Property Owners Make Rush to Beat Scavenger Law Sales.

EIGHTEEN THOUSAND PIECES ON LIST

Proceedings Begin at Court House Wednesday Morning and People May Redress as the Sale Progresses.

Wednesday begins the scavenger law sales of Douglas county real estate. At present about 18,000 pieces of property still remain in the list to go under the hammer for delinquent taxes.

The sale is to begin at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning in the scavenger law record room of the county court house. The lands will, it is now thought, be sold according to the order in which they were advertised.

First, the lands in the county outside of South Omaha and Omaha. The first taken up will be in the southeastern part of the county. The auctioneer will work up along the western boundary to the north limit, and then begin with the second tier at the south again.

UNIQUE APPEAL IS FILED

Union Pacific Attorneys Arraign Judge in Attempt to Beat a Damage Suit.

Judge Estelle of the district court is very severely arraigned in a motion for a new trial in the case of John T. Connolly against the Union Pacific Railway.

Messrs. Baldwin and Rich charge the usual technical errors in their motion for a new trial and go on to tell with bated typewriter of the extreme partiality of Judge Estelle which prevented them from getting a fair trial.

BARGAIN BABIES.

If babies were for sale the most inveterate bargain-hunting woman in the world would not look for a bargain baby. She would want the best baby that could be bought, regardless of price.

Every woman naturally craves a healthy, handsome child, and her craving can be gratified if she will but remember that the child's health is her own gift, and to give health she must have it.

whose babies have been weak and puny have nursed in strength their first strong child after using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is the best preparative for maternity, encouraging the appetite, quieting the nerves and inducing refreshing sleep.

My wife had been sick nearly all her life. Says Mr. E. E. Pricks, of Peabody, Kansas: "I could think of no other way to cure my wife's trouble. I bought a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It was the best thing I ever took. A tablespoonful three times a day, with the baby open. She felt better after taking the first bottle. When baby was born he weighed nine and a half pounds. To-day he is as good a child as any one could wish. The doctor says he is as healthy as any baby could be. I can say the best thing I ever did for my wife was to buy Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It was the cause of such a healthy baby."

any unsatisfactory conditions. We are on the way west and dropped in for a few hours. In fact, everything is quiet, both in the United States and Canada. It is the most quiet year we have ever had. We have very little trouble any more and try to avoid it. Conditions here are very good. We are pretty well organized all over the country, and where there are organizations we get together once a year and discuss our difficulties with the employer. In this way grievances are satisfactorily adjusted. We give and take and make a contract for a year. In some places we are making contracts for two or three years. In New York City we closed a contract in September for the subway employees. This contract runs for three years. The subway was just opened a week ago, and I see by the papers that on Sun day over 100,000 people were carried by the new road.

"We shall talk here this afternoon and evening, in order to give all the employees a chance to attend the meeting. We talk at Lincoln Tuesday and from there go to Denver. "The organization is not strong at Denver nor at Los Angeles. This is usually the case at health resorts, for obvious reasons. We have a strong organization at Salt Lake City, and will go there from Denver. We jump from Salt Lake City to Butte, then to Spokane, to Portland, probably Seattle and then down the coast to San Francisco. The conditions in all the cities I have named, with the two exceptions, are very satisfactory. In California, the organization is very strong, with the exception of Los Angeles.

TWICE IS MAN DECLARED DEAD

James Black, Found Dying from Ether, Proves Somewhat of a Puzzle.

Thomas Grier, night watchman at the Hoagland lumber yard, discovered James Black at 5:20 this morning suffering from the effects of ether, supposedly taken from a bottle found beside the dying man. Black was removed to the police station, where he was attended by the police surgeons.

Coroner Bratley has taken charge of the remains. From papers found on Black's person it is thought he lived at Cedar Rapids or Ottumwa. He carried a membership card of the Cedar Rapids Bricklayers' union and a postal card was found bearing his name and Ottumwa, but giving no street number. He also had a traveling card in the bricklayers' union, dated at Omaha, October 27.

Black was unable to speak after being found. It is not known whether the drug was taken with suicidal intent. Chief of Police Donahue has notified the authorities at Cedar Rapids. Black appears to be about 30 years of age. James Black was one of the few men to have been declared dead twice before taken to the morgue. The effects of the large quantity of ether swallowed by Black was such as to work a peculiar effect on his respiration. When taken to the police station it was not thought he would live another hour, so low was his respiration. For intervals of five minutes he would appear as dead, then faint signs of life would manifest themselves. A few hours after being removed to Clarkson hospital Black became very low until he was declared dead and the police station so advised. Coroner Bratley was notified and was soon at the hospital in his official capacity, but on arrival Black was declared still alive. The coroner returned to the morgue. He was recalled in about two hours when Black was really dead.

BURLINGTON'S DOUBLE TRACK

New Work Just Completed Across Iowa at Cost of Fifteen Million Dollars.

At a cost of $15,000,000 the Burlington has just completed a series of improvements which surpass in magnitude anything accomplished in Iowa along the same line in several years. As a result of the new track from Hastings to Pacific Junction curves have been eliminated, grades have been wiped out, distances have been annihilated and the road is double-tracked from Burlington to Hastings with the exception of a short distance of three miles between Charleston and Atchison. In one or two instances towns have been abandoned by the railroad and have been obliged to move in order to be near the railroad.

In the spring double track probably will be continued from Hastings to Glenwood. The largest culvert on the line is over Sugar creek, east of Ottumwa, and consists of two arch culverts, each thirty feet wide and twenty-two feet high. The maximum grade is thirty-five feet to the mile, while the old line was seventy feet to the mile. The bridges and culverts are all of concrete and steel. This work is said to be the heaviest yet attempted by any road in the state. The grading averaged 120,000 cubic yards per mile over the entire distance.

At Glenwood, on account of the lay of the land, it was necessary to construct the line through the grounds of the Institute for Feeble-Minded Children. The tracks pass along close to the building, but the tracks are well protected with fences. The most radical departure from the old line occurs from Red Oak west, where it cuts out the towns of Hawthorne and Hilldale. The total mileage from Burlington to Pacific Junction via the old line is 203 1/2 miles. The new line saves considerable distance and will be a high line, as it will be well up on all the hillsides and will cross the valleys at a high elevation.

DRIVER TAKES HIS OWN TIME

Leaves Wagon on Car Tracks While He Gets Another Team to Pull It Out.

A large crowd of people was amused and a small army of street car men engaged by a little matter which transpired at Fifteenth and Harney streets Monday. A wagon loaded with haled hay got stuck just as it straddled the intersection of the car lines there and the driver calmly and deliberately got down off his high seat, walked leisurely some distance, got another team and in due time returned to pull his bunch of alfalfa out of the way, so the eighteen or twenty (more or less) cars lined up in all four directions might get by.

NO SALOON FOR IRVINGTON

Grog Shop Is Kept Out by Court Decision and People May Be Happy.

Once more the good people of Irvington can rest assured there will be no saloons to pollute the gentle air, the sweet landscape and the babbling quantity of fresh water in their precinct. Judge Day has handed down the opinion that Fred J. Anderson cannot have a saloon in Union precinct as he had hoped to do.

This is another of the long string of victories falling to Stephen C. Brewster in his fight against the public house. In the beginning Brewster owned a large part of the land in that part of the county and whenever he sold a piece of it a clause of the deed prevented any of the land ever being used for saloon purposes. By some means a little triangular piece of land on which the blacksmith shop stood was sold without this clause and Anderson attempted to open a saloon there. The fight has been carried on in many ways. Petitions have been got up for the saloon, but Brewster has managed to get enough names against it to prevent the purpose of the thirty men in the community. Sometimes it is said he even went so far as to lead away acre-size farms so as to get more freeholders in the precinct. At last he failed to prevent the getting of a license. He then turned to the courts and, with Zachary T. Lindsay, appeared against Anderson. Judge Day found the other requirements of the license to have been correctly fulfilled, but the location was impossible. It was two miles from Benson and three miles from Omaha. Under the law it is impossible to grant a license for a saloon in more than two miles from an incorporated village when it is not within two miles of Omaha.

IOWA MAN GETS IN TROUBLE

Arrested on Charge of Accosting Women, but He Protests His Innocence.

F. H. Crookshank of Carroll, Ia., arrested Saturday afternoon in front of the Boston store by Sergeant Sigwart and Special Officer Grier, has been arraigned in police court on the charge of disorderly conduct. Crookshank was fined $20 and costs. The defendant was represented by S. M. Elwood of Star City, Ia., the attorney of the Omaha Lightning Rod and Electric company, with which concern Crookshank is connected. An appeal bond was taken to the district court.

The charge against Crookshank was that on Saturday afternoon he stood in front of the Boston store and smiled and raised his hat to a number of women with whom he was not acquainted and to their displeasure. W. H. Thomas, a floor walker in the store, testified that the Boston store Saturday afternoon, the principal object in his eyes being the Sixteenth street paving. He said he spoke to several women of his acquaintance, but did not knowingly accost any who were strangers to him. When asked if he was in the habit of raising his hat or smiling to women unknown to him he said in his home town he had done so on numerous occasions when the women spoke to him first, but when he came to the Gate city he would not break over the conventionalities of society.

Attorney W. J. Connell brought up the old claim of $1,000 for expert accountant's services rendered by the late W. O. Ives in 1887 in the Henry Bolin defalcation case. Mr. Connell representing the estate. The mayor and council voted to allow the bill in 1903, but there had been some question as to what fund the money should come from. City Attorney Wright has recommended that it be taken from the funding bond fund. The question was left for the finance committee to decide.

MONEY ENOUGH FOR EXHIBIT

Appropriation Proves Sufficient for State's Display at World's Fair—Winding Up Plans.

President G. W. Watters and Treasurer Matt Miller of the Nebraska commission to the Louisiana Purchase exposition comprised the members of the board that met at the office of President Watters Monday morning. The purpose of the meeting was to allow the current monthly bills and provide for the closing of the exposition. The procedure will be in conformity with the law appropriating funds for the exhibit and the creation of the commission, which provides that all materials included in the Nebraska exhibit are to be disposed of by the commissioner of public lands and buildings. The commission will ask that it be authorized to sell such of the exhibits at St. Louis as may be salable and which may not be suitable for further exhibition purposes. It is the intention to arrange for sending the moving picture exhibition which has attracted so much interest at St. Louis back to Lincoln, where it can be properly cared for by the state. The appropriations made by the state for the Nebraska exhibit have been ample to carry out the work to the close of the St. Louis exposition, and there will be no deficiency.

DAY'S GRIST IN DIVORCE MILL

Three Couples Have Trouble Over Their Matrimonial Relations and Go Into Court.

The day's work in the district court divorce mill is as follows: Viola Trumbull asks for a separation from Oscar Trumbull. Judge Sears grants Dorra Wilson a divorce from Charles E. Wilson. She is given the custody of the three children. Non-support was the cause of action. Robert B. Rickard wants the bond of matrimony existing between himself and Jessie B. Rickard annulled. He says they were married in February, 1901, at Valley Junction, Ia., and that Mrs. Rickard since that time has become a habitual drunkard, has threatened to destroy his eyesight with vitriol and finally has deserted him.

PLAN TO ENLARGE DISTRICT

Zimman Promises Ordinances to Solve Electric Wiring Problem Down Town.

THINKS THIS WILL KEEP RATES DOWN

Hope is to Stave Off Threatened Increase in Fire Insurance Schedules Until Action is Taken.

Changes in the down town wiring in order to prevent an increase of fire insurance rates threatened by the National Board of Fire Underwriters was discussed for the time being in the council committee meeting yesterday afternoon, by Councilman Zimman volunteering to have ordinances prepared enlarging the underground district to Leavenworth street on the south and Chicago or Izard street on the north, ordering all telegraph and signal wires placed under the surface and directing the electric light company to make changes in the method of running high and low potential wires in close proximity. Mr. Zimman said he expected to have the ordinances ready in about two weeks. Meanwhile, insurance inspector pleads will be notified that the action is under way, this sufficing to stave off immediate increases in the rates, it is thought.

Tom Lee Declines to Act.

In connection with the matter City Electrician Michaelson said, inasmuch as he had been asked by the council why he did not prosecute the electric light company in the police court if it violated ordinances, that he had attempted to file a complaint regarding the use of wiring on premises he had not yet inspected, but City Prosecutor Lee had declined to issue the complaint, saying he had investigated Michaelson and did not propose to have anything to do with him. Zimman and Hoye defended Lee, saying he had been an efficient officer, and they thought if he was justified in issuing a complaint in this case he would have done so. Huntington declared he did not see why a prosecutor should ignore the demands of a public officer. Nicholson charged Michaelson with discriminating against the electric light company in demanding strict compliance with the laws and in favor of other companies. This the electrician denied and challenged the councilman to name any specific case of the kind. Nicholson did not do so.

HAIRINE MAKES HAIR GROW

SECRET OF FAMOUS CHEMIST—GREATEST DISCOVERY OF THE AGE

Some thirty years ago a Yankee chemist scientifically combined a German and a French formula for preparing a hair tonic, both of which had been used successfully for many years, and by taking the best of each formula, he compounded a hair tonic far superior to either the German or the French tonic. For a long time he had been manufacturing this wonderful Hair Growing Tonic, selling it at his own drug store and under his own name. Many of New York's wealthiest citizens have purchased it at a high price and their voluntary testimonials as to the merits of its hair-growing and scalp-cleansing qualities are now on file at his office. He was compelled to raise money, and for quite a consideration he sold the formula to the BEAL-STREIT CO.
