ENTHUSIASTIC

Burlington General Manager Says Western Prospects Are of the Best.

General Manager G. W. Holdrege is home from his trip over the lines of the B. & M. in company with President George B. Harris of the Burlington. The trip was for inspection. When seen yesterday afternoon, Mr. Holdrege said that he had no criticisms of the railroad situation, as he had heard nothing beyond what he has seen in the newspapers. "The prospects in the west are of the best," said Mr. Holdrege. "The range country looks fine and wheat is doing better in better condition than at present. The early predictions relative to this crop appear to be working out. On our Cody branch the work is progressing rapidly. We are laying track at the rate of a mile a day. There are now twenty-six miles out from Toluca. There is nothing new in regard to the Guernsey branch and nothing has been heard relative to the decision of the directors."

ORDER OF RAILWAY CONDUCTORS.

Delegates Pass Through Omaha En Route to St. Paul. The Order of Railway Conductors convenes in St. Paul tomorrow for its biennial session. The delegates from the various divisions of the west have been passing through the city and among them are seen faces of many of the men who have called Omaha their home in former days.

KEEPS UP ITS FAST PACE.

Union Pacific Mail Indulges in Another Rapid Run. The Union Pacific fast mail keeps up its proclivity for fast running. Last Saturday the 166 miles from Grand Island to the end of the line in Council Bluffs was run in 155 minutes. The run was heavier than a week ago, when the trip was made in 153 minutes, and two more stops were made. One little burst of speed was pretty good, however. That was for the sixty-two and a half miles between Grand Island and Columbus, a run of fifty-eight minutes, including a slowdown to twenty miles an hour over the Loop river bridge. The record for that run, made by two engineers, is fifty-four minutes, but when the slowdown is considered this last run was covering the miles at a good pace.

South Omaha News.

An adjourned meeting of the Board of Education will be held tonight for the transaction of regular business. At the meeting of the board held one week ago no business other than the reorganization was transacted. The meeting tonight will be the first business meeting held by the reorganized board. As previously announced, James H. Bulla will serve as president for another year, while James J. Ryan will take his second term at the secretary's desk.

While only routine business is on the slate for tonight it was whispered on the streets yesterday that there is a possibility of a superintendent of public instruction being chosen to succeed Dr. H. K. Wolfe. According to statements made by members of the board Dr. Wolfe, as far back as last December, notified the president of the board and the chairman of the teachers' committee that he would not be a candidate for re-election this year. Since this announcement was made Dr. Wolfe has changed his mind and he has been laboring hard to secure enough votes to retain his position for another term. This he has failed to do and in order to be let down easy he now asks that he be retained until August. This would keep him on the payroll through the vacation months and permit him to make such an assignment of teachers before he stepped down and out.

In speaking of this matter last evening a member of the board said: "We will have nothing of the sort. While there is no desire to discharge Dr. Wolfe, we will hold to his announcement made last winter and not consider him in the race at all." Rumor has it that a majority of the members of the board have agreed upon a successor to Dr. Wolfe and the new superintendent will take hold immediately upon the expiration of Dr. Wolfe's contract. The schools will close for the summer vacation on June 14 and an examination of teachers will be held immediately afterward. This examination will last for three days and the board is now casting about for suitable members of the examining board. It is possible that the examining board may be appointed tonight, but if not, surely at the next meeting.

The Hoctor house will be moved off the High school property today. The other grass and foliage has been cut and the removal of the house has been delayed by the bad weather and the condition of the roads. When the site is clear and the liquor licenses are paid in the board will proceed to take action on the removal of a portion of the High school building.

Special Council Meeting. It is expected that a call will be sent out today for a special council meeting, to be held tonight for the consideration of the street fair ordinance. While at the meeting a week ago an adjournment until tonight was taken, the mayor does not consider that the motion amounted to anything, as no roll was called on account of the order of the court restraining Clerk Shrigley from recognizing Councilmen Johnston and Vansant. Thus, under the rules, the next regular meeting will not be held until May 29. If there is a special meeting tonight, the street fair ordinance is introduced the chances are that there will be another meeting Tuesday night to pass the bill.

On account of Judge Estelle reserving his decision in the quo warranto proceedings brought to oust Councilmen Johnston and Vansant, the city officials did not know just where they stood yesterday, and plans for any future movements could not be made. Judge Estelle has announced that he will hand down an opinion at 2 o'clock this afternoon and the city officials will know just what to expect by tonight unless an appeal is taken to the supreme court.

Dr. Loechner Leaves.

Dr. William Henry Loechner, son of John Henry Loechner of the Board of Education, left yesterday afternoon for Germany, to be gone a year. Dr. Loechner will sail from New York City on the steamship Deutschland on Thursday and will land at Bremen. From Bremen he will go direct to Berlin to study for a year, taking a post-graduate course at one of the famous colleges. At the completion of his year's course Dr. Loechner will travel through Switzerland, France and England before returning to his home in South Omaha. A large delegation of friends accompanied Dr. Loechner to the train to wish him bon voyage and a safe return.

That Johnston Sale.

The announcement made in the Bee of yesterday that Ed Johnston had sold to eastern capitalists six blocks of land fronting on Syndicate park for something like $30,000 caused some little stir in real estate circles. The property is to be planted at once and will be placed on the market. This section of the city comprises some of the finest residence property in the Magic City and it is expected that those seeking permanent homes will be anxious to secure desirable lots.

Magie City Gossip.

Mrs. Charles Hill is home from a trip to the Springs. H. E. Armstrong has removed to Buffalo, Wyo. The spring roundups in Wyoming will commence in a few days. The Anti-Saloon league still talks about enforcing the Stoum law. Mr. C. C. Cheek leaves on Tuesday for a visit with friends in Illinois. James H. VanDusen is in Lincoln today looking after the Stoum law matter. Upchurch lodge No. 2, Degree of Honor, will give a dance on Tuesday evening. There will be a special sale of horses at the new stock yard at the stock yards on Wednesday.

Broken stone from the city rock pile is being placed in the holes in the pavement on Twenty-fourth street. The twelfth anniversary of the Epworth league celebrated in a fitting manner at the First Presbyterian church last evening. Claude L. Talbot, brand inspector at the yards for the state of Wyoming, left last night for Alliance, where he will attend a meeting of drainers.

The funeral of Dr. A. C. Gibson will be held at the family residence on North Twenty-third street at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Rev. Dr. R. L. Wheeler will officiate. The woman's auxiliary of the Young Men's Christian association will meet Tuesday at the house of Mrs. Westfield. Twenty-first and J streets, for the election of officers.

A. H. Noyes, general manager of the Hammond Packing company, spent several minutes of his time yesterday morning at Mr. Noyes makes his headquarters at Hammond, Ind. SALT TARS VIEW THE FLAG

Examining Engineer Casey and His Crew at Public Library.

THEY GET THEMSELVES INTO DEEP WATER

Denounce Young Women in Charge of City Hook Buoys Are Shocked by Sentencing Manners.

Examining Engineer C. H. Casey, Chief Master-at-Arms Charles Carlisle and Yeoman H. H. Ashby, all of the naval recruiting station, weighed anchor in Omaha Saturday night, having taken out clearance papers for the port of Minneapolis, but before leaving they celebrated the closing of the week's work by visiting the public library. They had heard that the silk flag and pennant from the old ship Omaha were there, and, being in a patriotic mood, they were anxious to see them. With a bad list to port the trio tacked several times and finally hoisted to in front of the librarian's desk. Everything was quiet in the stately, high-vaulted room. There were many other visitors, but all save the three salts had doffed their hats and were moving about noiselessly on tiptoe and conversing in hushed whispers, while from their niches in the walls the busts of statesmen and poets looked down in serene equanimity and the long shelves of tomes, ponderous and severe, exuded an atmosphere of straight-laced erudition. But the salts were impervious to the spirit of the surroundings. They wanted to see "them rags," and that without delay.

Casey in "Her Rags." The attendants were all busy when they entered. The salts waited several seconds, being careful to stand so their regalia of office could be seen, then Casey became impatient. He decided to hail one of the young women filling his lungs, he howled it as if into the teeth of a forty-knot gale: "Lass, ahoy!" The words crashed through the sacred precincts like an oath in a sepulchre. "Hey, there; lay dead, Casey! You ain't on no hurricane deck!" protested Ashby in a stage whisper.

A minute later there was a general inquiry throughout the building for the janitor, its only male attache, but as he was not to be found and as the librarian realized that in this emergency delay was dangerous, she took two young women, Misses Baumer and Malone, with her and escorted the tars downstairs to the room where the flags are kept.

Casey, with a theatrical flourish, took off his hat as the silken banner was unfurled upon the floor and bellowed in his rich, salt-water bass: "Now, if yees be Americans, 'trow yer hats on de flag, boys, an' yell, an' if yo ain't kneel down an' bow yer heads to her!"

"Gentlemen, gentlemen!" objected Miss Birtel. "Please speak more gently. You will disturb—"

Greatness of the Navy. "Now, look here, miss," ejaculated Casey, trying to become confidential. "You wouldn't expect no officer of the great United States navy to talk in a whisper when he's lookin' at O' Glory, would ye?"

In trying to establish closer relations with Miss Birtel Casey had accidentally stepped on the flag, and it came near causing a riot. His two companions jerked him away from the fabric and one of them is said to have aimed a blow at him, but it fell short.

At this juncture the reserve force of library attendants upstairs came to the rescue with the statement that it was time to close the lower room. The tars retired, shouting back to their conductors that if they wanted to join the navy now was the time.

A large delegation of friends accompanied Dr. Loechner to the train to wish him bon voyage and a safe return.

Mr. Peter Strausbaugh

We extend our congratulations to you as the new president of the Nebraska State Pharmaceutical Association. There is no question of doubt but what the association, in selecting you as their president, fully recognized your sterling qualities as a hard worker in the interest of the retail druggist, as you are a firm believer in "pure, fresh drugs" and full prices. Well do we remember how faithfully you worked during the time the drug trust was in existence and the cutters were slashing prices to smithereens. And well do we remember the hours you spent with you trying to solve a remedy to kill off the cutters, while you claimed to have a remedy, but could not get the backing of the pill-makers of Omaha. But now, Peter, as president of the association you have the power and get the credit of the city coming to you—and we know you have a remedy. If you will take our advice you will move from Vinton street to the center of business and open up a full price drug store and show these cutters that it's all "boosh" to run a cut price store and sell goods without profit. Should you decide to do this there is only one thing you'll be compelled to do—part your hair in the middle.

THREE ALARMS OF FIRE

No Serious Damage, but Much Excitement for the Hose Companies.

VETERAN RAILROAD MAN DIES

Richard Delaney, Old-Time Employee of Union Pacific, Dies at Boise City.

Three small fires called for the attention of the fire department Sunday afternoon, but did little damage. The first of these was at 1610 California street, a two-story dwelling occupied by Miss Annie McCole, the alarm of which came in at 12:46 o'clock. The fire was caused by sparks falling on the roof. Only a few shingles were burned. At 3:35 o'clock another fire started from the same cause and did about the same amount of damage at 351 California street, a dwelling occupied by Jacob P. Kirk. The burning of rubbish at 3220 Manderson street at 4:03 o'clock did no damage, but required attention because of the infringement on the law.

Shoe Hints. Medicine should be taken at regular intervals but advice may be taken at any time. Monday morning is a good time to listen to what the ad man says. Buying shoes and buying experience are entirely different. Many people run here and there, listen to all claims advertised by shoe stores who claim superiority in one way or the other, but they're not buying shoes, simply buying experience. If you have traded with us you are not one of these kind, but if you have not traded here, by and by you will be numbered among our regular customers, for you will discover that there is one store (there may be others, we hope so at least) where shoe buying is not an experiment. All shoes sold under this roof carry our guarantee with them. Our Women's Shoes at $2.50. They are good shoes, and in addition to the quality of the stock there is a finish to the shoes which shows a degree of shoemaking superior to what is usually put into shoes at the price, and then there are touches of style which count when it comes to a point of beauty. If you want a real good shoe that most stores get $3.50 for, try and see if we cannot please you, so that you can save a dollar of your shoe money. Nebraska Clothing Co. OMAHA.

HAYDEN'S

More Goods, More Particulars

The goods are coming in such quantities and the customers in such vast numbers that they are crowding us room. We can truthfully say we have never had such a business in this department, or such bargains. And we believe we are correct in saying that the Omaha people never had such an opportunity to buy ready to wear garments at such astonishingly low prices.

We will have 12 extrasales people to wait on you Monday in this department.

We will do our very best to get the goods out for you the day you buy them. It is a difficult matter for us to tell you what bargains we have in stock. You must see for yourself. The quality of the goods coming in now are even better than those sold on Friday and Saturday. We found a New York manufacturer overstocked; our buyer was quick to take advantage of it, and the prices had to be low and the styles and materials good to induce him to buy at this season of the year. There is no house in this western country whose buyer does not visit the eastern market frequently that can buy or sell goods cheap. The buyer that goes to the market, often with plenty of cash at his command and an outlet for large quantities, can buy goods at certain seasons of the year at less than half price—AND THAT IS JUST WHAT WE HAVE DONE.
