Klamath Country Will Supply Portland Packing Plant

PORK PRODUCTION ADVANTAGES

Conditions in This Section Are Favorable for Producing Excellent Pork in Large Quantities Necessary Food Grows in Abundance

The establishment of packing houses at Portland will mean much for this section as it will open up a new market for the entire Southern Oregon country. Heretofore all the cattle and sheep produced in this section have been taken to the California markets, but when Portland gets packing houses ready for livestock it will be discovered that the Klamath country will be called upon to produce a big proportion of the supply of hogs, cattle and sheep from its feed yards. Swine can be produced cheaper with alfalfa than by any other feed, and sugar beet and alfalfa form a balanced ration for making the best pork and mutton in the world. The best pork in the United States is produced by raising hogs on alfalfa, fattening with a combination of beets and alfalfa and adding a ration of peas during the last part of the fattening period. All of these products are grown with the greatest success in Klamath, where climatic conditions are ideal and livestock is fed in open pens throughout the winter and where the highest grade of packing-house products can be provided for the best markets of the year.

The growing of hogs has not been carried on very extensively in this section, but in the last few years it has been demonstrated that it can be made one of the most profitable industries of the country and already many of the farmers are devoting considerable of their time to producing hogs. When the transportation facilities get better more pork will be produced here and this section will be in a position to make large shipments to the Portland markets.

During the past 9 months about 25,000 head of cattle have been driven to market from the Klamath basin, many of them in best condition from the open range. When the feeding industry is fully established this number will be tremendously increased and to it will be added several hundred thousand hogs and sheep. The northern Colorado sugar beet district is feeding an average of 500,000 sheep annually, and that is just what the Klamath basin is destined to do. So profitable is the feeding industry that farmers in other sugar beet districts are now feeding their beets instead of selling the beets to the factory and feeding the pulp. Klamath is certain to be the location of sugar beet factories, but before that time will be growing thousands of acres of beets for stock feeding.

Stage Stops Today

The McIntire-Straw Stage company will not make regular trips between this city and Pokegama after today. The passenger traffic over the route is not as heavy as it has been and the stage will be run only when the traffic is sufficiently heavy to demand it. Part of the stock will be held at Pokegama so that in case a number of passengers should arrive there they can be transported to this city without delay.

Will Raise Apples

Geo. O. Brandenburg, who arrived here a few days ago from Los Angeles, is making arrangements to go into the apple growing business on an extensive scale. He says that he knows that many of the hardier varieties can be successfully grown in this section and this fall he expects to put out several acres in a young orchard, and if this proves a success he will put out a larger acreage next year. He has purchased a place a short distance from town on which he will put out the first trees.

Developing a Mine

J. G. Pierce and H. L. Aldridge are still prospecting their gold discoveries a short distance northeast of the city. They have had men working on a shaft and tunnel since last summer and the tunnel is now in about 100 feet. The ledge seems to be permanent and apparently grows larger as it goes down. The assay made last year showed it to be low grade, but since going down on the ledge no assay has been made but the promoters of the mine think that the ore is getting better.

DR. HAMILTON REFUTES ASSERTION OF REV. CANTRELL

To the People of Klamath Falls.—On behalf of Dr. Hamilton, I desire to make the following statement: I was hurt Saturday afternoon by the premature explosion of a powder charge, while blasting in the rock quarry nine miles south of town. The charge hit me in the face, temporarily blinding me, and badly lacerating my left hand so that it was necessary for the doctor to amputate one of my fingers. I was brought to town at once and taken to Dr. Hamilton's residence where he treated my eyes and hand, after which I was taken to my home at my own request.

The doctor drove out and met me as the men were bringing me to town, and showed every consideration possible, and when we arrived at the door of his residence, he asked me if I had spikes in my shoes. I replied that I had and he asked me to wait just a moment until he laid a rug over the linoleum in the hall, as the same belongs to Mrs. Maston, and he was afraid the spikes would ruin it. I was not kept waiting more than five seconds, after which I was taken up stairs. I am well satisfied with the care the doctor has given me and have no complaint whatever to make.

(Signed) WALTER W. EDWARDS

The above statement is made to refute the assertion made by the Rev. Edward Adams Cantrell in his address at the opera house Monday night, to the effect that I refused Walter Edwards entrance to my office, because of spikes in his shoes. Mr. Edwards was never brought to my office, but I had him taken to my residence intending to keep him there until his condition was improved, but he protested and wanted to be taken to his own home, which was done as soon as his injuries had been looked after.

He was able to walk when he was brought to my residence, and at this time is able to be about.

The Reverend gentleman was not present when Mr. Edwards was brought to my residence and doubtless he was misinformed as to the facts of the case, and without inquiring into the correctness of the information, used it as an illustration in his lecture. It is not possible for me to believe that the misrepresentation of facts was intentional, for I have not even the pleasure of an acquaintance with Rev. Cantrell, and can see no reason for an attack upon myself.

Klamath at Portland

Frank Ira White, one of Klamath's best boosters, is in Portland, and last Saturday's Journal contains a two-column article in which Mr. White tells of the many good things of this section. Among others he has the following to say about the representation that the Klamath section will have at the Rose festival:

"Klamath Basin will be represented in the Rose Festival with a float that well portrays the distinctive characteristics of the section. It is a fruit district as well as one with exceptional advantages for farming under government irrigation, dairying and all the diverse branches of agriculture. There will be a delegation of Klamath people here who will be seen and heard, and headquarters for the great irrigation district have been established at 183 Morrison street, where a display of products will be arranged for the entertainment of visitors. A show window has been secured that will be decorated with grain, grasses, forage, vegetables and a collection of photographic views of the scenic and industrial attractions of that section."

Sets Jail on Fire

Chief Low had as his guest last night a fellow who was determined to get out of jail. He set fire to the building and but for timely assistance would have burned the building and probably himself. It was found that he had ignited the bedding in one of the cells and that the room was filled with smoke when the officers arrived on the scene. The fellow exercised his lungs during the greater part of the night yelling for one thing and another. He seems to have been drinking heavily and has the appearance of being a typical rouser.

Working Near Bonanza

The crew of workmen setting poles for Moore Bros. electric line is now working within a few miles of Bonanza, and will finish it some time next week. It will require a month or more to string the wire. As soon as the pole line to Bonanza is finished it will be transferred to the Merrill line so that it will be completed during the summer. An aluminum line will be put up between this city and Bonanza and a copper one to Merrill. The work on the plant has been delayed by the stormy weather. All of the machinery for the plant is now on the ground and construction work will be undertaken just as soon as the weather will permit.

Inspecting Forests

W. H. B. Kent, special forest inspector for this district, is in the city on a tour of inspection. He will go from here to Odessa to look over some matters at that place and will then go to Silver Lake. Mr. Kent was in this part of the country some five years ago and at that time went over all of the land included in the reserve in the vicinity of Silver Lake. He now has his headquarters at Portland and is at the head of the inspection department of this entire district.

Cantrell on Socialism

Rev. Edward Adams Cantrell was greeted by a large audience at the opera house last night when he took up the discussion of "The next Step in Human Progress." His earnest way of presenting his arguments and his fluent speech make him a speaker whom one likes to hear even if his opinions are not accepted by the auditors. Most of his discourse was devoted to socialism and in connection with this he stated that he would lecture again next Sunday night and he challenged any man to meet him in a debate at that time.

The machinery for one of the new dredges to be used on the railroad dike across the swamp, has arrived. It was shipped here from near Portland where it has been in use on some of the railroad work.

Mayor B. St. Geo. Bishop was authorized by the council last night to negotiate for the purchase of a lot for the location of a new jail. The lot on the corner of Fourth and Klamath streets has received favorable consideration whenever this matter has been discussed, and it is probable that it will be acquired by the city. The old jail has seen its best days, and there has also been much complaint about its present location, making it necessary for some action that will give the guests of the chief of police better accommodations. Should the property be purchased it is the plan to erect a new jail.

President Alex Martin, Jr., of the Klamath Water Users Association and O. A. Stearns, one of the directors, appeared before the Council and urged the passage of the ordinance giving the Government a right of way on West High street for a conduit in connection with the Keno canal. The ordinance granting the franchise for either a wooden or concrete conduit was read for a second time and the council then decided to go over the street tomorrow morning to view the proposed right of way for the canal. It is the wish of the council that the property owners residing along this street should be present when the site is viewed so that they may assist the council in determining upon the action to be taken. If some conclusion is reached by the council after viewing the site it is very probable that they will meet again tomorrow night. The council has been delaying action on this matter in order to give the Government officials and the property owners a chance to come to some agreement in regard to the kind of conduit to be constructed.
