Perhaps the largest and most enjoyable event on the week's social calendar was the silver tea given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Burge W. Mason on Crescent avenue and Canby street Thursday evening, for the benefit of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian church. A delightful feature of the evening was a short musical program, consisting of a vocal solo by Mrs. Bert Carl Thomas, a piano solo by Miss Ruth Saucerman and a vocal duet by Messrs. J. B. and Burge W. Mason. All of these were well received, as was the "Olde Fashioned Singing School," directed by J. E. Mason and participated in by every one present. Tea and cakes were served, and in attendance were the following: Mesdames J. R. Stubblefield, R. Vance Hutchins, W. E. Faught, C. H. Bradshaw, M. P. Evans, S. P. Lowery, J. C. Johnson, Lewis Wyde, A. R. Campbell, W. A. Deitzell, Arthur D. Hay, Bert C. Thomas, M. D. Coats, H. P. Dow, C. E. Worden, W. H. Mason, H. E. Winnard, J. J. Steiger, J. A. Houston, Geo. D. Chamberlain, W. R. Boyd, M. M. Long, G. A. Bellman, E. E. Magee, M. R. Sargent, J. B. Mason and Burge Mason; Misses Greta McMillan, Vera Houston, E. Steinman, Ruth Saucerman, Hortense Hogue, Jennie Johnson, Neva Faught, Perle Dow, Maud Carleton; Messrs. K. P. Evans, Dr. M. M. Long, G. A. Bellman, Dr. Fred Westerfeld, Louis Wyde, W. A. Deitzell, Arthur D. Hay, Bert C. Thomas, C. M. McCauley, M. D. Coats, J. B. Mason, Burge Mason, D. C. Hogue, W. E. Faught, A. R. Campbell, E. E. Magee and Master Burge Mason.

Mrs. J. C. Camp and daughter, Miss Carol Camp, who have been sojourning in Southern California for the past two months, will return Monday night.

The Saturday Musical Club, composed of Mrs. Zumwalt's pupils, will meet tonight at the residence of Miss Elizabeth Houston, on Second street, near Main, with Miss Vera Houston as hostess. A miscellaneous program will be given as follows:

- The Dying Rose... Tunison
Fair Rose... Speaks
Miss Vera Houston
Dove Wings... Woodman
A Dream... Bartlett
Miss Carrie Foster
Two Inventions for Piano... Bach
Mrs. Cofer
Bright Star of Love... Robandi

Miss Margaret Williams
A Bowl of Roses... Clarke
I'm Longin' For You... Hathaway
Lawrence Mehaffey
Piano—Noon Moths... Kusner
Piano—Minuet... Paderewski
Mrs. R. H. Hamilton

A pleasant farewell party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Blachly, corner of Third and Jefferson streets, Monday evening, in honor of Miss Cora Nipper, who left for her home in Grants Pass Tuesday, after a year's residence in Klamath Falls. Games, singing and music made the evening hours pass rapidly for the guests, and were followed by a dainty luncheon. A beautiful Grecian ivory comb and brush were presented to Miss Nipper as a token of the high esteem in which she was held by those present. The guests were as follows: Miss Ada Gould, Miss Erma Blackly, Miss Cora Nipper, Miss Gallagher, Miss Ruth Smith, Charles Gillette.

MR. AND MRS. MAX ADAMS McCALL

At Pasco, Wash., on Wednesday afternoon, occurred the marriage of Miss Marjorie Sellers to Max Adams McCall, bringing to a happy culmination a romance that had its inception in Klamath Falls a couple of years ago. The wedding did not come as a surprise to the many friends of the happy pair here, but it came as glad news to them.

Two years ago Mr. McCall came to Klamath Falls as instructor in agriculture at the Klamath County High school. The following year Miss Sellers arrived to take the position of instructor in mathematics in the same school.

Early in the term a friendship sprung up between the two, which soon developed into love, and on the day that the students and faculty of the high school noticed a solitaire on the finger of the bride-to-be, the assembly hour was transformed into an impromptu reception for the much embarrassed instructor in mathematics. This was even complete to the rendition of "Here Comes the Bride" by the enthusiastic and happy students.

Mr. McCall, after graduating the Oregon Agricultural College with high honors in 1910, was kept at the school for the next two years as an instructor. When the Klamath County High School board decided to institute agriculture in the local school, application for a capable man was made to the board of regents of the O. A. C., and the regents were unflinching in their praise of Mr. McCall, who was appointed.

It was up to Mr. McCall to organize in every way his department here, for in the school agriculture as a study was at that time unknown. So well did he succeed in this, and in the demonstration work he carried on with the farmers, that when the office of county agriculturist was created

Mrs. Steinmetz was hostess to the members of the Happy Hour Club and friends at a delightful party given at her home on Eighth and Walnut streets Tuesday afternoon. The afternoon was devoted to needlework and conversation, and a tempting collation was served. Mrs. Steinmetz's guests were Mrs. George Blehn, Mrs. Robert A. Emmitt, Mrs. John Hamilton, Mrs.

A LITTLE SPORTING GOSSIP

By Hal Sheridan

United Press Service
PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 14.—The Yale Bulldog invaded the Tiger's lair today for the annual gridiron battle. It was the first time Yale has appeared in the huge new football stadium that was formally opened this fall with the Princeton victory over Dartmouth.

Between 10,000 and 12,000 Blue and Orange and Black rooters were in the stands an hour or more before the game. It was expected the full quota of 30,000 or more would be in their seats when the referee blew the whistle that starts the thirty-ninth annual football game between the two great Eastern universities in that many years.

The stands were a riot of color. In the central seats allotted respectively to Yale and Princeton, were bands which vied with the rooters and singers to keep the old grads and other spectators interested until the teams lined up.

In the thirty-eight years Yale and Princeton has never failed to meet on the gridiron. Yale has won twenty-seven, and Princeton nine games. There have been two scoreless ties—in 1881 and 1906.

In 1912 the teams quit even up, after one of the greatest struggles in the history of football between them, the score being 6-6. Last year Tiger and Bulldog again quit even up, with the score 3 to 3.

Since 1903 Princeton has won only one game—that in 1911, when all that saved Yale from a shutout was a goal from field, which made the final tally Princeton 6, Yale 3.

LOGGING ROAD IS BEING EXTENDED

MEN ARE AT WORK ON THE GRADE FOR THIS—BOX FACTORY SHUT FOR REPAIRS. OTHER LIVE NEWS NOTES

(Herald Special Service)
ALGOMA, Nov. 14.—A large crew of men is at work on the grade for the new logging road of the Algoma Lumber company. This railway climbs the mountain back of Algoma, near the old Hagelstein place, and will range from thirty to sixty degrees in incline. William Uhrman is in charge of the construction work. A cable system will be used in logging, switches, etc., being provided for. A large body of timber will be tapped by this new line.

C. E. Favor, Joe Brown and Mrs. Amos Evans were Klamath Falls visitors on Thursday and Friday.

The box factory is closed for several days, undergoing repairs to machinery. The factory will probably run all winter.

A large fire raged between the Upper Lake and the Southern Pacific tracks at Rattlesnake Point Thursday night. The blaze at first gave the appearance of a disastrous forest fire.

An early start in cutting is anticipated for the spring by the Algoma Lumber company. Several million feet of logs are already in the pond.

James Douglas of the Doak ranch has contracted to cut several million feet for the Algoma Lumber company on the opposite side of Upper Lake, it is reported.

American Soldiers Cover Globe

White Clothes Condemned
White clothing that has long been the ideal naval costume in tropical countries is unsuitable in the tropics, according to a report to the surgeon-general by past assistant Surgeon S. L. Higgins, based on the naval operations at Vera Cruz. He says the white clothing and especially the white hat, is too easily penetrated by the sun's rays, and therefore recommended that khaki or forestry neutral clothing be supplied to the navy for landing parties.

If it's worth having, it's worth insuring. See Chilcote.
