School Boy Clears Doubtful Points in Longfellow's Life

Omaha public school children are getting their history on straight. Superintendent Graff and other school officials have been in doubt for a long time as to the early life of Henry W. Longfellow. The following excerpt was taken from an essay written by an Omaha school boy, who cleared up a portion of the murky historical atmosphere:

"Henry W. Longfellow was born in Portland, Me., while his mother and father were in San Francisco. He lived in the New England state most of the time and made many fast friends, the fastest of which was Phoebe Cary."

THROUGH IN THREE WEEKS

At an expense of several hundred dollars Armour & Co. are building new car shops north of the stock yards near the "Spokane" elevator. The work will be completed within three weeks and will be the most modern in the South Side.

In the place of the old buildings which will soon be torn down a new sheep killing building will be erected. The local offices are planning other improvements to be centered mainly on the reconstruction of repairing outfits.

The new shops will be large enough to accommodate twelve cars for immediate repair at one time. There will also be utility tracks about the shops where 300 cars can be sidetracked awaiting repairs.

Tools and other instruments used by workmen in repairing will be kept in specially built boxes in the new building.

Work on the big new plant building, which was announced as a $100,000 affair, will commence soon, probably this week, according to announcement at the local offices last week. The construction of this building will last several months.

Mrs. McManaway Released. Mrs. Rosa McManaway, pretty Italian wife of Joe Marino, 208 R street, arrested on November 10 on a charge of shooting San Cosentino Cadalzo, another Italian, was released in police court by Police Judge Reed. The prosecution waived any charges and the county failed to carry the case to the limit.

Cadalzo was wounded in the right shoulder by one of the shots fired by the woman. It was charged by her at the time that he had been making insulting remarks. The wounded man denied the charge, but when the case came up in court he refused to prosecute.

JUDGE TAKES CASE AWAY FROM JURORS

Munger Takes Damage Suit of Elizabeth McCoy Against Missouri Pacific Into Own Hands.

DECIDES FOR THE RAILROAD

After a hearing that consumed two days' time, Judge T. C. Munger, in the federal court, took the damage suit of Elizabeth McCoy against the Missouri Pacific railroad company from the jury and decided it in favor of the railroad.

Mrs. McCoy is suing for $25,000 for the death of her son, Charles McCoy, a car inspector in the switching yards, alleging that the Missouri Pacific switching crew had "kicked in" a car against a car on which he was working, knocking him off and running over him.

The plaintiff alleged that McCoy had placed a blue flag at the end of the car and that the defendant's employees had disregarded this signal in sending the other car against it and knocking him off.

Hinged on Blue Flag. The whole case hinged on the presence or absence of this blue flag. If it was there the railroad was to blame. If it was not there the railroad had perfect right to "kick in" the car and was not responsible for consequences to anyone who happened to be working there and was hurt.

The plaintiff's attorneys sought to show that a blue flag found along the track some distance from the scene of the accident had been attached to the car and had been dislodged by the impact of the car that was "kicked in."

After hearing the plaintiff's witnesses, the court held that there was no evidence to show that the blue flag had been displaced.

Sees Union Pacific. A jury was impaneled following the end of this case to try the damage suit of Nelson Fish & Co. against the Union Pacific railroad for $5,000 because of a shipment of cattle delayed two days at North Platte in 1912 at the time of the big flood. The plaintiff is seeking to recover $5,000. The case was postponed until Monday when the plaintiff's witnesses failed to arrive on time.

Raise Full Sum for Bluffs Y. M. C. A.

The full amount of the Young Men's Christian association fund was raised and a surplus of $128 was also secured when the last report came in from the solicitors late yesterday afternoon at Council Bluffs. The announcement of the final amount was made at 8 o'clock, at the conclusion of a dinner given at the building last night.

The announcement that many of the subscriptions were conditional and became effective only when the total amount was raised aroused considerable public interest, and made the work of the canvassers much easier. Subscriptions even came in unolicited.

The task of raising $5,000 was looked upon as one of very large proportions, and the conviction is that it would have been much more difficult, if not impossible, had it not been for the influence of the "Billy" Sunday meetings.

Women Protest on "Birth of a Nation"

Vigorous disapproval of the presentation of the "Birth of a Nation" at a local theater was expressed by members of the current topics department of the Woman's club, Tuesday afternoon.

"It arouses race prejudice, it kindles anew the feeling between the north and south, and it shows scenes so horrible that when I saw it in the east, last summer, women in the audience fainted," asserted Mrs. Mary I. Creigh, leader of the department. "It has a bad effect on young people."

Patriotism in connection with Thanksgiving was also discussed. One woman ventured the opinion there was no longer any patriotic significance to Thanksgiving day. "It's a time for a big feed, that's all, she said."

Went to see Hospital. C. E. Blanchard, postmaster at Blanchard, Cal., writes: "I had kidney trouble so bad I had to go to the hospital. Foley Kidney Pills were recommended to me and they completely cured me. I cannot speak too highly of them." It banishes backache, stiff joints, swollen muscles and all the various symptoms of weakened or diseased kidneys. Sold everywhere. Advertisement.

Improvers Are for Evening High School

Southeast improvers are decidedly in favor of the evening high school. They so resolved last night at a meeting held at the Hancock school. David Mercer delivered an address on Washington's municipal government. Commissioner Frank Best was present and made a speech.

Druid Hill Improvement club sent a delegation of eight visitors to the meeting.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids.

It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place. Most headaches, "dullness" and that heavy feeling comes from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lumpy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clogged brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. At 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.
