SCHEDULE OF WATER RATES

Hydraulic Expert and Council Committee Will Begin Formulating it Today.

Will Be Part of New Franchise Charges to Be Based Upon Value of $600,000, Which is Compromise Between Company and City Estimates.

With the arrival today of W. Kiersted, the expert hydraulic engineer, to assist the special committee of which Councilman Wallace is chairman in formulating a schedule of water rates to be incorporated in the new franchise for the water works company, it is expected that some agreement will be finally reached in the near future between the company and the city council. In accordance with the instructions of the city council to the special committee the schedule of rates is to be based upon a valuation of $600,000, this valuation being a compromise between the value placed on the plant by Mr. Kiersted and that placed by Mr. Alvord, the expert engineer employed by the water works company.

Mr. Kiersted expects that it will take about a week's work to prepare the schedule of rates, as a number of matters, including the proposed extensions, reinforcements and other improvements will have to be taken into consideration.

Question of Minimum Rate. Mr. Kiersted holds that the water works company is entitled to charge a minimum for water service. In his report he had this to say relative to this question: "Neither a municipality nor private corporation can afford to sell water to private consumers without having some minimum price per unit of volume of water as a measure of the expense of producing water service in order that the consumers who use water liberally enough to equal or exceed the cost of production and maintenance shall not be called upon to make good the deficit of those consumers who, when unrestricted, would use and pay for the water service in an amount less than the cost of production."

Chairman Wallace has heretofore opposed any minimum rate, taking the position that consumers should only be charged for what water they actually used.

Many Extensions Proposed. A long list of proposed extensions of water mains and service pipes has been filed by the councilmen from First, Second, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth wards. Councilman Wallace has not as yet filed any list for the Third ward and it is understood but few extensions will be asked for that part of the city. With the exception of the service pipe in the Sixth ward, all of the extensions asked for are six inch mains. The extensions proposed are:

FIRST WARD. Harrison street, from Fuller avenue to Fleming avenue. Benton street, from Hyde avenue to Poston street. Harmony street, from Frank street to Oak street. Locust street, from Mary street to Oak street. East Washington avenue, from Frank street to Clark street. East First street, from North avenue to Clark street. RAILROAD COMMISSION COMING Officials Will Inspect Great Western Crossing and Wabash Bridge. The state railroad commissioners will be in Council Bluffs today to investigate two matters—the demand of the city for a viaduct or overhead crossing over the tracks of the Great Western railroad at Woodbury avenue, and complaints regarding the bridge of the Wabash railroad over Mosquito creek.

The question of a viaduct at the Woodbury avenue crossing has been long pending and residents and property owners in that vicinity are much interested in the result of the investigation of the railroad commissioners. After many delays the city council a few months ago passed an ordinance requiring the railroad to construct an overhead crossing at this point. The officials of the Great Western, however, take the position that the crossing is not as dangerous as it is said to be and deny that there is any necessity for a viaduct. It is said the railroad has prepared statistics showing the number of teams and people who pass daily. They contend the crossing is reasonably safe and the conditions do not justify the large expense of raising its tracks for a crossing under them and providing for the drainage which would be necessary for the maintenance of such a crossing as is contemplated by the city.

The Woodbury avenue crossing has been the scene of a fatal accident and it is claimed that several persons have had extremely narrow escapes from being run down by passing trains. The Wabash bridge over Mosquito creek is alleged to be the cause of frequent overflows by reason of its faulty construction. It is claimed that the piling of the bridge is not set on a line with the channel of the creek, but obliquely, so that they afford an obstruction. Some years ago complaint was made to the railroad commissioners regarding this bridge and they ordered certain alterations, which were made. The change, however, it is now contended, did not remedy the trouble and that a recent overflow of the creek was mainly due to the obstruction caused by the piling of the bridge. The members of the commission are: David J. Palmer of Washington, chairman; Edward A. Dawson of Waverly and N. S. Ketchum of Marshalltown. Mr. Ketchum arrived last night and the members are expected to be here this morning. The commissioners will be guests of the Commercial club at luncheon at the Grand hotel today.

DEFEAT OF THE TWINE BILL

Legislators Preparing to Explain Reasons for Votings Against Measure.

Will Quote Reports from Minnesota

Statement that Harvester Combine Has Evolved New Process that Will Cheaper Twine Also a Factor in Case.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, April 14.—(Special.)—Iowa legislators are preparing to use the report of the Minnesota Board of Control on the twine bill as a basis for explaining their position with their constituents and explain their votes against the bill to manufacture binder twine in the Anamosa penitentiary. The Minnesota legislature has found it necessary to change its plans, and a bill has been passed by the legislature this year which instead of selling to the farmers direct sells to the dealers, and the dealers are allowed to sell to the farmers. It has been found by experience in Minnesota that the other plan, which was the plan proposed in the bill introduced in Iowa, was not a success. The farmers, furthermore, disliked the trouble of sending the cash to the prison for the goods and find it much more convenient to pay a little profit to the dealers and get the twine when they want it.

The report of the Minnesota Board of Control shows that there was sold during the year 1906 a total of 13,371,669 pounds of binder twine from the prison at Stillwater. This was distributed as follows: To dealers' clubs..... 2,716,705 To dealers..... 1,948,136 Cash orders..... 1,820,250 Shipped..... 64,578 Total number of pounds..... 13,371,669 Under the new law that was passed by the 1907 Minnesota legislature the dealers over the state will have an opportunity to take the great bulk of the output of the factory and the Board of Control will reserve only 500,000 pounds to sell direct to the farmers. The dealers are to be allowed to make a profit of 1 1/2 cents a pound on the twine.

In Minnesota the plan seems to be to require cash from all single orders, but where clubs are formed either of dealers or farmers where the state authorities are given an opportunity to investigate their reliability twine can be shipped without the cash. That the twine plant in that state is a success, however, seems to be evidenced by the fact that the capacity of the factory has been considerably increased by the law legislature.

The bill to manufacture binder twine at the penitentiary has been introduced at each session of the Iowa legislature for some time. Legislators have been searching for excuses to vote against it because the farmers demanded the law and they were afraid to injure the feelings of the farmers. The fact that the International Harvester company has announced through trade papers for the last year or more that it has perfected machinery for manufacturing twine from other materials than the imported flax, hemp and manila, which are imported products, caused the legislators to hesitate. The new machinery of the International is to manufacture the twine from flax, and it is claimed it will be considerably cheaper than the other, though just as good. If this can be done Iowa legislators argue that they should go slow about equipping the Iowa penitentiary plant with costly machinery that will manufacture only the high-priced twine for when sold without the profit it might be still higher than the flax twine and the farmers would want the cheapest.

It is more than likely that the bill will be introduced again when the legislature meets two years from now and if it is introduced it will probably provide that the factory be instituted at Fort Madison instead of at Anamosa. The legislature just adjourned turned the Anamosa penitentiary into a reformatory and binder twine is not a good article to manufacture at a reformatory. It is unskilled labor. One laborer can tend several machines and it requires no training to operate them. For a reformatory only skilled trades should be taught and the indeterminate sentence law provides that only useful trades shall be taught at the Anamosa reformatory.

Competition in Paving. Acting on the decision of the supreme court in regard to paving at Iowa City, public men interested in municipal matters will advocate that a law be placed on the statute books giving free competition in the matter of street improvements and all other municipal improvements. It is advocated that instead of following the present plan wherein the city council passes a resolution of necessity for the paving of a street, then allows a majority of the property owners to select the material with which it is to be paved and then advertise for bids for that paving alone, the method should be for the city council to pass the resolution of necessity, then advertise for bids for paving the street, allowing the manufacturers of all kinds of paving to enter the competition and offer their bids in detail. Then allow the property owners to come in, and with the bids before them make a selection of the kind of material they wish to have their street paved with. If the bids showed that 50 per cent or more was asked for paving the street with asphalt than with brick, that fact might have some influence on the selection of the property owners.

As a result of this action it is the system on which business men contract. They know something of the cost of the various materials before they make a contract and do not select a patent device on which there is a monopoly and then ask for bids. In a suit that developed at Iowa City over the paving of a street the supreme court held that it is legal for a city to decide on one kind of paving, even though it is patented material, and bids can be received from but one firm or person or corporation. In the case at Iowa City the patent owners decided in favor of bitulithic paving. This is patented and one firm owns the patent. The decision of the supreme court is based on the ground that the Iowa law requiring competition in bids intends that there should be competition when competition is possible, but that where there is no possibility of competition the city cannot be excluded from using that particular kind of material or patented device, since to exclude a patented material will rob the city of the use of that material and will be against the public interest by putting a check to inventive genius.

Drastic Corporation Measure. While the attention of the corporations was attracted by the Ericson bill which required that they make annual reports to the secretary of state and pay a small tax, the legislature passed the Peterson bill, senate file 106, which is far more drastic and requires that every stock transaction of a corporation that is not strictly on a cash basis and full paid up must be laid before the executive council in all its details. Evidently the corporations while fighting the Ericson bill overlooked this one.

State officials believe the law one of the most drastic that has ever been passed on the statute books. It will no longer be possible for the man owning a patent right to place a value on that patent and then induce a number of friends to go in with him and put in cash to form a corporation to manufacture the article. The matter must be laid before the executive council and the executive council must put a value on the patent right. If a man owns a lot of real estate in some arid country or anywhere else and hasn't the funds to hold it and put it on the market, instead of valuing it himself and inducing his friends to form a stock company with him and they put in the cash and he has land at his own valuation the executive council will put the valuation on the land. Then when the public buys the stock in the proposed corporation it will have an impartial valuation on the commodity it is to put its money against.

The primary intention of the law is to prevent new corporations from watering their stock. Of course, since every stock transaction that is not for cash in full must have the approval of the executive council it will hardly be possible for an Iowa corporation to receive a block of stock to public officials and influential men for the purpose of gaining their interest and influence in the proposed undertaking. The executive council might not consider that the influence and interest of a prominent citizen or official to be exactly in the interests of the public.

While some of the members of the legislature interposed some objections to the bill when it was under consideration the corporations themselves did not fight the measure. All their time and attention was taken up in fighting the Ericson bill, which was spoken of as the "corporation tax" bill. The real purpose of the Ericson bill was to get reports from the corporations to the secretary of state. There is a law now that requires them to report, but there is no way of enforcing it and the purpose of the Ericson bill was to provide for a small tax in addition to the annual report. The funds from the tax would add some to the revenue of the state besides guaranteeing a fund with which to enforce the provisions of the bill, requiring the annual report.

The Ericson bill was offered at the request of the secretary of state's office. There are hundreds of corporations in Iowa that have incorporated under the laws of the state of Iowa that are dead and many others that have been given the privileges of the corporation laws that are doing an illegal business. There are others doing business in the state that were incorporated in other states that have no legal right to do business here till after they have filed certified copies of their articles of incorporation. Yet the secretary of state has no means whatever of keeping track of these corporations or of ascertaining what they are doing. It is quite generally understood that there is no legal right to do business here till after they have filed certified copies of their articles of incorporation. Yet the secretary of state has no means whatever of keeping track of these corporations or of ascertaining what they are doing. It is quite generally understood that there is no legal right to do business here till after they have filed certified copies of their articles of incorporation. Yet the secretary of state has no means whatever of keeping track of these corporations or of ascertaining what they are doing.

Rich Man Killed by Burglar. NEW YORK, April 14.—George Shambacher, a wealthy real estate dealer, 54 years old, was shot and mortally wounded yesterday in the dining room of his home. His family believe that a burglar, surprised by Shambacher, shot him.

third general assembly will be the Ericson bill or a modification of it. State House Crowded. The Executive council is to be confronted with a problem of finding quarters in the statehouse where there are none. The legislature provided that the new Board of Parole should have quarters in the statehouse and that the state veterinarian should also have quarters in the statehouse. At the present time there are occupants of office rooms in the statehouse who think they should have more room and there are no vacant rooms. The executive council, therefore, has something of a problem on its hands.

There is some talk of giving the rooms now occupied by the geological survey department to the Board of Parole. These rooms are on the basement floor in the northwest corner of the building. There are two rooms and a good vault. It will be necessary for the board to have a vault for the reason that the indeterminate sentence law provides that the clerks of the district court, following such conviction, must send to the board a copy of the indictment and list of the witnesses and other evidence, all of which must be filed in a safe place. There are about 600 to 800 of such every year and in a short time a small vault would be filled. It is necessary to have a room for hearings in addition to a private room. The rooms occupied by the geological survey supply all requirements. If this is done it will be necessary to find room for the geological department. There is talk of putting it somewhere in the new historical building or else in the rooms in the brick residence building across the street, part of which is occupied by the state dairy and food commissioner.

This far no place has been discovered for the state veterinarian. It may be necessary to give him temporary quarters with the State Board of Health till other rooms can be found. PERIODS OF PAIN While no woman is entirely free from periodic suffering, it does not seem to be the plan of nature that women should suffer so severely. Irregularities and pain are positive evidence that something is wrong which should be set right or it will lead to serious derangement of the feminine organism. Thousands of women, have found relief from all periodic suffering by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from native roots and herbs, as it is the most thorough female regulator known to medical science. It cures the condition which causes so much discomfort and pain, such as falling and displacements, and Organic Diseases, Headache, General Debility, Indigestion, and invigorates the whole feminine system. For the derangement of the Kidneys of either sex Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is excellent. Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to write Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. From the symptoms given, the trouble may be located and the quickest and surest way of recovery advised.
