GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKET

Faint Strength Shown in Wheat Has Entirely Disappeared.

FOREIGN MARKETS BEARISH Corn Market is Holding Up Better Than Anticipated in Face of the Weakness in Wheat-Delays Cause Strength. OMAHA, Oct. 31, 1911.

The faint strength shown in wheat yes-erally had entirely disappeared this norming and pit bears controlled the maret, sending prices down.
Reports from Argentina are very flat-ering and the foreign markets reflect here bearish conditions.

Reports from Argentina are very listtering and the foreign markets reflect these hearish conditions.

It will take a decidedly good cash wheat
demand to keep the values of futures
from sagging still lower.

The corn market is holding up better than should be expected in the face of the weakness in wheat. This strength is due entirely to the delayed movement of the new crop and the stortage in local stocks are so light that cash prices are well maintained.

Wheat was decidedly weak today on lower cabies, bearish Argentine news and beavy selling by pit bears. Cash wheat sold tight lower.

centiy, and aside from a coupie of toppy shipments of a standard brand, there was nothing very attractive on sale in the way of fat stuff. Very little "scenery red" stock from the corn belt was available and no one regretted its absence. Fat lamba, despite a rather slim supply, showed more or less weakness. Early sales indicated a dime lower in time, anch of the trade, but even after this loss is subtracted, it is apparent that local values are still relatively high as compared with those in force at eastern points. The kinney lambs, topping at $6.85 yesterday, had to sell with practically the same sort at $5.75, and other varieties were cheapened accordingly.

Dry Goods Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31—DRY GOODS—
The carpet auction of 199,000 bales and the carp varieties were cheapened accordingly.

Matured muttons in good flesh acted well from the start, ruling fairly active and just about steady. Desirable ewes were wanted around $3.25, and very good were wanted around $1.25, and very good handy wethers moved scaleward at $1.55 biles.

Something prime in this line would probably touch $1.75, but quality rather than weight is the first consideration. Made to order yearings are quotable up to $1.25, some 70-pounders bringing that figure yearerday.

Feeder trade preserved its healthy appearance and firm prices were usually paid all along the line. Support came almost entirely from country buyers or their brokers, as the speculative outlet is becoming more restricted each day.

Weighty lambs for the speculative outlet is becoming more restricted each day.

their brokers, as the speculative outlet is becoming more restricted each day. Weighty lambs for a dry jot quick turn were favored, selling from $4.60 upwards. A hig string of 65-pounders went out yesterday at $5.40, but thrifty lambs that are properly feeders can be purchased at $4.50 and less. Feeder ewes are still selling largely under use $1.00 mars, Yesterday's total purchase on country account amounted to $5.56 head.
