Trotter Burned to Death.

One trotter, Alice Traveler, owned by Allen & Fields of Fremont, burned to death. This mare was entered for the 2:30 race here and was a winner in one of the events on the state fair track at Lincoln. Her owners had just a few days ago refused an offer of $2,500. Racing men said she was a coming trotter.

The stables were badly damaged. Twenty-five stalls were destroyed. The loss was $5,000. There was no insurance. The buildings will be restored at once so there will be no delay in running off the events.

Chris Lyck, who was the second man on the scene, arriving in response to the cries of the watchman, said he believed the fire was caused by a horse kicking over a lighted lantern.

brutes from their burning cages. They were taken out just in time. It was impossible to get to the stall of Alice Traveler until too late to get her out alive.

Bryan's Attitude Causes Much Worry To Chiefs of Party

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—(Special Telegram.)—Mr. Bryan's plan to seek a German peace treaty, as outlined to foreign newspaper editors yesterday, has commenced to worry party chiefs not a little as they see in the ex-secretary's position a positive danger, with the democratic party facing a serious split over the opposition of the Comstock to any extraordinary national defense now being sponsored by President Wilson.

PORTER CASE NEAR FINAL

Senator Fall of New Mexico Takes Witness Stand in Defense of Porter.

TESTIMONY ABOUT CHARACTER

LAS CRUCES, N. M., Sept. 18.—(Special Telegram.)—When the fifth witness for the defense in the Porter-Connell case has been introduced this afternoon, the trial of James L. Porter on the charge of killing Ralph Connell was almost completed. Little new evidence has been developed during the last two days and the majority of the time of the court has been taken up with the hearing of character witnesses put on the stand by the attorneys for the defense to show that Porter was a law abiding citizen and that he had never had any trouble.

One of the witnesses this afternoon was United States Senator A. B. Fall of New Mexico, who lives at Three Rivers, N. M., only a short distance above Tularosa. His testimony mainly referred to the statements made by Jack Cravens at his ranch. The senator was also used as a witness for Porter.

A copy of the decision of the state supreme court in the water hearing case, which was the original cause of the trouble between Connell and Porter, was introduced today. It had no special significance except to show that the higher court had reversed the lower court and had thrown the case out of court.

Today closed the second week of the trial and it is not believed that the case will continue more than two more days, as little remains to be presented and the arguments will probably start Monday.
