HANKS TENDERED SERENADE TODAY

DELEGATION OF BUSINESS MEN GIVE A NOISY WELCOME TO NEW COUNTY JUDGE, WHO IS HARD AT WORK NOW

The county court chambers was the scene of a noisy demonstration this afternoon, when a party of business and professional men, laden with tin cans, horns, rattles and other noise-making apparatus, called in a body and tendered a serenade to Judge Hanks, who was busy delving into county affairs.

A number of minor estate matters were disposed of at this session, and an order was issued for turning the money in the estate fund into the general fund. This is money left by persons whose burial expenses were paid by the county.

MARTIAL DISCORD AIRED BY COURT

EAR OF JUDGE NOLAND IS BEING FILLED WITH THE TROUBLES BETWEEN HOMER ROBERTS AND HIS WIFE

Trial of the divorce action of Homer Roberts vs. Sylvia Roberts started in the circuit court today, with H. M. Manning appearing for the plaintiff, W. H. A. Renner for the defendant and Prosecuting Attorney Irwin and Deputy Duncan for the state. A throng of spectators is attending.

Crucial is the allegation on which the action is based, and Mrs. Roberts is charged with flying into rages and beating her husband, beating and neglecting her children, and using vile language. Today quite a number of witnesses have been placed on the stand by the plaintiff, among others the little children of the estranged couple, who stated that their mother was mean to them at times, neglecting them, and that she smoked cigarettes and drank liquor in their presence.

BUYERS OF FORDS WILL GET REBATE

OFFER MADE BY THE MANUFACTURER OF POPULAR CAR TO SHARE PROFITS SEEMS CERTAIN TO GO THROUGH

When the manufacturers of the Ford car last August agreed to share their profits with the purchasers of the popular auto if their sales for the year reached 300,000 machines not many people believed the customers stood much chance of being included in the division, as it seemed almost impossible for one concern to manufacture and sell that many automobiles.

However, word from Detroit is to the effect that there is no doubt but what this number will be far surpassed by next August, and George Biehn, the Ford agent for this section, is in a position to assure his profit-sharing plan will be between $40 and $60, probably averaging about $50 to each purchaser of a Ford car during the year.

A Scene From "The Spoilers"

Wm. N. Selig's selection fit the "types" of the northern romance so admirably, that they cannot be surpassed. William Farnum was engaged to fill the difficult and doughy role of Roy Glenister, the hero, from being a civilized individual, reverts almost to the man primate. He lives out his motto: "What I want, I take," but his better part is eventually touched through the sweet and refining influence of a pure woman, to again return the true man militant. Every phase of this difficult character was finally and strongly drawn never hesitate, and ever inspired by the motive of the moment—the book hero becoming one in reality.

MERRILL TO SEE "SPOILERS" FILM

When the people of Merrill want anything, they usually get it. Today they made up their minds that they should see the nine reel film production of Rex Beach's "The Spoilers," so they telephoned John V. Houston regarding the matter.

Houston immediately got busy and telegraphed the owners of the film. After much persuasion he secured the promise of an exhibition at Merrill if Merrill people would guarantee a $50 house. This Merrill agreed to do, so the film is to be shown there Saturday night.
