OPEN NOSTRILS! END A COLD OR CATARRH

How to Get Relief When Head and Nose are Stuffed Up.

You feel due in a few moments. Your cold in head or catarrh will be gone. Your clogged nostrils will open. The air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more dullness, headache; no hawking, snuffling, mucous discharges or dryness; no struggling for breath at night.

Tell your druggist you want a small bottle of Kiy's Cream Balm. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, and relief comes instantly.

It is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer need. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable.

SOCIETY

To insure the publication of the social events in which you are interested, telephone the particulars of the function to The Herald. If possible, society items should be in this office by Friday evening to insure their publication. The Herald will gladly aid you in the preparation of the article if you so wish, and do all in its power to make this department an interesting one to the ladies of the city.

Now that the busy Klamath summer season is with us, there is much activity in social circles, and not the least important are a number of social occasions, scheduled for different dates this month. The return of the young people from the universities and colleges is also to cause new social events, and the commencement of Chautauqua next Wednesday is another big event that Klamath Falls people are eagerly looking forward to. Many Klamath Falls people who are active in social circles and noted hostesses are home again from wintering in warmer climes.

The smartest and biggest event of the week was held at the sun parlor of the White Pelican hotel Thursday afternoon, when Mrs. Edmund W. Gowen Sr., Mrs. Charles S. Moore and Mrs. Louis Gerber entertained a host of friends at 509, and the elegantly appointed hostess was fairly alive with handsomely gowned women. Mrs. Elbert B. Hill won the first prize, Mrs. J. C. Brockenbrough the second prize, and the consolation award went to Mrs. Sibus Obenchain. During the afternoon punch and other dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. Edmund Gowen Jr., Mrs. John M. Moore, Miss Kathryn Williams and Miss Marguerite Dunbar. And these popular members of the younger set also assisted in the receiving of the guests. The guest list follows: Mrs. A. L. Campbell, Mrs. Oscar Shive, Mrs. F. J. Williams, Mrs. W. G. Smith, Mrs. A. E. Whitman, Mrs. J. Fred Collier, Mrs. Wm. Duncan, Mrs. H. G. Gate, Mrs. W. S. Wiley, Mrs. George Noland, Miss T. M. (Communicated)

A quiet but pretty wedding was celebrated last Wednesday evening at 8:30, June 2, 1915, in the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Leafy Van Brimmer, at Merrill. The contracting parties were Mr. R. S. Adams and Miss Ruby E. Van Brimmer. They were joined in happy wedlock by Rev. David Oastler, pastor at large for the Presbyterian church in the Presbytery of Southern Oregon. At the appointed hour, Mrs. Board presided at the piano, and sang sweetly verses of that appropriate song, "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms." Then at the strains of Lohengrin wedding march, the bridal couple appeared under the smiling wreath suspended tastily in a corner

The June Bridesmaid's Gown

My Dear Jeanne—I know this picture will give you a shock. I know you expected to see me in a gown, one ornamented with orange blossoms. But another wore that. I was only a bridesmaid.

Let me shock you again by telling you that I wore this at George Bronson's wedding.

When I wrote you some months ago that I was to be Mrs. Bronson, I was very happy. I believed every word of it. I was sure George was in love with me. I am quite certain he is still in love with me, despite the fact that he is on his honeymoon with another.

My gown was a dream. It was made of abstinthe gros de Londres. Absinthe, a rather sickly looking green in the piece, is a most beautiful shade when gracefully draped and combined with a harmonizing shade. The frock was puffed and showed a bouffant skirt, trimmed with cream lace. The sleeves were formed of the draped lace and butterflies of tulle perched saucily on each shoulder.

With this I wore a leghorn hat, trimmed with pink roses, an ostrich plume, and veiled with layers of pink and green chiffon. The bouquet was of roses tied with an abstinthe green ribbon, and the parasol of white warp print silk showed pink and green blossoms sprinkled over its surface.

Two months ago George, to whom I was engaged, though I did not make the announcement except to a few chosen friends like yourself, began to grow cold. I soon saw that something was the matter. I shall not tell you the whole story; but I demanded to know what was the matter, and after a scene, he told me he did not longer care for me, and thought our marriage would be a mistake. He was certainly correct about that in the light of what has happened, but I could not see it then, and took the affair much to heart.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

BY MARGARET MASON
(Written for the United Press)

You can rave about the fashions That come from gay Paris. But styles in little old New York. Are good enough for me. You can talk of shops in London In Paris and in Rome. But I'll do all my shopping in— That town that I call home.

turban of grey finished her one extremity and grey silk hose and grey kid low shoes laced on the sides finished the other, while gloves of the grey, stitched in black, proved themselves two good things to have on hand.

NEW YORK, June 5.—You are right the Parisians have a wonderful touch when it comes to sartorial confections and also when it comes to Americans. They certainly touch them both most artistically and successfully.

No one was more surprised than the little lady from Buffalo to find herself the target of all eyes and many auditable and awed remarks as she tripped up the avenue. The supposedly blase New Yorkers eyed her like a bunch of babes in a Jay-town stare at the bankers daughter just back from a finishing school in the East.

As in London its an excellent place to lay in a good supply of substantial things like woolen lingerie or cashmere hosiery, but oh, what a joy it is to return to that Mecca of the Mode New York and fall all over yourself trying to snap up all the beautiful bargains on Broadway and Fifth Avenue.

Oh, yes, New York has a lot to learn when it comes to a fashionable finishing, but no longer has to go abroad for the education. She can pick up a post graduate course in matters sartorial any little day in any little city in the United States.

Believe me if you are on one side of Fifth avenue you do not have to come across to see more lovely and adorable frocks and frills and fixings than ever come across the sea. They are just thick on all sides.

And talk about smart and pulchritudinous females you can see more in a minute in any American city than you can glimpse in London in a week. In fact the smart female is an unknown quantity in England unless she be an American or a Parisian.

The general chic of the Parisians is an undeniable fact and raving beauties are often beauty spotted in their midst, but I still contend that taking them on masse, as it were, our American maids can put it all over their Continental cousins for both styles and good looks. Of course, I may be a trifle biased in my judgment, but surely not more so than a mother citing the good points about her first born. Remember after all I'm not tooting for New York alone.
