The first meeting of the Chamber of Commerce since its reorganization will be held tonight. It is desired that every member of the body be in attendance.

"Jennie Kissed Me" Too. Sarah kissed me when we met; So did Kate and Bell and Dora; So did Jane and Violet. Dolly, Charbel and Flora. They all liked me pretty well. And—dear girls!—they never hid it. I don't like to kiss and tell— Still they did it.

Later in the day I met (And saluted) Maude and Daisy. And I also kissed Cozette, Clara, Julia, Ruth and Malise. Oh, I'm sorry for Leigh Hunt, I who've had so many, many! While poor Leigh's one vaunted stunt Was with Jenny. —Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Shocking. "Where have you been, Clementine?" asked the aunt. "I have been down to the falls playing with the eddies," replied the pretty girl, with wet fingers. The old lady was horrified. "What! Playing with the Eddies? And without a chaperon?"—Chicago News.

She Knew Him. "Mrs. Kutely has finely convinced her husband that it's sinful to play golf, especially on Sunday." "Why, she plays herself." "Exactly! And that was the only way she could induce her husband to play with her."—Catholic Standard and Times.

The Foolish Fish. Ho, all ye merry little fish. Ye suckers and ye sun. Ye cats and chubs and other kinds That promise so much fun; Ye careless, happy fish that swim In all the laughing streams. Whose rippling waters tickle you In sunny springtime dreams. Beware the bait upon the hook That dangles all about! The gobbie-uns will get you Et

You Don't Watch Out! —W. J. Lampton In New York World.

How? The teacher was telling of the effects of cigarette smoking on the heart and added, "People with weak hearts often die." A deeply interested boy asked here, "How often do they have to die before they stay dead?"—Wasp.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

INTERESTED PARTY.

How solicitous the fellow For your family and your wife! To care for them he thinks should be The object of your life. He preaches up his purpose high In every time and season. He's a fire insurance agent— That's the reason.

Economy he speaks about As though a virtue fine. And very anxious, too, he is That you should fall in line. He wants to have a dime a day Saved with no intermission That later on you can apply On his commission.

When you are busy with your work He drops in for a chat About the chance you have to die. And pleasant things like that. And why you should insure at once. A duty thus fulfilling. And should you want to sign right there He's very willing.

It doesn't bother him though you May take too large a bite. Although he knows to keep it up Will keep you up at night. Though you may cut amusements down And skip yourself on raiment. Just so he gets commission on Each payment.

Not Ready For Emergencies.

"Come, take a ride in my airship." "No, I didn't bring my bathing suit along."

Smiling May. When May is cold And most severe You can't be bold When she's a sister. Your appetite sink With vague unrest As on the brink You hang depressed.

You're feeling blue Because your roll You've cut in two To buy the coal Next winter's fire In check to hold— It feeds the fire When May is out.

Easy Variety. "What kind of fish you got?" asked the pert drummer. "Any kind you want," replied the pretty waitress. "Going some for a small town, isn't it?" "Not so much. We have a big carp back in the kitchen, and we can cut from that any variety you have a mind to name."

Place to Complain. "Men in high places are trampling on the constitution!" thundered the street corner orator. "What are you kicking to us about it for?" demanded one of the audience. "We can't do anything about it. Why don't you tell the police?"

Accommodating. "Where is the man who runs this livery stable?" asked a large, flashy man in a tone of voice that was decidedly offensive to the boy in charge. "He isn't in, sir, just now," replied the lad, "but if you are very hungry I can show you to a stall."

Stands Alone. "I tell you I am proud of myself." "You should be supremely happy." "Why?" "I have never observed that you have any competition."

Would Take a Day Off. "Have you seen the 'Merry Widow' hat?" "Those big ones?" "Yes." "I saw part of one. I didn't have time to look at all of it."

PERT PARAGRAPHS. It is always a good job to make an abrupt end of a bad job.

The person who wants to be let alone is either mad or in love.

People have to become acquainted with luck before they believe in it, and they are lucky if they get a chance.

To a woman it always seems a sinful waste of money to pay taxes with it, and there are others.

Be calm, dear girls, and let who will be skittish. It is polite that counts.

When the bloused waist goes out of fashion, bloused hair comes sailing in.

Anyway, a wallflower is always sure of strong and steady backing.

If every gold mine turned out according to the prospects, we would have to be looking for some rarer metal for our circulating medium.

Strange that our enterprising case manufacturers are not putting on the market a big stick purporting to be the Roosevelt variety.
