

DURHAM NOW HOST TO YOUNG WORKERS

Over a Thousand Delegates Have Arrived and More Are Coming

ALL HAVE FOUND HOMES

Father Hudson and Miss Heron, Leaders In Baraca and Philathea Work, Speak To Great Crowds During Day—Every Church In City Pressed Into Service

(Special to The News and Observer.)

Durham, April 26.—Thousands of Durham people today watched another thousand of the delegates to the Baraca and Philathea convention parade the main streets of the city this afternoon. Led by three bands, the members of the organized Sunday school classes made a very impressive parade. They marched for half an hour, the Baracas in one section and the Philatheas in another section. Both were led by a band. The parade stretched for many city blocks and was one of the most spectacular features of the convention, which is now in session in Durham.

Every Church Utilized.

Every meeting of the convention up to this time has been attended by packed houses. Every church in the city today was thrown open to the Baracas and Philatheas. In most of the city churches the Baraca and Philathea classes were taught by some of the leading workers in the State. In every church there was a talk by some of the leaders in the work. Father Marshall Hudson, president and founder of the movement, and Miss Henrietta Heron, vice-president of the World Wide Philathea organization, spoke at the First Baptist and Trinity Methodist churches this afternoon. A crowded house heard Miss Heron at Trinity. She told the women present something about the important essentials of the work in the country.

Father Hudson Reminiscent.

Father Hudson spoke to the men at the First Baptist church. He made a talk along reminiscent lines, telling something about his first vision of the idea of a million men in the organized Sunday school classes of this country. "Some of his friends told Mr. Hudson that he was a fool for having such an idea as this, but the founder of the work stated this afternoon that his ambitions along this line had been realized.

Class to Support Missionary.

Yesterday he outlined, and briefly spoke of an evangelical work that is being mapped out for the Baraca classes of the country. The plan is for each Baraca class in the country to give from $50 to $70 for a native missionary in some of the other lands. These missionaries will keep in direct and personal touch with the classes who furnish the funds for their work by writing the class a quarterly letter. The picture of the missionary will also be placed in the hall of the Baraca class. Mr. Hudson urged the representatives of the classes at the church this afternoon to put this matter up to their classes at home, and send in the check for this fund just as soon as the literature is sent out.

Dr. Dennis Presides.

Dr. Dennis, of Charlotte, is presiding at all of the general meetings of the Baracas at this convention, because of the sudden illness of President Tatum. Dr. Dennis is vice-president of the State organization.

All Find Homes.

All of the delegates have been taken care of, and while there was some confusion on account of the largeness of the crowd, and because so many of them arrived in the city on the afternoon trains, all of them were located last night. Today others arrived, and still more are expected in the city for the final meetings on Monday and Tuesday. The people of the city came to the rescue of the home committee yesterday afternoon and they still have offers for homes for the new arrivals. Last night 250 had registered, and this morning two hundred more came in.

Dr. Waller Speaks.

At the Academy of Music this evening a mass meeting of the two organizations is being addressed by Dr. Calvin B. Waller, of Asneville. Speaking to the subject of "The Christian Challenge," Dr. Waller made a plea for missionary work in all parts of the world. He informed the members of the organized Sunday school classes that while it was a great thing to study the Bible and to work in their home churches for the salvation of men, the great work of the world for God could not be done unless the workers at home were willing to equip the workers in the foreign fields.

Two Leaders in Addresses.

This evening the Philatheas met at were again addressed by Miss Heron, on "Saving the Lost." At the same hour the Baraca classes met at the Second Baptist church and were addressed by Father Hudson. He spoke on "The Power to Reach Men." Both of these meetings were attended by capacity houses.

The music for the conventions is also one of the interesting features. A big Baraca-Philathea choir is being directed by Mr. W. H. Overton. In addition to the choral work a number of the soloists of the city are making this part of the convention very attractive.

SECRETARY DANIELS READS HONOR ROLL OF THE DEAD

Says Studied Insult of Huerta Caused Sacrifice of American Lives.

Washington, D. C., April 25.—The fighting at Vera Cruz, "due to the studied insult" of General Huerta, was made the subject of a public tribute to the navy and its dead by Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy, tonight. Speaking before the society of naval engineers at the Army and Navy Club, Secretary Daniels repeated his tribute to the officers, and continued:

"I did not say it then, but I felt the hope in my heart that fate would not decree that these men should soon be called upon to rally with their splendid powers and training and patriotism to the call of their country in a crisis, but it has been even so. The studied insult of Victoriano Huerta, who calls himself the Provisional President of Mexico, in refusing to salute the American flag, has made necessary the sacrifice of human life and this is the honor roll of the first dead in the fighting at Vera Cruz."

Mr. Daniels then read the names of the seventeen bluejackets and marines killed at Vera Cruz.

ELOQUENCE OF GLENN CAPTURES RICHMOND

Former North Carolina Governor Opens Prohibition Campaign in Old Dominion Yesterday.

Richmond, Va., April 26.—One of the most remarkable demonstrations seen in this city in many a year was witnessed at the Academy of Music this afternoon, when former Governor Robert B. Glenn, of North Carolina, fired the opening gun for State-wide prohibition in Virginia. With characteristic eloquence Governor Glenn pleaded with the citizens of the Old Dominion to down the whiskey traffic, and thus put an end to an evil that was threatening the life of a great nation. Again and again he was applauded by the audience, which packed the house from pit to top-most gallery.

Quoting from statistics, he told of the hundreds of thousands of men and women who die annually from the curse of drink. He also told of the millions and millions of dollars that go into the maw of this monstrous evil.

NASHVILLE.

Friday Afternoon Club Meets With Mr. Vaughan and Miss Sills Wedding is Announced.

Nashville, April 25.—The Friday Afternoon Club, of Nashville, met with Mr. Leon T. Vaughan. The occasion was one of more than usual interest and importance. An interesting program on "The Taming of the Shrew" had been arranged with the papers by Mrs. John Snyder and Mrs. T. A. Matthews. Current topics were discussed by Mrs. L. T. Vaughan, the Mexican situation being given unusual prominence on account of the prevailing interest. After all business pertaining to the meeting had been dispatched, tiny envelopes were brought in, and these on being opened announced the marriage of Miss Isa Sills and Mr. T. Barker Dameron, to take place on May 12.

The bride-to-be was toasted by each member and many were the good wishes expressed for her future happiness. Following this the hostess presented herewith a beautiful sheaf of bride's roses.

A Shakespearean contest was a feature of the afternoon. This consisted of twelve pictures representing his plays or places which had played an important part in his life. Though all the members showed evidences of the study done during the year, yet Mrs. C. C. Cockrell won the prize by only one point. This was a handsome piece of cut-glass, which she in turn presented to the bride-elect.

Delightful refreshments were served.

Those present were: Mrs. G. N. Bissette, Mrs. C. C. Ward, Mrs. O. Creech, Mrs. T. A. Mathews, Mrs. Carrie McCauley, Mrs. E. A. Burton, Mrs. L. T. Vaughan, Miss Isa Sills, Mrs. John Snyder, Mrs. C. C. Cockrell, Miss Louise Sills, and the Club had as guest Miss Ione Abell, of Smithfield, N. C.

THANK GERMAN EMPEROR

Refugees Express Appreciation for Protection.

Galveston, Tex., April 25.—When the refugee ship Esperanza arrived late tonight from Vera Cruz and Tampico some of its passengers handed the quarantine boat a cablegram of thanks, to be sent to the Emperor of Germany, for protection given Americans by the German cruise Dresden, at Tampico, Tuesday.

NATIONAL GUARD IS NOW READY

Adjutant General Young Is Prepared For Call To Arms

According to announcements from the office of Adjutant General Young only a short interval will be necessary between orders and actual performance of placing in the mobilization camp five thousand members of the National Guard of this State. General Young has been very busy since the outbreak of the Mexican trouble and the consequently apparent possibility that the National Guard may be called upon to see service across the border. Today he practically completed his requisitions bringing the equipment of the National Guard of this State to a war footing so that only the bare orders will be necessary from the office of the Adjutant General to the State troops to have all in the field by the required time. In case of a need for the troops arising, President Wilson will send a telegram to Governor Craig calling for the State to furnish its quota of fighting men. Governor Craig will then turn the order over to Adjutant General Young, who will proceed to the mobilization according to the methods already prescribed for such an event. The mobilization will take place at the State camping grounds, which is Camp Glenn. When the mobilization is completed, instructions to this effect will be forwarded to the War Department and the force will await orders to move.

On December 26, 1913, Adjutant General Young issued his formal notification of the methods by which the mobilization would be conducted. These orders are still in force and will be followed in case of a call from President Wilson. The orders in part are as follows:

"Immediately upon receipt by the Governor of the call of the President, telegraphic orders will be sent by this office to every regimental, battalion, company, and troop commander affected by the call of the President, to the head of each staff department and to the brigade commander and his staff, directing mobilization to commence at once.

"Immediately upon receipt of this order it shall be the duty of each regimental and battalion commander to notify each staff officer and non-commissioned staff officer belonging to his own headquarters.

"All orders and enlisted men will remain at their home stations until further orders are sent directing movement. The telegraphic order directing mobilization is merely a warning to each officer and man to cease his ordinary civil pursuits and to commence at once to prepare to leave his home station for the mobilization camp. The telegraphic order also that Federal pay and allowances will commence with the date each officer and man reports at his home rendezvous in compliance with the call.

"Company and troop commanders, upon receipt of the telegraphic order directing mobilization, will at once assemble their respective organizations at their armories and give their men all necessary instructions.

"While the company is still at its home station, those men who desire to do so may be permitted to sleep at home, but they must report at the armory promptly each morning in time for the first drill.

"Arrangements for subsisting the company will be at once commenced by the captain. An allowance of seventy-five cents per day per man is authorized for each day of actual service after the telegraphic notification is received and until arrival at the mobilization camp. Settlements will be made on Form No. 26, Division of Militia Affairs. (Blanks will be furnished company commanders.)

"In making arrangements for subsistence, company commanders are hereby authorized to assume that a period of at least five days will elapse from the date of the telegraphic notification until movement from home stations. Before the end of five days further orders will be sent, stating how much longer the organization will remain at their home stations.

"Upon the first assembly of the company the men will be required to dress in uniform and wear it constantly each day while the company is at its home station.

"A drill schedule covering four hours of actual drilling per day will be at once announced by the captain and put in force.

"Every effort should be made to recruit each organization to the war strength prescribed by the President in call. But no man must be accepted who does not comply with the necessary requirements. It shall be the special duty of the first lieutenant of each company to secure recruits, but all officers and men should be cautioned to assist in this work. At stations where a medical officer of the State militia resides, he will conduct the physical examinations of all recruits. Enlistments must be made on the ordinary State form already furnished company commanders.

"In addition to the duty prescribed in the foregoing paragraph, medical officers will, without further orders, conduct an examination of all of the commissioned and enlisted personnel in organizations at places where they reside, with a view to determining the presence of infectious or contagious diseases, especially typhoid fever, measles, and mumps. When there are two or more medical officers in one city or town, the senior will arrange for an equal division of this work. Orders providing for the examination of companies at places where there are no medical officers will be issued by this office on recommendation of the surgeon general.

"If an officer fails to pass this examination, telegraphic report will be at once made to this office.

"In the case of enlisted men who do not pass, no action providing for their discharge will be taken, but they will not be counted in computing the minimum available strength of a company organization.

"As soon as the number of men duly enlisted and declared free from disease, as provided in paragraph 13, and actually present, is equal to the minimum prescribed for the organization, telegraphic report will be made to this office. The required minimum strength is as follows: For each company of infantry and coast artillery and troop of cavalry, 58; for a field hospital, 33; and for a band, 28.

"When movement to the mobilization camp is ordered, recruiting parties will not be left behind at home stations unless instructions to this effect are contained in the orders directing the movement.

"Organization commanders are cautioned to take to the mobilization camp all the property on hand except blue uniforms and other articles not required in the field. They are reminded that while rifles should of course be clean and serviceable, it is not necessary to remove metal fouling in preparing for field service except in very bad cases.

"When movement to the mobilization camp is ordered, the railroad train schedule issued by this office will be followed.

"Field and staff officers are directed to render all possible assistance to organizations at their places of residence, pending their departure for the mobilization camp.

"By order of the Commander-in-Chief:

"LAWRENCE W. YOUNG,
"Adjutant General."

TORREY ATTACKS DANCING.

(St. Louis Special to Philadelphia North American.)

"If I could tell you what I personally know of the appalling horror that has come from the most select dances, you would understand why I oppose them," Dr. R. A. Horrey, the evangelist of Los Angeles, said at the Southwestern Bible Conference in Washington and Compton Avenue Presbyterian church last night, to an audience of possibly 1,600, filling the large auditorium and the gallery.

"I was the best dancer of the town in which I lived," he said, "and I could learn the tango now if gray-haired grandmothers can—and many of them are learning it. But what would you think of me if I should spend the evening dancing with the beautiful wife of a friend? A familiarity of contact is permitted in dancing that is permitted nowhere else in decent society.

"The fight of the American man is not against alcohol; it is against the dance, and every man knows it," he declared. He did not blame the men altogether, for, he said, that young men know that girls in even "select society" are not always all that one would expect them to be.

"Do you know that the word 'hypocrite,' he said, "means 'stage player?' I would rather see a daughter of mine in her coffin than on the stage. Clement Scott, the great English dramatic critic, said that it was impossible for a woman to be on the stage and preserve her modesty."

"It makes both men and women hypocrites, as they have to pretend to feelings that they do not have, and it lowers the standard of modesty in women."

Doctor Torrey told about traveling across the country and seeing gray-haired women playing cards from morning till night. "They have only stopped it to some extent," he said, "since they have been clacking their heels in the tango."

"I hate cards as I hate poison," he said, and told the story of a home where the boys played cards, and did not care to go out at night because they enjoyed the card-playing at home. But some time they had to go away from home, and then one of them became a gambler.

"And I was that gambler," he said. "The proper habitat of cards is the saloon and gambling hell, and the family card table is the kindergarten of the gambling hell."

He told of the evils of what he called "this infernal bridge," in which money is constantly changing hands. One young woman, he said, had pointed gleefully to her purse, saying that in it was the whole week's salary of a clerk.

Doctor Torrey's subject for the evening was "Who Can Pray So as to Get What They Ask?" He defined such as those who keep God's commandments and do the things that are pleasing to him."
