

O'Shaughnessy Says "I'll Kill" Aged Indian Physician Crosses the Divide

DR. STACEY HEMENWAY FAILS TO RALLY FROM ILLNESS, AND PASSES AWAY THIS AFTERNOON

HAS BEEN HEALING AILING PEOPLE IN KLAMATH FOR MANY YEARS

Following Service Through the Civil War as a Regimental Surgeon, the Physician Remained in the Army for Several Years, and Came to Fort Klamath in the Early 80's as Military Surgeon.

Dr. Stacey Hemenway, surgeon at the Yainax sub-agency, is no more. Following an illness of several days' duration, the aged practitioner passed away at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

When he was taken ill several days ago, Dr. Hemenway evidently realized that the end was at hand, for he summoned D. V. Kuykendall to his bedside to make his will and attend to other legal matters.

Upon receiving the news of the serious illness of the doctor, his brother, Volney Dixon, left a sick bed in Eugene, and accompanied by his son-in-law, W. A. Kuykendall, a Eugene business man, came to Klamath Falls, arriving last night.

Dr. Hemenway was a native of Indiana, and was 78 years of age. He was a son of Dr. A. A. Hemenway, who, after coming to the Willamette Valley in 1852, was a great factor in the state's early political life, and a member of the legislature in 1862.

After finishing high school and studying in the office of his father, Dr. Hemenway attended the Chicago Medical College. He graduated that institution in 1861.

The Civil War broke out just after the young doctor was given his diploma, and he at once gave his services to the Union, enlisting as a surgeon in the Ninth Illinois cavalry. During the war this regiment saw much active service. At the close of the war the doctor had attained the rank of regimental surgeon.

After the war the doctor served at different times in the army medical service, and intermittently he was with the Indian service, administering to the sick Reds with much more effective results than their medicine men.

Early in the 80's Dr. Hemenway came to Klamath county. First as an army surgeon at Fort Klamath. After resigning from that post he practiced his profession in Klamath Falls and Bonanza. In 1889 he re-entered the Indian service with Captain O. C. Applegate, and since that time has been the physician at Yainax.

In his residence in Klamath county the old practitioner made a wide circle of friends. He was beloved by whites and Indians alike. In addition to his wife, he is survived by three brothers, Volney, Ansel and Frank, all of whom reside at Eugene. The remains will be brought to this city, and will be shipped to Eugene for interment in the family plot at Oak Hill cemetery.

Bishop Will Visit. Right Reverend Robert L. Paddock, bishop of the Eastern Oregon diocese of the Episcopal church, will arrive this evening to visit the local churchmen. He will hold services Sunday morning and evening. Prior to coming here this time, the bishop has made a trip through Panama.

CRUELTY ALLEGED BY INDIAN WOMAN

Marriage Solemnized January 13, 1913, Has Unhappy Ending, and Wife, in Divorce Action, Alleges Her Husband Beat Her.

A combination of 13-13 was an ill-starred one for Warren and Anna Skellock's marital happiness. The couple, both residents of the Klamath reservation, were married January 13, 1913, and today the wife filed suit for separation.

In her complaint, Mrs. Skellock alleges cruel and inhuman treatment. She says that in May her husband, flying into a violent rage, beat her and abused her to such an extent that the Indian Police interfered, and haled him before the Indian agent for a reprimand. She says he administered another beating last month.

Besides cruelty, Mrs. Skellock alleges that her husband has utterly failed to provide for her. On the contrary, says the complaint, he has collected money that was due her and appropriated it to his own use.

NO SNOW NORTH OF FT. KLAMATH

John Knott, whose splendid place at Beaver Marsh is known to everybody traveling through the northern part of the county, and who is road supervisor in that district, is in town today, after a trip as far north as Crescent.

"There is very little snow north of Fort Klamath," said Mr. Knott. "I look to see the roads open much earlier than usual, and there is every indication of a prosperous year for that part of Klamath."

OVER A HUNDRED ADDED THIS WEEK

Registration Picks Up a Little, But at this Speed It Would Take a Year to "Book" Everybody for the Primaries and General Election.

About a hundred new names have been added to the county registration so far this week. If the same sort of a rush keeps up for the remainder of the week there will be an early registration record established.

It is estimated that there are about 5,000 eligible to vote in Klamath. Registering at the rate of 100 a week it will take pretty near a year to get them all on the books—and the primaries are in May.

Passengers Are Delayed Along Railroads, People Marooned in Their Homes and Business Is Hurt—Over Four Inches Rain Fell Last Night

United Press Service. LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19.—Los Angeles is just recovering from one of the most severe rain storms in its history. The storm was general throughout Southern California, and has paralyzed traffic.

Thousands are marooned in their homes or places of business, unable to leave them on account of the condition of the streets. All trains are late.

More than four inches of rain had fallen by midnight, and practically every down town street ran full of water, far above the sidewalks.

GARRETT, BOLLER, NEXT TO TOP IN ANNAPOLIS EXAM

SINNOTT NAMES THE BOYS AS ALTERNATES

Second and Third Honors in the Competitive for Appointment as Naval Cadet Go to Klamath County High School Students—With the Winner, These Two Will Take the Entrance Tests in April.

(Herald Special Service) WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 19.—W. Sterling Garrett and Robert Leon Boller of Klamath Falls were today appointed to the alternateships to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis as a result of the competitive examination held in his district by Congressman N. J. Sinnott last January.

The Klamath Falls boys stood second and third respectively in the test. The highest standing was made by Irvin Rand of Baker, who was made the principal candidate.

The official entrance examination will be held April 21st. Rejoicing is in order at the Klamath county high school today as a result of the receipt of the above news by the Herald, for both the lads are prominent in the affairs of the school, and especially in athletics.

Although the principal candidate is from Baker, there is a chance that one of the local boys may be chosen to enter Annapolis. At the examination in April, the test is prepared by the faculty of the naval academy, and is given before a board of naval officers. At this time the candidates are given the physical test, and it is on this that a large percentage of the candidates fall.

O'SHAUGHNESSY CARRIES A GUN FOR JOURNALIST

SECRETARY SWEARS HE WILL SHOOT ON SIGHT

Scurrilous Attacks Upon the United States, Upon the Administration and Upon President Wilson Arrows the Ire of American Charge d'Affaires in Mexico City, and He Has Sworn to Kill the Editor.

United Press Service. MEXICO CITY, Feb. 19.—Threatening to shoot Diaz Myron, editor of "El Imparcial," a local newspaper, should he accost him, Nelson O'Shaughnessy, secretary of the American embassy, is carrying a loaded pistol. He keeps another within easy reach on his desk at the embassy.

Through his publication Myron has made a series of scurrilous attacks upon the American people, the administration at Washington, and personal reflections upon President Wilson. It is said that these have aroused much anti-American feeling.

In order to prevent a feeling of hostility from growing, O'Shaughnessy made complaint to President Huerta. But this did not stop the attacks. On the contrary, Myron announced through his papers that he had "got" O'Shaughnessy. "I will urge myself to shoot Myron if he speaks to me again," said Mr. O'Shaughnessy to a United Press representative today, in no uncertain tones.

TO ENLARGE CHURCH SOON

Christian Church Asks for Volunteer Workers--the Women Will Serve a Dinner to Those Participating

"Wanted—Volunteers carpenters for a day. Apply at Christian church at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning. Come prepared to work."

This, placed in "want ad" style, is the request that is being sent out today by Elder L. F. Harland, pastor of the First Christian church. The good pastor has reached the conclusion that his church is hardly large enough to accommodate all those who would like to hear the revival meetings, now being conducted there by Evangelist Putman.

Now, in some places, when the chairs are all filled, there is an "S. R. O." sign hung out. In still others, admittance is positively refused.

However, these plans seem other than right to Elder Harland. Instead of trimming his congregation and audience to fit the church's capacity, the elder has decided to enlarge his church to accommodate the people.

Elder Harlan and others in the church, after a study, decided that the church should be twenty feet longer. Accordingly, money was raised to purchase the lumber to make the addition to the rear of the edifice.

The lumber is now on hand for the construction work, but there is no fund from which to pay artisans to do the work. And the Putman meetings are being held every night. To Elder Harlan, it seemed a burning shame to have the capacity of the church limited while these meetings were in progress. Today he decided that the church should be enlarged not later than tomorrow.

Accordingly, the elder has issued a call for volunteer carpenters, etc., to assist in the erection of the addition to the church. These volunteers to a good cause are requested to be at the church tomorrow morning, for work will start at 8 o'clock.

With a sufficient force of men, it is expected that the addition can be completed in a day. The women of the church, not to be outdone, have decided to serve a dinner at noon to the workers, and they have also purchased a gallon of arnica for bruised thumbs and fingers.

Mr. Byers identified some articles found in the possession of Starr that were in the Byers home. Attorney W. H. Shaver appeared for the accused man. He attempted to secure a dismissal upon the ground of insufficient evidence. H. M. Manning appeared for the state.
