

SOCIETY TALKS OF THE BALL

Plans for Ak-Sar-Ben's Royal Party Are Overhauling Everything.

LAST WEEK WAS ONE OF SMALL AFFAIRS

Only Two Notable Gatherings Held, but the Calendar for This Week Promises Something More.

His Proposal.

Cecile I. Gardiner in Woman's Home Companion.

I love you, pretty maid," he said; "I should you say my days, I would not die as others have, I would you have turned away."

"I would not go and kill myself—A foolish thing to do. I give some other pretty maid the love I offered you."

She sat a while, all wrapt in thought, "What else was there to do?" She heaved a sigh, and softly said, "I guess I'll marry you."

MONDAY—The Young Women's Christian association reception from 8 until 11 o'clock in the association rooms.

TUESDAY—The Misses Pritchard entertain informally for Miss Florence Templeton.

WEDNESDAY—The wedding of Miss Carrie Munger, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Munger, and Mr. Ernest Jackson of Des Moines, ladies' day at the Country club; Mrs. Floyd Smith's luncheon.

FRIDAY—The Women's alliance of Unity church will give its first social of the winter at Metropolitan club.

SATURDAY—The Stronach and wedding and reception in the evening.

As carnival week approaches one hears on every side the usual chat and speculation regarding the king and queen and the maids of honor and the question as to whether certain of the fashionable will attend the ball this year or at least execute their old and terrible threat to withhold their presence and spoil everything.

Without doubt, there will be many of the fashionables absent this year, but there will be good reason for it, and no one would really expect the several brides and grooms to cut short their wedding trips to return for the ball, or the thousands out of town on an invalid leave to hurry back for this occasion, but it is safe to predict that in spite of the fact that a number of fashionables have expressed their intention of staying at home this year, they will be there as usual. Everybody has gotten used to this and rather expects it. The social parade will be a bit out of the ordinary, however, and as yet society is not committing itself regarding its instructions.

Surpassing everything else last week in the interest of the fashionable women, were the openings, and no wonder, for between the troupeaus and the Ak-Sar-Ben ball, not to speak of the necessities of the coming season, the ever-vexing question is more vexing than usual and before it the tea parties and luncheons and the affairs that ordinarily claim a generous share of their attention, have rather gone begging. Wednesday, ladies' day at the Country club, saw perhaps the only really notable gathering of the week, unless the party held at the home of Judge Doane's Friday, when a number of the older families who city were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Doane in honor of Miss Gilmore.

It is evident that society has lost none of its old time love for the Monday night vaudeville, and as the season progresses this diversion is attracting more and more of fashionable attention. This is a habit that society contracted a long time ago and after the inauguration of the Monday evening dinner at the Omaha club last winter, its popularity increased as a means of rounding out an evening until it finally became the regular rendezvous of the fashionables. And it became something more, too, the recognized indicator—not so much of what was as of what was not—and just so sure as an affair was off, if there was a change of heart or mind, the Monday night vaudeville was sure to afford the means of making it known.

The marriage of Miss Birdie M. Webb and Mr. Wado H. Ross was solemnized at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. L. C. Morton, of 1365 Binney street, Thursday evening, Rev. D. H. H. Galt officiating. About eighty guests witnessed the marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Foye of Kansas City are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Knox expect to leave the city early in October to make their home in St. Louis.

In compliment to her niece, Miss Myrtle Crane of Chicago, Mrs. E. H. Sprague will entertain at supper at the Country club this evening. The guest list includes: Miss Preston, Miss Janet Rogers, Miss Ella Cotton, Miss Brady, Miss Lucy Gore, Miss Ella Mae Brown, Miss May Hamilton, Miss Ada Kirkendall, Miss Margaret Wood, Miss Jeanne Wakefield, Miss Jeanne Orcutt, Miss Mildred Lomax, Mr. Jerome Magee, Mr. Louis Nash, Mr. Frank Haskell, Mr. Ben Cotton, Mr. Fred Nash, Mr. Fred Hamilton, Mr. Ben Burns, Mr. George Tritchett, Mr. Mosler Colpeter, Dr. Crumner, Mr. Stockton Hoeh, Mr. Frank Keogh, Mr. and Mrs. William Tracy Burns.

Bright's Disease and Diabetes News.

Office German Democrat.

San Francisco, September 26, 1903.

To the Editor The Omaha Bee:

Dear Sir—For many years an editor myself, I address you by request and as a simple duty. A great discovery has been made in this city. It is fraught with so much importance, and yet it is so hard to believe, that those who are personally cognizant should add the weight of their influence, be it great or small.

I not only know by contact with many of the beneficiaries, but was myself rescued from Bright's Disease by it. The cure has been found and the difficulty in believing it is costing many lives. It is astounding how far our prejudices carry us. But the great fact is here, and acceptance means recovery.

After my own unexpected release I wouldn't let my friends rest, and several took the treatment and recovered. One was Charles F. Wacker, the Sixth street merchant. He had Diabetes and thought he was going to die. He got well and passed for a $5,000 policy.

I say to you as a brother editor, that those of your friends who have Diabetes or Bright's Disease, and everyone knows of some, that they can recover. I will be glad, as one of many survivors out here, to give you further information. Yours, etc., CHAS. H. ENGELKE.

We sent for the Compound, and had them in stock. They are the first cures the world has ever seen for chronic Bright's Disease and Diabetes. We are sole agents. Free pamphlet—Sherman & McConnell Drug Co., corner 14th and Dodge streets, Omaha, Neb.

SOCIETY SOCIAL NOTES.

Society was as busy in Lincoln last week as a young housewife in "Jell" time. Not since Christmas made his fast run at the state fair have things taken such a spurt. There were so many parties and dinners and receptions and so much talk that Mr. Bryan's $1,000 team only attracted passing notice down town Wednesday afternoon, and then the only comment was that he had $1,000 to count for. Of course, the talk was all about Miss Ruth Bryan and Mr. H. W. Leavitt, the artist who painted a picture and won a bride. It was talk among the real swells the first of the week to mandamus the groom-to-be to compel him to post up his notice in conspicuous places like unto a mortgage sale, telling his pedigree and details of his catching on. This wasn't done, however, and right well it has been for everybody, because everybody has had a chance to speculate and wonder if he really wore horns, or if he came to Nebraska, Miss Bryan has spent most of the week at the fraternity house of the Delta Gamma for this has been rush week there as well as all over town. She and Mr. Leavitt have attended the matinee and the parties and have had a real good time, even if everybody was looking at them.

Another thing that society is glad over is the announcement that the Country club is to be kept open another month instead of closing October 1, as the directors intended. This has been the hope of many who pleasure this summer. Saturday evening is to occur the election of a new board of directors for the coming year and before the next season opens it is contemplated to make many improvements on the grounds.

The opening of the university has occasioned the advent into the town of a crowd of the finest girls that ever stopped off in any town and their coming has made quite a little ripple. They are being clocked off into cliques just as fast as they fall into a crowd, and even before they get their real bearings. With their little clubs and fraternities and such like they intend to have the real swaggar time this winter. Some of them are already telling what "real jolly" times they intend to have. One of these remarks that she expects to "put the ding bats to the ordinary mode of entertaining." "I feel so good to get back to this dear old Lincoln, Neb.," she said, "I feel like setting the block asson."

Whether for this or some other reason this sign appears about the city in the Waverly flats, "No rooms for rent." In days gone by this was a very popular location for girl students.

The annual conference between the real society students and the Iverymen as to whether it shall cost $1.00 to comply with carriages to and from dances has not yet been held because the occasion has not yet arisen. If the boys agree not to pay it, it is a ten to one shot that the girls will stand by them and walk, for these girls to respect the premium stores throughout the United States. Yesterday was opening day for their Omaha store, which they have recently established at 210 North 14th street. The event proved to be an interesting one to many people and thousands were there to inspect the beautiful line of premiums and listen to the music furnished by Kaufman's band.

Mr. H. E. Winslow, general manager for the company, is at present in charge here and states that he is well pleased with what they have accomplished. The energy which Mr. Winslow and his associates have shown since they arrived in Omaha certainly should entitle them to credit.

The premiums consist of everything used in the household and the display at the store is a magnificent one. The Bennett company is one of the largest of the stores which have arranged to give green trading stamps and a premium parlor has been located on their second floor, for which an opening will be held Monday. Everybody is invited to come in and inspect the premises.

Mr. Winslow states that the Sperry & Hutchinson company has a paid up capital of $1,000,000. He also says his company will redeem at the Omaha store all trading stamps issued by any company that has done business in Omaha. Mr. B. H. Kemper has been appointed local manager.
