THAT WATER METER DEAL

Light on a Public Contract Privately Negotiated.

DAYTON GETS THEM CHEAPER

Some Profit on Privilege of Selling Meters to Consumers Compelled to Buy or Have Water Shut Off.

In the discussion of the water bill at Lincoln it was disclosed that the meter which Omaha householders are being compelled to install at a charge of $12.50, in fact costs the Water board only $6, and that in addition to increased cost by the change from flat rates to meter rates, each consumer must contribute a profit of from $2 to $5 on meter installation.

This has prompted an inquiry back to the peculiar circumstances surrounding the deal for the purchase of the meters, which is another of these made-in-the-dark deals by private agreement without competitive bids.

Just prior to taking over the plant the Water board invited proposals to supply meters, which were opened July 16, and an motion of Mr. Sherman referred to a committee composed of Members Howell, Sherman and Heafey for tabulation. There were several bids, that of the Neptune Meter company of New York, which later proved to be the favored party, being $8 for the standard size meter of five-eighths inch, with 40 cents for couplings or connections. On the day after the bids were opened they were all rejected by the adoption of this resolution:

Resolved, That all bids be and hereby are rejected and the water commissioner is authorized to supply the requirements of the Water board in the matter of meters during the year 1912 by private negotiations.

What Record Shows. The only further reference to the meter deal in the board's records is a notation at the meeting of July 20 of a communication ordered placed on file, to-wit: Letter from Water Commissioner Howell notifying the board that arrangements had been made with the Neptune Meter company of New York, to supply the water meters that the Water board might see fit to order during 1912, together with prices.

The prices are not attached nor accessible, but bills since rendered by the Neptune Meter company show what is being paid. These bills are lumped for example, as "1,000 meters and 1,000 couplings," invoiced at $5,000, with discount of 25 per cent, which means, of course, that they are being billed at $3,750, but paid for at the rate of $5 apiece. There is nothing to indicate that there are any other discounts or allowances.

Oh, What a Difference! The difference between Water board methods in Omaha, and elsewhere, however, may be found in the experience of Dayton, O., in buying water meters for which proposals were opened, according to information at hand, just Tuesday two weeks ago, with eight competitive bids. The same sized meter which is being used here in Omaha with the couplings, is offered to the water department of Dayton by the low bidder as follows:

Buffalo Meter company, Buffalo, N. Y., $4.40.

Badger Meter company, Milwaukee, Wis., $5.75.

H. R. Worthington, New York, $6.35.

In Dayton the Neptune Meter company bid $12.50 for the meter and 40 cents extra for couplings, but in almost the highest bidder, the couplings for which the Neptune company asks 40 cents from Omaha are listed by the Buffalo Meter company at 25 cents, and by the Badger Meter company at 25 cents, and by H. R. Worthington at 25 cents.

The Water board in Omaha claims to have installed already about 11,000 meters with almost as many more to come. A profit of $2 on 20,000 meters would be $40,000. The difference between the $6 Omaha is paying and the $5.50 bid in Dayton, alone on 20,000 meters would amount to $12,000.

MINNIE LANE ARRESTED FOR VIOLATION OF MANN ACT

Miss Minnie Lane, alias Lizzie Lane and "Big Liz," was arrested last week at Chadron, Neb., charged with violation of the Mann act, when she was taken to Omaha, Neb., and bound over to the grand jury which convenes here March 10. Her bond was placed at $3,000, and falling to give it she is being held in the Douglas county jail.

The arrest was instigated by federal officers who charge that she was taking girls from Omaha and placing them in a rooming house at Chadron, in violation of that act. She was held there until Monday, when she was taken to Omaha, Neb., and bound over to the grand jury which convenes here March 10. Her bond was placed at $3,000, and falling to give it she is being held in the Douglas county jail.

Two Police Officers Have Hard Task to Lose a Flighty Dog

How Sam Morris, the distinguished police officer, went out to shoot a maimed horse, stuck the gun close to the horse's eye, closed his eyes, pulled on the trigger with both hands, only to be rudely startled, not by the explosion of the cartridge, but by being knocked down by the horse and walked all over, is "small stuff" compared to the story Health Officers McCarthy and Damon are telling about headquarters.

They were called to 154 North Sixteenth street to shoot a dog, who had become a little flighty from being confined on account of smallpox in the family. Neither McCarthy or his trusty partner could get the animal out of the house, so Mike struck the obstinate canine over the head with an axe, dragged him outside and fired three shots into the poor animal's inert body.

The two health officers stopped in a rooming house a few blocks from where the dog was shot to make an inspection of all the guests and expel those not welcome. McCarthy heard a scratching at the door, and going down stairs was met by the same animal he had wasted three shots on a few minutes before. Mike thought he was seeing ghosts, but knew he was mistaken because of the blood on the dog's head. He fired three more shots at the dog and ended its career.
