

PLOW DEAD ASIDE TO LET LIVING BY

German Correspondent Tells Thrilling Story of Storming of Grodno.

FIRE DESCRIBED AS TERRIFIC

BERLIN, Sept. 12 (Via London.)

The laconic announcement by the German general staff, in a bulletin issued September 3, that Grodno had been captured after house-to-house fighting left the public without details of the capture of the fortress up to the present time.

The correspondent approached the city from the southwest on the evening of September 2. He entered the section of the city south of the Niemen river, but was unable to cross as pontoons had not yet been built there and the Russians had destroyed the high iron bridges.

The night scene at the water's edge was one of unparalleled grandeur, says Dr. Steiner. "The river, skirted by rows of houses on bluffs 100 feet high, was illuminated by exploding shells, the broad stream sending up everywhere jets of water from the shell fragments.

The morning collection amounted to $872.

SUNDAY SCORES VARIOUS ISMS IN VERBAL HOT FIRE

tion. Sunday blamed immigrants who fall to adopt American ideas.

"They make our public schools a clearing house for paying petty political debts," he said, "I am chagrined to learn that Nebraska does not place the Bible in its schools."

Concerning a proposal for "trial marriages," Sunday said:

"Such rotten hell-broth doctrines never prevail."

"Mr. and Mrs. Newly-wed, limited, on the hotel registers," he exclaimed and sneered.

Committees Chided. Sunday chided members of various committees who, he said, have failed to do the work allotted to them and requested them to notify the management of the revival if they found themselves unable to perform their duties.

The number of persons who have been attending prayer meetings has been disappointing, he declared, and added that he never saw fewer persons attend the prayer meetings than in Omaha.

It was announced that next Saturday afternoon the sermon will be for young persons, especially, both boys and girls. Collections have not been up to expectation, said "Billy" Sunday and Rev. Titus Lowe.

The morning collection amounted to $872.

VIENNA ADMITS FORCES HURLED BACK BY SLAVS

Russia so far as this year is concerned, and that they must now look to the defense of their present lines. It is reported, as is I, that they are already reorganizing the fortifications of Kovno, which are threatened by the Russian offensive northwest of Vilna.

2,500,000 Men on Line. The Russians estimate that the Austro-Germans have 2,500,000 men on their front, twenty-eight corps being in the Baltic and the Lithuanian region. Included in this army are eleven Austrian and nine German cavalry divisions.

The Italians, like their western allies, are heavily bombarding their opponents' line with artillery, doubtless in an effort to find a weak spot to attack.

The request of the American government for the recall of the Austro-Hungarian ambassador, Dr. Dumba, and the report that other official representatives may be similarly dealt with, is creating great interest in England.

GRAND ISLAND PLANS TO HOLD CENTRAL FAIR

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Sept. 12.—(Special.)—The board of nineteen directors of the Central Nebraska Agricultural association has everything in readiness for the second annual fair to be held beginning Tuesday and continuing till Friday of this week.

This association is directed largely by the farmers of the county and they have valiantly remained on the job despite damages by storm and other setbacks.

There has been but one disappointment thus far, the refusal to them by the such refusal being on the ground of the risk incurred. But the local fairs company has been permitted to vacate its other schedule and during every afternoon of fair week put all of its seven cars on the fair ground trip, the company giving service for 10 cents per trip. It is believed that many other automobiles will be put into service at the same time.

The reports from the directors, there being one for every township in the county, indicate a large attendance and a greatly increased number of exhibits over last year. The raising department already has a much larger number of entries.

LINCOLN CARPENTER IS SHOT BY HIS WIFE

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Sept. 12.—(Special.)—James Sudduth, a Lincoln carpenter, was shot by his wife about 11 o'clock last night while standing at a street corner.

But one shot was fired, the bullet entering Sudduth's back at the seventh rib and plowed its way almost through his body. Unless some vital spot was struck he may recover.

According to the story of Sudduth his wife had armed herself with a revolver that afternoon and had gone out in search of Police Judge Patterson. Some time ago a daughter of Mrs. Sudduth by a former marriage brought suit against the police judge for alleged dealing with her daughter and at the case had not progressed to her satisfaction she had made up her mind to get even with the judge. He claimed the charge against the judge was trumped up affair.

Sudduth and his wife had been quarreling on the street a few moments before the shot was fired and when the shot was fired they were standing close together, the woman having the gun, a .38-calibre revolver in a scarf.

POLITICS TO TAKE STAGE CENTER NOW

State Treasurer Hall About Decided Not to Continue Letter-Writing Game.

DEMOCRATS SEE ALL GLOOM

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Sept. 12.—(Special.)—Now that the state fair of 1915 has gone out in a blaze of glory, it is expected that politics will step in and take up some of the interest, provided that the state does not democratic inroads does not continue to be the leading topic of discussion.

While State Treasurer Hall has about decided not to continue the controversy with the other state officers over the bond and other bones of contention, he has said that the statement made by the governor as to the division of the $1,000 premium was true, but that he himself received none of it. His reasons for doing this, he says, was to break a combine which had existed in former years in regard to the treasurer's bond.

This combination, according to the state treasurer, was not to keep the price up, but to keep the local agents from getting any. Instead of being a $1,000 premium which was divided, it was $1,500, Martin Ross, of Omaha, receiving $500, and Judge England retaining $100 and the same amount going to H. J. Murray, vice president of the Hall bank at Franklin; another $300 to John H. Hall, a brother of the state treasurer, at Vardon, and $200 each to W. C. Dorsey, an attorney at Bloomington, and James Conklin, a real estate man at Franklin.

Pollard Not Decided. As to politics, as it developed at the state fair, the attempt to get Ernest M. Pollard of Nebraska into the race for governor by the agricultural interests and the announcement of Charlie Clancy that ex-State Treasurer Walter George would sure be a candidate were the most important announcements. Mr. Pollard does not know whether he wants to get in or not. The constant urging of the representatives of agriculture that he enter the race kept him up in the air.

Outside of the announcement of his friend and co-worker, Clancy, that he would enter the race for the republican nomination, ex-State Treasurer George would give little assurance. Mr. George is now a resident of Omaha, and possibly the non-success of Omaha politicians to get elected to state office in past years may be bothering him a little.

The announcement that Representative M. A. Hostetter of Shelton would enter the race for lieutenant governor was the only announcement made for that place, although it is expected that there will be others.

Lieutenant Governor McKelvie will make no announcement. It is generally felt that he will enter the race for the republican nomination for governor, but when solicited to say whether he would or not, he simply replied, "If I am going to be a candidate, it would be too early now to make the announcement."

The name of J. H. Kemp has been mentioned also as a possible candidate. However, the Fullerton statesman is not likely to get into the race. If he does, it will take considerable coaxing to get him to announce himself. In a letter to a Lincoln friend he does not appear to care to get into the race, as his personal legal business demands so much of his attention that he does not care to sacrifice for political honors just now, especially when the prospects are that there will be much good material to pick from anyway.

Ex-Governor Chester H. Aldrich, candidate for the United States senate, has taken time by the forelock and already has his picture adorning the telephone poles and other public places. He expects to make a strong personal campaign.

John L. Kennedy is much pleased with his visit to the state fair. Not only did the big pumpkins and apples look good to him, but the way his campaign for the United States senatorship looked to those he came in contact with pleased him more.

On the democratic side of the political fence all is gloom. Even the most sanguine can see nothing but political disaster for any follower of Thomas Jefferson who may try to run for office next year. The Bryan-Hitchcock factional fight alone would probably have been enough to have settled the chances for Nebraska going democratic on national affairs, and the state treasurer-other state officers' embroils has taken the heart out of those who were still hoping that there would be a chance to re-elect state officers of the democratic persuasion.

The result is that mightily few members of the intimidated are banking much on running for office, and they are all holding back in hopes that the party muddle may be fixed up some way. They do not seem to be anxious to make a fight for anything in the way of empty honors and political death.

STATE WILL DROP CASE AGAINST DR. B. C. HYDE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 12.—The state's case against Dr. B. Clarke Hyde, charged with the murder of Colonel Thomas H. Scope, millionaire philanthropist, probably will be dismissed when it is called in the criminal court here next Monday. The prosecuting attorney's office announced today it did not have the money to obtain experts to testify.

Dr. Hyde has been tried three times. He was convicted of first degree murder at his first trial, but the supreme court remanded the case. At the second hearing a juror excused from the custody of the court officials, while the trial was going on. A third jury disagreed.

GOVERNMENT EMPLOYE AT SIOUX FALLS ENDS LIFE

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Sept. 12.—(Special Telegram.)—William Eckert, 21 years of age, for several months an attaché of the government building in this city, committed suicide today by opening a gas jet in his room. No reason is known for the act. His financial condition was good. When last seen alive he was unusually jovial and last evening attended a pavement dance and appeared to enjoy the sport.

A note left by him indicated his intentions to end his life and asked that his father, Theodore Eckert of Fort Pierre, be notified. A sister visited him only last week while on her way to attend college in Nebraska.

Berlin Papers Laud Wilson's Moderation In the Dumba Affair

BERLIN, (Via London), Sept. 12.—The Berlin newspapers, after seeing the American note to Austria requiring the recall of the Austrian ambassador to the United States, Dr. Constantin Theodor Dumba, having read the letter from Dr. Dumba to Baron Burian, Austrian minister of foreign affairs, which caused the sending of the note, discuss the matter with greater reserve.

The Tageblatt says the fact can not be mistaken that the American government has taken pains to keep the note in friendly tones, which, in a measure, smooth over the painful affair. The paper states to the fact that Washington asks, not demands, the recall of Dumba and wishes a continuance of friendly relations.

The Tageblatt says it sees a striking analogy between the present case and that of Lord Sackville West, British ambassador to the United States, during the Cleveland administration. The minister was demanded by President Cleveland and who was handed his passports, and yet Great Britain saw no occasion to treat the matter as of great political significance. The paper says that the present case still less contains elements for political friction.

The Fressische Zeitung also notes that Washington avoids the more abrupt course of demanding the recall of Dr. Dumba, dissolving personal relations and handing him his passports, which it says, is admissible in such cases.

Bank Robbers Leave Most of the Treasure

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Sept. 12.—Half an hour after closing time at the Farmers and Merchants bank, 250 Corcoranville road, Greenville, a suburb of Sioux City, three masked men late today entered the place, held up the assistant cashier, Ralph M. Tritts, at the point of a gun and escaped with nearly $20,000.

Washington avoided the more abrupt course of demanding the recall of Dr. Dumba, dissolving personal relations and handing him his passports, which it says, is admissible in such cases.

UNIVERSITY OF OMAHA Ready to Start in on Its Seventh Year

The seventh consecutive year for the University of Omaha is scheduled to commence Wednesday, September 15. Indications point to the largest registration in the history of the school. Though registration day will not be until Tuesday, more than fifty students have already enrolled. The university will be patronized by many of the small surrounding towns as shown by the interest many high school graduates are taking in the Omaha institution. A large number of South Omaha, Council Bluffs and Omaha high school graduates are also assured.

As Hedrick and Jacobs memorial halls are expected to be crowded, additional room space has been secured by the rearranging and enlarging of many rooms. Both buildings have been overhauled and renovated.

Nearly all the teachers who have been turned out of the city for the summer have returned and, with the exception of the science and English departments, the staff will be the same as last year. The professors and their departments, as given out by President Jenkins, are:

DECLARES TOM TAGGART COLLECTED SLUSH FUND

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 12.—Methods, by which the so-called machine candidates were nominated in the primary of May 5, 1915, were related by Prosecutor A. J. Rucker, who continued at today's session of the trial of Mayor James S. Bell for election conspiracy, his opening statement. He also told the jury that Thomas Taggart, who was indicted with the mayor and more than 100 others, "collected a slush fund of about $1,000 from business men, which was not accounted for in any of the campaign expenses reports, as required by law."

The prosecutor also declared that the evidence would show that Samuel V. Perrot, chief of police, also indicted, "accepted bribes from saloon and brothel keepers, permitting them to ply their nefarious trades, in order to get money for the slush fund" and that Mayor Bell "blackmailed many citizens of the county, threatening them with arrest, to add to the fund."

SHOT MEANT FOR A BIRD KILLS JANDA

Walter Cervey, 17, Confesses Bringing Down Man as He Emptied New Shotgun.

HEARS BODY FALL, THEN RUNS

"Yes, I heard a dull thud after I fired that last shot," Walter Cervey, 17-year-old South Side boy, held on a charge of shooting to death Joe Janda, South Side grape picker, who was found dead on a hillside near Child's Point Monday afternoon, told Captain Anton Vanous of the police department at the South Side station yesterday afternoon. With faltering tones the lad continued: "I rushed forward, saw a blue shirt through the grapevine. Then I got scared and ran all the way home."

After a four-day search Sheriff Hutter of Sarpy county and Detective Mike Gillen of the South Side police force finally ran down a clue that led to the confession of the boy who had accidentally done the fatal shooting.

Uses New Shotgun. Young Cervey, with his father, had bought a new 16-gauge shotgun at the Savik hardware store at Twenty-first and B streets Saturday night. Early Sunday morning, at 8 o'clock, he departed from home and went on a hunt in the direction of the river. Proceeding along the river bank he came to a point near Child's Point, where his path was crossed by a large black bird of some kind. After firing at the creature and thinking it had fallen dead on the hillside, he ran up the hill from the tracks and came near the grape pickers, who were at that time engaged in picking grapes. He was, however, unaware of their presence.

In his search for the fallen bird Cervey suddenly saw another smaller bird in a grapevine just ahead of him. Raising his gun he fired and a moment later heard the thud of a body as it struck the ground. The man shot was Joe Janda. He had been less than twenty feet away at the time and was high up in a tree near the grapevines.

Sees Human Across Field. Farmer Larsen, who described a young lad of the same description as Cervey as running across a millet field just east of the place of the fatal accident, later identified the lad. At first the boy refused to admit that he had shot a man, falling to tell, in the first interview with police officials, of firing at the second smaller bird in a grape vine. After going over the ground with Sheriff Hutter and Detective Gillen yesterday afternoon, he included this incident in his story, and a question by Captain Vanous later brought out the complete confession.

County Attorney Nicholson of Sarpy county, Captain Briggs and other officers were in the captain's office at the time of the confession. Nicholson will not prosecute unless other evidence develops, believing that the youth is telling the truth and the shooting was merely an accident.

Boy Has Clean Record. Cervey's parents live at 480 South Nineteenth street. When the boy was arrested by police officers his mother became hysterical. His father works at the Armour Packing company, while he himself works in a store at Seventeenth and Vinton streets. The boy has a clean record and is well known among the homeboys of the Brown park district, South Side. Sheriff Hutter took charge of the shotgun and shells that remained from the day's hunt and will hold them in case of further emergency.

It was upon the information and description of Farmer Larsen that the clue to the buying of the new shotgun by the boy was obtained.
