GRASSHOPPERS ARE ACTIVE

Army Eighteen Miles Wide is Crossing New Mexico.

PEST ALSO APPEARS IN KANSAS

General Reports from Over the State Indicate that Early Rumors Greatly Exaggerate the Damage to Crops.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—"This looks like a grasshopper year," was the comment today of Prof. F. M. Webster of the bureau of entomology after the fourth outbreak of the insects had been reported to him. The latest appearance of the "hoppers" is in Kansas, previous states afflicted being New Mexico, Idaho and California.

The Department of Agriculture regards the New Mexico outbreak so serious that Harrison Smith, an expert in the bureau of insect research, has been ordered from Wellington, Kan., to the scene of the fight.

He reported his arrival today at Amarillo, Tex. Further raids in various parts of the country are looked for, although it is not believed by officials here that any of them will do great damage.

An army worm invasion reported today as having occurred near St. Louis is giving the government's insect fighters here considerable worry. It was acknowledged. Telegraphic instructions were sent to a department field agent to take immediate steps to combat the pest on the New Mexican Army on Move.

ROSWELL, N. M., June 3.—The column of grasshoppers that invaded Elda, a town in northeastern New Mexico, last week, has moved east and is continuing in a northeasterly direction, according to advices received here today. The pests destroyed most of the small gardens and lawns in Elda. The column is about twelve miles in width. Its progress is slow, the grasshoppers not having developed wings.

Prof. A. C. Hammar, government entomologist here, has sent specimen to department headquarters in Washington for identification.

Kansas Reports Exaggerated. KANSAS CITY, June 3.—General reports from over Kansas and Missouri indicate that early rumors of a grasshopper "plague" and worms were largely exaggerated. Reports from the western Kansas wheat countries say practically no damage has been done by the insects.

Pawnee county reports "millions" of small grasshoppers, but adds that the number is scarcely greater than in other years and that the damage done is negligible. Reports received at the headquarters of the Southwest Millers' association at Joplin, Mo., indicate that crops in southern Kansas and Missouri are not in the slightest danger from grasshoppers, according to W. H. Marshall, secretary of the association.

Reports of an invasion of "seventeen year locusts" have come from parts of Missouri and Kansas, but it is stated these insects have not come in any alarming number and have done little damage. Cut worms have done damage to corn at Ford, Barton, Stafford and McPherson counties, Kansas, but are not present in sufficient numbers to alarm the farmers.

NEBRASKA EDITORS SPEND MOST OF DAY IN SOUTH OMAHA

(Continued from Page One.) day when the children of the rural schools would be making tests of the milk of the neighborhood, tests of the seeds, working scientifically along agricultural lines and compiling some agricultural statistics of their community, furnishing the government some figures on these things that it at present has no means of procuring.

Rosa Hammond was to conduct a round table discussion after this speech, but as it was growing late and all were anxious to get out in the automobiles, he suggested that the editors drop the round table for the afternoon, and the majority agreed. The business meeting and election of officers was also put off until Wednesday morning.

From the Exchange building fine large cars, each decorated with four flaring ribbons, were parked in front of the building. W. H. Weeks of the Norfolk Press conducted a round table discussion Tuesday morning at the opening of the day's session. He took up points concerning advertising rates, cost of advertising, and said he would venture to say that few men in the room could tell at a moment's notice what it cost them to produce an inch of advertising. He also touched on the fellow who has learned the newspaper business only through an apprenticeship in a printing shop and does not know a thing about the business end of a newspaper. When someone suggested that such a man could learn at the association meeting, Mr. Weeks said, "Yes, but that man is not within the reach of our voice. He takes advertising at so low a rate that he cannot afford to come to the meeting."

Lava Waterston. L. J. Quinoy of Omaha, in a paper on "The Newspaper and Public Opinion," advocated an absolute freedom from fear in conducting the editorial policy of the newspaper, and lamented the fact that Henry Waterston was the only one left of the great class of men whose editorial policy was not in some way influenced by the business end of the paper and who still dared to speak his mind instead of writing by rule.

"Over the desk of the editor," he said, "should be pasted the words of an unknown Frenchman, 'Suffer yourself to be imprisoned, starved, yea, even hanged, but publish your opinion.'" He took a rap at the type of subscriber who praises the editor and pats him on the back for some firm stand he has taken against crookedness, and then hesitates to come to court to testify in behalf of the editor when he gets into court for his straightforward policy.

G. M. Cooper of the Omaha Recorder, in a paper on "The Newspaper and Its Conscience," told a long line of experiences with subscribers and readers and mentioned some of the ways to cure

Round Table Talks and Papers the Order of Exercises. W. H. Weeks of the Norfolk Press conducted a round table discussion Tuesday morning at the opening of the day's session. Walter De Mumm and Miss Scoville Are Married in London. LONDON, June 3.—Walter De Mumm, the well known French sporting man, and Miss Florence Scoville, daughter of C. C. Scoville of Seneca, Kan., were married at noon today in the fashionable church of St. George, Hanover Square. The greatest interest was taken in the wedding, owing to the dramatic incident which occurred last December in Paris, when in the course of a struggle with Mrs. Marie Van Rensselaer Barnes, an American woman, Walter De Mumm received two rather serious bullet wounds. Mrs. Barnes afterward disappeared and De Mumm did not prosecute her. The attack on him was said to have been brought about by his announcement that he had come to bid her farewell.

HYMENEAL. Smith-Tracy. Miss G. Ethel Tracy was married Monday evening to Ray E. Smith. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Jasper Howell and took place at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Yaeger, 214 Rosehill Avenue, Benson. Only the members of the immediate family were present.

a few of the unpleasant things. He said he found any amount of people who wanted to criticize public matters and wanted him to do it through the newspaper. He told them he would be glad to have them prepare a criticism, and sign their names. This, he said, was almost invariably met with refusal, as the parties were unwilling to have their names attached to what they wanted to foment about. They thought the editor ought to do it, as they expected it of him.

NEBRASKA MASONS CONVENE

The naming of committees. In the afternoon there was a continuation of the presentation of reports and the receipt of some of the reports of committees appointed at the morning session.

At the noon hour the members of the Veterans association, held sort of a reunion of their own, at which there was a season of handshaking, followed by luncheon in the banquet hall, where covers were laid for eighty.

Show Good Gain. The report of Grand Master Cain was listened to with close attention. It showed that March 31, the date of the document, in Nebraska there were 20,144 members of the Masonic order, a net gain of 875 during the year. According to the grand master's report, there are 255 lodges in the state and that 1,385 members were initiated during the year.

The grand lodge general fund was shown to have $25,333.08 on hand, after having paid out $36,011.90 during the year. As to the Masonic home at Plattsmouth, the report showed $11,711.51 on hand at the time when the report to the stockholders was made, January 23, 1913. During that time there was paid out for its maintenance and for other expenses, $4,524.82.

The report of the trustees of the orphan's educational fund, embodied in the report of Grand Master Cain, showed a total of $6,475 on hand and invested in first mortgage loans on improved Nebraska farms.

Relative to the Masonic home, ten resident Masons were admitted during the year, three died and one went away, and on January 1 of the present year there were forty-eight inmates—twenty-three men, twenty-two women and three children. The cost per inmate for maintenance is figured at $24.22, an increase of $3.54 per person over any previous year, due to the increase in the cost of supplies purchased.

Police Investigation Reveals Stalled Efforts to Block Way of Inquiry Which May Bring Injunction Law Into Effect.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

DES MOINES, June 3.—(Special Telegram.)—The State Highway commission, after an extended session with city and county officials here today secured an agreement that there will be a joint meeting of the county board and city council and an effort made to have co-operation in the building of roads and keeping them up. The commission visited the roads about the city and reported that they are the worst roads that have ever been seen. They declared there was no evidence of their ever having been dragged at all.

The officials agreed to get busy. The action was taken largely as an example for delinquent officials elsewhere in the state.

Trouble with Police Inquiry.

The inquiry into corruption in Des Moines police circles resulted in three more police officials being placed under suspicion today by the chief, and disclosure that a strong effort is being made to cause embarrassment to the investigators. The chief discovered a number of new witnesses and also that some of the witnesses have been coached as to what not to say. It was also found that the state law for injunction against disorderly houses is to be invoked because of the revelations made. Four of the police force are now out.

Lumber Magnate Says the Welfare of Labor is Main Factor

KANSAS CITY, June 3.—"We should concern ourselves as much nationally about the welfare of our employes as of the stumpage itself." With these words Everett C. Griggs of Tacoma, Wash., president of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association, prefaced an appeal for thoughtful treatment of the workman in the lumber industry in the course of his address before the annual convention of the organization which opened here today.

Efficient labor and proper equipment mean as much in the final cost of lumber to the consumer as the log itself," he continued. "Our business affects the lives of more employes than any other in the United States."

"There is no question more momentous than the rank and file of all industry. Those of us who must meet the payroll are more concerned in the enactment of some legislation than the political demagogue or the most ardent labor unionist." President Griggs said the workmen's compensation law as tried out in the state of Washington had been a success and the lumbermen of the state "as a unit endorsed the general effect of the measure."

The Manufacturers' convention will last two days. About 500 delegates, representing eleven affiliated organizations touching every state where lumber is manufactured, were present. The affiliated societies compose a membership controlling 1,500 sawmills, producing annually 17,000,000,000 feet of lumber.

Student's Unique Ruse to Evade an Examination Fails

NEW YORK, June 3.—Columbia university has taken a new stand in the matter of graduation requirements. The authorities decline to award a diploma to Felix Metzger Rosenstock at the commencement exercises tomorrow unless he can prove himself afflicted with carcinoma of the stomach. In other words there is a rule at Columbia that no college degree can be won unless the candidate has learned to swim the length of the pool in the gymnasium. The only exception is allowed in case of physical disability attested to by a physician's certificate. Rosenstock, who has passed all other examinations, completely balked at swimming through his college course and as an excuse he declared he was suffering from terrible skin disease known as the carcinoma of the stomach. He obtained a physician's signature to this statement. The physical examiner could find no visible trace of such a malady, but from a Latin lexicon he evolved this explanation of the student's affliction: "Caro, meaning flesh; sternus, resembling the goose; abmetu from fear, or, freely translated goose flesh from fear."

The authorities, however, did not have sufficient sense of humor to cause them to extend leniency to Rosenstock.

Aviator Gives Up Attempt to Blow Up Mexican Gunboat

DOUGLAS, Ariz., June 3.—A. M. Williams, Douglas aviator, who has been flying with Didier Masson in his Quays experiments, returned to Douglas today and reports that Masson is not able to manipulate his machine at a height sufficient for safety and has given up his attempt to blow up the federal gunboat in Guymas harbor. He says that it has been decided to use the machine only in scout work.

Williams also reports that the state troops are short of ammunition and water and with the exception of skirmishes by the outposts of the two armies, there has been no fighting for the last two weeks. There are 4,500 constitutionalists at Oriz and 1,000 calvarymen at Bama. The federalists recently have received reinforcements of 3,500 new recruits.

MINING PROMOTER CHARGED WITH MISUSE OF THE MAIIS

BOSTON, June 3.—A. Calvin Cruchet, treasurer of the American Securities corporation, was arrested today on an indictment charging him with using the mails in a scheme to defraud in the sale of stock of the Brooklyn-Arizona Mining company. Frederick E. Small, who was jointly indicted with Cruchet, is under arrest at Prescott, Ariz. It is alleged that the defendants disposed of $50,000 worth of the stock and used the proceeds for their personal benefit. Cruchet pleaded not guilty and was held in $5,000 bonds for trial.
