KLAMATH FALLS, OREGON SATURDAY, APRIL 17, 1915

AND STOP AT KLAMATH FALLS

KEEP CLEANED UP

KLAMATH FALLS, after working yesterday and today, is a spotless town. It is as devoid of dirt as a politician is reputed to be of principle, and if there is a place left where mosquitos and other insects that pack around and distribute gobs of malaria, typhoid and tuberculosis, it must be the Ankeny ditch or some other apparently permanent institution.

But now that we are spick and span why not arrange somehow to stay that way? It is claimed that cleanliness, in addition to running second only to godliness, promotes health; so why not make this permanently healthy?

The annual bath has long been ridiculed, but is it any worse than this annual clean-up day? Now that we have our premises clean, let us work to keep them clean.

The accumulation of cans, etc., is the worst trouble, but this can be easily attended to. A large box, barrel or similar receptacle, placed in the back yard, will care for the cans and bottles as they come from the kitchen, and arrangements can be made for the hauling of the cans from this receptacle to the city garbage pile at a very small cost.

There is an opportunity for some one with a team to make good money by arranging for the transporting of this class of garbage from the houses to the dump heap. Householders will rejoice at the opportunity of thus disposing of this rapidly accumulating rubbish, and a little effort in establishing such a side line will reap quick returns.

If Klamath Falls is to stay clean, this form of disposal is a necessity. If there are owners of teams ready to take up this work, the Herald will be glad to assist them, free of charge, in getting established in the hauling of accumulating trash from the city. The price to each householder could be made trivial, as with proper routing several hundred families could be cared for in this respect by one team and wagon.

Scattered Shots

WE SHOULD WORRY—There are either sweet peas or weeds sprouting up in our flower garden.

NOW, THEN, if your yard is clean, devise some method to make it STAY clean.

IT CAN BE truthfully stated that with these Zeppelins sailing around so menacingly, business in England is "looking up."

SOME PEOPLE'S idea of cleaning up is to throw all their cans, etc., on their neighbor's premises during the year, and leaving the litter to be cleaned up by said neighbor.

INSTEAD OF putting Mexico on the water wagon, it looks as though Villa was putting that country on the blink.

IT TAKES THIS kind of weather to bring out men's straw hats and low shoes.

THERE IS A difference between the ages that some women really look, and what they think their making up and fussing up makes them look.

HAVE YOU contributed toward the fund to send a representative to the Exposition? If not, WHY NOT?

Mrs. Byron Hardenbrook, formerly a resident of this city, but now living at Roseburg, is here visiting relatives and friends.

Mrs. John H. Hamilton was a charming hostess Tuesday afternoon.

is still being talked about and cited as a criterion for measuring other social successes. As a reminder of the February triumph, the red hearts, which were used in profusion for decorative purposes at the party, were used at Thursday night's affair with tasteful effect. Following the excellent dinner, prepared by Miss Lee and her mother, the assemblage repaired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Voss, where the evening was delightfully spent with a musical program. Miss Lee's guests were Miss Seelye, Miss Ada Soule, Miss Alice Blackford, Miss Edna Wells, Miss Estelle Blair, Miss Alice McCourt, Mrs. Rose Torrey and Mrs. Lee.

Mrs. E. R. Reames returned this week from a sojourn in San Francisco.

A SURPRISE PARTY

Last night Mr. X—finished the day's work and started for home with lagging steps. Everything had gone wrong, and he was so enveloped in gloom that he was actually thinking up mean little things to say to the home folks. He started up the steps with set mouth and a fierce scowl. As his foot struck the top step he heard unusual sounds coming from the house. "What the dickens is that?" he muttered, with his hand on the latch, and as he jerked open the door those words greeted him: "I ain't swearing at you; I'm only telling you," coming from a Columbia Grafonola, around which the children were grouped, with laughing faces, while his wife stood smiling in the kitchen doorway. His amazement momentarily halted his speech, and he heard the record through in silence, by which time his scowl had changed to a grin, and he had forgotten his grouch. He turned to his wife with "where in the world did that come from?" "Oh, Mr. Shepherd let us have it on trial for a few days." "Well, well, does Shepherd think I am a First National bank?" "But daddy," shouted Johnnie, "the man said it only costs $75.00, and we can have ten months to pay for it—won't you let us keep it, daddy?" "Don't be in such a hurry; let me have my supper first, anyway; but you might put on another record while mother pours the tea."

After supper father and the children had a great time trying all the records, and after the kids had reluctantly gone to bed their dad remarked that he had always considered a phonograph a neighborhood nuisance, but this Columbia Grafonola certainly did beat anything he had ever heard, and he guessed he had enjoyed it about as much as the children—also that he thought he would drop into SHEPHERD'S PIANO DEPOT and arrange to keep it.

Recently a Maxwell "25" made a climb of 3,200 feet in two miles on the Toll House Grade, near Fresno, in the course of a hundred mile trip, using only 1 pint of oil, 1 gallon of water, and averaged 20 miles to the gallon of gasoline. It was loaded to full capacity, 4 passengers and driver, besides extra gas, oil and tires. This is a stunt that no other car has ever done before. Do you wonder why the Maxwell factory is running night and day?
