John L. Kennedy Says Everything in Nebraska Points to Republican Year.

WHO MAY ENTER OTHER RACES

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Sept. 10.—(Special.)—John L. Kennedy of Omaha, candidate for the republican nomination for the United States senate arrived in the city last night and was visiting at the fair today.

Mr. Kennedy is much pleased with the reception he is receiving over the state and feels that republicans in Nebraska need not fear the result of the election of the right man are nominated for the office. He received many assurances of support from republicans with whom he came in contact from out in the state who are attending the fair.

It is understood that M. A. Hostettler, who has represented Buffalo county two terms in the legislature, will be a candidate for lieutenant governor. This is the information given out by those who have talked with him in the time he has been attending the fair.

The petition signed around Agricultural hall urging E. M. Pollard to enter the race for the republican nomination for governor, has not yet convinced that gentleman that he ought to enter the race.

"I will have to think it over a while before I make up my mind," he said to The Bee this morning.

Musical Features of the State Fair Proving Popular

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 10.—(Special.)—The first treatment toward the Nebraska National Guard, with headquarters at Lincoln, has been in great demand. It is under the direction of Captain Fred Thornburg, one of the well known musical directors of the state. While composed mostly of young musicians, they have been so well instructed by their directors that few bands in the state compare with them.

Conditions attending the food service at the fair have been improved. Lunch stations seemed to have the idea that the pure food department of the state had been put out of business. Consequently when Commissioner Harman and his deputies appeared proprietors said:

"We didn't know you were going to be here this year." "Sure, we will fix things up, just as you want them." As a consequence these places are all screened in, the cooking plates are covered with a glass case and everything is just as neat and as possible under the conditions which exist.

The New England Girls, a musical organization, furnished music the whole week at Agricultural hall, drawing big crowds. The organization is composed of six young women, and every one is a real 'Chap Chd' product, a descendant of the Pilgrim forefathers, and entitled to the name they carry.

Miss Hannah Gore is director and leads the organization on the violins. They are covering the western part of the country on the Chautauque returns and will leave here for Chicago, returning to Boston in October.

It has been one of the most popular of the musical organizations at the state fair.
