MRS. WILKINS IN HOSPITAL Tells of Effort to Save Sister, Miss Bonnavie, in Dewey Hotel Fire.

STAGGERS THROUGH FLAMES Mind Wanders and is Unable to Give a Clear Account of What Occurred at the Burning Building.

At the Dewey hotel fire Friday morning Mrs. C. E. Wilkins made a heroic effort to save her sister, Miss Alice Bonnavie.

Mrs. Wilkins is at the Omaha General hospital, where she is extremely hysterical, sitting up in bed talking wildly of the fire, calling for her sister, Alice, and constantly crouching with her trembling hands under her chin.

"Alice, Alice, is that you?" she calls loudly, when she hears the slightest movement at her door. In broken sentences she told her story at the hospital.

"Someone called fire," she said, "and I rushed out in the hall, where there was lots of smoke. I opened the window and looked out. I saw some ladders and some men, but they couldn't get the ladders to me. They called to me and told me not to jump, that the fire companies would be there soon. I ran down the hall and Alice and the maid, Lydia Nelson, hung onto me. Then I heard my sister say, 'I can't breathe any more. I'm choking.' I drew her face down against my bath robe and dragged her along that way for a while until she slipped from me and fell on the floor." The maid and Mrs. Wilkins made their way down the stairs, and, with others, were taken to the Omaha General hospital.

Mrs. Wilkins' husband is a patient in a sanitarium in Lincoln. She has a son, a student in the University of Nebraska. She is unable to tell his first name.

One unidentified woman, with severe burns on her face and on the hip, lies unconscious at the Omaha General. She is large, well built, with auburn hair and blue eyes. On her right wrist she wears a bracelet; on the hand a band and a set ring. Occasionally she speaks incoherently confining her utterances to the words: "Leave me alone, leave me alone. I'll be all right—leave me alone."

BARTENDER FALLS TO DEATH BEFORE AID CAN REACH HIM

Just before Charles Cummings jumped to his death he leaned out of his window and called for help. Several firemen answered him, calling back to stay where he was and they would have a ladder up to him pretty quickly.

He replied that he would, then seemed to lose all control of himself and fell headlong to the pavement below. Several workers ran over to help him and he died a few minutes afterward in the Ohio restaurant, the second door south of the alley.

EWING MAN TELLS OF HIS ESCAPE FROM THE HOTEL

Mark Hemenway of Ewing, Neb., was in room 41 alone when the smoke aroused him. "I staggered out into the hallway," he said, "and searched for an exit. I found a door I thought opened to a stairway leading to a fire escape and exit and I tried to open it. The door was locked, and, nearly suffocated, I rushed downstairs, then upstairs again, hardly knowing what I was doing. I went back into my own room, broke the window and was helped down a ladder." Hemenway's hand was seriously cut.

Where the Most Lives Were Lost

The majority of the lives lost were those who occupied the inside rooms of the hotel. Their chances for escape were reduced to a minimum. Those who were awakened by the noise rushed to their doors only to find the hallways filled with smoke so dense and stifling that they were turned wild in their efforts to get out.

LACK OF PRICE OF ROOM KEEPS BEFFEL FROM FIRE

Dan J. Beffel, a solicitor for Lumiere, probably owes his life to the fact that he only had 25 cents to his name Thursday when at 11 o'clock he walked into the office of the Dewey hotel and asked for a 50-cent room. He was told that only 25 cents were left, and, not having the price, went to South Omaha and spent the night.

STREET GANGS ASSIST IN SEARCH FOR BODIES

Commissioner Kugel this afternoon sent three gangs of the street cleaning department to the scene of the Dewey hotel fire to assist the firemen in cleaning away the debris and to assist in the search for the bodies buried under the ruins.

Fairbury Man Ends Life in Deep Well

FAIRBURY, Neb., Feb. 28.—(Special.)—Aloysius Huber, living near Thompson, six miles southwest of Fairbury, committed suicide by slipping away from his family and plunging head foremost into an old well. Mr. Huber had been in failing health for some time and had often made threats of taking his life. He had been a chronic invalid suffering at times from mental aberration. This often caused him to make threats of taking his life.

Mr. Huber was subject to heart failure and the family advance the theory that he possibly attempted to draw a bucket of water and fell into the well. Mr. Huber was born August 18, 1841, in Deltmannried, Bavaria, and came to America shortly after the close of the rebellion in 1865. In 1888 he married Gertrude Kellhofer in Cincinnati and moved to Nebraska. In 1892, John Huber, a prominent citizen of Hebron, is a brother of the deceased. Miss Barbara Huber of Fairbury is also his sister.

ONE SMILE MAY COST SILENT CARSON HIS LIFE

STOCKTON, Cal., Feb. 28.—A smile may cost the life of "Silent" Carson. For three years Carson has been under sentence of death for attacking a prison guard in a break for liberty. During that time he has not spoken a word or displayed the slightest emotion under the most rigorous tests. Even chloroform could not break his taciturnity.

He was finally adjudged insane and removed to the state hospital, but today it became known that one of the hospital attendants reported this week that he had smiled. New tests are being conducted, and physicians who have Carson under observation say his smile may result in a review of former findings and execution of the death sentence.

SWOOD DOWN ON CAPITAL Iowa Democrats Leave to Be Present at Inauguration.

SOME CANDIDATES IN THE PARTY Change Made in Assessment Methods of Des Moines Property Means Large Increase in Taxation.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, Feb. 28.—(Special Telegram.)—A party of forty Iowa democrats left here this evening for Chicago, where they will join nearly 100 other Iowa democrats and all go to Washington to attend the inauguration. In the party will be Chairman Reed, National Committeeman Wade, members of the state committee, and a number of candidates for appointment to places under the Wilson administration. Most of those who make the journey are original Wilson men.

To Change Taxation Methods.

As a result of a campaign for reform in taxation methods, the city assessor today announced a decision as to the basis of valuation in Des Moines business districts, which announcement will precipitate a suit in court. The basis decided on is $2,000 per front foot in West Des Moines and $500 a foot on the east side. The owners of property on the west side will protest that this is too great a discrimination. Effort is being made to introduce a uniform system of assessment. The changes will result in enormous increase of taxes in many instances.

ELECTRICAL WORKERS MAY STRIKE IN WESTERN STATES

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 28.—Twenty-five hundred members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers have authorized the Pacific district council of their union to call a strike against the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company unless their demands are adjusted. The vote is said to be overwhelmingly in favor of a strike. The states affected are California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Nevada and a portion of Arizona. An increase of 30 cents a day, from $3.75 to $4.05, is asked and the company has offered to compromise on $1. This offer the union now definitely rejects.

GARAGE EMPLOYEES HAVE NARROW ESCAPE FROM

BOONE, Ia., Feb. 28.—(Special Telegram.)—Seven employees of the Boons Auto company last night were overcome by gases from the exhaust of two automobiles which were being tested. The owner of the garage on entering found the employees lying on the floor in different parts of the building. Physicians were summoned and all will recover.

HOAGLAND BILL GETS THROUGH Measure Creating Appellate Court Gets Twenty-One Votes.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Feb. 28.—(Special.)—A call of the senate took place today on a bill by Hoagland of Lincoln creating an appellate court in the state. The bill received twenty-one votes to five in opposition and was passed. Those voting in the negative were: Bartling, Cox, Hale, Klein and Robertson. After passing the Hoagland bill forbidding the sale of liquor on Memorial day and half a dozen other bills the senate adjourned to meet again Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Those voting against the Hoagland bill were: Grace, Grossman, Haarman, Klein and Macfarland. Senate files 312, 283 and 247 were indefinitely postponed on reports of standing committees.

The following bills were passed: S. P. 12, by Hoagland of Lancaster—Provides that no liquor shall be sold on Memorial day. S. P. 214, by Hoagland—Provides for an appellate court in the state. S. P. 28, by Grossman of Douglas—Provides that application for liquor licenses in Omaha can be published in any daily paper published in the city. S. will do with it is only conjecture. Friends of the boarding house keepers insist the senate will have to act favorably on the bill or there will be no university building constructed in the next two years. The senate indicated, however, that it does not favor any more buildings on the present campus.

Governor Morehead had introduced in the house this afternoon three bills, as follows: H. R. 87—Appropriating $25,000 for construction of an infirmary at the tuberculosis hospital at Kearney. H. R. 88—Appropriating $50,000 for a new building at the girls' industrial school at Geneva.

H. R. 87.—To continue the code commission for the next two years and providing for a revising of the laws after this session. Cold Storage Inquiry. Over considerable opposition the house gave permission to the cold storage investigating committee to keep busy as long as it wanted to. Foster insisted the committee should have at least a week and Mockett said that if the committee would reduce the high cost of living it could be excused indefinitely on full pay, and the house took a chance on it and told them to go to it.

Howell Real Busy Now. R. B. Howell, general custodian of the Omaha water works and its affairs, spent a very strenuous day trying to impress upon members of the legislature that the water works in particular and Omaha in general, as well as municipal ownership, will be dead unless the Anderson bill to put the water works under control of the city commission is killed forthwith.

Democratic members of the house are beginning to resent the action of the Water board mouthpieces in trying to whip them into line and as their resentment increases the bill to abolish the Water board becomes more popular.

May Reverse Action.

Leading democrats of the house tonight have become scared at their action in killing the Smith bill to force public officials to transact public business in public. So the plans are now to endeavor to reconsider this action at the first opportunity and pass the bill. The legislature adjourned until Monday.

SAMOAN ISLANDS DAMAGED BY A TWO WEEKS' STORM

TUTUILA, American Samoa, Feb. 11. Via San Francisco, Feb. 28.—Forced to slip its anchor cables and put to sea by a gale which has raged over the islands for fourteen days, the German cruiser Cormoran put in here for shelter and coal, which was obtained from the United States naval station stores. The Cormoran left German Samoa on January 2 in the midst of the celebration of the emperor's birthday. The seas rolled so heavily that the warship was in danger and its captain took it to sea for safety. Word comes from many points that the storm has done serious damage to banana plantations, and the young bread fruit crop has suffered. There will be a scarcity of native food for some months.

LIQUOR BILL IS RE-PASSED

Webb Act, Vetoed by Taft, Again Approved by Senate.

CONSTITUTIONALITY IN ISSUE

Author of Measure Prohibiting Shipment of Liquor into Dry States Thinks House Will Follow Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—The Webb liquor bill, prohibiting the shipment of liquor into "dry" states was re-passed in the senate today over President Taft's veto within two hours from the time the president's message of disapproval had been laid before that body. A short debate in which the advocates of the bill voted down a motion to postpone action until tomorrow and in which they reaffirmed their belief that the measure is constitutional, ended with the re-passage of the bill by the large majority of 52 to 31.

The Webb bill passed both houses of congress and went to the president ten days ago. His veto message reached the senate about 3 o'clock today, accompanied by an opinion from Attorney General Wickersham. Basing his decision upon the attorney general's finding, the president expressed the belief that the measure clearly was unconstitutional because it gave the states the right to interfere with interstate commerce.

The senate took up the bill at once. Attorney General Wickersham's opinion was not read and Senator Kern asked that a final vote on the overriding of the veto be delayed until tomorrow so senators might have the opportunity to examine the attorney general's arguments. A motion made by Mr. Kern to postpone the vote until 11 o'clock tomorrow was defeated, 71 to 2.

Veto Based on Mistake.

Senator McCumber declared both the president and the attorney general had misconstrued the grounds upon which congress had passed the prohibition law. He said it had not attempted to give the states the right to interfere with commerce, but simply had declared liquor an "outlaw" and had then prescribed conditions under which it might enter interstate commerce. Senator Kenyon also briefly urged passage of the bill, while Senators Frynter and Percy supported President Taft's veto.

Efforts will be made tomorrow to override the veto in the house. Representative Clayton of Alabama will move to take up the veto for the purpose of passing the bill over the president's head as soon as the house convenes. Representative Webb, author of the bill, declared he had absolute confidence that the house would re-pass the bill by more than a two-thirds majority.
