

Feature Acts with Barnum & Bailey Circus Here July 26

Lion Cub

Eighty-six extra long railway cars, divided into five special trains, carrying the circus will reach Omaha on Monday, July 26.

Interest in the performances of the Barnum & Bailey Greatest Show on Earth is manifest. This particular combination has always given the public a satisfactory circus performance. The riders, gymnasts and daring specialists of one kind and another, are said to be the most expert in their several professions. Many of the artists in this season's program make their first bow to an American audience. There are 420 circus performers appearing in the arena show and more than 1,000 rare wild animals in the zoological collection. There are 1,200 people connected with the great undertaking. Of the above mentioned 420 circus performers, fifty are clowns, which indicates that hilarious merriment will be an agreeable element in the varied program. A feature of the ring performance will be the first appearance in America of Italy's famous comic equestrian, the rider who made all Europe laugh, Signor Bagonghi, the Apollo Belvidere of the circus arena; John Fuller's sixteen Turkey trotting stallions; the beautiful spectacular pageant, "Lalla Rookh," a new feature this season; Milla Adie and her group of trained lions; Pallenberg's wonder bears, riding bicycles, roller skating and aerial performances; Madam Bradna with her troupe of trained dogs, horses and ponies; Marcella's trained macaws, ravens and cockatoos.

Mayor Dahlman Has Proclaimed July 5 to Be Holiday Here

Mayor Dahlman has issued the following proclamation and warning for Monday, declaring it a holiday:

PROCLAMATION. Whereas We are about to celebrate the one hundred and thirty-ninth anniversary of our independence, and whereas many of the nations of Europe are at war while we are at peace and prosperity within our own borders;

Therefore, it is most fitting that we observe this anniversary with profound appreciation of all the blessings we enjoy, and to that end, and by virtue of the authority conferred upon me, as mayor of the city of Omaha, I do hereby proclaim Monday, July 5, a holiday, and urge upon our citizens a general observance of the event in a spirit of appreciation of the achievements of those who made the day possible.

Let our celebration be patriotic, but peaceful; may good order prevail and thoughtfulness for others prevent accident or undue alarm.

Let there be no discharge of fireworks or other explosives in any alley, back yard or other confined space. Let there be no discharge of cannons, pistols, revolvers or dynamite upon the streets or in the alleys of our city.

Whether the day be spent with the family circle at home, or in one of our beautiful parks, or at our lake shores, with the thundering automobiles at our disposal, or the physical stunts at our disposal, let all be done decently and in order, to the glory of our country and the fair name of our city.

NEGRO HIT ON HEAD WITH A BRICK DIES

Frank Williams Rendered Unconscious, but Recovers and Thinks Nothing of Blow.

PASSES AWAY FEW HOURS LATER

Frank Williams, colored, otherwise known as "Speedy," died at his home, 1427 Twenty-first street, yesterday as the result of being struck on the head with a brick Friday evening while sitting in the Oriental show of the Allman Bros. Carnival company, Twenty-first and Paul streets. Williams was porter in the saloon at Ninth and Davenport streets, where a Mexican was shot and killed a week ago.

According to the story of Eva Nelson, 118 North Seventeenth street, and Mayne Broomfield, 25 North Eleventh street, who accompanied him to the performance, the brick was thrown through the top of the tent. This statement is substantiated by George Klinton, aged 17 years, who travels with the show and asserts he chased four small boys away from the canvas who were hurling missiles at its top.

Through information furnished them by Theodore Mitchell, aged 11 years, 2904 Paul street, the detectives investigating the case brought Albert Bell, aged 15 years, living at Twenty-fifth and Michigan avenue, to the station. Bell, it is asserted, knows who threw the brick. Klinton is also being held.

Williams was rendered unconscious by the blow, but soon recovered and went home laughing and joking about the affair. When he arose he complained of severe pains in the head and in a few moments fell over unconscious. He died a short time later.

Judge Redick Holds Appeal Fees Must Be Paid in Advance

A decision by District Judge Redick, upholding the clerk of the district court in refusing to accept appeals from sentences of the police judge unless fees are paid, just rendered, insured permanence of a reform which has eliminated many of the abuses involved in the past in the methods and customs of the police court.

County Auditor Barnett first raised the point, maintaining that free appeals to police court defendants were costing the public $200 a month. Following a ruling from the county attorney's office, the clerk declined to accept the appeals unless fees were first paid.

A test case was brought which was decided by Judge Redick. Owing to the fact that police judges have been accustomed to accept appeal bonds without investigation, practically all of which were worthless, thousands of persons convicted in police court have gone unpunished as the result of appeals. Under the new system offenders will be at least required to pay costs of appeals, which amount to several dollars in each case.

The Union Pacific, Omaha, Northwestern and Missouri Pacific will have extra equipment from points as far as 150 miles from Omaha. None of the officials of the Omaha roads will attempt to estimate the number of visitors coming to the city, but they assert that there will be many thousands of them.

FIND WASTE IN HOSPITALS

Dr. Irving S. Cutler, Dr. O. T. Schulz and John Latenser, Jr., Inspect Many Institutions.

FIND NONE THEY WOULD COPY

Dr. Irving S. Cutler, secretary of the University of Nebraska Medical college; Dr. O. T. Schulz, pathologist of that college, and John Latenser, Jr., architect for the new state clinical hospital that is to be built at the school, have just returned from a tour of a week through the hospitals in Chicago, Indianapolis, Cincinnati and St. Louis to gather ideas for the new hospital to be built here.

"We found no hospital we can copy," said Secretary Cutler. "Economy of construction, economy of maintenance, those two, together with the best possible care for state patients and the best facility for medical teaching, will be the aim of the regents in the construction of this building. We found the rankest extravagance in the hospitals everywhere we went. In some of them we found marble floors, marble wainscoting, marble stairs, marble balustrades, and marble and that, all of which was not necessary. The cost of keeping the marble alone clean and polished in one of these institutions we found to be as much as we expect to have to spend in keeping our entire building clean."

"In fact we expect now to be able to build with our $150,000 available—a structure that will do for each patient all that any of these eastern hospitals have done, and we expect to do it with from one-third to one-half the cost of maintenance these hospitals have."

The general architectural outline of the present laboratory building of the College of Medicine at Forty-second and Harney streets are to be followed. The interior details have not yet been worked out. John Latenser, who accompanied the party visiting the hospitals, has made many sketches, and the plans are expected to be finally approved now before long.

In Chicago the party visited the new Cook County hospital, the Sarah Morris, the Michael Reese and St. Luke's. In Indianapolis they visited the Robert W. Long, which is the state hospital in connection with the University of Indiana; and the Indianapolis City hospital. At Cincinnati they visited the Cincinnati General hospital, for which the city bonded itself in the sum of $4,000,000. This hospital has 800 beds. They visited also another hospital just now under construction there. In St. Louis they visited the New Barnes hospital, which is the teaching hospital for Washington university.
