

Wife Society

By MELLIFICIA. Tuesday, May 4, 1915.

THE formal opening of the sport days has brought forth unusual and not to say attractive style regalia.

With the Omaha devotee it is still the silk sweater that holds full sway.

The popular sport coat, made of the lightweight velours and sporting wool materials now enjoying a sensational vogue in the east has not yet come into its own in Omaha.

At yesterday's first tournament of the Woman's Golf association all were seen in sweaters.

Mrs. Bruce Moffat, president of the association, wore a tango shade sweater, with trimmings of black. Mrs. Shields wore an outfit, entirely of grey—grey corduroy skirt, grey shoes and grey silk sweater.

Mrs. Walter Silver had on an attractive silk sweater in a deep rose shade. Mrs. E. H. Sprague was all in white, with white wool sweater. Miss Daphne Peters wore a golden and brown sweater; Miss Elizabeth Davis one of emerald green; Miss Gladys Peters and Miss Menie Davis were seen in the new plaids. Miss Peters wore one of green and black plaid and Miss Davis a black and white check.

May Party.
A May party was given in honor of Helen Gould Saturday. The afternoon was spent in games and a May pole was one of the main features. The decorations were in red, white and blue, and the guests present were:

PLUMBERS MEET FOR LOVE FEAST

Masters and Journeymen Hold a Real "Get-Together" Meeting, with Good Results.

COREY TELLS OF PRINTERS

Master plumbers and journeymen followed the lead by the printers last fall, when they met in conference last week and had a veritable love feast, sixty master plumbers appearing with 266 journeymen. The meeting was composed of association and non-association master plumbers and union and nonunion journeymen, four previously antagonistic elements gathered at one session.

C. E. Corey, a printer, in speaking on the cost system showed what had been accomplished in the printing trades, but professed ignorance of the plumbing end, although he was certain that just as much good could be brought about among the plumbers and fitters. He spoke of the necessity of the employers and the men being in sympathy with each other and each working to the others' interests.

To Meet Together.
F. A. Kennedy, editor of the Western Laborer, gave out some new ideas. He elaborated on the thought that the plumbing industry had plenty of men in it, both master and journeymen, sufficiently intelligent to sit together around a table and work out the problems of the craft in a way that would bring prosperity and contentment to both. After these two had shown the way of "getting together" the ice was broken and all speakers followed in the same vein with the result that a better feeling was brought about. Among the speakers were John Morrissey, chairman of the conference board from the master plumbers; George Rowe, president of No. 16, Plumbers' association; Al C. Wetzel, city plumbing inspector; Harry McVea of the health department; John Schofer, vice president of the newly organized steam fitters' union, and John Fetek.

It is said that good results of the meeting were noticeable the next morning.

BUY SHINGLES AT HOME IS PLEA OF LUMBERMEN

Lumbermen are being approached with an appeal that they buy shingles only in the United States this year instead of going into the Canadian lumber country for them. No, it is not exactly a "buy a bale of shingles" campaign, for the shingle situation nowhere near approached the situation the cotton industry faced in the south since the war. But it is just a campaign seeking the more strictly to establish a patronize-home-industry practice.

Bee Want Ads produce results.

No, there is no good reason why some people unthinkingly put off the purchase of a cemetery lot until the Fates say, "You shall!"

Truth is, it is much more the custom these days to make provision for the future in this respect, the same as you do in the matter of life insurance, will-making, etc.

You don't have to be an intending lot-purchaser, however, to appreciate the Spring beauty and attractiveness of West Lawn Cemetery. West Lawn Cemetery is a delightful trip.

ENGER

Light Six--50

The Choice of Discriminating People

Ask any one of the rapidly increasing family of Enger owners hereabouts what degree of satisfaction they extract from their ownership and you will learn why the ENGER Light Six-50 is an unusual car.

The ENGER Six, though light in weight (2865 lbs. fully equipped) has a wheel base of 125 inches; a powerful, long stroke, silent motor, speed for the straight away and flexibility of from two to sixty miles without change of gear.

Comfort is built in the Enger Six from the chassis up, with long 54-inch Vanadium springs, seats are designed at an angle, giving extreme comfort, and are upholstered 12 and 10 inches deep, with only high grade leather, flexible springs and genuine hair used.

So insistent has been the demand for this great car that we were forced to seek an extension to our 1915 allotment of cars and we have succeeded in securing 110 additional cars for this territory. When that allotment is exhausted you will be unable to buy a 1915 Enger here. Better place your order now and know the real enjoyment of motoring.

The Enger Six will make you proud of your selection
