WOOD CASE GOES TO JURY

Judge Instructs it in Law Defining Conspiracy.

MYSTERIOUS DELAY AT OPENING

One Juror is Cloistered with Judge and District Attorney for an Hour Before Court Session Opens.

BOSTON, June 6.—The cases of the alleged dynamite "planting" conspirators, William M. Wood, Frederick E. Atteaux and Dennis J. Collins were given to the jury today.

Judge John C. Crosby instructed the jury to return a verdict on each of the six counts of the indictments, but to find the defendants not guilty on the sixth count, which charges conspiracy to injure certain buildings and other property. No evidence to support this charge has been presented, the court said.

The other counts specify different and distinct offenses, but all have a bearing on the broad accusation that the defendants conspired to injure the cause of the textile strikers at Lawrence by "planting" dynamite on their premises.

VICE INQUIRY IS RESUMED

men who are not capable of earning more than $12 a week. "Perhaps if you paid better wages more bachelors would get married," suggested Senator Beall, former "stork" mayor of Alton, Ill. The witness laughed and went on to explain that the minimum wage for boys at the store is $4 a week.

"You can't get them for less; it's the law of supply and demand." "More wages, more marriages, more boys," observed Senator Beall, raising an eyebrow in the direction of the witness.

The witness said a state law fixing a minimum wage for married men would prove a business handicap compared with states that have no such law.

"Do not environments and home training depend largely on the income of the family?" asked O'Hara. "Not with moral inroads," responded Simpson.

One Question a Power. "How are you going to get good homes without adequate money?" Witness did not reply. Senator Beall stated that about thirty states follow, or are about to follow, the example of Illinois in attaching the vice question through minimum wage inquiries.

O'Hara spent some time in developing the fact that Marshall Field & Co. have a clerk who has been there 50 years and who recently celebrated the fact.

"Now," asked O'Hara gravely, "would you mind telling us how much salary he draws?"

"Six thousand dollars a year and about $200 bonus."

Senator Beall wanted to know whether women and men average equally as sales people. Witness replied that men were better in some departments, women in others. He was asked to prepare a table for submission later to show the relative value of saleswomen as compared with men.

"I don't think it would help you at all," said Simpson, "the conditions under which they are employed are so different."

RAIL COMMISSIONERS MEET

Officers from Eight States in Session at Des Moines.

VALUATION PROBLEM IS UP

Steps Will Be Taken to Have Shippers Represented at Hearings Before Tribunal Making Invoice.

DES MOINES, Ia., June 6.—(Special.)—Eight mid-western states, including Nebraska and Iowa, are represented at a conference of railroad commissioners which opened here for a two days' session this morning, to consider informally that which is declared to be a controversy in which "the stakes are greater than in any controversy ever before submitted to any tribunal since the dawn of civilization."

The conference is to organize, on behalf of the people who pay the freight, so that they shall have representation in the matter of the appraisement of the American railroads as to physical value recently entered upon by the Interstate Commerce commission, assisted by a corps of experts.

There was laid before the conference of commissioners by Chairman Clifford Thorne of the Iowa commission, who is recognized as one of the greatest experts in railroad rate matters of the country, the main facts in regard to this valuation of railroad property. The Interstate Commerce commission has appointed its experts and they are at work, and at a meeting of railroad heads in New York a committee of eighteen was authorized, with President Rea at the head, to look after the railroad side. It was, therefore, urged that the other side take steps to organize.

Only One Side Now Represented. "The deciding tribunal has already commenced its hearings and investigations, assisted by a corps of distinguished experts," Mr. Thorne stated. "One side of the controversy has already effected a national organization, has appointed a committee, with a definite head; has commenced its work and has in its employ the best talent in the world which money can hire; while the other side has no organization whatsoever, is taking no steps to keep in close touch with the early, tentative stages of the investigation; has no men in its employ and will very probably float along in a misty stream of indecision and uncertainty until the last moment, when it will exhibit a most fascinating example of madly hysterical in its feverish anxiety to meet the issues before the case is closed. And so democracy has generally done."

commission will have far reaching effect on railroad regulation in state and nation; that the conclusions will be to a large extent controlling in all future cases involving schedules of rates; and that in this single investigation, now commencing are wrapped up basic issues in scores of future contests of all kinds and character, involving the validity of 2-cent fares, freight schedules and distance tariffs. The findings will play an important part in case of any purchase of the property. They will almost settle all future controversies involving advance in freight rates.

Little May Mean Much. It was shown, also, that a very slight variation in the method pursued as to determining values would make immense difference in the final result. There is no settled method of reaching conclusions as to many of the elements to be considered in valuation.

INFLUENCE EXERTED BY THE PRESIDENT IS REGARDED AS UNDUE

from Colorado, he declared, was evidently directed and financed by interests that would be affected by the tariff bill, but had conducted it in an anonymous manner, so he did not know the real force behind it.

Oliver Owns Steel and Coal. Senator Oliver, owner of 1,000 shares of preferred stock in the United States Steel corporation, told the committee that he did not expect the tariff in any way to affect its value. In addition to the steel stock, Senator Oliver said he had an investment of $1,500,000 in two Pittsburgh newspapers and 7,000 preferred shares in the Pittsburgh Coal company, whose product might be affected by the tariff.

"I never sought to influence any senator in regard to a tariff on any of the articles in which I am concerned," said he, "nor has any one sought to influence me improperly."

shares in the National Biscuit company and no powder stock. "When I came to the senate I had a small amount of stock in the Dupont Powder company, but I disposed of that long ago," said he. "I have never felt it proper, however, for me to take part in any debates in the senate involving powder questions or to talk with senators about the subject."

Senator Dupont said that though he was a member of the senate military committee the company has acted without his co-operation upon legislation concerning powder.

Senator Thomas said he had declined to take part in consideration of the lead and zinc provisions because of his mining interests which include $1,700 worth of stock in the Delmonte Leasing company, $60,000 worth in the Volunteer Mining company and $100,000 in the Creede Mines company, limited.

WOULD BUY THE AUDITORIUM

something like this without letting the people vote on it, but we've had it handed to us so often that I want the people to see just what those fellows have been doing," said the mayor.

It is probable the council will arrange to submit the proposition of voting $250,000 to buy and maintain the Auditorium to the people at the same election at which the gas compromise came up.

John J. Ryder, police commissioner, agreed with the mayor that it was stretching the imagination to try to believe Saunders and Dodge didn't know what they were doing. "No doubt they knew," said the police commissioner. "However, I'm willing to carry the blame if we can have some means of finding out about how the people stand on these bonds. Still, we have so many things, I'm a little leary of shouldering an additional burden. This Auditorium will be costly."
