OMAHA ADOPTING SOME WAR ORPHANS

Women Taking Keen Interest Since the Visit of Two Women Last Monday.

WILL FORM CIRCLES HERE

By MELLIFICIA—February 21. The "Stork Special," as our editors see fit to term it, is perhaps the heading that gets the readiest readers. The newest comer is always a matter of keen interest, whether it be a boy or a girl and what name it shall bear.

Next to real comes foster parenthood, and every one wants to know about the last adoption. A week ago today a young woman came to Omaha and gave several talks to women prominent in our social life. This was Miss Schofield and she spoke about the war orphans of France. Now it would seem that the consequences of Miss Schofield's visit will be at least 100 foster children of Omaha parents.

In giving toward the maintenance of a group of children or in contributing to an orphan asylum, one has the feeling of doing a good deed, but there is not the least sense of foster parenthood about it—it is merely helping to keep alive a group of little creatures raised mechanically in an institution until they may be turned out at maturity.

The inspiring element in this scheme of American adoption of French war orphans is that each individual contribution is allotted to the support of a particular child; the child knows the name of the contributor and the contributor knows the name and location of the child. A personal touch is established between them from the beginning. The amount for each child is 10 cents a day, the little one to remain in its own mother's care and raised in its home.

Among the middle-western cities taking the largest number of war orphans is St. Paul, where 500 have pledged themselves to maintain 600 orphans for two years. A group of women met this morning with Mrs. August Mothe Borglum to perfect an organization to form circles to get pledges from Omaha subscribers. Those present were Mesdames Arthur Crittenden Smith, Howard H. Baldridge, Walter Page, Charles Offutt, Warren Rogers, Charles Thomas Kountze, C. Will Hamilton, Edgar H. Scott and Misses Jessie Millard and Mildred Rogers.

I want you and every grey-haired reader to experience the delight of seeing your hair take on its natural color by the simple repositioning of your hair—and so I have decided to undertake a great "Back-to-Youth" Campaign against grey, white or faded hair, by giving free to every grey-haired person who writes me full instructions to enable them to get rid of their grey hair just as I did.

I look younger than I did 10 years ago and am a living example that greyness need no longer exist for anyone. One old gentleman of 70 who had been grey for 20 years followed my simple advice and in a short month and now has a single grey hair on his head. Write me today. Give your name and address plainly, state whether Mr., Mrs. or Miss, enclose a two-cent stamp for return postage and I will send you full instructions to restore your whole head of hair to the natural beauty and color of youth, so that you need never have a grey hair again. TOO MUCH GOSSIP NOW AT LUNCHEON

So Declares Father Smith in Address Before Research Club at St. Berchman's Sunday.

FOR DRESS REFORM FOR WOMEN

Gossip and society "small talk" at luncheons and dinner parties were deprecated by Father Smith of Creighton university, who in a talk before the Research club at St. Berchman's academy Sunday afternoon, declared "conservation to be a lost art."

Father Smith compared one of Dolly Madison's dinners in the White House, at which corn beef and cabbage comprised the menu, but during which seventeen subjects for conversation were broached, including art, literature and music, etc., to a modern function of elaborate menu, where gossip of one's neighbors was the principal subject for discussion.

Dress reform for women was also advocated by Father Smith.

Edward Lynch, head of the stock company, gave a reading on "War," with "Cacy at the Bat" as an encore. Master Joseph Harding gave a violin solo from "Faust," accompanied by Miss Martha Gaines.
