SHAHAN VISITS PRISON

Says Finds Conditions Much Improved There.

NO "DOPE" NOW TO BE HAD

Secretary of State Board of Charities and Corrections Makes Report on What He Finds.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 25.—(Special.)—Following instructions of Governor Morehead, Secretary J. N. Shahan of the State Board of Charities and Corrections visited the state penitentiary this week and has made a report of conditions he found there. According to the report Secretary Shahan found a very much improved condition as regards the use of "dope," and, in fact, reports that no dope can be secured by any one. On account of this, he discovered a much better condition of things among the prisoners and a tendency to look forward to better things. He says: "Today there are confined in the penitentiary 22 male and three female prisoners. Of this number there are fifty employed in the chair factory and 125 in the broom factory, and the remainder are employed in the yards and on the farm, unless sick."

During the summer the Warden informs me, he put a number of the men in the gardens and corn fields, upon their honor, without any guards, and during the threshing season permitted them to go as far as three or four miles with teams to help farmers do their threshing, about forty percent of them were employed, and was pleased to say that not a man had betrayed his confidence and none tried to escape.

There are 26 cells and each cell is provided with two beds, a wash bowl and toilet, and some of the cells are very artistically decorated with pictures, etc., according to the taste of its occupant. The rooms in the female department are large, comfortable rooms and are well looked after by the matron.

No Dope to Be Had. I talked with a number of the prisoners about the smuggling of "dope," both with men who had been addicted to its use and with those who said they never had used it, and in each instance they told me there was none to be had—a very commendable state of affairs.

Need of More Cattle. The institution now owned about thirty head of cattle, about fifteen of them giving milk. I would suggest that they ought to have a herd of about forty or fifty good dairy cows, so that the prisoners might be able to have milk to drink and butter to eat. The labor of taking care of such a herd could be done by the prisoners without expense to the state.

The menu for today was prepared before I reached the penitentiary and is as follows: Breakfast—hash, green onions, bread, coffee. Dinner—beef, mashed potatoes, gravy, sliced best pickles, bread, coffee. Supper—hamburger, mashed potatoes, gravy, green onions, bread. In mingling with the prisoners one sees more clearly the need of a reformatory, where young men and first offenders can be separated from the old, hardened criminals. This reformatory was provided for by the last legislature and everybody who is interested in fallen humanity will welcome the day when it is built and ready for occupancy.

DEATH RECORD

J. O. Jeffrey. WYOMORE, Neb., Oct. 25.—(Special.)—The funeral of J. O. Jeffrey, who died at his home here Wednesday evening, was held this afternoon from the Methodist church. Kohl of McFarland, Kan., was married to G. D. Pogues of the same place. Rev. R. N. Orrill of the Methodist church officiated. Mr. and Mrs. Pogues will make their home at Phillipsburg, Kan.

Onaca-Wendlandt. FAIRBURY, Neb., Oct. 25.—(Special.)—A very quiet home wedding was solemnized west of Fairbury near Gladstone at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. Wendlandt, when their daughter, Miss Bertha, was married to August Onaca of this county. Rev. Mr. Ziegel officiated. Miss Minnie Wendlandt was bridesmaid and George Onaca best man. Mr. and Mrs. Onaca will go to housekeeping on a farm in this county.

FLASHING LIGHTS FOR POLICE

Call Box Signals Designed to Increase the Efficiency of Patrolmen.

Marking one of the most advanced and important steps in the methods of police signaling ever adopted by any large city, it was announced at New York police headquarters that Commissioner Waldo had just started the installation of a system of colored lights which will be flashed at a call box when a policeman is needed in a particular locality.

As complete as the system has been up to date, Commissioner Waldo felt that there was one important feature overlooked, in that while the policemen on the various posts could reach the precinct houses any time they wanted to in an emergency, the station house could not reach the man on post unless he happened to be near the box when the bell sounded or chanced to be at the telephone just at the moment he was wanted. The lights will be connected with the call boxes and so box in such a position that they may be seen by the policemen when several blocks away. In many cases, as at present, the fixed post men are stationed close to the call boxes, but in other instances they are several blocks away and unable to hear the tinkle of the gong when the station is trying to reach them. When an emergency call comes to a station house it is frequently necessary to send a reserve man to the man on post with instructions, or lose time in waiting for him to call up. By the new system a light will flash red and the policeman will know at a second's notice that he is needed for some emergency duty.

An idea of the immense saving in time and energy and in increased protection to the public may be gained when it is recalled that during the year 1912 667,179 messages were transmitted by the telegraph bureau of the police department. Each of these necessitated an average of six connections, making in all 3,603,574 telephone connections established through police department switchboards, all of which required supervision by the operators. Much of this voluminous work has been eliminated by the establishment of branch detective offices at the various precinct station houses and the forwarding of as many printed messages as possible. There are now 150 patrol signal boxes in the various boroughs—42 in Manhattan, 25 in the Bronx, 17 in Brooklyn and ten in Queens, and with the stations able to reach the men by light signal it means that each box will be a protection station at all times, when the policeman is away from it and when he is near it.—New York Herald.

TO SHOW MODERN WARFARE

Army and Navy Will Give Big Exhibit at Madison Square.

EVERYTHING UP TO THE DOT

Maneuvers to Be Elaborated by Twelve Distinct Features of the Various Branches of Militia.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—All the methods of modern warfare will be shown to the public by regular soldiers, sailors and militia at the military tournament to be held at Madison Square garden on November 3 to 8, under the auspices of the Military Athletic league. There will be twelve distinct military features, taking in the infantry, cavalry and field artillery of the United States army, the naval militia, the National Guard, the Boy Scouts of America, together with drills and exhibitions by the police and fire departments as military auxiliaries. President Wilson has been invited formally to open the tournament, which will have for its honorary guests Secretary of War Garrison and Secretary of the Navy Daniels. Many of the highest officers of the army and navy will be present.

In connection with the tournament there will be a huge camp in which a detachment of regular soldiers will live as in war time with kitchens and tents open to visitors who desire to know how an army is fed and kept in a sanitary condition showing the actual use of field artillery, quick firing guns and high power military rifles. There will be cavalry charges, advances and retreats, entrenchments will be thrown up and trenches dug in an artificial field. The use of the searchlight in war will be fully demonstrated. The Twenty-second regiment engineers will blow up bridges and the first signal corps will demonstrate the new army wireless pack train, showing the high-powered field wireless equipment keeping every unit of an army in perfect communication in and out of action. Captain W. L. Hallahan, who will have charge of this exhibit, will carry a permanent wireless station at the garden. As many features of foreign army equipment as possible will be shown.

The new modified tactics and army equipment adopted by the Army War college at Washington will be demonstrated by the infantry company organized under the direction of Major General John F. O'Ryan, head of the New York National Guard. This is said to be the most perfectly organized and drilled infantry in the country and comprises 150 highly trained men.

HUMAN MOLES IN NEW YORK

Over a Million People Spend All or Part of Their Lives Underground.

"From 1,000,000 to 1,750,000 of the residents of New York City spend at least a portion of each day underground, and many thousands come to the surface so rarely that the light of day blinds them when they reach it," says Leo L. Redburn in Popular Mechanics Magazine, discussing this phase of modern city life. Mr. Redburn adds: "So accustomed has New York become to the idea of living underground that only a few days ago a public celebration was held when a new underground passageway was opened. The newest tunnel, costing many thousands of dollars, was dug to give the people who live near the Hudson river and in the neighborhood of One Hundred and Eighty-first street an opportunity to pass beneath the hills from their homes to the subway, by which means they travel to the lower end of Manhattan island, to Brooklyn, and, by means of a transfer to New Jersey. Until this underground cutoff was opened the citizens had to walk about 1,000 feet up and down hill, breathing the good outdoor air. Now they will make the same trip underground through a damp, dimly passageway, and because they save a few hundred feet and a bit of exertion consider themselves fortunate."

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Johnson of Bloomington, Ill., and guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Johnson. Miss Ruth Anderson and Mr. Bernard Johnson were united in marriage last night at the home of Mrs. A. F. Beebe, 204 California street.

W. H. Shanks' Scottsburg, Ind., Home.

Most of our testimonials are old acquaintances. That is to say, we have been in correspondence with them ten or fifteen years. Mr. Shanks, however, is a new comer. He is an old friend of Peruna, but he never called our attention to the fact until very lately. We welcome him to the host of users and believers in Peruna. His appearance speaks for itself, and his letter reads: "It affords me great pleasure to inform you of the good results I have derived from the use of your excellent remedy, Peruna. I had catarrh of the stomach and bowels for twelve years and tried many remedies with only temporary relief. I was induced to try Peruna, and after taking six bottles I was completely relieved. I had taken almost three bottles before I could see that I was receiving any benefit, but when I had taken the six bottles I was completely relieved, and I feel very grateful to Peruna, and I have recommended it to quite a number of my friends. I still take a bottle every spring. My wife has used it with good results. You can use this or any part of it if you see fit. I enclose photo; also photo of my house. Yours, W. H. Shanks."

Mr. Shanks' story is very similar to many others. A long slide of chronic catarrh. A long list of failures in trying to find a remedy. Finally a friend induces the patient to try Peruna. Sometimes the first bottle gives relief. Other times a number of bottles must be taken. This is the story that has come to us from every state in the Union, and from many of the English-speaking countries scattered through the world.

If it is not true that Peruna really does relieve catarrh of the head, throat, lungs, stomach, bowels and other organs, then why do the thousands of testifiers state that they have been benefited? No one is in a better position to know than they who have used it in their sickness. We appreciate their loyalty to their convictions. We also appreciate the gratitude which induces them to allow their names and pictures to be used for the benefit of the public. The exact truth is all we want. That is all we publish. We could not possibly be induced to publish anything else. Peruna is a great remedy, we believe. A standard household remedy. There are millions of other families who, if they knew of Peruna and its value, would not be without a bottle in the home. Those who object to liquid medicines can now procure Peruna Tablets.
